INTERACTION — Mime Robert Shields in a whirlwind visit to Marin Catholic High School moves his audience from awe to laughter as he demonstrates the art he calls "the most expressive in the world." His visit to the high school campus yesterday was the highlight of the students' May Week festivities. Presenting part of his vast repertoire, mimicking without mockery, he demonstrated his faith that he is a born mime, born "to look magical and be a mirror of the world."

ENTHRALLS STUDENTS

Young Mime Mirrors The Crowd

By PAUL LIBERATORE

He hustled from the car into the courtyard of the school in Greenbrae, where he was to entertain as part of May Week, three days devoted to contests, booths, far-out costumes and "much craziness."

Without ceremony, he began his silent act. Blank-faced and stiff-legged he was a mechanical man, Robbie the Robot, the character that launched his career in pantomime.

Instantly he erected an imaginary glass wall between himself and the several hundred students who stood outside its barrier. They laughed and applauded as he worked his way around the glass box, his hands pressing against its ethereal plane, his eyes examining its surface.

He imitated students and teachers alike, without mockery, and for an instant they saw themselves in what Shields calls "the mirror" that is pantomime.

He was a nursemaid walking a baby in a pram, an intrepid ladderclimber, a frog prince courting a frog princess. And in an instant he was gone, as quickly as he came, leaving the students buzzing over what they had seen on the schoolyard asphalt that moments before had been his stage.

The asphalt, the street, is no stranger, the 21-year-old mime said afterwards in the quiet of an administrator's office.

Much of his reputation is as the mime of San Francisco Union Square, where he said he refined his craft and, more importantly, learned about the people whose lives he must capture in a few speechless moments.

"Mime is the most expressive art in the world," he said. "I can say more without saying anything."

Arrested three times when huge crowds blocked traffic in Union Square, Shields said with each arrest his reputation grew and his fame spread.

"One of the times the cops were new to the beat and didn't know who I was. They told me, 'You can't do this,' and all the time they were telling me, I was imitating them," he recalled, replaying the officious patrolmen there on the office rug. "Finally they said, 'If you don't leave now we're going to arrest you.'

"It was during the Union Square days that I learned that people take themselves too seriously. They are always putting on a mask. Many times, after I imitated someone, they asked, 'Is that really me? Boy, I'm in a rut. I've got to change.' "

During a pantomime ceremony in Union Square in October 1972, Shields married Lorene Yarnell, a dancer and actress who appears with him in his stage act and is now an accomplished mime herself.

Shields studied for a time in Paris with Marcel Marceau (who is to perform in Marin May 17).

"I was doing Robbie the Robot at a love-in at Griffith Park in L.A. when I was 17," Shields recalled. "This guy came up to me afterwards and told me he thought I was great. When he told me later he was Marceau's son I couldn't believe it."

They became close friends, and Shields eventually met the great French mime who offered him a scholarship to his school of pantomime.

Shields said he learned more living at the Marceau home, getting to know the man himself. than he did in school. He gave it up after a few weeks, finding it "stifling to my creativity" and "turning me into a carbon copy of everyone else in the class.

"I'm glad I'm not a copy of him," the boyish Shields said of Marceau. "He is more poetic, a classic mime of his generation. I am a different style. I try to do things that kids my age can relate to."

Although he and his wife do contemporary skits like "The Biker," in which they play tough motorcycle gang types, sketches must be "profound but simple, that everyone can relate to, black, white, young, old. . ."

Shields, who lives in San Francisco but is looking for a house in Marin, believes he is a born mime, put on the earth with a mission and a function as important to society as the physician or the statesman.

To mime is "to look magical, like a puppet," a talent that is more than technique but must have roots in the soul, he said.

"In order to make it real you must really believe in what you are doing," he said, standing to pantomime a man climbing a ladder, going through all the motions but with something lacking. "Every move must be felt," he went on, as his face strained and the veins in his neck popped and the man on

Haldeman, Ehrlichman Undergo Questioning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman submitted to extensive questioning today by both federal prosecutors and a grand jury investigating the Watergate scandal.

The two top aides to President Nixon met first for two hours with three federal attorneys prior to separate appearances before the grand jury in the federal courthouse. Deposed White House legal counsel John W. Dean III is alleged to have implicated both in the Watergate affair.

At the same time, Dean and Jeb S. Magruder, deputy director of Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign, were reported attempting to bargain with the government for immunity from prosecution in exchange for telling all they know about the burglary of Democratic national headquarters and subsequent efforts to cover up the scope of the conspiracy.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman were accompanied during the meetings with prosecutors by their attorney, John J. Wilson, who told reporters "I'll be around to help them out" in connection with the grand jury as well.

Did they intend to testify fully or was there any chance they might invoke the constitutional right against self-incrimination?

The Washington Star-News said Dean still was dickering through a lawyer for an immunity grant before agreeing to testify before the grand jury, while the Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. said similar efforts were being made by Magruder.

Magruder testified Wednesday and said afterward that he did not plead the 5th Amendment. It was reported that he was believed to have repeated statements he gave to the prosecutors acknowledging he had a role in the planning of the Watergate, and also implicating Dean and John N. Mitchell, who was attorney general at the time the plot allegedly was hatched.

The Star-News said Dean's lawyer had been negotiating secretly with government investigators for two weeks. West-

Madera Del Presidio Future Is Pondered

By LARRY MOWELL

Neither the Town of Corte Madera nor a developer trying to build the giant Madera Del Presidio housing project in the town was sure today what to do in the wake of a court decision wiping out approval of the development.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on Monday ordered the town to rescind its approval of a planned unit development of 528 bitterly opposed townhouses on 75 hilly acres near the Koch luggage plant. He also voided final approval of the first units.

He gave the town until May 16 to show what it has done to comply with the peremptory writ of mandate. What the town will do won't begin to be clear until the town council considers the ruling Monday, Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels said today.

Councilman Robert J. Flahive, a foe of the construction, said Town Atty. Albert Bianchi recommended no action in a memo circulated to the council because he expects the developer to appeal.

However, Werner Odenthal, a partner in the development firm of Harder and Odenthal of Orinda, said an appeal has not been discussed yet. "At this time we are not prepared to make a statement," he said.

The Wilson ruling came as no surprise, since the judge indicated in January he would almost certainly rule against the development.

Approval of the planned unit development, the judge said, amounted to rezoning the low density multiple residential property without rezoning hearings. That failing negated the development scheme and the tentative map of the first phase, which did not conform to the R-2 zoning, the judge said.

Furthermore, the project should not have been approved without an environmental impact report, Wilson said.

The ruling pleased Flahive. "I never thought very favorably about the end product," he said. The developer "got away with an awful lot under the PUD and it is not supposed to work that way. It is supposed to work to the town's advantage."

Not only will the developer have to start over again in seeking town approval, but he may also be stymied by two roadblocks erected since the project was approved, Flahive said.

It may now fall under the town's moratorium and that of the Marin Municipal Water District, which Monday voted to end water hookups, at least to large projects, because of a water shortage.

The problems of the development created by the judge's ruling appeared remote last June when Wilson said in a notice of intended decision that the planned unit development process was illegal, but that the development could proceed because it conformed to the R-2

Bids Call Is Delayed For Colleges

By PATRICIA PERRY

Indian Valley Colleges, intended to be Marin Community College District's second campus, suffered a setback last night, its future in question, as the district board postponed advertising for bids on site development supposed to start in June. (Another college district story, page 15.)

The delay came after trustees received a petition questioning the need for another campus. It was signed by 67 per cent of College of Marin's full-time teaching staff and 75 others.

An adjourned meeting was set for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the science building to discuss the matter.

The petition claimed state and county predictions show school enrollments persistently dropping after 1977, while the College of Marin's maximum enrollment of 5,000 full-time day students hasn't yet been reached.

The petitioners asked the board to consider evolving attitudes to controlling family size to two children, the no-growth

A Sales Tax Hike Delay In Assembly

Measure Also Tables Reagan Surplus Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly passed a Democratic-sponsored bill today to delay imposition of the scheduled June 1 sales tax increase for 13 months — until July 1, 1974.

The bill won approval on a 48-25 vote after the Assembly defeated Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to dispose of the state's estimated $800 million budget surplus through a combination of an income tax rebate and a seven-month delay in the sales tax hike.

The votes split along party lines: Republicans voting for the Reagan plan and Democrats opposing it. Democrats control the Assembly by a 9-27 margin.

The sales tax is scheduled to increase from 5 cents on the dollar, statewide, to 6 cents on June 1 as part of the $1 billion tax relief and school finance program passed by the legislature last December.

The Democratic plan, sponosored by Assemblyman Ken Cory, D-Garden Grove, now goes to the Senate where its future is uncertain. The Senate currently is split between 20 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

Reagan's plan was proposed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in the form of amendments to the Cory bill.

After he lost that fight, Bagley attacked the Cory bill as "a sham."

"You are ripping off the income taxpayers of California, and there are a lot of them," Bagley said.

Cory, he said, "pats the income taxpayers on the head but you don't give them any money."

Bagley said he is certain Reagan will vote the bill if it reaches his desk.

It wasn't until after the big tax bill passed last year that it became evident the state would have such a massive budget surplus this year. The surplus has been estimated as high as $852 million although that estimate has been scaled down in recent weeks.

The Reagan plan would have given Californians a 20 per cent income tax rebate next year, totaling $368 million, and would have delayed the sales tax increase by seven months, at a cost of $355 million.

Bagley said it was "politically right" and "morally correct" to give part of the surplus back through the income tax since that is where much of it was collected.

And, he said, "It would make the bill one which the governor would sign."

But Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, said the Reagan plan would give 17 per cent of the surplus back to one per cent of the people —those who make more than $50,000 a year.

"Mr. Bagley is eliminating the minimum income tax which he authored in the 1971 tax program," Moretti said.

Cory also attacked the Reagan plan as favoring the more wealthy.

The Cory bill would also appropriate $77 million for park acquisition and Capitol repairs or reconstruction. In addition, it would provide a scheduled income tax rebate for taxpayers if the state surplus is over $760,000.

Bagley called the Cory income tax provision a "sop," charging the money won't be in the surplus coffers to provide the rebate. Cory's bill is AB 7.

Strawberry Placed In Tiburon's Sphere

The unincorporated community of Strawberry, for years the object of a tug-of-war between Mill Valley and Tiburon, was placed last night in the Tiburon "sphere of influence" by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The commission, on a 4-to-1 vote, approved the recommendation of executive officer John F. Barrows, who has long supported Tiburon's efforts to annex the Strawberry area with its tax-rich shopping center.

Barrows's aide, Tracy Friedman, said today the commission's action does not bar Mill Valley from annexing all or a portion of Strawberry but does make that more difficult.

A state law enacted last year requires the county commission to decide "spheres of influence" for every city in Marin.

The commission previously had tentatively adopted such spheres for all areas of Eastern Marin except Strawberry.

"Under the law," Friedman said, "the spheres of influence study is to be used as a factor in considering annexations but not as a basis for annexations."

About 40 persons attended last night's special session which ended with Arnold M. Baptiste casting the lone vote against the motion.

Baptiste argued that placing Strawberry — and its prized shopping center —in the Tiburon sphere of influence would hamper future studies of consolidation.

Friedman said Mill Valley City Councilman Robert E. Burton told the commission his city is interested in studying possible consolidation.

Commissioner Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who made the motion to approve placing Strawberry with Tiburon, said he doubted annexation to either city would occur in his lifetime.

He said he agrees with Barrows's recommendation that Strawberry is more economically and socially dependent on Tiburon.

Joining Arrigoni in approving the motion were Lawrence F. Mulryan, Hugh G. Marchant and Roy Farrington Jones.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Cronkite Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Walter Cronkite said yesterday the Watergate scandal could have been avoided if the Nixon administration had taken the press into its confidence.

"If Mr. Nixon had been forced to face the question then, perhaps the White House would not be tainted with the additional scandal of a cover-up of Watergate," the news broadcaster told an audience of the Chicago Television Academy.

"The Nixon administration's success in casting doubt on the credibility of the press allowed the President to dodge the Watergate issue during the campaign," Cronkite said.

"Republican leaders told the public not to believe the press, so consequently they didn't," Cronkite said.

Cronkite said even though the press was vindicated in the Watergate scandal, he felt "that the First Amendment freedoms are still in danger."

Cadet Guilty

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Another cadet was found guilty of violating the U.S. Military Academy's honor code Wednesday, bringing to 16 the number involved so far in a cheating incident, an academy spokesman said.

As in 15 earlier cases, a Cadet Honor Committee made up of 12 seniors has recommended unanimously that the cadet be dismissed. None of the 16 has been identified, and none has resigned.

Army Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has nominated former Georgia Congressman Howard H. (Bo) Callaway to be secretary of the Army.

Callaway, 45, of Pine Mountain, Ga., represented Georgia's 3rd Congressional District in the House from 1965 to 1967.

He ran for governor in 1966 and got the most votes, but lost in the Georgia legislature to Democrat Lester Maddox.

Truck Recall

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has recalled 50,717 of its 1971 model Dodge compact trucks for replacement of a defective steering assembly part that could cause a loss of vehicle control.

A company spokesman said although there were several complaints there was only one reported accident connected with the truck. The spokesman said there were no injuries and no other vehicles involved in the accident.

Archbishop Dies

DENVER (UPI) — Archbishop Edward Heston, head of the Vatican department that deals with the mass media, died last night as he stepped from an airplane at Stapleton International Airport.

Doctors said Heston, 67, died of a heart attack.

He was born in Ravenna, Ohio, but called South Bend, Ind., home.

Heston, appointed by Pope Paul VI as president of the Pontifical Commission on Social communications in 1971, briefed newsmen during the Ecumenical Council in the mid-1960s. He was one of the first Roman Catholic churchmen to do so at the Vatican.

Crash Kills 39

SALVADOR, Brazil (UPI) A bus carrying 55 persons collided Wednesday with a heavy truck near this northeast Brazilian town, killing 39 persons, among them 13 children.

Another 17 persons were injured, two of them critically, police and medical officials said.

The bus, en route from the northeast coast to Sao Paulo, apparently went out of control after running into a donkey loaded with fresh meat for the markets of Salvador. Police said it collided head-on with the truck.

Both drivers died in the crash.

Energy Crisis

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Wednesday night urged a return to "participatory democracy," at both the national and international levels, to deal with the energy crisis and other problems.

Douglas told some 3,000 persons at the University of Toledo that industrial nations "need all sorts of energy and it is an international problem." He said "nations through a participatory could reach agreement on the development of energy."

U.N. Ambassador

LONDON (UPI) — Donald J. Maitland, 50, Chief Press Secretary to Prime Minister Edward Heath since 1970, has been named Britain's Ambassador to the United Nations, Heath's No. 10 Downing St. office said Wednesday.

He will succeed Sir Colin Crowe, who retires in September.

Maitland will be succeeded by Robin Haydon, 52, British High Commissioner in Malawi and former Head of the Foreign Office news department.

Queen Invited To Pot Festival

LONDON (UPI) — The organizers said they would drop the naked sports, but not the marijuana, and invited Queen Elizabeth II to join them at the second annual Pop and Pot Festival.

Organizer Bill Dwyer, 43, said Wednesday that an appearance by the queen would bring "great rejoicing" to everyone present.

The festival is planned for August in Windsor, a few miles from London and one of the royal family's favorite weekend retreats.

Dwyer said the festival would include, for those who do not favor legalization of marijuana, a rally opposing it.

Last year, the festival ran into trouble because of nudity and naked sports, "just like the ancient Olympic Games."

Relief Is Seen In Flood Areas

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The National Weather Service says there is at least one bright spot in the flood picture, that little rain is expected through the weekend.

However, reports of flood damage continued to filter in from the soggy Mississippi Valley Wednesday and estimates of damage over a seven-state area soared well above the half-billion mark.

In Louisiana alone, damage was placed at $200 million as agriculture experts reviewedd comprehensive reports showing damage to crops. Jon A. Cox, director of the Louisiana State University Extension Service, said the loss could go higher if lands remain flooded after June.

The Mississippi River, which reached a record crest last week, will produce another crest 9 to 10 feet above flood stages in the Quincy, Ill., and Hannibal, Mo., areas, the weather service said.

The second crest is the result of heavy rains which drenched Iowa and Illinois and the lower Mississippi Valley Wednesday.

In northern Illinois Wednesday, the rising Rock River forced 157 persons to evacuate their homes for the second time in 10 days. The river rose to 12.6 feet by late Wednesday. Flood stage is 10 feet. The Rock River was expected to crest at 13.5 feet by Saturday.

The Corps of Engineers said the Mississippi, out of its banks for 53 straight days at St. Louis, probably would not be open to navigation for at least another week.

In Maine, flood officials continued efforts to assess the damage caused by flooding of the St. John and Penobscot rivers. Emilien Levesque, state Civil Defense director, estimated the rivers had caused $2-3 million damages when the swollen rivers inundated many communities.

In Illinois, a tenth flood relief center was scheduled to be opened in Chester this weekend, the office of emergency preparedness said Wednesday. The office will help area residents, including those on Kaskaskia Island, get disaster help. The 10 Illinois flood centers will be open seven days a week until further notice, Gov. Daniel Walker said.

Nixon And Pompidou To Meet At Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and President Georges Pompidou of France will hold a summit meeting May 31-June 1 in Iceland, administration officials said today.

Officials said that the Icelandic government had invited both presidents and was prepared to be the host country.

They said that the meeting was being held outside of the United States for reasons of protocol. But it is known that Pompidou refused to come back to the United States because of abuse he and his wife received at the hands of pro-Israel demonstrators in Chicago in 1970. They were protesting sale of French Mirage jets to Libya.

Nixon and Pompidou met in the Azores in December, 1971, during which the devaluation of the dollar was agreed on.

Pompidou will be the fourth head of government to meet with Nixon this year. He has already played host in Washington to Italy's President Giulio Andreotti, Britain's Prime Minister Edward Heath, and West German chancellor Willy Brandt.

Kent State Rite On Anniversary Of Four Deaths

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — A candlelight march and an all-night vigil will be held on the Kent State University campus tonight in memory of four Kent students killed by guardsmen May 4, 1970 during an anti-war demonstration.

Wednesday night, some 500 persons set fire to a small wood building they erected on the Commons to symbolize the ROTC building that was burned down in 1970. Those at the rally threw into the fire their draft cards.

Reds Kill 20 With Gas Shells

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces firing a barrage of toxic gas shells overran two battalions of Cambodian government troops 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, killing 20 and capturing 580 others, military sources said today.

The sources said the attack occurred Monday north of Neak Luong, an important ferry town on the Mekong River. The main government unit operating in the region is the 2nd Paratroop Brigade.

Disclosure of the attack and its heavy casualties came as the Cambodian command said Communist troops, striking in a driving thunderstorm that prohibited U.S. air raids, launched new attacks south and northeast of Phnom Penh early today. The command said the Communist thrust occurred 16 to 18 miles from the capital and that fighting was intense.

Military sources said details of Monday's attack were sketchy but that 580 prisoners were simply "led away" by the Communists. As of today, the sources said, only one had returned.

The heavy losses placed in further jeopardy future fuel convoys up the Mekong River to Phnom Penh from South Vietnam. The last river convoy to reach the Cambodian capital arrived April 23. The eight-ship convoy came under a heavy Communist attack from the riverbanks near Neak Luong that killed one seaman and wounded three others.

Sources in Phnom Penh said another convoy would try to make the perilous journey up the Mekong to Phnom Penh at the beginning of next week.

The attack near Neak Luong was not reported by the Cambodian command but was confirmed today by both American and Cambodian military sources with access to secret reports from the front.

Command spokesmen have, however, reported a number of toxic gas shellings against Cambodian forces in the area recently.

Neak Luong is situated on Highway 1, Phnom Penh's only land link with Saigon. Rebel troops have severed the highway 19 miles southeast of Phnom Penh but Neak Luong itself remains in Cambodian government hands.

The Communist thrust accompanied thunderstorms that struck Phnom Penh about 4:30 a.m. and continued until dawn. There was no immediate report of air activity to counter the attacks, but the American air campaign in Cambodia rounded out its 56th consecutive day Wednesday and more raids were expected later today.

Cambodian command spokesmen said Communist soldiers attacked the town of Siem Reap, 16 miles south of Phnom Penh, and mounted another drive around Preak Prasap, 18 miles northeast of the capital. There was no report of casualties but spokesmen said fighting was heavy in both areas.

More fighting also was reported around the provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2 near the South Vietnamese border. Communists surrounded Takeo nearly five weeks ago and fighting there has been fierce and bloody ever since.

Spokesmen said another convoy of 196 trucks and 65 trailers made a successful run Wednesday into Phnom Penh from the deepwater port of Kompong Som, 134 miles southwest of the capital on Highway 4. Travel along Highway 4 and the capital's five other major supply routes has been hazardous for weeks because of heavy Communist pressure along them.

The U.S. raids Wednesday along the Mekong river attracted hundreds of civilian onlookers who lined one bank of the river to watch F4 Phantom jets dump napalm and 500-pound bombs on Communist positions.

Reliable sources said today that the government plans to release 10 persons, including five newspapermen, who were arrested following the March 17 bombing of the presidential palace in Phnom Penh.

No reason was given for the release of the 10.

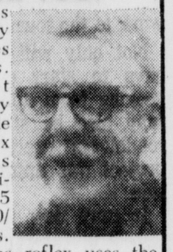
CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard
WHAT CAMERA IS FOR YOU?



Cameras come in many sizes, shapes and prices. The most popular today are the Single Lens Reflex models (SLR's) in either the 35 mm or 120/220 formats. A single lens reflex uses the camera's lens for a viewfinder, and when you take your picture it swings a mirror out of the way while the shutter does its job. This sequence takes only a fraction of the time it takes to tell about it.

Another popular camera is a Rangefinder Camera. It uses a separate finder, usually on top of the camera, to focus by bringing two images together. This system usually combines the viewfinder with the rangefinder and utilizes different frame lines for other lenses.

A third type that has many fans is the Twin Lens Reflex. It works like the SLR but has a separate lens for viewing and taking the picture. This eliminates the moving mirror and the "blackout" at the moment of exposure. Most twin lens reflex cameras use 120/220 film. With a few exceptions most do not allow using interchangeable lenses — a drawback to some.

There are good reasons for choosing any one of these cameras, and we'll gladly advise you on the pros and cons for your particular hobby needs. Come in and talk it over. Putting the right equipment in your hands for better pictures is our job.

Murder By Strangers Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chances are increasing that the man who murders you will be a stranger.

At least that's what New York police psychology professor Morton Bard says, based on a study of statistics from four big-city police departments, which he plans to publish soon.

In the past, national crime statistics have shown that 80 per cent of all homicides involved persons either related or known to each other. Between 35 and 40 per cent were relatives.

Bard says his figures show that an increasing number of murders are committed by persons unknown to the victim.

He told a group of science writers at an American Psychological Association meeting Wednesday that murders involving people who know each other have declined 23 to 30 per cent in the four cities since 1966.

He blamed the change on handguns, which people carry and use in unexpected arguments with strangers.

Bard is a psychology professor at the City University of New York and the creator of a family intervention plan for New York City police that he says has sharply reduced the rate of deaths and injury while dealing with family fights. Some 50 cities now have family crisis intervention plans for police, he added.

Bard declined to name the four cities reporting higher rates of murder by strangers.

In one of the four cities, he said, 72.9 per cent of all homocides in 1965 involved persons known to each other. Last year, it was 49.9 per cent. The city's overall homocide rate has doubled in the last five years, Bard added.

"I don't think the police can deal with this phenomenon" Bard said.

"It is my impression we are totally irresponsible about our gun policy.

"I suggest we enter into agreement with the producers of handguns to pay them for not producing handguns, like we give subsidies to farmers not to produce certain crops. It would certainly be more economical in the long run."

Government May Aid Small Gas Stations

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Independent gasoline dealers may have federal and state help this summer to keep from going under if the gas shortage becomes critical.

In Washington, Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress Wednesday that the government may have to set up priorities for allocating fuel this summer, which would be aimed at giving the independents a share of the existing supply.

Thursday the Labor Department announced the sharp increase in industrial commodity prices was led by higher fuel prices, especially for gasoline.

Simon said the country is using 47 million barrels of gasoline a week and producing only 43 million barrels.

New York State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz said he will introduce legislation to compel major oil companies to share their gasoline supplies with independent companies.

Lefkowitz said that his bill would assure independents who have regular contracts that their contracts will not be canceled or terminated at least until April 30, 1974, as well as assure some source of supply to those who no longer have regular contracts, but who buy gasoline in bulk on the market.

The extent of the gas shortage was underlined Wednesday when an official of Phillips Petroleum Co. told a federal court in Philadelphia that his company will not be able to meet its gasoline demands this year. Other major firms earlier have announced their gasoline supplies were short because of the fuel oil demand from last winter's record cold.

Airlines Ordered To Phase Out Bargain Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered the airlines to phase out of existence by the middle of next year two of their longtime travel bargains, youth fares and family fares.

The board refused Wednesday to reconsider an earlier decision that the fares discriminate against airline passengers who do not qualify for the discounts.

Unless the airlines win a court appeal or Congress acts in their behalf, they are under order to start the phaseout this coming June 1 by raising youth standby fares —presently set at 66 per cent of the full fare —to 78 per cent.

Youth reservation fares — now 75 per cent of normal fares —will be raised to 83 per cent while family fares will rise from 75 to 83 per cent of the full fare.

On Dec 1, youth standby fares will be raised to 89 per cent of the full fare and youth reservation and family fares will be placed at 92 per cent of the full fares.

Wedding Plans

Obscenity Trial Gets Under Way

By LARRY MOWELL

Testimony finally began yesterday in the trial of a 41-year-old Petaluma man charged with warehousing obscene magazines in San Rafael. More than 100 prospective jurors were interviewed to find 12, who felt they could judge the literature impartially.

Nine women and three men were seated to weigh the evidence against Donald Calvin Warnecke and the San Oaks Distributing Co. after two full days of jury selection in the municipal courtroom of Judge David R. Baty.

Jury selection was hampered by attitudes on obscenity that most prospective jurors felt would prevent them from applying contemporary standards to the explicit sexual material in five publications Warnecke had in his warehouse.

Some shared the sentiments of one woman, who said, "I don't really believe in censorship of written material although in my 56 years I have never been forced to look at anything like that."

Others simply announced they are against any pornography and others were leery of one book entitled, "Sex Between Humans and Animals, Volume II."

"If I have to look at pictures of animals and human beings, that would do it," one prospective juror said yesterday. "Human beings is one thing, but animals is another," she said.

Warnecke was charged with 29 counts after San Rafael police raided his business Dec. 22, 1971, and seized 216 books. However, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith reduced the number of allegations to five Monday before jury selection began.

The officers who made the raid testified yesterday, then Smith called in a law student from the University of San Francisco to read the five books as the jury leafed through extra copies.

Read first was "The Effects of Danish Pornography," an allegedly factual study of the loosening of obscenity laws in Denmark liberally illustrated with photographs the text said are now legal there.

Before testimony began yesterday, Judge Baty told the jury the three-pronged standard it must apply to determine obscenity.

To be obscene, a work must go beyond contemporary standards, appeal to "shameful or morbid interest" and be without redeeming social characteristics.

Baty told the jurors to consider the standards of an average adult in California.

Smith then told the jury that after the publications are read, he will call an expert to testify that the books seized in Warnecke's warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street failed each of the three tests of obscenity.

The trial is scheduled to last three weeks.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman Undergo Questioning

inghouse said Magruder believed he would be indicted unless he received immunity.

Westinghouse said Magruder indicated cated he doubted immunity would be granted but apparently believes he can negotiate with prosecutors for a short prison sentence.

He was quoted as saying after a five-hour conference between him, his lawyer and Watergate prosecutors that he felt he would go to jail. And when asked how long he thought he would have to serve, he replied, "nine months."

The Star-News said the negotiations for Dean were being conducted by Charles H. Shaffer, a former federal prosecutor in the U.S. attorney's office in New York who also formerly worked in the Justice Department's criminal division.

The newspaper said the government was "seriously considering" the immunity request but that the prosecutors wanted proof first that the information, and documentation, he has is sufficient to exempt him from prosecution. Shaffer was described as unwilling to disclose such details in advance of a pledge.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman, chief of staff and chief domestic adviser for Nixon respectively, are expected to talk secretly Friday with counsel for the Senate's special Watergate committee.

A federal attorney said at midmorning he was not sure whether Haldeman and Ehrlichman would testify today before the grand jury, saying only "you never can tell." Other sources had said earlier they would go before the grand jury. Haldeman and Ehrlichman, longtime Nixon associates and advisers, showed up at the federal courthouse about 8:30 a.m. EDT, avoiding an army of newsmen who later swarmed in and around the building. They were seen sitting in side-by-side chairs in an office near the prosecutors' suite, still waiting for their initial conference, just before their 10 o'clock appointment.

—The New York Times quoted federal investigators as saying they had uncovered evidence of intensive efforts by Nixon campaign workers aimed at damaging Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's image when he was considered a prime Democratic presidential candidate in 1971 and early 1972. The scheme, the Times quoted investigators, was intended to get the Democrats to nominate Sen. George S. McGovern, considered by the Nixon camp to be the weakest foe for the incumbent President.

—Sen. Lloyd Weicker, R-Conn., a member of the Senate Watergate committee, suggested that the White House sought to delay announcement of L. Patrick Gray's resignation as acting FBI director to include it with those of four other top officials announced on Monday. Gray announced his resignation last Friday.

—Columnist Jack Anderson said Haldeman "pulled strings" in the administration to gain a presidential pardon for imprisoned former Teamster President James R. Hoffa in late 1971. Anderson also said a letter written by Hoffa's son to then-Attorney General John N. Mitchell said young Hoffa had been told that Mitchell was working in behalf of the elder Hoffa's release.

—The Boston Globe said Elliot L. Richardson's brother said the defense secretary "had some reluctance" about accepting Nixon's assignment to take command of the Watergate investigation because "he thought someone outside should do it." The Philadelphia Inquirer suggested that Richardson might select William T. Coleman Jr., a lawyer friend from Philadelphia, as special supervising prosecutor.

—Republican National Chairman George Bush called the Watergate affair ugly and grubby but said he did not think the party would suffer lasting damage from the scandal.

—Former GOP Chairman Robert Dole said the Republican National Committee which he headed at the time of the June 17, 1972, bugging of Democratic committee headquarters had no inkling of the plot. He also said he rejected as "too rough" some suggested campaign material about the several senators vying for the Democratic nomination.

—The Washington Post reported that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy tapped the telephones of two New York Times reporters early last year in an administration attempt to track down the leaks of the Pentagon Papers to the press. Citing two highly placed sources in the executive branch, the newspaper said the wiretapping was authorized by then-Attorney General John N. Mitchell. The Post said the electronic eavesdropping was part of a larger surveillance operation related to the leakage of inside government information to newsmen. The two Times reporters were not identified.

Mitchell's wife, Martha, was subpoenaed to give sworn testimony in New York today about the Watergate affair. She often has said that her story would shock the public if it were made known.

In related developments:

—The Justice Department charged the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President with failure to make required reports and maintain records of a $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

the ladder began climbing in earnest.

Shields once earned his living playing fairs as Robbie the Robot, mastering the feat of standing for four hours without blinking his eyes. He once was hired by a determined suitor as a birthday present for his girlfriend, appearing at her door in white face with a ribbon around his middle and announcing, after roboting in the door, "O.K., I'm yours for an hour and a half. What are you going to do with me?"

Now his career is taking off. He said he is excited about an engagement in the Veterans Auditorium at the San Francisco Civic Center May 10 through 12, when he and his wife will perform four shows.

He did a part in a new movie, "The Conversation," and has television appearances scheduled and college tours planned, including a pantomime commencement address at the Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco.

'Even though he is now "always busy, always working," Shields said he remains mindful of his most important goal: "to turn people on to silence."

Pleas Heard For Slices Of Revenue

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard a long series of pleas for slices of the federal revenue sharing pie, pleas which at the end of the day totaled about twice the money available.

Included in the requests was a pitch for $1.25 million to update several city libraries, including Petaluma, on a matching fund basis.

By the end of June 1974, county officials have estimated that between $7.2 and $8 million will be available to the county from the federal sharing plan, including accrued interest. Yesterday's requests from county departments and private agencies totaled more than $14 million.

"It's going to be real tough to make decisions — there are some real needs," Supervisor Charles Hinkle said today. Many private agencies have lost expected federal backing, he said, leaving them in financial difficulty.

The supervisors took no action on the requests for funds, and Hinkle estimated it will be at least a month before further board discussion takes place.

Among the requests for county projects was a $2-million proposal for remodeling the county hall of justice in Santa Rosa.

But from subsequent hearings, Wilson decided the development was not consistent with the zoning after all and so he said in January he would rule against the project and in favor of the Environmental Law Fund Inc.

Law Fund attorneys Joseph A. Forest and Paul D. Kayfetz filed the suit last May for Larry P. Weingarth and Marilyn L. Hallin, both of Corte Madera.

The judge actually made his ruling March 23, but it became obsolete because Forest failed to serve the writ of mandate on the town. Therefore, Wilson reruled Monday.

PG&E Will Give Service Pins Wednesday

Some 39 Marin residents employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for five years to 45 years will be honored at an awards dinner at Dominic's restaurant in San Rafael next Wednesday.

Receiving service emblems for 25 years or more service with the company will be San Rafael residents Paul E. Ford, 45 years; Richard Kessell, 35 years; Larry J. Asay, Glen E. Loewen, Carl E. Sandahl, T. Richard Fleming, Stanley O. Erich, Jr., and Edward W. Templeman, 25 years.

Mark C. Robinson of Corte Madera will receive a 35-year service emblem. Others receiving emblems for 25 years of service are William F. O'Callaghan of Mill Valley; Reginald C. Nedbal of Forest Knolls; Harry A. Thomas Jr. of Corte Madera, and San Anselmo residents Frank M. Wilson, L. F. Hiatt, Frank De Gennaro, Allan V. Graves and J. G. Bell.

A Change Of Venue For Magee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Black San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee today was granted a change of venue for his kidnap trial, over the objections of his attorney.

Superior Judge John Ertola granted the hand-written petition from Magee to move the case out of San Francisco, where a lengthy trial on charges of murder and kidnap ended in a hung jury.

Magee faces a new trial on the kidnap charges.

In today's brief court action, Superior Judge Morton Colvin, who handled the first trial, denied a motion by defense attorney Robert Carrow of Novato to dismiss the charges.

Presiding Jude John Ertola then entered the courtroom. He announce he had written motions from Magee to dismiss Carrow as the defense attorney and to move the trial out of San Francisco.

Ertola denied the motion to dismiss Carrow. He granted the motion for a change of venue.

Carrow, at that point, objected, saying the court had "consistently prohibited" Magee from defending himself and yet had been granted a motion "filed without my knowledge."

policies evident in Marin county, and the University of California's interest in attracting more undergraduates.

Trustees gave no indication that they're ready to scrap Indian Valley Colleges, slated for the Novato area. Indeed, trustee Gene Turtle said he was "of a mind to continue the project, but had the responsibility to listen."

And trustee Donald K. Felt complained that the board couldn't allow the matter to "drag out or it will turn into a total fiasco."

The board was supposed to approve going to bid for $1,787,841 worth of site development work at Indian Valley Colleges, with the contract to be awarded on June 6 and construction to start June 13. The project includes roads, parking lots, drains and sewers, utilities, bridges and landscaping.

Dale A. Fleming, director of planning, advised trustees that a 10.4 per cent "cost index rise" had raised the estimated cost of the work to $2,168,000, or $149,000 more than the district had budgeted. The state might contribute $50,000, he said, leaving roughly another $100,000 to be found.

William J. Filante suggested it would be unethical for the board to advertise for bids while the second campus policy is being reviewed, and Francis Compton said the board "can't overlook the faculty petition."

The bid authorization was delayed until after Wednesday's meeting — at which time, said the petition organizer Robert W. Essig, more facts and figures on the wisdom of a second campus will be presented by faculty.

President Wins Bombing Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today defeated, 31 to 14, a bid to deny the administration funds for the bombing of Cambodia. It was the first legislative test of President Nixon's cease-fire policies in Indochina.

The committee turned back an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-Conn., to kill a $430 million request to continue military operations. The action faces stiff opposition on the floor.

The policy-making Democratic steering committee voted earlier in the day, 18 to 3, to urge Democrats to delete the funding authority when it comes to the floor.

One Of Quints Seriously Sick

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The last of the Anderson quintuplets has been removed from a respirator but remains seriously ill, a spokesman for Bess Kaiser Hospital said today.

Diane Anderson was placed in an isolette today, one week after she and her sister and three brothers were born to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson, Brush Prairie, Wash.

The spokesman said Diane's condition continues to improve and she is breathing about 30 per cent oxygen.

All five of the quintuplets are now in isolettes. They are expected to remain in the hospital 55-75 days longer. Their mother, Karen, who was 28 the day the babies were born, was to be released from the hospital today.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, May 3, the 123rd day of 1973 with 242 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Danish - American journalist Jacob Riss was born May 3, 1849.

On this day in history: In 1919, U.S. airplane passenger service started when Robert Hewitt flew Mrs. J.A. Hoagland and Miss Ethel Hodges from New York City to Atlantic City.

In 1933, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross was sworn in as the first woman to become director of the U.S. Mint.

In 1940, Congress proclaimed the third Sunday in May as "I am an American Day."

In 1968, the United States and North Vietnam agreed to start the Paris peace talks.

A thought for the day: British novelsiest Edward Lytton said, "The easiest person to deceive is one's own self."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Homosexuality Lecture Slated

Del Martin and Phyllis Lyon, founders of the first lesbian organization in the country, the Daughters of Bilitis, will lecture on the "Socio-Sexual Experience of Homosexuality" on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin's Olney Hall.

They are co-authors of the book "Lesbian/Woman" and promote gay and women's liberation.

Their lecture will be the fifth in the college's "Intimacy: Then and Now" series.

OBITUARIES

May Dawn Jope, Ross, Dies At 82

Funeral for May Dawn Jope of Ross, active in Marin County volunteer groups, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Jope died Tuesday in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Maxine and Robert L. Shearn of Ross, following a lengthy illness. She was 82.

She was born in Sydney, Australia, and moved to California 71 years ago. She moved to Ross 16 years ago, following the death of her husband, the late Max Jope. She was a member of the Mental Health Society of Marin County, the Ross Hospital Volunteer Service, the Marin Art and Garden Center Decorators Guild and of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Shearn and Vera Heath of Rocky Mount, N.C.; a son, R. W. Jope of San Leandro; seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call until 9 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial gifts to Holy Innocents Parish, Corte Madera.

ROGER COLE

A 27-year-old Mill Valley Vietnam veteran died early today at Marin General hospital after suffering what appeared to be a brain hemorrhage, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

Roger H. Cole, collapsed at his home at 81 Hilarita Avenue, and was taken to the hospital about 7 p.m. yesterday by his uncle and anunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stiveson, with whom he lived, the coroner's office said. He died in the intensive care unit at the hospital at 12:31 a.m. today.

Cole was born in Youngstown, Ohio, and came to California about seven years ago. He had lived in Mill Valley three years. He was a sergeant in the army in Vietnam for about two years, specializing in communication.

He had been studying pre-law at the California State University at San Francisco and also had been working as a salesman for the Capitol Credit Corp. of San Francisco.

His body was taken to Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley, where an autopsy was scheduled.

He is survived by his mother and two brothers, Michael and Robert, all of Youngstown, where he will be buried.

LEO SHANNON

Shannon died Tuesday at a local rest home after a brief illness. He was a native of Pennsylvania and had been a resident of Marin for 40 years.

He left no immediate family.

Property Financing Explained.

A mortgage, or note and deed of trust, is a contract which makes property the security for payment of a loan. The property is said to be "hypothecated," which means to give something as security while retaining the right of use.

There are several types of mortgage loans, any of which may be negotiated under certain conditions. Interest rates are of course subject to the pressures of the general money market. FHA, VA, and Cal Vet are guaranteed by government agencies.

The sale of a home can be complicated for the seller as well as the buyer. For instance, when selling a home, what pitfalls do you look for in negotiating a "second"? In order to protect your own interest when buying or selling property, always deal with a member office of the Marin County Board of Realtors.

In selling a home, use the Multiple Listing Service. You'll save time, trouble, and may well realize a higher price for your property than if you tried to sell it yourself. Remember the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Your Real Estate Professionals.

New Rule May Force Smog Law Changes

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Proposed federal Environmental Protection Agency rules may compel the Bay Area Air pollution Control District to look into the smog produced by future shopping centers, major highways and sports stadiums with their associated parking lots.

The federal agency last week published the proposed rules in the Federal Register, under court orders to enact new regulations no later than June 11. California will have to revise its clean air implementation plans by Aug. 15 to comply with new federal standards.

Milton Feldstein, deputy chief of the Bay Area district, told the district directors they must consider whether their review and enforcement procedures are adequate to meet the new federal regulations.

Feldstein said computer models could be used to predict probable smog impact of developments such as the Corte Madera and Larkspur regional shopping centers, which would be sites of much auto traffic. Another likely candidate for permit review will be San Francisco's Yerba Buena sports complex.

Airport construction and amusement centers also will be affected by the new rules, Feldstein explained.

Changes in state regulations also are being made, D. J. Callaghan, the district's chief executive, told the district board. He said the state Air Resources Board will hold a hearing at 10 a.m. May 21 in the State Office Building in San Francisco.

The state plans to tighten rules by Jan. 1, 1974, on dry cleaning plant emissions, and to prohibit use of trichlorethylene, a much-used cleaning fluid. The state also will consider requiring installation of catalytic smog prevention on resold autos, and will write the smog impact portions of regional transport studies into the state law, Callaghan predicted.

"We're not ready to make a recommendation" on suggestions that the Bay Area control smog by limiting vehicle use mileage, Callaghan added. He said the district staff will present its recommendations to the board for review before the state hearing, at the district's regular meeting, 1:30 p.m. May 17.

Spokesmen for the Bay Area Roofing Contractors' Association yesterday won a 90-day delay in a proposed change to the district's Regulation No. 2. The district staff had asked that the regulation exempt vehicles' propulsion plants from district control, but would impose control on such accessory pollution sources on roofer's tar pots and other non-propulsive emitters on vehicles.

Attempt To Cut Art Subsidies Is Beaten

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Can an artist thumb his nose at the establishment and still take money from it?

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says no, and he tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to convert the Senate to his view.

Proxmire fought a bill which would double—from this year's $80 million to $160 million in the next fiscal year—the amount the federal government spends to subsidize the arts and humanities. The figure would rise to $280 million in fiscal 1975 and $400 million by fiscal 1976— an increase of nearly ten-fold since 1969.

Proxmire said he favored an increase but not one that sharp.

Through the ages, art subsidized by the state, he argued, has tended to be "middle class, mundane, establishment art."

Great artists have always fought the establishment, he said.

"Think merely of the struggles of the French Impressionists against the establishment, the ostracism of a Michaelangelo at various times in his life and the criticism and jeers that were aimed at Picasso when he revolutionized the art world at the turn of the century."

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said apprehension that senators would end up censoring plays and condemning authors was unfounded. The money, through an endowment for the arts and one for the humanities, is mostly funneled through state art councils, he noted.

Proxmire was defeated, 76-14, in his attempt to reduce the increase in funding.

The money provides subsidies for museums, orchestras, opera companies, resident theater groups and dance companies.

It will help fund a "Courses by Newspaper" project this fall under which college-level courses in American studies will be serialized in about 125 newspapers. Through the cooperation of local colleges, readers will be able to earn college credits.

'WHERE'S THE NEEDLE HOLE?'

Stern Warning In Pentagon Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne warned the prosecutor at the Pentagon Papers trial today that "the burden is on the government" to remove any question that its evidence in the trial has been tainted.

Byrne expressed sternly his dissatisfaction w i t h the inadequacy of the Justice Department response to his orders for an investigation of the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The judge's statement reemphasized that he may have no option but to declare a mistrial or dismiss all charges if the court does not receive information as to whether the burglary produced information made available to the prosecution.

A statement by Earl Silbert, an assistant U.S. attorney general and prosecutor in the Watergate grand jury hearing in Washington, was turned over by Byrne to the defense at the morning session.

A one-paragraph memorandum by Silbert last week revealed that the Justice Department had been informed of the burglary by Watergate co-conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy.

In his new statement, Silbert said he had promised his source that he would not reveal his identity and that he "had not been relieved of my commitment."

Silbert said it was a "confidential communication.-"

Byrne said the reply was "completely negative."

"My concern at this time is for the rights of these defendants," he said. "The burden is on the government to find out what occurred."

Prosecutor Nissen disclosed that an inventory of the material found in the White House office of Hunt had been prepared and would be turned over to the court and that photostatic copies of any material dealing with Ellsberg and codefendant Anthony Russo and their families was being sent here from Washington.

Food Prices Declined Last Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices for meat and most other foods fell in April after increasing sharply for five straight months, the government reported today.

But these food price declines, signaling possibly lower retail prices in the near future, were more than offset by the largest monthly advance for industrial commodity prices in 22 years.

The result was a 0.8 per cent increase last month in the overall Wholesale Price Index, a big improvement over the 2.2 per cent rise in March.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said the index for farm products and processed foods and feeds went down 0.7 per cent in April. For example, livestock prices dropped 5.3 per cent, egg prices went down 5 per cent and processed meat prices declined 2.9 per cent.

One component of this index, consumer finished foods —those ready for retail sales —went 0.4 per cent higher (up 1.4 per cent after adjustment for seasonal factors).

The report was the first to show the effects of a ceiling on meat prices imposed by President Nixon in March and a nationwide meat boycott by many consumers during the first week of April.

The statistics, issued less than 24 hours after Nixon's latest move to slow the worst inflation in a generation, prompted AFL-CIO President George Meany and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to call for tougher presidential action immediately.

Meany, claiming in a statement that "prices are completely out of control," predicted "the usual crop of optimistic forecasts from administration spokesmen" and said, "What the nation needs is effective across-the-board price controls, not more rhetoric."

San Franciscan Faces Trial On Burglary Count

A 27-year-old San Francisco man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of burglarizing two Sausalito homes.

After hearing evidence against Paul Julian Bolton, Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him Tuesday to appear in superior court next Wednesday.

Bolton, also known as Joseph Charles Kauth, and his roommate, Donald Edward Burns, also 27, were said by Sausalito police, who stopped their car March 5, to be wearing clothing and jewelry resembling items taken in two burglaries Feb. 22.

Burns was arrested March 25 and is awaiting trial in superior court. Bolton's appearance was delayed by probation hearings in Contra Costa County.

Missing Child Reward Offered

The parents of 6-year-old Tracy Lynn Davenport of San Rafael, who vanished on her way to kindergarten Friday and has been the objective of an exhaustive search, are offering a $500 reward for information leading to her safe recovery, police said today.

The child left the home of her grandmother at 737 Francisco Boulevard at 11 a.m. Friday for Bahia Vista School and hasn't been seen since.

She is described as black, about four feet, six inches tall and wearing short pigtails and a black and blue Hawaiian ankle-length dress.

Officers were to continue searching for the child today, said Sgt. David Jones of the San Rafael Police Department.

Suspected Murderer Identified

CHICO (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies today sought a rapist with gonorrhea who strangled a teen-age mother and left her partially nude body in an orchard next to a fraternity house.

The Butte County Sheriff issued an all points bulletin late Wednesday for a suspect in the sex slaying. He was identified as Aden Rohrbaugh Miller, 23, who moved to the Chico area three months ago from Maryland.

Authorities said Miller, who also went by the name of Trey, had been working as a farm laborer in the area and was not a student at Chico State University, although he attended the fraternity party.

Deputies were meanwhile questioning all 40 members of the fraternity, Tau Gamma Theta, which held a huge, all night beer party before the body of Patricia Catherine Farish, 18, was found Tuesday morning.

The victim, recently separated from her husband and the mother of a 6-month-old girl, was identified by her parents after she failed to return home from the party, which an estimated 2,000 persons attended.

An autopsy disclosed Mrs. Farish had been strangled. Deputies said there were large bruise marks on her neck when her body was found.

The autopsy also revealed that the young brunette's attacker had gonorrhea.

Mrs. Farish was wearing a blue blouse and brown sandals when found. Her skirt was missing and deputies said her blouse had been pushed up around her neck.

Authorities also said they found two small tattoos on her body. One was a heart on her right hip and the other was the letter "W" on her left thigh.

The fraternity party was one of several held around Chico State University as part of the annual Pioneer Days festivities.

Lebanese Planes Hit Guerrilla Positions

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese fighter planes swept into action against Palestinian guerrillas battling the Lebanese army for the second day today and fired rockets at their strongpoints on Beirut's southern outskirts, witnesses said.

Two Mirage planes took part in the attack shortly before 7:00 p.m. (noon EDT), toward the end of a day that saw more long range shooting between the army and guerrillas holed up in refugee camps.

With reports of heavy casualties on both sides field reports said the fighting was spreading to other parts of Lebanon, and Damascus Radio reported 12,000 Palestinians in Syria had been alerted for action in Lebanon.

UPI correspondent John F. Sims, who watched the attack from high up on an apartment house near the scene of the army-guerrilla clashes said:

"The two planes made 12 passes each over the Shatilla camp area where most of today's fighting took place. On each pass they fired one or two rockets."

Sims was not able to see where the rockets hit or what damage they caused.

Other newsmen in the area reported seeing the Mirage jets firing rockets.

Reports from witnesses closer to the scene of the strafing said the target of the strafing was the Bourj Barajneh camp, between the main scene of fighting and Beirut airport.

This camp is a large one, but was not mentioned earlier as a scene of clashes between guerrillas and troops. All of the camps are jammed with thousands of Palestinian refugees, including women and children.

The attack lasted only a few minutes and witnesses said that in addition to firing rockets, the planes strafed the camp with machineguns.

When the planes flew away troops in the area resumed shooting at guerrilla strong points with tank guns.

Tournament Court Use Is Approved

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved use of the Memorial Park tennis courts for a Marin Heart Association fundraising tennis tournament June 9 and 10.

Gary Howell, parks and recreation director, told commissioners that 3,252 persons participated in recreation programs during April and that two new classes have been added, chess and folkdancing.

The commission appointed Commissioner Thomas Peacock to the citizens' advisory committee studying the planned creekside park and parking lot in downtown San Anselmo.

Keith Mastin, youth representative to the commission, announced he would not reapply when his term expires at the end of the month, Howell said.

Fire Damages

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Separate fires at two Los Angeles area industrial plants Wednesday night caused an estimated $245,000 damage.

Ferry Terminal Attack Repulsed

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge directors yesterday quickly rebuffed a board member's bid to scrap plans for a ferry terminal in Sausalito.

Despite arguments by director Robert E. Gonzales that patronage doesn't warrant the $1.5 million terminal, the building and operating committee tabled his request to halt the planning.

The proposal, aired by Gonzales in an eloquent appeal to the committee, was tabled by the group without discussion in a matter of seconds.

Gonzales, a San Francisco supervisor who frequently has criticized the district's ferry plans, called the planned terminal construction "folly" and a "monument of diluted thought."

Saying that the district ferry Golden Gate now is operating at only 37 per cent capacity even on sunny days, Gonzales told newsmen that bridge officials "have decided they want to play admiral. What we need is an accountant and not an admiral."

Gonzales had held out little hope for approval of his move, but said last week he hoped it would result in a scaled-down terminal.

Supporters of the terminal have said present patronage is expected to be triple the present figure of 500 riders a day by 1975. In addition to Sausalito, the district also plans a terminal in Larkspur, with all facilities to be served by three new ferries under construction in San Diego.

The committee recommended that the Foster City firm of Wilsey and Ham be hired by the full board on May 25 to make an environmental impact report on the Sausalito terminal. The firm is to submit a detailed work proposal to the board.

In other business, the committee proposed to extend until April 8, 1974, the time under which the Allied Co. may complete replacement of suspender ropes on the bridge. Dist. Secty. Peter D. Clainos said engineering staff endorsed the extension because of Allied's thorough workmanship.

Council To Consider Jane Fonda Censure

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council planned to debate a motion today to censure Jane Fonda for her POW remarks. The actress planned to be there to censure the councilmen.

She appeared Wednesday on the steps of the federal courthouse after learning that Councilman Arthur K. Snyder planned to introduce a resolution today censuring her for her Vietnam stand.

She accused the Pentagon of staging a propaganda campaign to make Americans think the North Vietnamese had tortured U.S. prisoners and the news media of lack of objectivity for reporting torture stories.

"Let us listen to all the POWs —not just a hand picked few," she said.

"We are becoming victims and preys of an orchestrated propaganda effort on the part of the Pentagon to make us hate the Vietnamese."

U.S. officials planned the homecoming of the former prisoners for years, she said, and had already selected 29 senior officers to appear at news conferences to portray the North Vietnamese as "bloodthirsty." The purpose is to continue the war in Indochina and prevent U.S. economic aid to North Vietnam, she said.

News coverage of the returnees concentrated unfairly on the stories of torture and atrocities, she said, rather than presenting a "balanced view."

Appearing with her was Gary Daves, 30, of Mescalero, N.M., a former civilian POW. Daves was a teacher in Vietnam when he was captured. He spent 5 years as a prisoner.

"I was not tortured," he said. Of Ms. Fonda, he said "I think she has made some mistakes, but President Nixon has made some horrendous mistakes. The city council hasn't called him for censure, as far as I know."

Ms. Fonda and the former POWs have been engaged in a running debate over their treatment in Communist prisons and her role in the antiwar movement.

Returned prisoners have said that they or their companions were tortured because of her visit to North Vietnam, to force them to appear at propaganda gatherings during her stay. Many of the returnees blamed her and others in the antiwar movement for prolonging the war and their captivity by reinforcing the North Vietnamese belief that internal U.S. political pressures would force American withdrawal.

In turn, she has called the returnees liars, hypocrites and killers. She has dared the former prisoners to present proof of torture before an objective tribunal, saying that if they could back up their stories she would "eat her words."

Plan Action Set In Rohnert Park

The Rohnert Park City Council has scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers a public hearing on the final sections of the city's general plan required by state law.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said such elements as open space and parks, conservation, seismic effects, land use, traffic, noise and bikeways will be considered.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on an ordinance which would permit participation by city council members in the city employees' retirement system.

Massage Parlor Control Tightened

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — The North Carolina Senate gave final approval Wednesday to a bill that enlarges the definition of prostitution to include certain conduct in massage parlors.

The bill's aim is to close down numerous massage parlors which have been opened around the state.

Cong Claim War Like Watergate

PARIS (UPI) — The Viet Cong said today the Nixon administration used Watergate-type tactics to wage war in Indochina.

Viet Cong ambassador Dinh Ba Thai was asked at a news conference about "internal difficulties" confronting President Nixon. He said he did not want to discuss these in public.

But, without mentioning Watergate by name, he added : "I want nevertheless to stress the following point —for many years the reality of the situation in Vietnam has proved that the Nixon administration as well as previous administrations have often used misleading maneuvers to launch the criminal war in Indochina.

"At present the policy of the Nixon administration concerning Vietnam and Indochina consists in using many maneuvers with a view to covering up violations of the Paris accord."

Thai spoke at a Press briefing following the ninth meeting between Saigon and Viet Cong negotiators aimed at plotting their political future.

Each side rejected the other's plans for elections and Saigon accused the Viet Cong of massing troops to conquer South Vietnam by force of arms.

Thai reiterated Communist Vietnamese statements that the time was not right for a meeting between Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's National Security Adviser, and Le Duc Tho of Hanoi to discuss cease-fire violations.

Asked about a statement by North Vietnamese Vice Minister for Foreign Affairs Nguyen Co Thach that the atmosphere for talks was not favorable, Thai said "This statement reflects the reality."

Thai rejected South Vietnamese and American accusations that the Communists are massing for a possible new offensive.

"These accusations are the typical maneuvers of a thief who cries thief", he said. "Since the (Jan.27) Paris agreement, the United States and Saigon have systematically violated the accord and its protocols."

At the negotiating meeting, South Vietnamese Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien said the Communists were trying to seize the country by force.

Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu said he knew nothing of a meeting reportedly scheduled between Presidenial adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho to discuss treaty violations.

"We have no information about any such meeting," Hieu said.

At their eighth meeting last week at suburban La-CelleSaint Cloud, South Vietnam proposed a 10-point program leading to elections Aug. 26 and complete withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops. In return, Saigon offered to demobilize an equal number of its soldiers.

At today's meeting, the ninth between the two sides aimed at organizing South Vietnam's political future, Vien told the Viet Cong:

"In examining your proposals, we...regret that your side is trying to increase its military forces in order to impose a Communist regime on the South Vietnamese people....

"We are led to believe that since you cannot achieve political conditions that would allow you to seize power in the near future, your side continues fighting in order to conquer South Vietnam by force of arms."

Vien said the Viet Cong plan was unacceptable because it stated pre-conditions for the holding of elections. "The offer amounts to laying down preconditions before allowing the population to go to the polls," he said.

Hieu accused the United States of continued involvement in Vietnam, described the Saigon regime as a tool of the Americans and said the South Vietnamese timetable for August elections "is of an artificial and fallacious character."

He told Vien the Saigon government "seeks deliberately to block the work of this conference while hiding the fact that the United States continues its military engagement in South Vietnam and maintains more than 10,000 military men disguised as civilians.

Pope Seeks Way To 'Liberate' Catholic Women

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI set up today an international commission to investigate ways to "liberate" women in the Roman Catholic Church and in society at large.

The pontiff instructed the 26-member commission to extend research to such controversial questions as whether the Church should open the way for women deacons and women priests. But he reserved to himself all final decisions.

'Cause To Wonder'

CAREY, Ohio (UPI) — Vicki Lynne Cole, 18, the girl who gave President Nixon his "Bring Us Together" inaugural theme in 1969, said today the Watergate bugging case has "given me cause to wonder" about the President.

Action Group Seeking County Agency Delay

Community Action Marin directors agreed last night to ask county supervisors to postpone action on a proposed consolidation of the health, probation and welfare departments.

Executive director Alfred R. Conklin III said today the local antipoverty agency board will urge Tuesday that further study be made on the proposal, suggested last month by county Admin. John F. Barrows.

Supervisors are scheduled to act Tuesday on the consolidation which would place the three departments under the authority of welfare director Betty L. Presley, who would then make a year-long study of how they should be consolidated.

Conklin said his board is concerned that the privacy and confidentiality of those using county services may not be adequately protected under the proposed consolidation.

The board also agreed it was not appropriate to include the probation department in the reorganization since it is more closely related to the criminal-justice field than to social services, Conklin said.

He added his board questioned whether any saving would result from Barrows's proposal and whether such savings would justify the departmental shake-up.

In other matters, the board was told it is still unclear when and if the agency will be forced to close its doors.

A threatened cut-off of federal antipoverty funds has been temporarily blocked by a federal court. The agency, formerly the Economic Opportunity Council, was scheduled to be phased out by May 31.

Graduation Set Before Finals

It has been moved up to June 2, before final exams even start.

Asked today if perhaps the early graduation might interfere with attendance at final exams, a campus worker explained the tests must still be taken and passed with students in the meantime "just given an empty diploma case."

Traffic Pattern

Work in progress on Highway 101 which will alter the traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow was announced today by the State Division of Highways, which said northbound traffic will be routed into two lanes at the Richardson Bay Bridge between 8:30 and 2 p.m. during paving.

Industrial Dumping Of Effluent Voted

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night agreed to allow industrial firms to dispose of effluent from septic tanks at the district's main treatment plant on Irene Street.

Although the ruling goes into effect immediately, district staff was instructed to develop a pretreatment process for septic tank waste entering the system, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator.

Board members outlawed dumping of wastes from chemical toilets at the plant because of adverse bacterial reaction from chemicals, Rawles said.

The board also approved final payment to MGM Construction Co. for a sewer project in the Moncada Sewer Assessment District. Total project cost is $47,662, Rawles said.

Labor Votes Support For Teachers

Marin County Labor Council members last night voted to support two Novato Unified School District teacher groups if they vote to strike against the district, according to Charles B. Weers, labor council secretary.

Weers said the council earlier gave the teachers a strike sanction. The Novato Federation of Teachers and the Novato Teachers Association were to meet jointly this afternoon for a strike vote.

Weers said if the teachers strike, the county labor council will help man the picket lines, and its members will refuse to cross any picket lines established.

The labor council last night also declared its approval of the board of supervisors' rejection of County Adm. John F. Barrows's plan for consolidating the public works, planning and parks and recreation departments.

The council supported Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste's proposal that the three departments consult each other on possible consolidation, Weers said.

'Rush' On Shopping Center Rapped

Two members of the Larkspur Redevelopment Agency objected last night to what was described as a "rush-rush" schedule aimed at attracting a large shopping center to the Greenbrae area.

And one of the protestors, Robert H. Lee, served notice he held "some reservations" over using the redevelopment process as a device to attract the multimillion-dollar center.

The views were expressed as the city council, sitting as the redevelopment agency, weighed a staff request for more funds to pay consultant expenses. The money, $4,500 above the original maximum of $1,500, ultimately was approved, but not before Lee and Councilman Joan Sestak questioned staff at length about a time schedule setting adoption of a redevelopment plan by June 30.

Despite the impatiently uttered assurances of City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst that "you covered all this entirely" at the agency's last session, Lee noted the city also is in the midst of general plan revision and on the brink of budget discussions and called the redevelopment schedule too hasty.

He was especially wary of a timetable under which Environmental Science Associates of Burlingame is to have an environmental impact report on a preliminary redevelopment plan completed in up to three weeks.

And he said, "I still have some reservations about the whole concept of redevelopment as applied to this project." Lee said it may have been true at one time that Larkspur was racing Corte Madera to place a regional shopping center in the area, but "circumstances have changed somewhat" in view of Corte Madera's difficulties with other governmental agencies.

"If we have a rush-rush schedule," Mrs. Sestak said, "we're not being responsible to the public."

Mayor Alfred J. Malvino indicated any stall would be unfair to the developers, Ted Connolly, head of an Oakland development firm, and the Rouse Co., a major shopping center operator.

Bathurst said the schedule is a loose one, and acknowledged the need for thorough review of the environmental impact report.

Barry insisted Brixon had been given earlier material. "Don't call be a liar," snapped Brixon, raising a sheaf of papers. "This is the first one I've seen, Mr. Barry."

Brixon earlier had sharply criticized city staff for laxity in cracking down on city planning violations, along with indicating his belief that city administrators were costing taxpayers too much.

Utah Man Killed In Glider Crash

CENTERVILLE, Utah (UPI) — A 27-year-old father of three was killed Wednesday when his lightweight para-glider plunged 200 feet to the ground.

A witness said Verl H. Gleed, 27, Bountiful, Utah, was "flying good and all of a sudden he just came straight down into the ground."

Authorities said Gleed had only been flying about three months and had little high-altitude experience with the glider, which resembles a kite.

Congress To Kill Airports' Head Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to ban airport head taxes — fees charged airline passengers by local governments —was approved by a 286-16 vote in the House Wednesday. The Senate has passed a slightly different bill and a compromise measure will be negotiated.

The taxes range from 50 cents to $3 per passenger. Affected by the legislation are 44 airports or airport authorities.

Bed Sales Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Innerspace, a firm that makes and sells waterbeds, reported Wednesday that its gross revenues for 1973 are estimated at $1.5 million, compared with $100,000 in 1971.

Hearing Set On Burglary

A preliminary hearing has been set May 11 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for a private security guard and his legless companion who are accused of burglarizing a Petaluma laundromat.

Pleading innocent to the felony charge were Donald Ray Harvey, 25, captain of the K and S Security Service, and L. D. Lee Snow Jr., 23, a Vietnam veteran double amputee. Both who are accused of being armed with revolvers at the time of their arrest, live in Petaluma.

Snow has been released on his own recognizance but Harvey is being held in jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

They were arrested early Sunday morning after police staked out the Hagstrom Laundromat at 200 Douglas Street where several burglaries had taken place. Officers said they saw Harvey prying open coin boxes inside the closed business

Planned Building Ban On Hilly Lands Killed

The lone vote of Larkspur City Councilman Neil R. Brixon last night killed — at least temporarily — a plan to impose a building ban on hilly lands west of Magnolia Avenue.

Three of Brixon's colleagues — Robert H. Lee, Mayor Alfred J. Malvino and Joan Sestak — voted in favor of the planning staff proposal. But as an emergency ordinance, the measure needed four "yes" votes, and Councilman William G. Fleckles was absent.

The ordinance, affecting 89 parcels zoned for multiple development stretching from Murray Avenue to King Street, is expected to be considered again at the council's May 16 meeting.

Brixon, joining opposition by two property owners or their representatives, said: "I am not now and have never been in favor of such emergency ordinances." He described them as unfair to land owners.

John O. Roberto, director of city planning and community development, said the ban, intended to halt building on slopes exceeding 10 per cent for four months, would enable orderly completion of city general plan and slope policy revisions. He also noted the affected lands are contiguous to property included in the community's interim open space plan.

Attorney Hugh J. Cadden, representing developers of the Skylark and Woodlark apartments, who intend to build on a nearby five-acre parcel, called the ordinance unjustified, biased and unduly broad.

He said there was no urgent need for a moratorium, adding that the city was remiss in not moving in a like manner against lands zoned similarly in other hilly portions of the city.

Brixon also made an issue of the fact that Cadden's clients had filed development plans with the city last month.

"Taxes go on, but I never get any building permits," objected another property owner, real estate man Robert Busse. He said his development plans thrice have been rejected by city officials.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

FRUIT — Deleted fruit and vegetable stands as permitted uses in certain commercial zones after hearing Brixon score city staff for issuance of a permit to a fruit and vegetable truck vendor. While the permit was approved by the planning commission, city ordinance says the operator also needed council approval, Brixon said. He also criticized city staff for failure to enforce city sign laws and failure to act quickly against a merchant operating without a business license on upper Magnolia Avenue.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to consider firing a lower echelon employee, but took no action.

CELEBRATION — Gave permission to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July Committee to stage its traditional celebration on Independence Day.

DESIGN — Adopted an ordinance providing operating machinery for the city's new design review board.

UNDERGROUND — Established an underground utility district on Bon Air Road near the city limits. It also introduced an ordinance requiring undergrounding at new commercial and multiple-dwelling developments, noting it wanted to be informed of any exceptions permitted under the measure.

LIAISON — Named Lee as liaison to the city planning commission.

CONTAINERS — Supported AB 1594, which would attach a nickel deposit on beer and soft drink containers and prohibit pull-top openers on cans.

SOROPTOMIST — Was told by Barry of the planned sale of the Soroptomist property in the Mary Frazier redwood grove, with provision that the land, once under consideration for city acquisition, be maintained in its current state.

MEETINGS — Set the following meeting schedule: May 16, regular session; May 22, budget discussion; May 23, as redevelopment agency and budget discussion; June 5, joint session with planning commission on general plan; June 6, regular session, and June 7, budget meeting.

Four Men Killed By Power Line

JENKINJONES, W.Va. (UPI) — Four men stringing telephone cable through a remote area of McDowell County were electrocuted Wednesday when they brushed against a high voltage power line on a mountain ridge near the Virginia border.

The dead were identified as Larry W. Cornett, Douglas Parker, Paul D. Cohenour, and Harold T. Vaughn, all of small towns in southern West Virginia.

Three other men suffered minor burns. They were hospitalized at Stevens Clinic Hospital at Welch in good condition.

State police said the men were pulling cable up a hillside from a highway when they came in contact with the power line.

Transit District Under Attack

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Southern California Rapid Transit District would provide only bus service and lose its rapid transit duties under a bill proposed Wednesday by the chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee.

Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, charged the district is "working outside the limitations of the law" in using gasoline tax revenue for expansion of bus service.

He said in a statement that under the law the revenues should be "used for development of a rapid transit system." He also declared the district has "squandered" its funds but has not developed a rapid transit facility.

Marin Aviation Unit Supports Commute Airline

The Marin County Aviation Commission has thrown its support behind the request of a small commuter airline for commercial use privileges at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

Francis E. Torr, airport manager, said yesterday Stol Air has petitioned the state Public Utilities Commission for authorization to use the airfield in its Santa Rosa to San Francisco run.

Marin County supervisors on Tuesday urged the PUC to approve the application which would lead to negotiations between the airline and county on leading fees.

Torr said the airline also has commuter runs from San Francisco to Napa and Concord. Fares from Marin to San Francisco International would be about $14 per person, the commission was told Tuesday.

The airline owns one twin-engine, 10-passenger airplane, Torr said.

East-West Trade Called Peace Key

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Samuel Pisar, an American expert on East-West trade, told Communist and capitalist businessmen today world peace is in the hands of Washington and Moscow and depends on trade and industry rather than diplomacy.

Pisar, speaking at the opening of a three-day conference on ways of bringing the world's products to both Communist and capitalist consumers, referred to the impending Washington visit to Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and said:

"The fate of East-West detente is now suddenly in the hands of the White House and the Kremlin. And the engine of this detente is trade, industry and technology, rather than old-fashioned diplomacy."

Pisar, speaking to 300 delegates at Budapest's International Hotel, is considered by economics officials here as the leading expert on East-West trade matters.

The conference was the sixth in as many years organized by Management Center Europe (MCE), a Brussels-based consultant organization.

"This year's conference comes at a propitious moment in history, marking the true breakthrough in trade and industrial cooperation between East and West," one organizer told several hundred delegates.

The object of the conference, officials said, was to integrate the Communist and capitalist markets.

Among subjects under discussion were cooperation in international marketing, new trade laws and ways to settle disputes.

Four Satan Cultists Arrested In Sacrifice Murder Of Youth

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Four young members of a "satan cult" were arraigned Wednesday on first degree murder charges in the "sacrifice" slaying of a 17-year-old amusement park worker.

Two others were to be arraigned today.

The badly-mangled body of Ross Michael Cochran, originally from Fresno, Calif., was found trussed up Tuesday night with ropes, in a wooded area off state road 415 south of Daytona Beach.

Police had begun their investigation into the bizarre weekend murder after being led to the body by a boy who, when arrested for breaking into a car, told police he had a "story to tell."

According to chief of detectives Capt. Fred Perrin, Cochran was murdered because he led the members of the "satan cult" to believe he was an undercover narcotics agent, and they wanted to "teach him a lesson."

Perrin said the youths lured Cochran into their communal pad sometime Saturday, where he was tied to a bed and severely beaten. He was later moved into an "altar room," and tied to a long black table, hit with chains and cut with pieces of broken glass.

"They must have really hated the kid like hell because they really tortured him," Police Chief Robert Palmer said at a Wednesday news conference.

Police say he was then taken to the wooded area where his body was later found, his head crushed with a knotted pine tree branch.

Arrested shortly after police learned of the story were Kenneth M. Francis, 17, of Pope Air Force Base, N.C.; Charles M. Page, 21, of Daytona Beach; Deborah Ann Shook, 22, Washington, N.J., and John Colbert, 18, described as a drifter.

Two more persons arrested Wednesday were identified as Howard Evert Waellus, 19, Detroit, and Cindy Lis Black, 17, of Rexdale, Ont.

Marin Open House Workshop Looted

An electric drill set and socket wrenches valued at a total of $117 have been stolen from the Marin Open House workshop at 918 C Street, San Rafael police reported today.

The theft from unlocked cabinets in the shop was discovered yesterday morning by worker John M. Donley, police said.

Cal Band Bends, Now It's Coed

BERKELEY (AP) — Bowing to the threat of a funding cutoff, the University of California marching band has become the last Pacific Eight Conference band to go coed.

The 120-member band voted yesterday to strike the words "all male" from its constitution after the student government threatened to stop its $40,000 annual support, band spokesman Dave Pearson said. He also said the university was worried it could lose all federal funding if the band persisted in sex discrimination.

"The university said it had problems enough with women and quotas," Pearson said, "and they didn't need us as one more problem tacked on."

Pearson said some band members were worried that admitting women would damage the "male camaraderie and spirit," but most felt it would "be better for the spirit of the thing."

Pearson stressed that women will have to meet the band's high standards during next fall's auditions.

Wrong-House Drug Raid Probe Starts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — A federal grand jury today was to begin an investigation into "wrong house" drug raids on two Collinsville homes in which federal narcotics agents were accused of using "stormtrooper tactics."

Donald B. McKay, U.S. attorney in Springfield, said, "I'm prepared to pursue this inquiry in the most vigorous and forthright fashion and let the chips fall where they may."

The Madison County grand jury also was to begin an investigation today at Edwardsville.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., "appalled by the storm-trooper tactics" said a Senate subcommittee on government reorganization would look into the incident later this month in Chicago.

Myles J. Ambrose, chief of federal drug law enforcement, suspended the agents and ordered the federal grand jury investigation. He said the raid "would appear to be stupid—they clearly were not following instruction."

One of the victims of the raids, Herbert Giglotto, said about 15 armed men in hippie garb broke into his apartment April 23, pulled him and his wife from their bed and ransacked their home. He said one raider held a cocked gun at is head and threatened to kill him.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Askew said a shotgun-carrying agent kicked down their back door and several men dressed like hippies, stormed into the house. The Askews have filed a $100,000 damage suit against the federal government. Both couples said the agents apologized and offered to pay for damages after realizing their mistake.

The raids were conducted on the basis of a tip that proved to be false. No drugs were found at either home.

Sadat Told War Plans Are Unwise

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir marked her 75th birthday today by advising Egyptian President Anwar Sadat against making good his threats to reopen the Middle East War.

Mrs. Meir's staff toasted her with wine and gave her orchids and a birthday cake at the beginning of a busy Tel Aviv work day which, a spokesman said, would not end until 10 p.m.

Telegrams of congratulations and best wishes arrived by the hundreds for the Russian-born grandmother who came to Palestine 52 years ago with Zionistic ideals that have carried over to this day.

Nrs. Meir will have a private birthday party Friday with her children and grandchildren. She is in the midst of preparations for Israel's 25th anniversary party, to be highlighted by a military parade.

Sausalito Planners Balk At Waterfront Vote Plea

By REBECCA LARSEN

A developer's attorney begged the Sausalito Planning Commission to say "yes" or "no" last night to a proposed $35 million waterfront project, but the commission decided it first needs a report from the city planning director.

"At some point we're entitled to a decision, whether it be for or against," said Howard N. Ellman, representing O'Meara-Chandler Corp. of Sherman Oaks, Los Angeles County.

But the commission continued until May 16 the proposal for the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property in the Marinship area. Planning Director Herb Case is to report then on an environmental impact report for the project and on a rezoning application from the developer.

The proposal for the 39-acre site would include 100 condominiums, a hotel, restaurant, two yacht clubs, shops, houseboats and a boat marina.

The commission has already had several hearings on the environmental impact report for the project.

Early in discussion, Case told the commission that any decision on the project should be delayed under terms of an existing development moratorium which lasts until June 30. The moratorium covers all projects which might conflict with the city's open space plans and was designed to give time to prepare a state required open space element for the city's general plan.

Case said that a recent report from a citizens open space committee made suggestions for saving some open land on the Schoonmaker property, which should be considered.

Commissioner Violeta Autumn added that perhaps the developer would agree voluntarily to a 30-day continuance of the project.

But Ellman objected: "We've already been here on three separate occasions for three or four hours at a time. . .You've received sufficient evidence, and it's fresh and ready for a vote now."

He suggested that the commission culd set conditions for the development which would satisfy any recommendations from the open space committee.

City Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who was in the audience, echoed Ellman. "I'm getting quite concerned at what's getting to be an abuse of the review process in which the applicant is supposed to get a just and prompt hearing," he said.

He called the hearings "a charade in which those who oppose a project delay it as long as possible."

Chairman Robert L. Nissen suggested that perhaps the commission could vote immediately on the developer's application for rezoning while delaying on another joint application for a planned unit development.

"I feel the commission should at least come to one decision," he said.

But most other commissioners disagreed. "I think it would be a wise move to wait to allow the staff to put the environmental impact report into some kind of order," said Commissioner Frank M. Bowen.

Commissioner Autumn insisted that the environmental impact report needs more work on its traffic statistics which she called vague and inadequate.

The traffic report from Wilbur Smith and Associates of San Francisco estimates that the project will generate a peak of about 800 cars entering and leaving it at the most busy hour, 5 to 6 p.m. on weekdays.

The report contends that most traffic problems would be on Bridgeway from Napa Street north to Highway 101. The firm also says that cars turning into the project could "occasionally" back up traffic on Bridgeway depending on how much development is planned on other nearby properties.

Commissioner Autumn said she wants to know the number of cars on Bridgeway at various intersections at different times of the day.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

RESTAURANT — Approved a request from Mark Thompson for Charlie Noble's restaurant, lifting a requirement for four new parking spaces needed when the restaurant completes a proposed expansion of 15 seats. A condition of approval was that Thompson agree not to oppose a proposed Bridgeway parking assessment district.

CYPRESS RIDGE — Continued until July 18 an application for a planned unit development in the Cypress Ridge area to be developed by Dan Coleman Associates. The commission is awaiting an environmental impact report on the project.

WHISKEY SPRINGS — Continued until June 6 an application for a commercial planned unit development for the Whiskey Springs area to be built by Duffel Financial & Construction Co.

USE PERMIT — Denied a request for a use permit from Henry Arana who asked to build a duplex and single family home on a single family lot on Arana Circle.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until a meeting next Monday at 8 p.m., when commissioners will discuss open space on the waterfront and other agenda items not covered last night.

Engineering Chairman Promoted In Berkeley

Kuh, chairman of the department of electrical engineering and computer sciences, Wednesday succeeded Dr. George J Maslach, who was named the university's first provost last year.

Food Price Protest Is Due On Saturday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phase II of the meat boycott—a national day of protest against food prices—is due Saturday. But so far it does not appear to have the widespread public support won by last month's meatless week.

The protest is being backed by the National Consumers Congress, a loose coalition of local groups and individuals active in the meat boycott.

The group was formed with the help of several congressmen, notably Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., who at the time were pushing legislation to force a rollback of all prices and interest rates.

That legislation was soundly defeated in the House. Since then there has been little congressional interest in—or rallying point for—the May 5 protest planned by the boycotters.

The coalition left it up to its local members to decide what form the protest should take. Some said they planned picketing; others, a grocery boycott.

The decentralized nature of the new organization and the lack of continuing national publicity has left the impact of the protest doubtful.

At least two consumer groups —the New York Consumer Assembly and the Citizens Action Program of Chicago— said they detected a move away from the protest approach, toward a more longrange attempt to question and monitor the government on the food price issue.

The Consumers Congress itself has already moved in that direction. It asked the Cost of Living Council and cabinet members for a meeting to discuss the food price situation. The Council said it was coordinating such a session, but no date was set.

A spokesman for the Chicago organization said he hoped the Cost of Living Council would eventually agree to hold meetings around the country at which consumers could confront officials directly.

There are some organized efforts under way for the Saturday protest, however, especially in New York City.

A group calling itself Women United For Action said it would picket the headquarters of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A&P), the country's largest supermarket chain, on Saturday. It also said some of its members in Brooklyn would form "community inspection teams" which will enter stores to determine how clean they are.

Smog-Free Car Said Necessity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said today the United States can no longer afford its big gas-guzzling, smokebelching automobiles.

Tunney, in opening hearings on his bill calling for development of a smog-free engine, said an alternative to the conventional internal combustion engine was "a national necessity."

"The automobile offers the individual unparalleled freedom of movement," Tunney said, "but we cannot afford its benefits at the cost of polluted air, wasted energy resources, and outrageously high prices for the average driver."

ACT's 'Godspell' To Welcome New Cast Member On Tuesday

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Godspell", the rock musical which will soon enter its 11th month as a production of the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco, will welcome a new cast member Tuesday night — Stephen Nathan of the original New York company. He will assume the role of Jesus in the highly-polished Bay Area ensemble.

The musical, which opened to critical as well as popular acclaim at the Geary Theater, is currently at home at ACT's Marines' Memorial Theater.

Nathan's role as Jesus brought the young actor a Variety Critics Poll Award. He has also appeared in productions of "Macbird," "Summertree," and "As You Like It."

Also ACT announced this week that Jason Miller's "The Championship Season," which recently received the Tony Award as the best play of the year will be extended for two weeks after the company's regular season closes May 12. The play will have a total of 14 performances — May 14 through May 26.

The drama of a retired basketball coach who hosts a reunion with four of his former star athletes, joined ACT's repertory in February.

$6.8 Million Paid For Simon Paintings

NEW YORK (UPI) — An art auction which brought $6.8 million for 47 paintings from the collections of Los Angeles industrialist Norton Simon set records last night for four top French Impressionists.

Frantic bidding at the sale of Simon art at Sotheby Parke Bernet Galleries Inc. propelled works by Cezanne, Degas, Manet and Redon to new price heights. Cezanne and Manet still lifes received initial bids of $500,000 and were knocked down within minutes for $1.4 million each.

The sale topped the previous world auction record of $6.6 million set in London in 1970. Experts attending the sale attributed the highly competitive buying to collectors' distrust of the world monetary system and their sustained confidence in art as a blue chip investment.

Best evidence of the art world's enthusiasm was $160,000 paid for a small, sensuous Gericault drawing "The Kiss," executed in 1822. Even though the works by this French master are rare on the market, its sale estimate was only $50,000—$30,000 more than it last sold for in London in 1963.

Cezanne's "Vase of Tulips" (1891) went to an unidentified telephone bidder and Manet's "Still Life with Fish" (1864) was knocked down to Wildenstein and Co., New York dealers. Another Cezanne, "Still Life with Blue Cream Pitcher," brought $620,000 and set a world auction record for a watercolor.

The two other auction records were $780,000 for one of Degas' most popular ballet paintings, "Ballet Rehearsal," (1875), sold to Marlborough Galleries of New York, and $225,000 for Redon's "Vase of Flowers" (1915), sold to London dealers Reed and Lefebre. Another top, but not record price, was $290,000 for Renoir's "Couple Reading" (1877), purchased by an unidentified American collector.

Simon explained his sale of the paintings—one of a series in recent years—as an "editing" of his three personal and foundation collections. He said it allowed him to make further purchases which will upgrade quality and strengthen certain historic areas in shows he loans to museums throughout the nation.

The Wednesday sale was the first of four days of auctions which will dispose of 345 19th and 20th century art works at Sotheby Parke Bernet. They are expected to bring a total of more than $10 million.

Sausalito Art Center Seeks Home

The Sausalito Art Center, told Monday it must vacate its quarters by July 15, is determined to stay alive.

Director Francis R. Coehlo said the center's board Tuesday night decided to begin seeking new quarters in Southern Marin, preferably Sausalito.

Because of a money shortage, the center needs inexpensive or rent-free quarters or use of land where a donated building could be placed, he said.

"The very survival of the art center is jeopardized" by the nearness of the deadline, said Coehlo. "It will be a miracle if we get moved in that short a time."

The center was told Monday by the state department of Health, Education and Wefare that it must vacate its quarters in Bayside School because the land must be used exclusively for educational purposes under a deed restriction.

Coehlo appealed to the community for assistance in the forced move.

Gable Paintings Up

Paintings by Fairfax artist Nina E. Gable will be exhibited this month at Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association in San Anselmo.

Famed Kenya Springs Will Be Topic Of Film

"Mzima Springs," a film on the springs in Kenya which form an oasis in the desert, will be shown at the May meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Ross School auditorium.

The society also has announced several field trips during the month which are open to the public.

Spring wildflowers and tidepools will be the subject of a field trip at 6:30 a.m., Saturday, starting at the Bear Valley headquarters of the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Tiburon Peninsula geology will be explored in a trip at 9:30 a.m. on May 20. Those interested should meet at Paradise and Westward drives.

The newly organized Marin Chapter of the California Native Plant Society will hold its first field trip May 12, beginning either at the Safeway parking lot in Mill Valley at 9 a.m. or at Rock Springs on Mount Tamalpais at 10 a.m.

Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley will conduct field trips under the society's auspices each Monday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Salvation Army Seeks Members

This year's Salvation Army Association membership drive will begin on May 14, the first day of national Salvation Army Week, according to Marion R. Kelley, head of the group's San Rafael service extension committee.

Subscription contributions to the Salvation Army — an organization dedicated to spirtual guidance and practical aid — may be mailed to P.O. Box 3465, San Francisco, she said.

Child Molesting Charge Dismissed

A charge of child molesting against Douglas Dwight Evans, 43, of Petaluma, has been dismissed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court after Evans' mentally retarded son was not available to testify.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon dismissed the case when he was told the district attorney's office had not been able to serve Mrs. Evans with a subpoena ordering her to bring the chid to court.

Evans had been accused of molesting the child.

Beer Guzzling Effort Barely Turns A Profit

BARROW-in-FURNESS, England (UPI) — Stan Heywood, 27, gulped down 40 pints of beer in 40 minutes to win a $25 bet at a local pub.

The bar charged him $15 for the beer.

And he learned that despite his tremendous capacity, the drinking bout failed to top the world's record for beer drinking.

The honor is held by a British construction worker who downed 65 pints of beer in 59 minutes, 31 seconds in 1971.

Contract Approved By REA Express

NEW YORK (UPI) — REA Express officials early today said tentative agreement had been reached on a new contract with the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC) and union representatives had canceled all strike orders.

The union representing 12,000 REA employes has been working without a contract for the past 20 months.

A QUEEN GETS REVENGE

The Delta Queen, piloted by Capt. Ernest Wagner, finally had its revenge yesterday after losing four straight times to the Belle of Louisville in their annual steamship race. The Delta Queen won this year's match easily as she crossed the finish line at Louisville, Ky., ahead of the Belle (in background). The two paddlewheelers are tied 5 and 5 in the competition. Caution Due On Septic Tank Law

Directors of Bolinas Community Public Utilities District decided last night to tread warily in the new legal field opened by their proposed ordinance regulating septic tanks and drainage projects within the district's boundaries.

On recommendation of Director Orville Schell, the board agreed unanimously to postpone action until it receives an opinion from the state attorney general's office on whether the ordinance will hold up in court, if adopted by the district alone.

George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy county counsel warned the board at last week's meeting that its legal right to regulate drainage affecting privately owned septic tanks, is not clearly stated in law. As an alternative approach, Silvestri had suggested a joint powers agreement with the county which he said would meet court tests, although it was possible county supervisors might not accept all provisions of the ordinance.

Shell reported he had discussed the district's problems with Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini. Giacomini, he said, favors the joint powers agreement until legal aspects are clarified, and believes the county would not overrule the district when receiving appeals of decisions on construction projects affecting drainage.

In order to meet a May 1 deadline imposed by the State Water Quality Control Board, board members agreed to send a copy of the ordinance to the state board with the information that they are awaiting the state attorney general's opinion before deciding on the joint powers agreement or the go-it-alone policy.

Schell said he had not been told that an opinion from the state attorney general's office was a "speedy procedure."

On another matter, directors heard a preliminary report on the results of a septic tank survey conducted by the consulting firm of Warshall and Farnsworth.

Of the 370 in the district, Peter Warshall reported 36 were initially found to be in failing condition. Of these, 24 were repaired by the owners so that 12 tanks, or 3.3 per cent of the total are now listed as failing.

Warshall said he defined failure as "anything where the effluent surfaced on the ground or returned to the toilet."

Included with the 358 septic tanks listed as "working well" he also showed 37 "marginal" tanks.

Among these, he said, were a tank covered by a porch which thus could not be inspected. Other examples cited were potential drainage problems, such as a driveway paved over leach field or a shed roof next to a leach field.

Warshall also said soil surveys on Bolinas mesa had revealed a geological ancient beach, proving an "excellent" sandy substructure, and another area with heavy clay which would be "very poor for septic tanks."

After some peppery complaints by Director Mark Ireland, on alleged ambiguities in the report, Chairman William E. Nyman appointed Schell, Ireland and himself, to "simplify" it before sending it to the regional quality control board.

A final report will be presented to the local district next Wednesday and will be forwarded to regional board.

The Bolinas Public Utilities Board Also:

ARROYO HONDA — Heard that grants for money to repair flood damage to Arroyo Honda Dam's access road and piping have been declared because bid specifications were not written to meet federal requirement. Ireland was authorized by unanimous vote to hire an engineer to rewrite the bid forms, a process which may require calling for new bids.

SEWERS — Authorized Kirker, Chapman and Associates, civil engineers who are designing new sewage facilities for the downtown area, to conduct eight additional borings for soil information at a cost of up to $4,350. Edward L. Spira said both his firm and William J. Oswald, sanitary engineer collaborating on the design needed to know the origin of seepage waters and whether there was a possibility of an "artesian" situation" in the stabilization ponds.

DRAINAGE — Agreed that district personnel and equipment could be used to make road cuts needed to solve drainage problems affecting private property. Materials and all other work beyond the cuts would be born by the private property owners.

RESTAURANT — By a 3-to-2 vote with Ireland and Marguerite Harris dissenting authorized Schell to "pursue" the legality of a proposed 40-seat restaurant with the regional water control board. "The regional had approved adding the restaurant to Smiley's bar, on condition that an existing laundromat and small apartment be dropped. Schell argued the regional board had previously prohibited additional sewage in Bolinas lagoon.

Loch Lomond Owners Elect

Lee H. Markrack of San Rafael was elected president of the Loch Lomond Homeowners Association last night for 1973-74.

Markrack, 31, a certified public accountant and controller for a San Francisco stock brokerage firm has been a member of the group for 18 months.

Reelected vice president was Richard W. Martin and reelected secretary was Norma Gudmundson. Stanley Hellman was voted the association's secretary.

Student Paid On Trustee Job

FAIRFAX, VA. (UPI) — The youngest member of the Fairfax County school board is 16 years old and he gets an annual salary of $3,000 and traveling expenses.

Brad Shipp, 16, of Reston, Va., was elected to the Board Wednesday at a convention of students. He was nominated by 100 high school student leaders.

He is the third student to serve on the board since the program began three years ago.

Petaluma Site Prezoned For Light Industry Use

The Petaluma Planning Commission has prezoned a 10-acre site north of the city for light industrial use, the first step toward annexation of the property to the city.

A spokesman for the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce said that negotiations are underway for a firm new in the area to build on the site, which will be known as Petaluma Industrial Park No. 2.

The property is located along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad extending northwesterly from Corona Road to the existing city limits at McDowell Road.

In other action Tuesday night, the planning commission turned down a request by William McCoy for rezoning three blocks along B Street between Webster and Spring Streets to allow duplexes. The area is zoned for single-family residential use, and the planning commission said the requested increase in density was not in keeping with the city's environmental design plan.

The commission also turned down a request by Lieb and Quaresema to rezone the block bounded by East D, Erwin, Jerrson and Lakeville streets from light industrial to heavy commercial use.

IT SHOULDN'T TAKE AN ACT OF CONGRESS TO MAKE CARS SAFE.

Volvo was committed to safety long before it became mandatory.

In 1956, for example, we installed padded dashboards: 12 years before the government insisted on them.

In 1959, Volvo became the first mass-produced car in the world with safety belts as standard equipment. Nine years later all cars had safety belts, inspired by Federal regulations.

We don't just settle for the legal minimum, either:

The law says all cars must have two brake circuits. Volvos have two triangular circuits, each controlling three wheels. So if one circuit fails, you still have about 80% of your braking power.

Volvos also have many safety features not required by law:

Like front and rear ends which absorb the impact of collisions. Four-wheel disc brakes with a pressure-proportioning valve to reduce the chances of rear-wheel lock-up. Child-proof rear doors. Rear window defrosters.

Now who would you rather buy a car from?

A company that builds a safe car because someone else made them do it?

Or a company that builds a safe car because their conscience made them do it?

Courageous Play By South Pays Off With A Victory

South made a courageous play at the very first trick in today's hand. Strangely enough, it was safer to be bold than timid.

COUNTS TRICKS

West led the jack of diamonds and South counted his tricks. He could see eight tricks in top cards. If each opponent had exactly three diamonds, South could take the first trick and run the first 10 tricks.

South knew, however, that the odds are against an exactly even break in any suit. The chances were that the diamonds would break 4-2 rather than 3-3.

If he took the first trick and tested the suit with two more top diamonds, the cat would be out of the bag. If the suit failed to break favorably, the player with the fourth diamond would surely shift7to spades; and then South would surely be defeated.

STRATAGEM

Instead of relying blindly on a favorable break, South tried a bold and deceptive stratagem. He played the low diamond from the dummy and the seven of diamonds from his own hand.

West saw that his jack of diamonds had held the first trick and noted his partner's five of diamonds. Since the three and deuce of diamonds were missing, West thought that his partner had begun an encouraging signal with the five.

ROMPS HOME

West therefore led another diamond and South romped home with the game. It's quite true that West could have shifted to spades at the second trick, but players don't like to lead away from kings when they have every reason to believe that they have already struck oil.

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and two points for the doubletons, enough for an optional opening bid. In this case you choose not to bid because your are overvaluing those major suit queens. Avoid opening on a borderline hand when you are counting full value for a doubleton queen.

Discotheques Sued By Youth

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Brad Sanders, 19, sued four discotheques Tuesday, charging sex discrimination because they admit women over age 18 but require men to be 21.

Sanders, a political science major at California State University Northridge, asked $15,000 punitive damages from each discotheque and $1 each actual damages. The $1 is to reimburse him for the cost of gasoline used up by driving to another place after being turned away from the defendants' doors, he said.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Mission impossible! Do you know how each of today's birthday celebrities achieved their fame? Answer "yes" or "no."

2. Pete Seeger, folk singer, will be strumming "happy birthday" on his banjo today.

He is 54. A Harvard University dropout, he assisted the Library of Congress in collecting songs sung by the common people and soon became an expert on old American ballads. Now a radio, TV and recording star, he is constantly on tour to keep the memories of these tunes alive. Was he accused of being a communist for writing, "If I Had a Hammer"? Yes or no.

3. William Inge, playwright, reaches 60 today. Born in Independent, Kans., he studied to become a teacher at the colleges there, instructing English and serving as newspaper drama critic for ten years. Then his plays were accepted by Broadway, turning into such hits that some became movies. Did he win both a Pulitzer Price (for "Picnic") and an Academy Award (for "Splendor in the Grass"): yes or no?

4. Golda Meir, Israel premier, is 75 today. The daughter of Russian immigrants, she was educated in Milwaukee public schools, going to Palestine 50 years ago to work for an independent Jewish state. Active with the labor party, she held various government posts before being named prime minister in 1969. Was her name originally Golda Myerson: yes or no?

ANSWERS: 1. Yes; 2. No; 3. Yes; 4. Yes.

Students Get Say In Faculty Hiring

The policy — termed "a compromise" by trustee Francis Compton — was a much watered-down version of what students originally demanded, and what the faculty had vigorously opposed.

Unanimously endorsed by the five trustees present, the new policy permits two students on a six-member committee which will select new teachers after they've been screened by a professional committee.

However, if a majority of the full-time instructors in the department concerned so vote, the students won't be allowed to vote on the actual selection, they'll just serve on "an advisory basis only."

Originally the Academic Senate had opposed the inclusion of students in faculty selection committees. Originally, Associated Students at College of Marin had pressed for full voting rights.

"There's a marked difference between what the students wanted and this policy," said Mrs. Compton. "But all of the departments will in time realize the value of having students on the committee, if at the moment they don't ... to me that's a compromise. It's very difficult to change things. There should be an out for the faculty."

Donald K. Felt said it had been "a bad thing to have the faculty deeply depressed — they've spent most of their life here. I don't see where the students' position is significantly changed, they've got substantially what they were after."

Marin Community College District Board Also:

ETHNIC STUDIES — Approved creation of an ethnic studies department, at no extra cost to the district since courses will be relinquished from other departments, and directed a report on the department's progress be prepared by Jan. 1, 1975, to see if it's worth continuing; approved four new courses for the fall semester: Native American Current Affairs; Introduction to La Raza Myth and Folklore; La Raza Women; and Perspectives of Black Womanhood. Board president Theodore C. Wellman said the department should attract "more than ethnic groups or they'll simply be talking to themselves."

LEAVE — Approved a one year unpaid leave of absence for typist clerk Joan McClure from Aug. 1973 to Aug. 1974 so she can attend Sonoma State College full time.

FUNDING — Approved applying for federal, state or private funds for the campus children's center, college equipment and the Marin City adult basic education project, but indicated it didn't necessarily mean matching funds would be guaranteed in the district budget. The board did not act on a suggestion that it levy a 3 cent "Children Center Permissive Tax" in the 1973-74 budget to finance the $42,000 needed to keep the children's center going.

CERAMICS — Deferred until May 16 action on a petition from 107 art students seeking to stop laying off Dale Rousch, part-time ceramics instructor, on the return from sabbatical leave of full-time instructor Allan Widenhofer.

SALARIES — Approved a change in the teachers' salary schedule so that anyone already under contract by 1973 can advance on the step schedule without a master's degree.

VACATION — Approved administrators being allowed to accumulate up to 15 days vacation time and transfer it to the next year, adding it to their regular month's vacation.

BIDS — Approved going to bid for outdoor physical education facilities at College of Marin, with contracts to be awarded June 6 for a turfed field behind Kent School, basketball and volleyball courts, drainage work and improvements to the walk from the Stadium Way bridge to Kent School.

CONTRACTS — Awarded the bid for electrical and fire alarm work at College of Marin to the low bidder, Enterprise Electric Co., of San Francisco for $75,900; and for an automatic paper collator for the duplicating center to Collator Products Co., for $8,400.

ILLEGAL — Canceled a closed session to discuss Supt. John A. Grasham's contract, originally scheduled for Monday, on the advice of County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who had advised the board such a private meeting is illegal under the Brown Act.

MEETINGS — Adjourned to Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 101 of the science building to discuss the faculty petition on the need for Indian Valley Colleges; set a meeting for Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the same place, to study the certificated personnel salary proposal, followed by budget review at 8:30 p.m.; set a closed session for 7 p.m., May 16, in the same place, to discuss litigation over redevelopment projects by San Rafael and Corte Madera, followed by the regular board meeting at 8 p.m.

Last Ground Test Passed By Skylab

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Skylab space station has passed its last ground test and engineers today put the ship that will launch its first crew through the final hours of another countdown rehearsal.

The big orbiting laboratory is scheduled to be launched unmanned May 14. Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz will fly up to it the next day in a modified Apollo command craft.

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz were not taking part in today's test because of the hazards involved with a rocket loaded with 193,000 gallons of kerosene, liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen. They will rehearse their role in the countdown Friday after the fuel has been drained from their Saturn 1B rocket.

The three astronauts, to spend a record 28 days in orbit, passed preliminary physical examinations in Houston Wednesday and Dr. Lawrence Dietlein said they were "in high spirits in anticipation of their launch."

The pilots will fly to the Cape this evening after spending the morning in a Skylab trainer at the Johnson Space Center in Houston and undergoing medical and solar observatory briefings.

American Plane Is Fired Upon For Crossing Cong-Held Ground

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong said Wednesday night that Communist forces fired on an American reconnaissance plane because it flew over territory the Viet Cong controls near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

A Viet Cong statement broadcast by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency did not say if the gunfire hit the plane, only that Communist forces opened fire and "timely punished the marauding plane."

The broadcast heard in Saigon said the reconnaissance plane was flying about 3,000 feet high from Quang Tri city along Highway 1 to Gio Linh, along the DMZ.

"Worth noting," the statement said, "is the fact that the spotter plane was flying along the very air corridor reserved for International Commission of Control and Supervision planes by the Provisional Revolutionary Government."

Quoting a Hanoi-based Viet Cong spokesman, the statement added: "The above mentioned U.S. move constitutes an encroachment upon the air space of the areas controlled by the PRG."

It demanded a halt to such flights.

Earlier Wednesday, two ICCS helicopters were fired on after leaving Quang Tri city on a flight to Gio Linh.

The two choppers were en route to Gio Linh to pick up four ICCS investigators, four mechanics and four survivors of an April 7 incident near Khe Sanh in which one ICCS helicopter crashed, killing nine persons, and a second was damaged by ground fire.

In war action, Saigon command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said Communist troops attacked government positions along Highway 1 near the Binh Dinh border along the central coast.

In a four-hour battle there, he said, the Communists were driven off, leaving behind 20 dead. Two government soldiers died and five were wounded.

He also said cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today went up to 122, the highest total since April 15.

In political developments, a Saigon spokesman said a May Day peace proposal by Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh was neither new, concrete nor reasonable.

Government spokesman Bui Bao Truc said Minh's proposal "was not reasonable since it did not touch on the withdrawal of non-South Vietnamese—that is, North Vietnamese—troops from South Vietnam."

Minh, a leader of the coup that deposed the late president Ngo Dinh Diem, has been seeking the leadership of a new political force in South Vietnam.

Nader Calls For Nixon To Resign

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — President Nixon should resign because he will not be able to govern effectively because of the Watergate affair, Ralph Nader said Wednesday.

"President Nixon has not told the truth," Nader said. "I don't think he is going to be able to continue this kind of coverup and remain President."

Calling Watergate "the most serious political corruption in the history of the United States," Nader said, "I don't see anything more serious than the knowing, careful sabotage of the presidential election process that would call for a President's resignation."

WATERGATE NO MATCH

Grant's Scandals Topped All

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's problems with the Watergate case are very serious but so far do not match the scale of scandal and immorality that surrounded President Ulysses S. Grant 100 years ago.

In the Civil War hero's eight-year presidency, corruption charges tarred both of Grant's vice presidents, his personal White House secretary, his brother in law, a Cabinet member and his wife, the U.S. ambassador to England, the speaker of the House, a future President and government officials by the hundreds.

To top it off, Grant's Republican successor in the White House, Rutherford B. Hayes, won the presidency by a cynical political deal that took key electoral votes from his Democratic opponent, Samuel B. Tilden.

Credit Mobilier, the Whiskey Ring and Belknap were the names of scandals that brought out evidence of the theft of millions of dollars and naked bribery in the "gilded age" of a century ago.

Grant was a military genius and was a fine judge of horses and cigars, but not of people, and he refused to believe corruption surrounded him. He turned coldly hostile to the few reformers who brought devastating evidence against the corrupters.

Chief among them was Orville E. Babcock, a Civil War colonel of a West Point family, an intimate of the Grant family, whose finger was found by historians on almost every threat of wrong-doing during Grant's two terms.

The first major public scandal was the Credit Mobilier affair.

ULYSSES S. GRANT
No judge of people

Near the close of Grant's first term, the New York Sun published charges that Credit Mobilier, a construction firm set up to benefit builders of the Union Pacific, had authorized the secret sale of lucrative stock at cut-rate prices to members of Congress who "would produce most good for us."

On the list of those alleged on the take from Rep. Oates Ames, a Massachusetts shovel manufacturer and a Credit Mobilier director, were outgoing Vice President Schuyler Colfax, his second-term successor Henry Wilson, Speaker James G. Blaine, Congressman James A. Garfield who later became a President, and George S. Boutwell, later made treasury secretary by Grant.

On Feb. 27, 1873, five days before Grant was inaugurated for a second term, Ames and a New York Republican congressman, James Brooks, were censured by the House, 182 to 36, for their complicity. They escaped outright expulsion only because of parliamentary ploys by Blaine in the speaker's chair.

Even prior to this, Grant's brother-in-law, James F. Casey, had become nose-deep in corruption in the troop-enforced Reconstruction era operations of Louisiana after the President had named him collector of customs —a post that had produced charges of misdeeds in New York and other cities.

A House committee reported that in the 1872 election the administration had illegally used $32,000 of Secret Service funds to hire detectives to find evidence of false Democratic registrations in Grant's reelection campaign which he sat out at his cottage at Long Beach, N. J., without making a speech.

In London, Robert C. Schwenk, a onetime fellow general of Grant's, was the U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James. He taught his British hosts how to play draw poker. He also touted them on stock in the Emma gold mine which turned out worthless — but only after Schwenk had unloaded his shares at a good Yankee profit.

Yet these malfeasances paled to the innocence of a church bingo game when the story of the Whiskey Ring broke. At the center of this multimillion dollar scandal was the handsome, charming, unscrupulous Babcock, the President's personal secretary.

Basically the scheme involved false reporting of the number of barrels of whiskey produced by distillers and rectifiers in the Midwest, with the ring pocketing what should have been paid in federal taxes.

The swindle netted $1,200,000 in St. Louis alone in 1874 and similar rake-offs were going on in Milwaukee, Peoria, Chicago, Indianapolis and other cities. Cigar boxes filled with $1,000 bills and letters containing $500 payments were delivered to Washington.

John McDonald, a former Army general crony of Grant's, headed the ring in St. Louis as an internal revenue supervisor. Exposure came through the effort of Grant's second-term Treasury secretary, Benjamin H. Bristown, a Kentuckian with political ambitions but oldfashioned ideas of honesty.

Bristow set up a secret investigation. On May 10, 1874, seizures at 32 whiskey plants in the Midwest resulted in indictment of 360 distillers and government officials and the conviction of 110 of them.

Babcock first sought to use his Army commission to undergo court martial by friendly fellow officers

Grant remained unconvinced of his secretary's dishonesty and said he would go to St. Louis to testify personally as a character witness on Babcock's behalf. He was dissuaded from this but nevertheless went before the Chief Justice and swore out a deposition saying he never saw anything in his secretary's conduct that indicated involvement in the ring and he would have known had Babcock been guilty.

Babcock was acquitted. The government prosecutor in St. Louis was dismissed at Grant's bidding.

Grant's secretary of war, W. W. Belknap, and his wife played for smaller stakes but the conduct was possibly more sordid.

When he first came to Washington, his wife found his $8,000-a-year salary too meager to support her social climbing hopes and suggested to a New York contractor, Caleb P. Marsh, that he apply for the lucrative Indian trading post commission at Fort Sill.

When both Marsh and the incumbent, John S. Evans, sought the post, a deal was worked out. Evans would keep Fort Sill but would pay $12,000 a year to Marsh who in turn would give half to Mrs. Belknap.

Mrs. Belknap died shortly after receiving the first installment but her husband collected $20,000 during his stay in office.

A congressional investigating committee under the Democrats was on the verge of exposing the kickback racket but Belknap raced to the White House and submitted his resignation to Grant before the scandal broke.

At an impeachment trial in 1876, Belknap laid the blame on his dead wife and argued that since he had submitted his resignation, he was not subject to impeachment. He was acquitted by a Senate vote.

Near the close of his presidency, Grant was buoyed by a string of GOP election victories at the state level and told his supporters: "I think we have assurance the Republicans will control the government for four more years."

Art, Doll Exhibits

Acrylic paintings by Kentfield artist Barbara Pierce are on exhibit this month at the Corte Madera Regional Library. Also on exhibit is a case of dolls collected by Mrs. Benjamin Petrini of San Rafael.

Scout Show Scheduled For May 12

With the theme "Scouting on Display," more than 2,000 Scouts, Cubs and their leaders will present the annual Scout-O-Rama May 12 at Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

Opening ceremonies will be at 12:30 p.m., led by the Marine Band from Washington, D.C.

More displays, projects and exhibits will be on view than at previous Scout-O-Ramas, according to William H. Sherwood, executive director of Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Games, Scout-made rides, model campsites, campfires and cooking will be featured.

Totem poles carved and decorated by Cub dens and patrol flags designed and made by various Scout patrols will be judged for awards.

Federal Grant Given To Gays

STANFORD (UPI) — The Gay People's Union at Stanford University Wednesday received a $3,713 grant from the U.S. Office of Education that will permit members of the homosexual group to attend drug counselor training program.

David Goldman, treasurer of the campus organization, said he believes it is the first direct government grant to a homosexual group.

He said the Gay People's Union, a voluntary campus group, applied directly to the Office of Education for the grant and bypassed the university.

Homosexual organizations have benefitted indirectly from government grants in the past.

Trial Is Ordered In Dog Dispute

A Marin Municipal Court judge has ruled there is enough evidence to try a 56-year-old Oregon man on a felony count of firing at a Corte Madera home during a dispute over a dog.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered Edgar Jack Storey of Gresham, Ore., to appear Wednesday in superior court.

Corte Madera police arrested Storey April 7 after he allegedly fired three shots through the front door of the 11 Birch Court home of Alexis Sill. He went to the home to retrieve a doberman pinscher dog, police said.

DATSUN GETS BEST MILEAGE IN U.S. TEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Environmental Protection Agency tests conducted on cars designed to meet the 1973 air pollution standards showed Tuesday that the Datsun gave the best mileage—nearly 29 miles to a gallon.

The Datsun 1200 used a 71-cubic-inch engine, weighed 2,000 pounds, and was equipped with a manual, four-speed transmission. Its mileage total per gallon was 28.7, EPA said.

The highest fuel consumption was turned in by the 4,000-pound Ferrari-Daytona. Its 268-cubic-inch engine produced 6.3 miles to the gallon, EPA said.

Among other low fuel consumers, General Motors' Chevrolet Vega got 21.5 miles to a gallon using a 140-cubic-inch engine in a 2,750-pound car and a manual, four-speed transmission. Ford's Pinto got 21.4 miles to the gallon using a 98-cubic-inch engine and a manual, four-speed transmission in a car weighing 2,500 pounds.

The gas mileage tests were part of the 1973 auto pollution tests conducted on all cars sold in the United States.

According to the EPA, the cars were operated on a device that simulated urban driving conditions.

GRACIE SALT fried fish 12 hours a day for 20 years, helping her husband, Haddon N. Salt of San Rafael, build a fish and chips business. She now uses that business sense as chairman of Assistance Guild of Marin's new thrift shop in San Rafael. As a volunteer she is aiding Marin County drug abuse programs.

Business Is Now A Pleasure

"I fried fish for 20 years until I was rescued by Colonel Sanders," Gracie Salt said.

The wife of Haddon N. Salt, better known as H. Salt Exquire of fish and chips fame, is referring to the sale in 1969 of the fish and chips chain to Kentucky Fried Chicken.

"I served 20 years behind the pans, and now my life is absolutely super," she said. "Money has not made a difference in my life, although I am no longer tied down by hours."

With time on her hands Grace Salt decided to join the Assistance Guild of Marin.

"I HAD NEVER belonged to a woman's club before. As soon as I joined, the group decided to open a thrift shop, and I said I would help," she said.

The help became nearly a full time endeavor and an opportunity for Mrs. Salt to use the years of business experience in a charitable venture, since the guild supports Marin County drug abuse programs. She chose a location for the shop near the San Rafael Canal. The area is heavily populated, parking is good and browsers are enticed from a coin laundry next door, she said.

She spends at least one day a week working at the shop, which is open Thursdays through Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

When not at the shop, where "there is always a job to do", Mrs. Salt is either traveling or learning something new.

When she was young, Mrs. Salt said, she made a promise to herself to learn something new every year.

It began in Skegness, England, where she met the bosses' son at the hotel where she worked as a receptionist during the summer. She married the son, Haddon Salt, and they continued to live in Skegness.

"There was nothing to do in Skegness, so I decided to take a course. The only thing available was a building and construction course, so I took it," she said.

OTHER YEARS she has learned to fly an airplane, ski, oil paint and currently she is learning Spanish. The Spanish will come in handy because the Salts plan to spend time in Mazatlan, where they are building a resort of five hotels and many condominiums along a three-and-a-half-mile beach front. Carefully planned in Mexican colonial, the resort will take 10 years to complete.

Mrs. Salt was born 43 years ago in Leicester, England. She was married in 1949, and in 1953 emigrated to Canada with her husband. On a return trip to England they met Mr. and Mrs. Lee Menges of San Rafael aboard the Queen Elizabeth. The couples corresponded in the intervening years and in 1964 the Salts decided to settle in San Rafael.

The rest of the story is legend, with the Salts opening up the first of many fish and chips shops in Sausalito in July of 1965. While Salt was opening new shops his wife was teaching franchisees how to fry fish and chips and operate a successful business. She has passed the advice on to members of the Assistance Guild.

"It takes self discipline to run a successful business. Some days you may not want to go to work, but you know customers are waiting and the hours are on the door." — J.L.

Author Wrote Book To Help Men Understand Feminists

By JOAN LISETOR

When Gene Marine wrote his book, "A Male Guide To Women's Liberation," it was with the hope that it would be read by male reporters and editors.

"They are not evil," Marine said. "They just don't understand the women's movement, and they want to trivialize it."

Marine, who lives in Berkeley but has an aversion to being called "a Berkeley writer," was in Marin to speak at a meeting of the Divorce Advisory Group, men and women who have had divorce adjustment counseling at the Marin Family Service Agency. In an interview prior to the talk Marine discussed the benefits men derive from the feminist movement.

In his 40s, Marine has been married three times, "if you count a brief youthful fling." His current wife is an instructor and doctoral candidate at the University of California at Berkeley and collaborated with him on his third book, which is on the subject of food additives. The guide is his fourth book. He has also written on ecology and the Black Panthers, all social issues, so not so different from the women's movement, he said.

MANY PERSONS going through divorce, especially those over 30, are facing real relationships between the sexes for the first time and have to think about stereotyped impressions, he said.

"In the book I have used male examples and deal with the male reader, not in terms of his sex life, but talking about his real or potential daughter rather than his lover," he said.

The book could be deeper, he admitted, and contains little original material.

"It is what women have said for years, but they have only said it to other women. I have presented it to men in an unthreatening way," he said.

"We have to give up a lot of our self image in order to be free from being in a trapped role," he said. "Who wants to play the role of being macho all the time and sexually perfect whenever in the presence of a woman?"

GENE MARINE
Guide for men

NEW AND different kinds of friendships are happening as a result of the movement, he said, and he is seeing women in a different way.

"I used to be introduced to a man, 'This is Joe Blow,' and someone would nod toward his wife, 'm-m-m.' Now I talk to her, and find women have interesting things to say.

"The movement makes friendships between men different by taking the overriding fear of homosexuality away," he said.

Prior to the movement men's relationships and conversations centered around the so-called masculine culture — who's your favorite second baseman —and are now more open, he said.

The movement's major message is, "There is not something wrong with me, but something wrong has been done to me," Marine said, and it applies to both men and women.

While he believes the results of the women's movement have not even begun to be seen, he said he is surprised how much consciousness raising has already taken place.

THROUGHOUT THE country women of all ages have sophisticated insights into the movement, he said, and the movement has penetrated the culture to such a degree that the white male defense syndrome has emerged. He thinks the syndrome is false.

"There is no backlash. They said it's impossible for a white male to get a job, but white males already have all of the jobs. Every book written about the backlash has fallen on its face," he said.

Reactionary political groups and fundamentalist religions are fighting the movement because they are frightened by the rate of change, he said.

"They identify the movement with promiscuity and perhaps not wrongly — by their terms. They see (Hugh) Heffner's thing and the liberation of the sexes and equate them with the same moral content. They think women in the movement don't want to wear bras, so that's like the topless dancers," he said.

His own marriage he described as "about as liberated as you can get." Traditional marriage was failing before the movement, except with very traditional people, he said, but the movement has called everything into question.

"The housework thing is a 'male red herring,' and resisting at that level is easy. Or a man can do the housework once and say, 'Look at me I'm a feminist.' That's not it. What the book is saying is we must not only change the roles but look at why we have roles at all," he said.

Learning Theory Is Lecture Topic

A lecture on Jean Piaget's theories of learning by Libby Byers, will be the final program in the College of Marin's "Child Development" lectures on May 22 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Mrs. Byers, an instructor in early childhood education at California State University, Sonoma, will show a film to accompany her lecture.

Parents-Teens Communication Course Is Set

A family communication course for parents and teenagers will open Monday, sponsored by the Family Service Agency of Marin.

The six session course will be held Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Family Service Agency office, 1005 A Street, San Rafael.

The course is designed to teach communication skills, not therapy, and to clarify relationships by communication.

Registration or information is available from the Family Service Agency, San Rafael.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Desperate Letters Horrifying When You Don't Know Outcome

RAP:

What letters worry you the most —I mean the ones that really drive you up the wall? — AVID READER

READER:

Our most chilling letters are what we call the time bombs: from people so hopelessly depressed or in such deep trouble that they might choose suicide if they don't get immediate close-in aid. These writers almost never give their names and addresses and we seldom know whether our "Personals" (including addresses of local counseling agencies) have helped or not.

Here's an example of a letter that continues to worry us. It was sent July 6, 1971, from San Antonio, Texas. We never heard from this girl again, though Heaven knows we tried! Perhaps, if she's better now, she'll recognize her 16-year-old self and let us know how things worked out for her.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 16-year-old girl who grew up too fast, who never had a chance to be a "carefree little girl," and who's got problems so big I tried to take my own life, but I couldn't even succeed at that.

Then came a series of psychiatric sessions that were also failures, because the tests told me what I already knew: I think too much and too seriously; I pay no attention to my needs, my wants and my welfare, and I hate to let my feelings show; I keep all of my emotions inside because "I'm not important."

Having my feelings of worthlessness confirmed has made me withdraw farther from myself and others. I'm completely alone! And I'm scared.

How do I learn to accept help? How do I stop feeling so dead? Someone, anyone — help me help myself. it's taken so long to extend my hands. . .don't fail me: I've been failed by others too much already.

I don't want to become a statistic: "16-year-old dead of suicide." I want to live, but it's so hard.

Please, I'm reaching: someone touch me. . .WITHDRAWN AND DYING

Please, "Withdrawn and Dying," (and other then-desperate, nameless people we've tried so hard to reach):

If life has righted itself —as life has a habit of doing —don't leave us hanging. Did you read our messages in your newspaper? Did you find close-in therapy? Tell us how it happened for you. Perhaps your story might help others who are reaching, but fear to make real contact. — HELEN AND SUE

TO READERS: Depressions are universal. There's scarcely a person in the world who hasn't thought, however fleetingly, "Wouldn't it be easier just not to wake up?"

But humans have amazing resilience. We emerge from even the most devastating depressions often on our own. We heal, and we can't quite understand how or why, anymore than we can fully understand what caused this inordinate despair in the first place.

If you remember that when you're down, the climb back will be a little easier. — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

Is it bad to use both sides of the paper in writing a personal letter? — TOLD OFF

DEAR T.O.:

Not unless the paper is "onion skin." — SUE

DEAR T.O.:

I like the P.S. on a recent letter: "Sorry I used both sides. . .but I like to save trees!" — HELEN

PARENT AND CHILD

Watching Plays Key Factor In Dialogue

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

It is not easy to listen to what children have to say. But it is extremely important that we adults learn how to do it.

Of course, children have to use many of the same words to mean different things. Their vocabularies are limited. But often what they want to say is just as complex as any message between cultured adults.

This means that listening to children requires watching as well as hearing. Children are masters at the art of what is called "body language." They often say more with their eyes and facial expressions than they do with their words. And if adults are not sensitive to the signals, they may miss vital messages.

It is important to help little children develop good vocabularies and speech patterns. This comes from practice and loving attention from teachers, parents, friends and relatives. Therefore, adults want to keep stretching children's vocabularies by using new words in a meaningful context.

BUT ONE-WAY communication isn't enough. Adults, especially parents and live-in relatives, need to become acute listeners. They need to offer young children the opportunity to tell stories, to think out solutions to problems, to try out new expressions and words, to share ideas and to give directions.

Relatives and friends who are frequent visitors, especially grandparents, can provide an extra amount of listening. This may make up for the "too busyness" of parents.

Children often parrot what it is they think adults want them to hear. This is a dangerous practice — especially rampant in formal classrooms and Sunday schools. It is dangerous because the nonlistening adult may assume that what the child is saying is what he believes or understands. And this is frequently not the case at all.

The child who repeats back what an adult has told him isn't usually thinking about what he is saying at all. Unfortunately many school exercises reinforce rather than expose this bad habit.

But the adult who is really listening and watching eye and expression signals, will be able to tell whether he is hearing something genuine. If he is sure he is getting "talk-talk" and not "thought-talk" he can ask carefully probing questions which help the young child to speak his own thoughts.

This intergeneration communication is a vital part of learning. It refreshes adults, and it broadens the good experiences of children.

BUT BEYOND the need to help children express their own and not another's thoughts is the special need to help them develop clear ways of expressing themselves. Children left to talk only with other children have little opportunity to build better vocabularies or to use complete sentences. Many resort to baby talk when addressing adults.

Stuttering and other faulty speech habits are often a result of children's having had no adult with whom to talk; no one to listen to them; no one to appreciate their message. Correction can come easily, when this condition is detected early, just by giving children ample opportunity to talk and share thoughts.

ON THE AGENDA

Opening Day Of Yachting Will Feature Annual Ferryboat Ride

Raccoon Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers will present its 10th annual ferryboat ride Sunday as part of the opening day of yachting season festivities.

Passengers will ride in and around the opening day boat parade.

Proceeds will benefit the hospital.

The ferryboat boarding is at 10 a.m. at the Windjammer Restaurant dock in Tiburon and departure is 10:30 a.m. sharp. Snacks and no-host cocktails will be served aboard. Return is at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained from chairmen Mmes. K. L. Rice Jr. and Donald McCune, both of Tiburon.

Assisting them are Mmes. James Hickey, food; Donald Furlong and Thomas Corn, name tags; John Hoffmire and Burton Stitt, decorations, and James Shepard, publicity.

"BUTTONS AND Bows" is the theme for the gala box luncheon and fashion show to be presented Saturday by the students and parents of Kent Junior High School at the school in Kentfield.

The seventh and eighth grade home economics students, directed by Mrs. Corinne Doty, will model clothes they have made.

Mrs. Richard Miller of Greenbrae is reservations chairman.

The Alto-Edna Maguire Parent-Teacher Association will give a Fair Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. on the school grounds at 80 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

Robert Shields, the mime from San Francisco's Union Square, will perform. Other entertainers will be the Tamalpais High School Pep Band, Lynn Allen, a tap dancer, and the Rag Doll Dancers, fourth grade girls Sandra Bodovitz, Laurie Jamieson, Dawn Kaneko and Allison Mark.

There will be an international food booth, a bake sale, and sales of snack foods, games of skill, and booths where balloons, toys, plants, and arts and crafts will be displayed.

A Mothers Day Booth will be stocked with gift items for mothers and grandmothers.

Mrs. William Jamieson and Mrs. J. W. Hopkins are chairmen.

BETHEL 183, International Order of Job's Daughters, Novato Parents Club is having a public art exhibit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Lakos in Novato Sunday, from noon until 5 p.m. Artist Irma Wallem of Sonoma will show her work.

The proceeds will go towards a bus fund for the Bethel girls' convention trip to Long Beach in June.

MARIN MEMBERS of Zonta International will attend the spring seminar Sunday of Zonta at the San Ramon Country Club in San Ramon.

They will join members of clubs from Berkeley, Monterey, Palo Alto, Redwood City, Santa Rosa, San Francisco and Mt. Diablo area for the program. Among the featured speakers will be Marian Ash of Sacramento, women's right legislative advocate and editor of Skirting the Capitol, a women's rights legislation newsletter.

THE SIR Francis Drake High School International Association will hold its annual international dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday at the Drake student center in San Anselmo.

Foods from various parts of the world will be featured and student musicians and belly dancers will entertain.

Proceeds from the event will help send Drake students to foreign countries. Tickets for the dinner will be available at the door.

MARIN CHAPTER of Gold Star Mothers will be honored at a brunch Sunday by San Anselmo Unit 179, American Legion Auxiliary. The brunch will be held at Peacock Gap Country Club at 11 a.m.

The annual event is headed by Mrs. Jean Lestanguet, who is also reservations chairman for the public brunch.

A MODERN dance workshop will be held at Fairfax Pavilion tonight, tomorrow and Saturday morning, taught by Patti Newton Walsh. Hours for the evening classes are 5:30 to 7 p.m., and Saturday the class will begin at 10:30 a.m. The classes are sponsred by the Fairfaax 3 Recreation Department.

TWO SAN Rafael sisters are competing in the homecoming queen contest at Armstrong College in Berkeley. Sandra and Yvonne Klang are looking forward to the judging May 8.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klang of San Rafael. Sandra is sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council, and Yvonne is the nominee of the Minor Clubs.

A GRADUATION hoedown will be held by the Rustlers Square Dance Club of Santa Rosa Saturday at the Monroe Clubhouse in Santa Rosa. Vern Churchill will be the caller for the 8:30 p.m. dance.

Tattoo Artist To Be Guest On Radio Show

Tattoo artist Lyle Tuttle says tattooing has touched the establishment and will discuss it with Jorie Parr on "Jorie Talks" Tuesday at 9 a.m. on KTIM.

Also on the show will be Linda O'Neil, who teaches school in Bolinas, and has been tattooed by Tuttle.

Following "Jorie Talks" at 9:30 a.m. Diane MacMillan will discuss aphrodisiac cookery on "Kitchen Time In Marin."

Carol Neumeier Is Named As Distinguished Alumnus

Carol Oldham Neumeier of San Anselmo will receive the 1973 Distinguished Alumnus Award in education from Wake Forest University at ceremonies Saturday night in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Mrs. Neumeier is a guidance counselor at Redwood High School, and completing her 20th year as an educator. She has taught on elementary, secondary and college levels and taught English on a Fulbright grant in Bangkok, Thailand.

She coached championship debate teams at San Bernardino High School and has taught at Wake Forest and George Washington High School in San Francisco.

Mrs. Neumeier came to Marin as an eighth grade teacher at Ross Grammar School and became an English teacher at Redwood in 1960. She also taught journalism the first few years, and her students produced four all American Redwood Bark student newspapers. In 1965 she became a fulltime counselor, and in 1971 she co-founded Women on the Move, which Gloria Steinem has called "the most effective organization of its kind in the nation." The group of students, faculty and community members seek to counsel girls for their lifespan and acquaint them with a variety of careers.

Mrs. Neumeier is also president of the Redwood Child Development Center, Inc., which is seeking funding from the state to place a model child care center for infants at Redwood as a part of an integrated curriculum. She also was instrumental in organizing the Tamalpais District Women's Task Force.

Mrs. Neumeier was graduated from Wake Forest summa cum laude in 1951 and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortarboard.

She received the master's degree from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., and studied counseling at the University of California and California State University, San Francisco.

Mrs. Neumeier will fly to North Carolina to participate in the three-day awards event, at which five men graduates will also receive alumnus awards.

CAROL OLDHAM NEUMEIER
Distinguished alumna

Accompanying her at the ceremonies will be her sister, Angelette O. Yarborough, a Sanford, N.C., teacher; and her brother, Jerald K. Oldham of Greensboro, N.C.

Mrs. Neumeier has three children, Lisa, 22, a stepdaughter; Edward, 15, a sophomore at Sir Francis Drake High School; and Shelley, 7, who attends Brookside School.

AUDREA RANDALL
Engagement news

Engagement Of Andrea Randall Told

C/Msgt. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Randall are announcing the engagement of their daughter Audrea Ruth Randall to Robert Wayne Graham, all of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Audrea is the sister of Kenneth Randall and Hamilton and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Randall of Mountain Home, Ark., Mrs. John Brunsell and Lenard Rea of Odessa, Tex. She is attending Novato High School.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Graham of Las Vegas, Nev., and the brother of Ron and John Graham and Mrs. David Coleman. He was graduated from high school in Las Vegas and is serving with the Air Force at Hamilton.

The couple plan to be married on Aug. 4.

Noted Speakers Arranged For A.M. Lecture Series

The Volunteer Bureau of Sonoma County will sponsor the next season of the A.M. lecture series in Marin.

The series, six Friday morning lectures scheduled next October through April, 1974, will be held at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael.

Among the prominent speakers already scheduled are Celeste Holm, actress and comedienne; Vincent Price, actor and authority on art collecting; and Neil Sheehan, journalist.

Chairman of the event for the Sonoma volunteer bureau is Mrs. George Firestone. Committee members are Mmes. Alex Thiele, Eugene La Cornu, Melvin Stephens and Edward Dermott.

The first years of A.M were sponsored by the Family Service League of Marin and the past year was unsponsored. Wilma Lewis of Sacramento is coordinator of the A.M. series.

Mayor Vows Mother's Care

So a majority of the village's 110 registered voters made Mrs. Denison their mayor.

She is committed to creating more interest in local government and says she thinks a woman "is better able to get people involved in community programs. I'm a citizen concerned with good government."

Mayor Denison didn't get into politics for monetary gain, she says. She sure didn't. The job pays $200 a year.

Marin History Books Discussed

By BETTY FROST

"A lot of things happened in Marin County between 1880 and 1965," Mrs. Virginia Keating told the 45 women attending a luncheon given by the Mill Valley Community Church Club yesterday in the church social hall.

A volume, long out of print, published in 1880, was for many years the only source of Marin County history, the former Marin County librarian explained. A benefactor financed the reprinting of this rare book so it is now more widely available. In 1965 the Marin County Historical Society adopted a resolution to encourage historians to produce books about local subjects.

Mrs. Keating discussed some of the books on Marin county history and the people who wrote them for the church women.

Mrs. Richard Keating, a resident of Marinwood, was Marin County librarian for 38 years, retiring in December, 1968. Not quite a native of Marin, she was born in San Francisco, but moved to San Anselmo when she was two years old. She is the incoming president of the Marin County Humane Society Auxiliary and a director of the Marin County Historical Society.

During her years as county librarian, Mrs. Keating introduced the bookmobile system to serve the scattered communities of Marin. She also started the California Historical room at the county library.

"For years I had felt such a lack of information about Marin County history," she said. "I felt so sorry for the students who have such limited resources from which to do research. I started collecting things in folders and scrapbooks.

"When someone was doing a local history study, I would beg for an extra copy for the Marin history shelf," she said.

Now she notes with pleasure that there is a junior historical society formed by students at Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake High Schools, with well-prepared original papers, a prerequisite for admission.

She noted a breakthrough in 1961 with the publication by the Independent-Journal of "A Century of Service" by the late Florence Donnelly, I-J women's editor and historian.

The first book published under the auspices of the Marin County Historical Society was "Marin Poeple", contributed by Dr. Leo Stanley. The collection of biographies will soon be followed by a second volume now at the printers.

"Early Marin," written by Jack Mason and Helen Van Cleave Park shed more light on the development of the county, and followed Jack Mason's first book on Marin's past, "Point Reyes, the Solemn Land."

The plight of the Indians after the secularization of the missions was a sad chapter, Mrs. Keating said. The Indians at Mission San Rafael were sent to Nicasio, where the kindly administrator, pioneer Don Timoteo Murphy, was soon replaced by a harsher man. Ravished by disease and brutality and deprived of their own social structure, the Indians were almost all gone by 1880.

Others the retired librarian credited with recent works contributing to knowledge of the past are Jean Montgomery of Mill Valley, Louise Teather of Tiburon, the late A. Bray Dickson and the Junior League of San Francisco for including a Marin chapter in their collection about Bay Area landmarks, "Here Today."

Scout Cookie Champs Named

The troop's 17 members averaged 71 boxes sold by each girl. Their record made them the highest sales achievers for a junior troop in the Richardson Bay Girl Scout Association. Their salesmanship won the troop the weekend use of a scout campsite and a cash award of $120.70 for the troop's own projects.

Vows Said By Couple On Saturday

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Wilson of Mill Valley.

Harry S. North Jr. of Corte Madera was best man for his son. The ushers were Patrick Connolly and Michael Connolly of San Rafael, Harry S. North III and Mason M. North, both of Corte Madera and brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride, now employed by J. C. Penney Co. in Corte Madera, is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, attended the College of Marin and will enroll at California State University, San Francisco.

She is the sister of Mrs. J. Barclay Brown of Casper, Wyo., and Mrs. Michael H. Hull of Long Beach.

Marc is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. North Jr. of Corte Madera. A graduate of Redwood High School and College of Marin he is attending CSU, San Francisco and is employed by Montgomery Ward in Corte Madera.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Mason of Susanville are his grandparents.

Rare Paintings To Be Displayed

Mrs. Philip McCoy of Kentfield is vice chairman of a special committee for the opening of a new exhibition at the Center of Asian Art and Culture. The exhibit will open July 10 and will feature 86 rare Indian paintings.

The center is located at the M. H. DeYoung Museum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Mrs. Allen E. Vickers Heads Alumnae Group

Mrs. Allen E. Vickers of Mill Valley is the new president of the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta.

Deanna Zane Vickers has been a member of the alumnae group for two years and has held the office of treasurer.

The purpose of the local alumnae is to foster friendships among the members, to assist Northern California collegiate chapters and to participate in the scholarship programs for women at the national and Marin County level, as well as aid to university libraries throughout the country.

The annual fund-raising event, a wine tasting party, benefits a scholarship fund for a Marin County girl graduating from a local high school. The scholarship rotates among the high schools in Marin County. Meetings and programs with speakers, luncheons, monthly bridge and special events are planned.

Any alumna member of Delta Delta Delta, a national Panhellenic fraternity, is eligible for membership.

"Dee" Vickers is also a member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

MRS. ALLEN E. VICKERS
Heads alumnae chapter

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Vickers attended the University of California at Santa Barbara and was graduated from the University of Oregon with a bachelor of arts degree in art history.

She has lived in Marin County for nine years. Her husband is the manager of the internal audit department for Citizens Savings and Loan Co. They have three sons, Michael, 4, Neil, 2, and Brian, 1.

The new slate of officers will be installed at a luncheon at the Pathfinders Tea Room at the Marin Art and Garden Center on May 22. Other incoming officers are Mmes Richard E. Ogle, Tiburon, vice president; Ronald K. Lamson, San Rafael, secretary; and Jay Shinohara, Novato, treasurer.

NCO Wives Pick New President

Mrs. Emile Patrick of Novato is the new president of the Noncommissioned Officers Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Other officers elected are Mmes. Robert Rhorer, vice president; Walter Wade, recording secretary; Edwin Dorminey, corresponding secretary; Gerald Cameron, treasurer; John Engs, assistant treasurer, John Ward, parliamentarian.

Committee chairmen are Mmes. Mendel Rea, commissary, px and youth; George Parker, games; Robert Hennessey, entertainment; Charles Withrop, hospitality and welcome; Carlos Luna, hostess; Robert Van Der Schaaf, nursery; Frank Herrerra, hospitality and welfare; Joseph Curmen, thrift shop; Bruce Bobbitt, telephone; and Elwood Jackson, ways and means.

Guests Listed For Radio Show

Guests tomorrow at 9 a.m. on "What's New In Marin" on KTIM will be Orrin Moon of Electronics Security Products and Leona Norman, director of the Marin Civic Ballet, according to the show' host, Jean Fitzgerald.

Moon will discuss the current interest and trends toward electronic security systems in businesses and homes. Miss Norman will talk about the Pacific Regional Ballet Associ dance festival to be held May 10 through 13 in San Rafael.

Nixon Economics Aids Auto Firms

DETROIT (UPI) — Nixon economics will add 600,000 cars to Detroit's sales record this year—$1.38 billion that would have gone to foreign car makers.

The Nixon administration economic program has seemed almost tailored to the U.S. auto industry. It eliminated the 7 per cent excise tax on new cars and forced import prices high enough to push Americans to U.S.-built subcompacts.

Before Phase I began in August of 1971, automotive analysts were predicting that imports—with an "unnatural price advantage"—would hold 20 per cent of the U.S. market by the end of 1973. Current indications are that they will be lucky to match last year's 14.6 per cent of industry sales.

A 5 per cent difference, says a "Big Three" analyst, means 600,000 cars a year at an average retail price of $2,300. That amounts to $1,380,000,000 to Detroit.

Nine years ago, Japanese automakers sent 17,000 autos into the United States. By mid1971, Japanese cars were selling at 400,000 a year — a five-year increase of 1,800 per cent. Detroit claims this occurred because of inequities in currency exchange rates.

"The Japanese took a look at the price advantage imports held in the 1960s and said to themselves, we have to get into the U.S. market. And they landed with full force," said John B. Naughton, vice president of the sales group at Ford.

"In past years, a great part of the mystique of foreign cars in America was directly related to their low price," he said. "Price has always been an important part of any marketing equation.

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford, was even more explicit in his 1972 year-end statement. A new monetary system designed to keep exchange rates in better balance "will prevent the kind of problem that developed in recent years when Japan and Germany gained an unreasonable competitive advantage over American industry because of the substantial underevaluation of their currencies relative to the dollar," Ford said. He has fought against the protectionist Hartke-Burke bill which would establish mandatory quotas on imports.

When Ford introduced its import-fighting Pinto in late 1970 and General Motors the Chevrolet Vega, both still carried higher price tags than the popular imports—the Volkswagen Beetle and Toyota 1.2 liter two-door sedan. Those differences have since been erased by the mid-1971 import surcharge and two subsequent dollar devaluations.

At the beginning of the 1971 model year, Pinto sold for $1,919 and Vega at $2,069. VW was delivering its Beetle at $1,780, Toyota was coming in at $1,798 and Datsun at $1,736.

The price comparisons do not include charges for preparation and conditioning which vary with each manufacturer.

Pinto has increased $102 since then while Vega has actually dropped $2 for its basic model. On the other hand, VW has gone up $419—a 23.5 per cent increase—while Toyota has increased its prices by $350 and Datsun $459.

Considering the following factors, according to the automotive analyst, imports held an unnatural price advantage:

—There existed a general product standoff since domestic cars had more power and interior room while the small imports had additional features as standard equipment.

—The importers faced the obvious costs of intercontinental shipment and U.S. entry charges—about $100 per vehicle from Europe and $200 from Japan.

—There were no completely overriding advantages in plant and equipment efficiencies favoring one company or country.

—Lower overseas labor costs benefited the imports, but exchange rates in the 1960s and early 1970s magnified these cost differentials.

—Domestics should have an advantage because of established distribution systems and lower per-unit advertising costs.

With relatively equal product content and overall efficiencies, it would be reasonable to expect imports to be priced somewhat higher than comparable domestics if only the shipment and entry costs were considered. However, the analyst said, even after the first devaluation, exchange inequities still existed, allowing comparable imports to be priced no higher than domestic makes.

What's the outlook then for the imports? Can their share of the market grow as rapidly?

The Japanese don't think so. Because of the currency changes and diplomatic pressures, both Toyota and Nissan, maker of the Datsun, have scaled down their export targets for this year from about 800,000 units each to 700,000.

Much of the production that was scheduled for overseas markets will be absorbed at home by the Japanese who bought 4.4 million cars last year and are expected to purchase 5.5 million cars this year. Total new car sales in the United States this year should approach 12 million, including 1.6 million imports.

"We expect the domestic makes to be even more competitive as the effects of the recent dollar devaluation come into greater play," explained Naughton. "When small imports occupied a unique price position, they dominated the market. As soon as we were able to meet them in a price market, we outsold them."

Another factor which will help keep import sales up is the sheer growth of the U.S. new car market. There are 7.5 million cars scrapped each year and that should increase to 8.5 million by 1975, leaving room for both domestic and foreign makes.

Another is the imports' heavy involvement in the small-car market which, in all probability, will continue to grow. The imports will benefit from the cushioning effect of this segment growth.

However, imports, once the dominant factor in the smallcar market with about 60 per cent of all small car sales in the late 1960's, now account for about 40 per cent of that market.

Despite their protestations of a profit squeeze caused by inflation and price controls, Detroit's auto executives have benefited from Nixon economics. Their sales reports have shown that.

SAN ANSELMO CLEAN UP IS PLANNED

Dozens of debris boxes will be stationed at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Red Hill Avenue, offering residents a chance to dispose of tree limbs, rusty bicycles, yard trimmings or other garbage.

The event — billed as the "San Anselmo Clean Up" — is sponsored by the city, the San Anselmo Lions Club, the San Anselmo Ecology Committee, the Boy Scouts and Survival Inc. Trash will be welcomed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

"Anything citizens can get to the Hub, we'll haul away," said Ranny Cockburn, Lion's Club secretary.

NEWBERRY — Jan and Jeffrey Newberry of San Rafael sang with the Jamestown College choir on a recent tour of the East Coast including a performance in the routunda of the Senate Office Building in Washington, D.C. Jeffrey also was named to the dean's list for a high point grade average during the fall semester at the college in North Dakota.

De BECKER — John A. De Becker of Mill Valley, a member of the city planning commission, recently received a superior achievement award for his work as a civil engineer with Western Division, Naval Facilities Engineering Command. He developed a new computer program for design of airfield overlays.

PUC Refuses Rehearing On Airline Purchase

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Public Utilities Commission today denied requests to reconsider its decision approving Pacific Southwest Airlines' acquisition of Air California.

The vote was 3-2 in turning down the petitions filed by Hughes Air West, Western Air Lines and the Port of Oakland.

The PUC had approved PSA's acquisition of 81 per cent of the controlling interest of Air California on Feb. 23. A Justice Department antitrust suit against the merger is pending in Los Angeles Federal Court.

President Vernon Sturgeon and commissioners William Symons Jr. and Thomas Moran said they believed "a good cause for rehearing has not been shown." Commissioners J. P. Vukasin and David Holmes dissented.

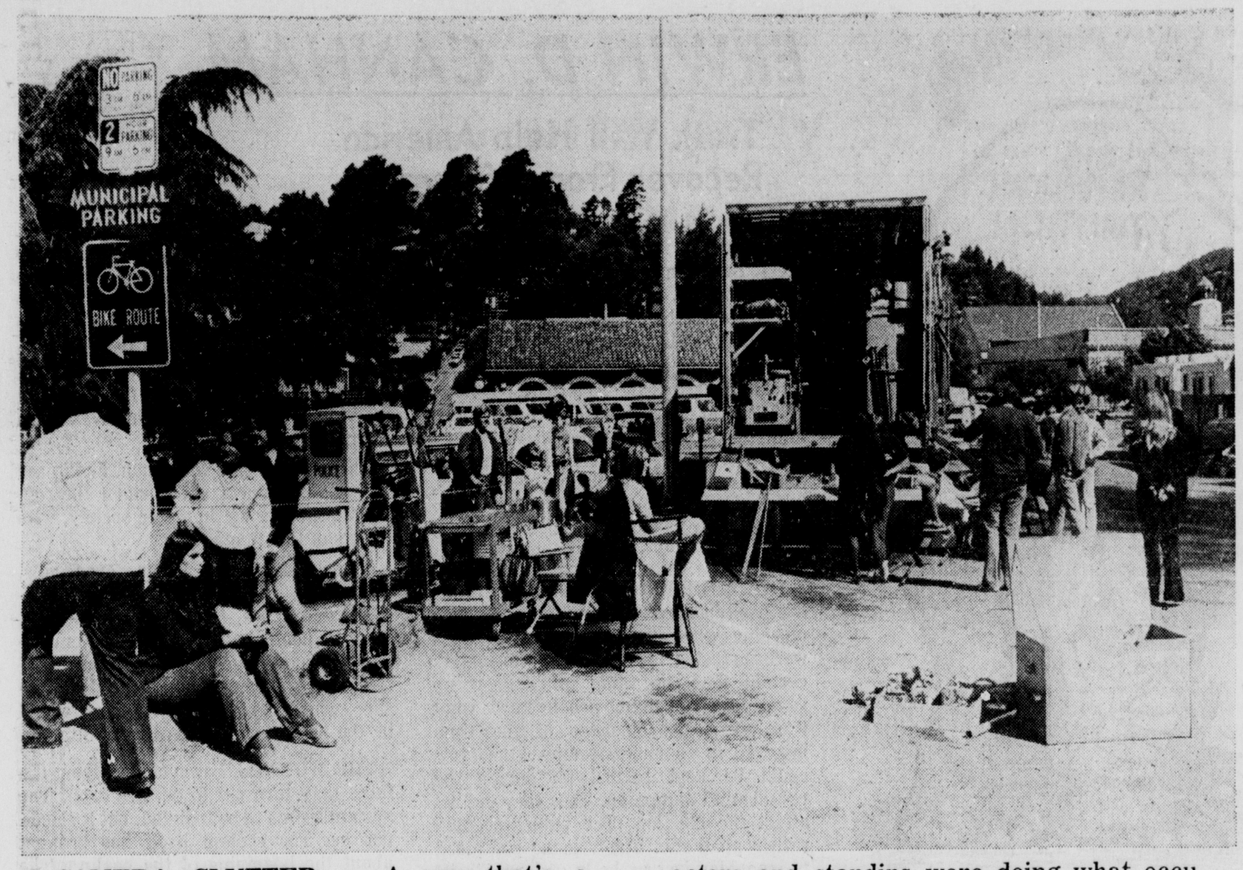
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1973 21



CAMERA CLUTTER — A van that's a studio, paraphernalia and people are strewn about the vicinity of Mill Valley's bus depot, where part of a television film is being taken. At this moment yesterday, the lesser actors and standins were doing what occupies much movie-making time: waiting for the star to complete one segment so the next can be shot.

TV FILM CREW IN MARIN

Name Of The Game: Patience

By GEORGE NEVIN

As passersby gawked and policemen shivered, the cast and crew of "Lisa, Bright and Dark" waited yesterday.

There's a lot of waiting while a film is being made. Extras and production men wait. Script girls and technicians kill time. Even the stars sometimes stand around and do nothing.

Drinking coffee to ward off the early morning chill, they waited yesterday while Kay Lenz and Larry Casey shot a scene in a car somewhere on the streets of Mill Valley for the 90-minute film slated for broadcast Nov. 29 on the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" on NBC.

It was the 13th day of shooting in Marin for the crew. They were doing on-location work in Mill Valley after filming interiors at homes in Kentfield and Tiburon and other scenes in Ross and at the College of Marin.

"Everybody has a job to do but they can't all do it at once," said John Neufeld, who wrote the book on which the film is based.

With the air of someone who has done it many times, Neufeld summarized the story: "A teen-age girl is having a mental breakdown and has difficulty finding help. Her parents are unable or unwilling to recognize the problem, although her friends do."

Elsewhere on the location in the parking lot near the Mill Valley bus depot, two policemen kept traffic moving, extras and stand-ins huddled around a coffee urn and assistants of all kinds milled about without apparent purpose. Only one man was busy; he swept cigarette butts from the pavement.

"And that guy makes $65 a day," said a man dressed in a loud shirt and competing tie. He wore sunglasses.

Adair Lara of Fairfax said she was in charge of recruiting the extras for the film, including 70 at the College of Marin Tuesday for a scene that was supposed to be at a high school.

"Some of the guys had to cut their moustaches because Hallmark likes them slightly more clean-cut than the norm. Word just hasn't filtered down to the sponsors yet."

Nearby, Valerie Shore, 18, of San Anselmo, stood on a curb. She is the stand-in for Kay Lenz, which means she replaces Miss Lenz while scenes are set up, cameras focused and lights positioned.

"Of all the people I've ever worked with in movie trips, Kay is the sweetest," she said. "We've become great friends. She's not like an actress at all. She's just a great person."

More waiting, "I'm gonna get varicose veins from all this," said Miss Shore to a friend.

Finally, a late-model car laden with cameras and sound and light equipment pulled into the lot. In the front seat were Miss Lenz and Casey. In the back, Director Jeannot Szwarc crouched down, out of sight of the cameras.

"Needs some air in the tires," someone said, and the car pulled up to a huge semi-trailer truck which is a mobile studio. An air hose snaked out of the truck and someone filled the tires. then the car pulled out again for more shooting.

Soon the car returned, Miss Lenz stepped out and Miss Shore sat in the front seat while the cameras were removed from side brackets and placed on the hood.

Everybody had been saying Miss Lenz is easy to work with, unlike some young actresses. "I try to be nice to people and then I find they're nice to me. It makes working conditions so much better when people get along," said the brown-haired, brown-eyed actress.

It's easy, she agreed, for an actress to get a swelled head "with people always dabbing your forehead and making a fuss, but I try not to let it affect me."

As though confirming what others had been saying, Miss Lenz took a final puff of her cigarette, stepped on the butt and placed it in her purse. No thoughtless litterbug, she.

Today is the last day of shooting, she said, "and I'm sad. But it seems like I've been away from home (Los Angeles) for a long time and I can't wait to get back to my dogs and horses."

KAY LENZ
"I try to be nice to people and then I find they're nice to me. It makes working conditions so much better."

Miss Lenz's idea of a good time is going for a ride through Griffith Park, trailed by Sadie, her favorite dog.

"Lisa" is her fifth big role. She appeared in an "Ironsides" episode and impressed critics in "The Weekend Nun," also directed by Szwarc.

"Movies are so much more fun than television because many of the people you meet remain your friends," she said. "With TV, things are on such a tight schedule that there's no time for making friends."

She made a face as a photographer stepped up to take her picture. "I don't like to have my picture taken with a still camera," she explained. "Movie cameras are different. I'm usually not conscious of them because I'm concentrating on my part."

She admitted to being nervous during interviews for parts but said, "I can make it work to my advantage." Apparently that was the case with her selection for "Lisa." She was chosen over 150 other actresses.

Appearing as Lisa's parents in the film are John Forsythe and Ann Baxter, although neither was on location yesterday morning. The big-name stars, someone explained, are spared as much waiting as possible.

Teachers Eye Strike In Novato

Novato school teachers were to assemble en masse at Sinaloa High School this afternoon on the heels of a salary negotiating session, perhaps to agree on a strike if dissatisfied with progress in the negotiations.

Loren Gammon, field representative of the California Teachers Association, in announcing the gathering to take place at 4 p.m., said the teachers "are very upset" as a result of a proposal by Ronald D. Schenck, president of the Novato Unified School District board that any wage increase be contingent on additional money coming to the district.

The teachers, who have not had a raise in three years, want a 21.2 per cent raise and have picketed schools and district board meetings in recent weeks.

The board previously made a counter-proposal of a 4.2 per cent raise.

Jack Musio, president of the Novato Teachers Association said the progress in negotiations will be a factor in determining whether teachers take a strike vote.

The nonteaching employees who are members of the California School Employees Association won't strike or sanction a strike even if teachers do, according to Beverly Alberigi, president of the Novato chapter. She estimated the chapter has 150 members, which she said is the majority of nonteaching employees.

"The reason for this policy of our association is that the education code forbids strikes and if we expect the school district to follow the law to the letter, so should the employees."

Gammon said teachers have been frustrated because until recently it appeared that money would be available for raises and then with the cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base "the money disappeared."

The district which serves pupils in the base faces a budget deficit of $1,300,000 for the next school year, according to Schenck.

Three Bills Introduced By Bagley

Three bills were introduced in the Assembly yesterday to facilitate sale of Marin flood control bonds, to shift to convicted persons the cost of proving them under the influence of drugs or liquor and to foster development of low and moderate cost housing.

The bills were introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, at the request of the county counsel's office and Marin officials.

SB 2142 increases from 5 to 7 per cent the maximum interest the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District may offer on bonds issued by it.

SB 2140 requires that in order to receive probation after being convicted of acting under the influence of drugs, narcotics or liquor, a person must pay the cost of tests and expert testimony involved in the case.

SB 2144 allows city and county governments to adopt regulations to encourage inclusion of low and moderate cost housing in projects whose developers agree to do so through binding agreements restricting sale, resale and rental of such housing. Allowing more intense coverage of land or additional units in developments which include such housing has been an increasing practice of Marin planning commissions and city councils.

College Of Marin Schedules Film

The film "Ship of Fools" will be shown at the College of Marin on May 10 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

The film adaptation of Katherine Anne Porter's novel presents a study of the world in microcosm as a ship traveling from Mexico to Germany carries passengers representing many classes and points of view.

One Third Of County Land In Open Space

Nearly one third of Marin County's entire land area has been dedicated to use for recreation, parks, or open space, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

A report issued by the bureau this week to its members shows that of the county's 332,928 acres, 103,289, or 32.2 per cent are owned by governmental agencies and so used.

The federal government has, or is acquiring, 78,546 acres; the State of California, 3,687; Marin County, 1,933; Marin Municipal Water District, 18,100, and the cities in Marin, a total of 1,023.

The breakdown of ownership is:

Park Bond Issue Asked In Petaluma

Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commissioners last night agreed they want a $1.5-million bond election next fall to pay for development of Luchesi Park.

The commission gave development of the park as a major community center top priority among park projects after a hearing aimed at gaining public sentiment, according to recreation director James R. Raymond.

He said many of the persons at the meeting were especially interested in seeing tennis courts and lighted softball fields for adult leagues included in the project.

Planned for the park, which now has only playing fields, are tennis courts, lighted fields, a lagoon, picnic areas, play areas, a senior citizens' center and a major community center.

The commission plans to ask the city council to appropriate money for the bond election, said Raymond, as the first step toward the park development. In the meantime, Raymond said commissioners want to hear views of residents in letters.

In other action, the commission agreed to ask the city council to begin negotiations with the Petaluma School District for joint use of the property behind Kenilworth Junior High School.

The site is sought for a little league field, Raymond said, because the present field will be lost when Washington Street is widened. Raymond said the Little League Association plans to donate materials and labor toward the new field.

$250,000 Recreational Plans Are Under Study

A proposal to build a swimming pool, tennis courts and a ball field at Eastwood Park in Tamalpais Valley at a cost of up to $250,000 will be studied by the Tamalpais Parks and Recreation Commission.

Member Mary E. Fesler said the commission will look at the suggestion by an ad hoc committee and make a recommendation to the Tamalpais Community Services District before that group's June 12 meeting.

The citizens committee estimated the pool would cost $100,000, three tennis courts $30,000 and the ball field between $30,000 and $50,000. Architect fees, site preparation and a utility building would increase the cost to between $200,000 and $250,000, Mrs. Fesler said the committee estimated.

"We're strapped for funds because of SB 90," which limits taxing agencies to levying a property tax equal to this year's or last year's levy, whichever is greater, and that factor will be considered by the parks commission meeting as a committee of the whole, said Mrs. Fesler.

Novato Captain Ends Career In Coast Guard

Capt. Joseph E. Gould of Novato has retired from the Coast Guard after nearly 30 years of service.

Gould of 25 Corona Court, had been chief of the Marine Safety Division of the staff of the Commander of 12th Coast Guard District for the past four years.

He was born and reared in Massachusetts. He entered the Coast Guard in 1943. He received his commission as ensign a year later after completing officer candidate school in New London, Conn.

He served tours with two Coast Guard cutters on the east coast.

County Rejects Damage Claim

Marin County supervisors have rejected a $3.3 million claim filed by 39 Novato residents for flood damage to their homes sustained during January's heavy rain.

Also named in the claim are the city of Novato, North Marin County Water District and the state Division of Highways.

Actual damages total $295,000 plus general damages of $3 million, residents claim.

The claim charges the county and its flood control district "failed to maintain and dredge the creeks and channels in the flood plan as it was their duty to do."

There's Still No Place For Marin's Events

Over the years, despite spiraling costs, changing plans, and jurisdictional disputes, one thing kept the Marin Veterans Memorial Building project alive: the agreed-upon need for a public facility big enough to accommodate Marin's own entertainments and public gatherings.

Over and over, the remark was heard, "When we get the veterans building, we won't have to take our event to San Francisco anymore."

Marin County finally got the veterans building —renamed the Marin Memorial Building. It is big enough. It has successfully accommodated major stage and musical productions in its 1,400-seat auditorium. It is possible to seat 900 in the flat floor area of the exhibit hall by moving the wall that holds portable auditorium seats on risers.

ON SATURDAY, June 9, one of the county's most beloved longtime teachers will be given a retirmeent party which is expected to draw several hundred friends and admirers. It will be held in the grand ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

The reason? According to Mary Lou Jacobson of the Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association, sponsors of the party to honor Edwina Codoni on her retirement, the reason is that the Marin Memorial Building exhibit hall is too expensive. And there is no other facility in Marin with sufficient seating.

At the St. Francis, Coleman PTA will get use of the grand ballroom along with bar service and a gourmet dinner for $9 per person. Tickets are being sold at $10 to provide enough extra to hire an orchestra for dancing after dinner.

IT HAPPENS that June 9 is an open date at the Marin Memorial Building, according to Leon G. Kalimos, its manager.

The exhibit hall cannot be rented on weekends when there is an event in the auditorium. When there is not, it can be engaged for $600 for an evening —payable 30 days in advance.

This, of course, does not include dinner. That would have to be catered by a commercial catering firm. Mrs. Jacobson estimated the price for a catered dinner comparable to that offered by the St. Francis Hotel at $8 per person.

The $600 also does not include any tables and chairs for the diners. Those would have to be rented. "We have no seats for the exhibit hall," said Kalimos.

It does not include bar service for the pre-dinner cocktail hour —though it does include portable bars. Sponsors would have to buy their own liquor stock and hire their own bartenders.

There are extra fees also for a ticket taker and coat checker.

All told, the tab comes to considerably more than the cost for the St. Francis Hotel's grand ballroom, complete with bar and dinner.

MARIN GOT its veterans memorial building, at great cost. It is getting a schedule of first-rate commercial entertainment in that building.

But apparently it didn't get what the building was intended for in the first place: a facility available at low cost to Marin's own taxpayers for Marin's own events.

History In Dove's Name

The scientific name for the mourning Dove is Zendaidura macroura. Most Marinites are familiar with the bird and will recognize the aptness of "macroura," which is Greek for long-tailed. But where did Zendaidura come from? European history buffs will recognize Zendaidura as coming from the name of Princess Zenaide Charlotte Jule Bonaparte, daughter of Joseph Bonaparte, king of Spain from 1808 to 1813. She married her cousin, Charles Lucien Bonaparte, a nephew of the Emperor Napoleon. Charles became one of Europe's and America's greatest ornithologists and named the mourning dove for his wife.

New Insurance Boss Out To Help Consumer

By EARL G. WATERS

Exactly how long he will maintain his efforts is questionable, but it will be interesting to watch State Insurance Commissioner Gleeson L. Payne in his attempts to enforce some consumer protection on the insurance industry.

Only recently appointed to the job by Governor Reagan, he has come out of the chute with his spurs dug in to do just that. It is a remarkable contrast to some of his predecessors. Many of them seemed content to use their position as the state's regulator of insurance practices more for the benefit of the industry than the public. Payne is putting the public's interest out in front.

That it has not always been that way is understandable. The law requires that the insurance commissioner be appointed from the ranks of the insurance industry. It may be that it does take someone like that to have the knowledge to regulate insurance, but it has always smacked of putting the fox to guard the henhouse.

OF COURSE, since the law provides he must be, Payne also comes from the insurance business. He was head of a large company. But his attacks on the industry would seem to confirm the idea that it does take someone with that background to do a good job, if you have the right guy.

One of the things which has incensed the commissioner is the exaggerated advertising practiced by some companies selling hospital insurance.

Noting that Californians have been flooded with glowing offers of hospital insurance through newspaper ads and direct mail circulars, Payne has taken aim at curbing the practice.

He said many of the ads which offer high, long-term benefits at low premiums "misdirect the reader's attention in much the same manner as a good magician focuses all eyes on his left hand while the right hand stuffs a big rabbit into a small hat."

PAYNE WAS PARTICULARLY critical of ads which promise long-term hospital benefits. "After all," he stated, "the average length of time a patient spends in a hospital is just seven days. It would be far more objective to identify the sum paid daily than to identify the larger amounts that few people collect."

He stressed buyers should beware of such phrases as "tax free", "extra income," "extra pay," and "monthly income".

"Some of the ads omit facts, fail to explain that policies are limited to certain specific types of disease or accidents, and fail to disclose that celebrity endorsements are made by those who have an interest in the company or are paid for the use of their names," he continued.

Payne isn't content to just warn the public of the deceptive advertising. He is drafting new regulations to stop it. He said the regulations are part of a program of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to limit advertising to "nothing but the truth".

Why Isn't There Room For Motorcycles Too?

As a reply to the letter, "Motorbikes Destroy Beauty and Ecology" from Louise A. Gulick of San Rafael, I'd like to say that she is being very one-sided.

I have been a member of the Marin County Motorcycle Association for almost two years now. As you may or may not know, the M.C.M.A. leases a working cattle ranch from Alvin Gambonini in West Marin on a yearly basis. I would say the members have done an excellent job of maintaining the property from the start, for a matter of fact, you couldn't tell it was there if it wasn't for the parking lot, and a few trails that could just as well be horse trails or hiking trails.

Once a month the club has an organized work party to "spruce up" the ranch so that the property won't be unsightly.

And as to her comment, "One of the main criteria for 'fun' on a motorbike is to make noise." I must disagree. The MCMA enforces a d.b. reading of 90 decibels (which by the way is below the American Motorcycle Association 1973 standard of 92 decibels) for all motorcycles that ride on the property.

I would say that there are just as many motorcyclists in Marin County as there are horseback riders.

Why isn't there room enough for us in Marin too?

Crime Rate Rises Without Group Home

I was appalled and dismayed to read on the I-J's front page tonight (April 26) that some of the residents in a Strawberry neighborhood were protesting a group home for disturbed children in their midst. Their reason was a rise in the crime rate since the establishment of the group home. There is no group home in my neighborhood, but the crime rate has risen. Almost every neighborhood in Marin will show a similar increase.

The group home for disturbed children can be successful — much more so than an institution. My family and I spent a week end at the Ahern ranch for disturbed boys in San Diego County. The six resident boys ranged in age from 8 to 15. They acted like typical, normal children and I commented that they didn't seem disturbed or delinquent. The house parents answered, "They're not disturbed, but their parents were."

Objects To Patrol Against Nude Bathers

Concerning nude bathing on Muir Beach and the spending of $2,341.50 for patroling to discourage them leaves me angry and frustrated. I resent having my tax money used this way; surely, our supervisors can find better ways of spending it.

Further, why not set aside an area on a public beach for nude bathing so that those who would be offended by it can avoid that area?

I am not a nude bather, but I see nothing wrong if others wish to do so. I do, however, see a great deal of wrong in the 30 to 40 burglaries we have each week and the packs of dogs running loose in the county.

It may not be a function of county government to find a place for nude sunbathers but is it not their function to use our tax money wisely?

Egyptians To Blame For Palestinian Refugees

In response to John Wooley, in response to R. W. Shand's letter, a little investigation would apprise Mr. Wooley of the fact that the Palestinians, whom he likens to our American Indians in their displacement, were not driven from their homeland, but fled at the instigation and urging of their Arab neighbors, the Egyptians, although the Israelis called upon them to remain.

Mr. Wooley seems to be unaware of the fact that the Palestinians were herded into "refugee camps" by their Arab hosts and refused admittance into the various Arab countries, so as to have a constant reminder of so-called Israeli "perfidy".

The thousands of Palestinians that elected to stay in Israel are not, we note, fighting to get out.

Photographs Stir Up Memories Of Chadron

Relative to the pictures of Indians in your paper of April 28, I think I must have known the photographer. (Some of the photos were by Northwestern Photographic Co., Chadron, Neb. — Editor) I was born in June, 1888, in Chadron, Neb., and lived there until June, 1899, when we moved to Omaha . . .

Pine Ridge is about 27 miles northeast of Chadron and 25 miles north of Rushville, Neb., to which town the U.S. sent its periodic fortune in silver dollars which a large contingent of Indian police came to take it to Pine Ridge.

I was in Rushville one day in 1898 when about 200 Sioux who had been with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, in Europe for a year or more, returned. There was a large crowd of Indians there to meet them and old Chief Red Cloud gave them quite a long speech, to which I listened but only occasionally heard an Indian word I knew . . . In summertime there usually were several teepees pitched on a small hill east of Chadron . . .

About 1894, I saw about a dozen cowboys lined up across Chadron's Second Street, with an extra horse or two tied behind the one they rode, and when a shot was fired they started in a leisurely manner on the longest cowboy race on record, 1,000 miles to Chicago. As I remember it, first prize was $1,000 and second was a $500 fancy saddle. First prize was won by notorious Doc Middleton, and second prize by Emmet Albright, a friend of ours . . .

About 1895 Chadron put on a three-day Fourth of July celebration and hired 250 bucks from Pine Ridge to come over and put on war dances. Their families came too. One old lady in Chadron, who had not heard of the arrangement, nearly died of fright when she heard the Indians yelling.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

A self-made man is a fellow who started from scratch and ended up with it.

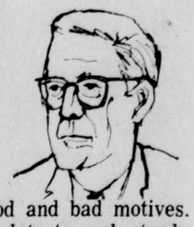
Building a career is a do-it-yourself project in which most of us have to make do with inferior material.

To make something of yourself, it helps if you can marry the boss's daughter — or the shop steward's sister.

It's the American way to take credit for our triumphs and blame the other guy for our failures.

Everybody's a self-made man, but only the successful ones are willing to admit it.

ERWIN D. CANHAM



Truth Will Help America Recover From Watergate

It is not yet clear how the United States will extricate itself from the Watergate mess. But emerge it will; and the wounds will be healed. The responsibilitjes of the presidency will continue to be fulfilled.

But the healing can only come through an uncovering of the truth. And through the good sense of the American people.

It is and always has been inevitable that the facts would emerge. We do not yet know what they are. Rumors still abound, and some of them are reckless, but as Vice President Agnew has wryly said, some of them may turn out to be true.

THE COURSE of events in this affair has been inexorable. Ever since the June morning when the Watergate burglars were arrested, it has been absolutely certain that the thing would blow up some day. Too many people knew what was going on. Because of the time involved in court proceedings, the facts could be kept bottled up during the presidential campaign. Thus they did not affect the election. The public seemed rather apathetic. The volcano continued to smoulder just as hotly underneath its crust.

Finally, it burst into the open. Still we do not know all the vital facts. We do not really know just to what degree the President was involved, or the precise relationship of his former attorney/general, or the various members of his staff.

The awful tragedy is not only that the event took place, which was deplorably stupid, but that such an effort was made to cover it up. And there are the other campaign misdeeds. The concealment attempts plainly amount to obstruction of justice, which may be even more serious than the initial crime.

The mistake hardest to repair is the effort to conceal. If President Nixon had obtained full knowledge of events at the outset, had put the investigation into independent and irreproachable hands, and then, to the extent that blame fell on his associates, had frankly accepted responsibility, the American people would have understood and accepted and forgotten.

THE FACTS NOW are beginning to emerge through good and bad motives. The good motives relate to such sturdy characters as Sen. Sam Ervin and Judge John Sirica, and to the news media which with all their faults and mistakes have continued to dig until the facts can be assembled. The bad motives are those which are now causing the involved individuals to fall over themselves in an effort to blame others.

There are people who would like to see the whole business swept under the rug. That is impossible in a free society, with events of this magnitude.

If only President Nixon, even now, would put the investigation into unimpeachable hands, that would be the first step to healing. The piecemeal emergence of knowledge intensifies and sensationalizes the whole business. Full disclosure, which the public could trust, would be the longest step toward rehabilitation.

THE WOUNDS, however clarifying the facts may turn out to be, are deep. The system seems to be indicted, but it should not be. The system itself has brought about the beginning of the healing. The system has helped bring some of the facts to light. The courts, the Congress, the press are all parts of the system. They are just as authentic and inherent as the White House. And they are bringing about a clean-up.

All across the land, Americans are emerging from a corrosive cynicism. They are not saying "politics as usual" any longer. They are demanding uncovering, and purification. It is happening.

Just how it all will come out we do not know. But we do know that the office of the presidency is greater than any of the individuals who have occupied it, and that the office must be respected. Its occupant must make awesome decisions, must be well served, must bear heavy burdens. Americans are tolerant to the point of apathy even toward the presidency, but in the end they demand certain standards and they are demanding them now. They will get them, for this is how the system works in its complete fulfillment.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Democrats Start Running Early, Scenting Victory In California

SAN FRANCISCO — As the Nixon-Republican stock drops precipitously on the Gallup exchange, Democratic hopefuls are popping up like the first flowers of spring. Nowhere is this more evident than in California, where politics is a highly commercialized operation.

There are already six Democratic candidates for governor in the race that is still nearly a year and a half away. Foremost among them is San Francisco's ebullient, litigious Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. The mayor has come smiling through more lawsuits than the escapes of that master escape artist, Houdini, at the height of his fame.

If the polls that Alioto cites are anywhere near accurate, he is well ahead of the field. His best-known rival is Speaker Robert Morretti of the California Assembly. Another contender is Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr., secretary of state and son of the former two-term Gov. Pat Brown.

A still-unannounced candidate — William Matson Roth — is testing the water to determine the degree of support for a Democrat whose credentials are outside the conventional office-seeking politics. Roth, President Kennedy's chief trade negotiator and long a civic leader in Northern California, has never held elective office. He appeals to independents and Republicans who believe in high-minded leadership above the squalid struggle.

ON THE REPUBLICAN side it is taken for granted that Gov. Ronald Reagan will not run for a third term. He feels that he has accomplished his objectives and now must look to larger horizons. This leaves Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, a flat-out, old-line politician rather to the right of Reagan, and Robert Finch, who would like to retrieve his Washington fiasco as secretary of health, education and welfare through elective office in his home state. Still another possible starter is Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, a stern law-and-order type.

But there is a dark horse, a very dark horse, who can if he makes the race change the whole outlook. He is David Packard, who resigned as deputy secretary of defense after a prolonged struggle with the military spenders. Packard was the Nixon fund raiser in northern California and since the 1972 campaign has been speaking widely around the state.

Like Roth he is a nonpolitical type. A big, solid man, as a founding partner in the fantastically successful Hewlett-Packard firm, his net worth is said to be not less than $400 million. Alioto is frank in saying that Packard would be the most formidable Republican to run against. Like so many other Republicans, he is undoubtedly reading the returns on Watergate before making any noises as a candidate.

IN ONE OF the several Alioto lawsuits in Seattle involving his fees in utility suits, a White House principal, whose name moves in and out of the Watergate, was sideswiped. Cross-examination developed that the civil attorney general of the state of Washington, Slade Gorton, pressing the suits, had conferred in the White House with John D. Ehrlichman. They had discussed the Alioto cases.

This was confirmation to the mayor that the prosecution, both in Seattle and in the series of trials growing out of the Look magazine attack, was orchestrated at a very high level. Why, the mayor asks, should Ehrlichman inject himself into a civil suit involving the mayor of San Francisco? Ehrlichman at one time practiced law in Seattle, and it has been rumored that he would run next year against the veteran Democrat, Sen. Warren Magnuson.

In the political barometer optimism is rising rapidly. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey predicts that in the congressional elections next year the Republicans will take one of the worst beatings in their history. The President's drop of 14 points between Gallup polls —and this prior to the latest revelations in the Watergate scandal — was one of the most swift and disastrous declines in polling history. He can recover. As his record for the past decade shows, he has been a phoenix unrivalled in coming up from the pit of defeat.

But, even if the Republicans should gain 25 to 30 seats in the House and three or four Senate seats, does it mean the prospect of government by congressional fiat? Hardly, since the likelihood is merely of more stalemate and more distractions in continuing episodes of the Watergate scandal. As the past has so often shown, a divided government is no government at all, and particularly is this evident when vital issues cry out for action.

ART BUCHWALD

Writer Finds Life Easy At Martha's Vineyard

By INGA RUNDVOLD
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON — When columnist Art Buchwald gets tired of his "Capitol Punishment" in Washington, he retreats to Martha's Vineyard.

As Mr. Buchwald put it the other day, "Martha's Vineyard is hard to get to and it is one of the few places in the United States not overpopulated with automobiles ... that is what saves it! As soon as they figure how to destroy that, I'll have to look for another place."

Visitors can reach the island by flights from New York and Boston or by ferryboat from Woods Hole, Falmouth, and Hyannis on Cape Cod. Automobiles are ferried over only from Woods Hole at the price of $10 per auto each way with space for cars reserved only by prepayment of charges. Some dates are sold out months in advance. So most visitors do not take their cars to Martha's Vineyard.

As we chatted about vacation time, he actually became so relaxed he started yawning and hoisted his feet up on his big impressive desk in his Pennsylvania Avenue office and then continued: "I find I'm not considering a trip to Europe as a vacation any more. It's too much like work. It is not restful. And as I grow older, I don't want to move around that much."

Now Buchwald was really in the vacation mood and began to ramble: "It's a combination of the air, sea, and the quiet that I like about the island — no Hilton, no Holiday Inn, no Shakey's, no McDonald's — really, Martha's Vineyard is what my childhood vacations were like."

For a man who is expected to say something funny because his readers find him so amusing in print, he was serious about getting away from the stress and problems of foreign policy, arguments on the Hill, high cost of living, strikes, demonstrations, presidential quotes, and press conferences.

ART BUCHWALD
A place to relax

Buchwald's first trip to Martha's Vineyard was about five years ago when his friend, writer Bill Styron, casually mentioned he liked the island and suggested the Buchwalds try it, too. So the next season with reservations at the country club Art, Ann, Joel, Connie and Jennifer drove up to New England, parked the car and flew to their newly discovered paradise island.

After that, Buchwald got in touch with a local real estate agency and was immediately told about Dr. Alvin Strock, the island dentist, who rents out his big white clapboard house near the ferry slip during the summer months. The family fell in love with the house, the setting, and easy life around it. They have returned every summer for the month of August. Buchwald said: "I just love to sit on the porch ... look out on the water ... and watch all those people leaving on the ferry."

Many have just come over for the day. Reliving the past, they spread over the island from Dukes County Historical Society Museum at Edgartown in the east to Gay Head Indian Museum on the western tip.

For a man who gets around to about all the Washington parties and banquets, Mr. Buchwald stressed he wants "none of that stuff" when he vacations. "While some of the locals and summer people form committees to save this and that," he explained, "I'm sympathetic for the cause, but I refuse to get involved."

Not getting involved takes some doing, since most of the residents are quite vocal about any threat to their island, including too many visitors. But to get any islander into a discussion. just mention something about oil slicks or shore erosion.

It seems the teen-age children and Mrs. Buchwald have their friends and go their separate ways, but he hangs on to his stack of books and tennis racket. He plays three games a day with anyone who shows up at the courts ... and when it rains and gets noisy around the house he leaves to find a chess game or to go milling around the shops in town.

"What about friends"? I asked.

He lifted his eyebrows and continued. "There's an interesting bunch who go to Martha's Vineyard every summer ... John Hersey, John Markland, Arthur Miller and professors from Harvard and Yale. We have our own little group.

"I don't like to go somewhere and make new friends all the time. That's a drag! There are a lot of celebrities around but no one is impressed. Everyone is relaxed and appears most of the time in shorts and tennis shoes. We sit around, talk, look out at the water ... then everything gets quiet about 8:30 in the evening."

I never saw anyone get so carried away just talking about a restful place. I was beginning to think he was going to fall asleep, so I jolted him with: "What if something important happened in Washington ... what about the office?" He just drawled, "I sort of stay in touch. If something really happened ... I could handle it from up there."

In summing up his feeling, and with that broad boyish smile he always wears, Mr. Buchwald said, "A real vacation is when you don't do anything but relax and take it easy. For me Martha's Vineyard is first."

Agnew Asks For Peace With Press

WOODLAWN, Md. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, once the White House's leading news media critic, called Wednesday for an end to the "unfortunate hostility" between the press and the government, a good deal of which he said is the fault of the administration.

Agnew, whose role in developing administration policy was expanded this week by President Nixon, freely admitted his part in causing the hostility but did not apologize for his criticism.

"It could have been stated less abrasively," he said. But in speeches this year, he said, he had "intentionally adopted a different tone and one that has been much better received by those who do not agree with my conclusions."

Agnew called on the government and the media "to put aside their visceral reactions and engage in a productive, intelligent discussion of their differences." He said the Nixon administration was ready to participate in such a discussion.

"It is of immense importance to the American public that information flow creditably and freely to them," he said.

"In candor, I cannot gloss over the unfortunate hostility that has existed for too long between the media and the Nixon administration. To say that there is fault on the part of the administration would probably be described by many in this room as the understatement of the week," he told the Maryland Press Club here, where he was honored as "Man of the Year."

"When I say unfortunate hostility I mean deep feelings that run beyond the traditional adversary relationship between government office holders and members of the press," he said.

"There is unquestionably wrong and right on both sides of this controversy," he said.

"But there is also some blame properly assessable to some individuals in the media," he said, singling out CBS newsman Walter Cronkite for an article he has written for an upcoming issue of Payboy magazine. Agnew said Cronkite had written that the White House was conducting an active conspiracy against the press.

"I want to assure you that nothing could be further from the truth," he said.

Bruce Is Leaving Sunday For Peking

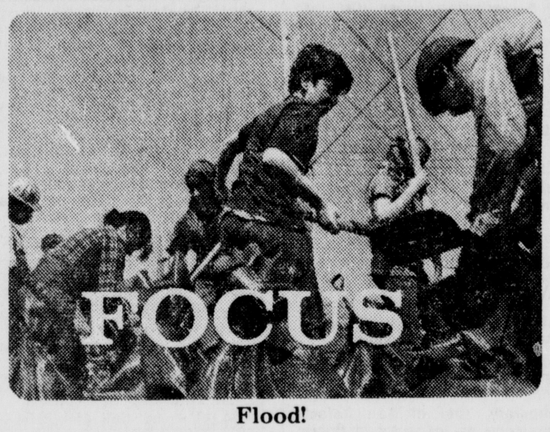
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ambassador David K.E. Bruce plans to leave Sunday for Peking to head the U.S. Liaison Mission launching formal U.S.-Chinese relations.

The office is expected to be open for business around May 14, U.S. sources said. A Chinese mission has been in Washington for two weeks to set up a similar mission.

Former Agnew Aide Hits Scandal Writing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A former speech writer for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has charged that the news media was "using innuendo" in its reporting on the Watergate affair.

Melvin J. Grayson said in an interview Wednesday that the media have been "emulating the worst of Joe McCarthy, sling mud on everybody in sight and know that somebody will be found guilty."



Flood!

The spring floods have been unusually heavy this year, but the damage and suffering they have caused pale when compared to some of the great flood disasters of history. Many of the most terrible floods have occurred in China. In 1887, for example, the Yellow River overflowed and as many as 900,000 people lost their lives. Perhaps the most famous U.S. flood was the Johnstown, Pennsylvania, disaster in 1889, when a dam burst and drowned more than 2,000.

DO YOU KNOW — In 1970, where did storms and floods create this century's greatest natural disaster?

WEDNESDAY'S ANSWER — The USSR beat the U.S. 51-50 in Munich.

CONGRATULATIONS—You are reading about one of the loveliest properties we have seen in ages. Both beauty & value. It is located in a superb area of beautiful homes on a dead-end street with privacy, convenience & lots of class. The view alone is fantastic & you don't have to be a billy goat, either, because it is close-in. You get the feeling & beauty of Switzerland! The home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof, formal dining room, fireplace, large patio off kitchen, weatherstripped, insulated, etc., etc. Plus a gigantic, separate carriage house that would be ideal for a guest cottage, cabana, play room, workshop, what-have-you. The grounds (⅓ acre) are all professionally landscaped with ease of maintenance & maximum beauty, including rock walls & terraces. There is a fantastic sun-drenched pool site. Truly a unique property that you won't find very often to say the least! We are proud to offer this rare find on an exclusive basis only with.

ORDINANCE NO. 1098
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL READOPTING THE GENERAL PLAN CONFLICT COMBINED DISTRICT AS AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1075 AND ORDINANCE NO. 1093 WHICH AMENDED TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING CHAPTER 14.62.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Readopts Ordinance No. 1075 and Ordinance No. 1093 which amended Title 14, Zoning, of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael, by adding thereto Chapter 14.62, which reads as follows:

Chapter 14.62
GENERAL PLAN CONFLICT COMBINED DISTRICT

Sections:
14.62.00 Definition
14.62.01 Purpose
14.62.02 Restriction on Use
14.62.03 When Regulations Apply
14.62.04 Uses Permitted

14.62.00 DEFINITION. Undeveloped lands are lots, parcels and acreage which under the present zoning and subdivision ordinances of the City of San Rafael are capable of, and have the potential for further development.

14.62.01 PURPOSE. To protect the public safety, health, and welfare by prohibiting on an interim basis uses which may be in conflict with contemplated zoning proposals and General Plan revisions which the City Council, Planning Commission, and Planning Department are considering or studying, or intend to consider and study within a reasonable time, wherein the purpose of such contemplated zoning and proposals and General Plan revisions are to make the zoning ordinance consistent with the General Plan as is required by Section 65860 of the Government Code of the State of California.

14.62.02 RESTRICTION ON USE. No use (including, but not limited to grading, excavation, filling, pilings, construction or the commitment of the use of the land beyond a period of one year) shall be permitted in any district with which GPC zone is combined except as provided in Sections 14.62.03 and 14.62.04.

14.62.03 WHEN REGULATIONS APPLY. Wherever a parcel, lot or area contains two acres or more of undeveloped land; or wherever five or more adjoining parcels, lots or areas, regardless of acreage are undeveloped, the GPC shall be combined with the existing district or districts on the entirety of said parcels, lots, or areas and shall supersede the respective regulations of the existing district or districts, to the extent set forth in this Chapter and shall apply in lieu of the regulations hereinbefore specified for said districts; provided, however, that the lands listed below are excepted from the provisions of this Ordinance:

1. Where a detailed development plan has been approved by the Planning Commission within the 18th months immediately preceding the enactment of this Ordinance.

2. Wherein a grading, excavating, fill or building permit has already been approved and has not expired.

The zoning map shall be changed to show all districts so established with the designation GPC-, followed by the district designation as it now is (to be read as: GPC-R1, GPC-R2, GPC-C1, etc.) Such notations shall be utilized on all applications pertaining thereto, notices, ordinances, and zoning map.

The provisions of this Section shall apply to any of the aforesaid categories of land as set forth in the first paragraph of this Section, irrespective of whether or not the title to said property is vested in one or more owners.

14.62.04 USES PERMITTED. All use of the land which would in any way permanently change the conformity of the land (such as by grading, excavation, fill, pilings, construction, or the commitment of the use of the land beyond a period of one year), shall require a use permit; with the exception therefrom of any work that the City Engineering Department or Building Inspection Department may authorize as an emergency action for the purpose of preventing or correcting dangerous soil or drainage conditions. Prerequisite to the issuance of any use permit hereunder shall be a finding by the Planning Commission with reasons set forth that there is substantial probability that the use proposed will be consistent with the contemplated zoning proposals being prepared and that there is little probability of any substantial detriment to the public should any inconsistency ultimately exist.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect at 12:01 A.M. on the 6th day of June, 1973, and shall continue in full force and effect for twelve months.

/s/ C. PAUL BETTINI,
Mayor

ATTEST:
/s/ MARION A. GRADY,
City Clerk

The above and foregoing Ordinance No. 1098 was read and introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, held on Monday, April 16, 1973, and ordered passed to print by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN: Jensen, Miskimen, Mulryan and Mayor Bettini
NOES: COUNCILMEN: None
ABSENT: COUNCILMEN: None

and will come up for adoption as an Ordinance of the City of San Rafael at an adjourned regular meeting of the Council to be held on Monday, the 7th day of May, 1973.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS TAMALPAIS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT SEWER LINE REPAIR AND STREAM EROSION REPAIR AND PROTECTION NORTHERN AVENUE CANYON

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Tamalpais Community Services District of Marin County, California, will receive up to but not later than 8:00 p.m., on the 8th day of May, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment and all other services required to construct, install and replace broken sewer line, concrete protection and rubble rock for stream bed erosion replacement and protection as required by and in accordance with the plan entitled "Northern Avenue Canyon Sewer Repair" prepared by the District Engineer, Job 73-16, dated April 21, 1973, and on file in the office of the Secretary of the District.

A bid bond will not be required for this project. Within Fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded, the successful bidder shall execute a contract with the District and shall furnish a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid; said bond shall comply with all the provisions of Chapter 3 comprising Sections 4200-4208 inclusive of the Government Code of the State of California except that the amount is 100% as stipulated rather than the 50% provided by statute.

Notice is hereby given that on January 9, 1973, the Community Services Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done, for each craft or type of workmen required to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto and incorporated herein and made a part of the specifications for said work.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for boundary fencing, including installation of posts, wire, gate, site clean-up, and the necessary appurtenant work at Indian Valley Colleges site, Marin County, Novato, California.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the specifications and drawings now on file at the Business Office, Office Center, Room 190, College of Marin, Kentfield, California where same may be examined and copies obtained at $15 per set deposit. Deposits will be refunded for all sets returned in good condition.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form attached to said specifications, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten per cent of the amount bid made payable to the School District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 21st day of May, 1973 at 2:00 P.M. of that day in the Business Office, Office Center, Room 190, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.

4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100 per cent of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that, pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, Marin Community College District has ascertained the general prevailing rates of hourly wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality where this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder. The prevailing rates so determined by the District Board are on file with the District.

7. Bidders must be contractors properly licensed to perform said work.

8. The Governing Board of the Marin Community College District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Bank Signs Equality Hiring Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bank of California signed a court-approved agreement Wednesday calling for equal employment and promotional opportunities for minorities and women.

The affirmative action plan, approved by U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham, also provides a $225,000 educational training fund.

The agreement could mean $41 million more in income for minorities over its nine-year period, said Robert Gnaizda, attorney for Public Advocates which filed the suit on behalf of the National Organization for Women, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, American G.I. Forum and several individuals.

Gnaizda said at a news conference that the consent decree sets a basis for negotiations with five other major banks in the state.

He stressed that the agreement will not displace white males or affect their rights, but said it might toughen competition for top jobs.

Bank Board Chairman Charles de Bretteville called the goals "ambitious, as indeed they should be, but we believe they are attainable."

"We have been continually upgrading our training and development programs which are designed to accelerate the advancement of participants, including minorities and women, and these programs will be expanded further, he said.

The plan calls for overall employment of 10 per cent blacks and 15 per cent Spanish-surnamed by 1978, increasing by 1980 to parity with minority population, projected at 33 per cent.

The bank said it will consider qualified minority and women candidates for board of directors' vacancies. The goals for upper management specify if there are more openings than the plan anticipates, the bank must try to fill 60 per cent of the vacancies with women and minorities.

Gnaizda said Bank of California currently has 420 black and Spanish-surnamed among its 3,500 employes.

School Bid

The Old Adobe School District is expected to accept a low bid of $96,400 by Francis Construction Co. for a new administration building at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. today. The new building is to be placed on a lot at the corner of Albin Way and Crinella Drive.

Moretti Will Trail Reagan Around State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti announced today he will trail Gov. Ronald Reagan around the state as a one-man "truth squad" to counter the governor's claims about his tax limitation proposal.

Moretti also said the governor's plan "should be called 'The Property Tax Increase Act of 1973.'" He reasoned state aid available for local government would be reduced, forcing a rise in homeowner taxes to pay for such things as schools.

"It would inevitably increase the property tax," he said.

"I'm going to follow everywhere the governor goes throughout California," Moretti told a news conference. "I think this is the most important thing going on right now in California."

Moretti, a contender for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was a key figure in helping Reagan push through property tax relief and welfare reform programs in recent years. But he has been the most outspoken opponent of the governor's tax limitation plan.

Under the proposal, a declining limit on state taxes would be placed in the California constitution. Reagan estimates the tax burden would be reduced by 20 per cent over a 15 year period. He is attempting to collect 520,000 signatures by June 7 to qualify the measure for a special ballot in November.

Moretti said he will attempt "to get to the same people the governor has been exposed to, the same media markets." The speaker said he will ask for equal time on television and attempt to set up meetings with newspaper editorial boards.

The Van Nuys Democrat termed particularly "outrageous" a feature of the governor's plan to eliminate income taxes for married couples with adjusted gross incomes of less than $8,000, of $4,000 for single persons.

Although on the surface it appears this is designed to help poor people, Moretti said, it actually would repeal the minimum income tax the 1971 legislature enacted to make sure wealthy people do not escape paying their fair share.

Moretti said it is not unusual for the rich, after figuring capital gains, business losses, preference income and other "loopholes," to wind up with adjusted gross incomes of less than $8,000.

The speaker, citing a report issued Monday by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, also disputed Reagan's contention that citizens pay 44 cents out of every dollar to taxes. He said the governor was including such items as university basketball tickets, postage stamps and employe retirement contributions, and the actual figure is 32 cents.

Woodcock Urges Labor To Unite

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers says it's time for the labor movement to reunite and regain its political clout.
Woodcock told the biannual convention of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Wednesday that it has been a long time since the labor movement has made notable economic and social progress.
"We've got to reverse that," he said. "None of us can go it alone. I suggest now is an ideal time to recreate a coalition of all the labor movement.
"Labor can stop the downward trend by sticking together," said Woodcock, who received a standing ovation from 400 delegates.

Butcher Defeats Boycott On Beef

John Boehner, owner of Farmer John's market, hung a sign in his window advertising "organic beef" and found his meat counter sold out in four days.
Organic beef, Boehner said, comes from a herd of Pennsylvania cattle which eats grain free from pesticides and chemical fertilizer.

A Prize Olympic Judges Cannot Take Back

There is a beautiful wood sculpture piece in the Dr. Willard DeMont home in Terra Linda, a "little something" DeMont's son, Rick, brought back with him from the Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Swimming Championships last month in Cincinnati.

It measures about two feet wide and two feet high and weighs perhaps 15 pounds and is made from walnut. It is an abstract model of a swimmer with arm raised in midstroke, carved waves in front to symbolize water.

The sculpture work was given to Rick by Al Price of Tulsa, Okla., who wanted to give the young swimmer a prize which couldn't be yanked away by the International Olympic Committee. Price had felt badly about the IOC's decision to take away Rick's gold medal at the Munich Olympics. DeMont had won the 400-meter freestyle but the medal was stripped from him when traces of a banned drug were found in his system after a routine check following the race. The drug was part of Rick's medication he had been taking for years of asthma. (Since it was never officially called back, Rick still has the gold medal in his possession.)

"I WAS really surprised," said the 17-year-old DeMont about receiving the carving. "I was told it was a sculpture piece but I had no idea it would be like this," he said, looking at the largeness of the work.

Price has sculptured wooden footballs as gifts to former Oklahoma coach Chuck Fairbanks and President Nixon; he's carved out wooden basketballs for Oral Roberts and Hank Iba, and a baseball was sculptured from wood as a gift to Mrs. Roberto Clemente. He is quickly turning a hobby into a business and plans to start selling some of his sculpture works.

ALTHOUGH RICK was happy with the gift of wood, he was not overjoyed with his performance at the nationals, April 4-7. He wasn't expecting to win because short course swimming (in a 25-yard pool) is not his strong point. He does much better in long course swimming (in a 50-meter pool) and the next major events on his schedule are all long course events. Next month will be the Santa Clara International meet, followed by the Los Angeles Invitational in July and the AAU national long course meet in August, at Louisville, Ky.

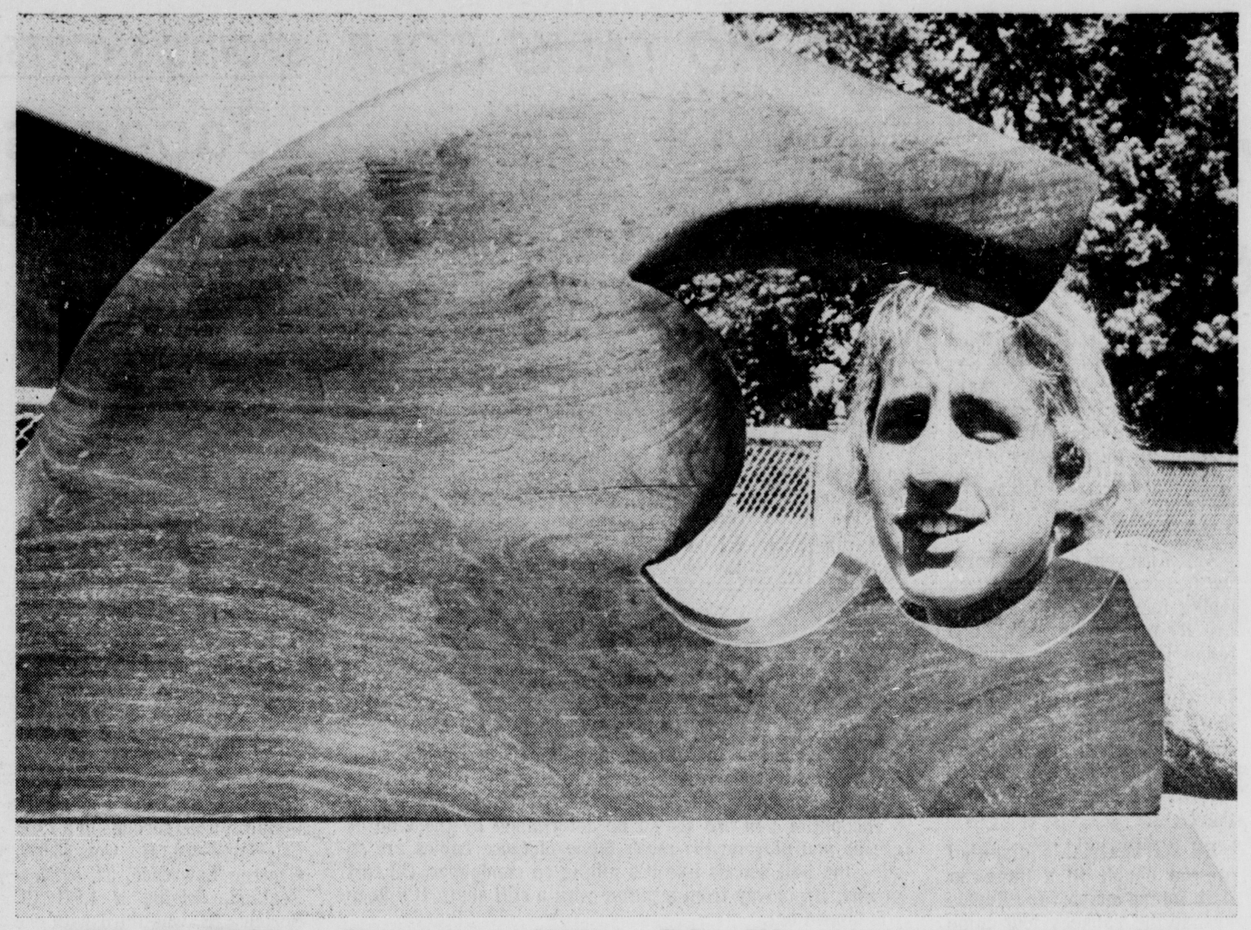
Short course swimming favors the taller athletes, because of more turns in a smaller pool. A good example is provided by Jack Tingley of USC, who at 6-foot-7 gained more than a foot on most of his rivals at each turn when he won the 1,650-yard freestyle.

DeMont is confident he will be able to beat Tingley when they are rematched in the long course meets coming up. DeMont also is confident of beating Marin Aquatic Club teammate Robin Backhaus in the distance freestyle events of long course meets. DeMont, who is close friends with Backhaus out of the pool, said, "I can't look at him any differently than I look at anyone else in a meet." Backhaus was second in the 1,650 at Cincinnati, swimming nearly 12 seconds faster than DeMont, who was fifth.

RICK SAID the missed practices because of a bout with the flue took its toll on him in Cincinnati. "I just wasn't in good condition," he said.

Because of increased pollen in the air this spring, DeMont's allergies have been bothering him, but it hasn't stopped his hours of training daily in the pool.

He's determined to do well in the long course meets coming up. And when this young man is determined to do something, watch out!



GIFT OF WOOD — Star swimmer Rick DeMont of Terra Linda peers through a wood sculpture of a swimmer in action. The piece was given to Rick as a gift by Al Price of Tulsa, Okla., at last month's Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Swimming Championships in Cincinnati.

BIG RED BUBBLE MACHINE

Luck's Role For Pirates

Goodson's Boot Kills Giants, 2-1

"Sometimes," said the Pittsburgh Pirates manager, "you have to be lucky."

"If (Ed) Goodson doesn't boot the ball, we might still be playing," said Virdon, pointing to a third inning error by the Giants' third baseman that set up the winning run.

"We hit a ton the night before but it wasn't enough. Now we get only eight hits but it takes an error for us to win. But I'll take it, the way we have been going."

Wednesday's victory snapped a six-game Pittsburgh losing streak that was beginning to take its toll on Virdon.

The loss was only the seventh of the year for the Giants compared to 19 victories and still left the club in pretty good shape. The Pirates are a more modest 9-7.

Walker gave up two hits in the six plus innings he worked. Rooker gave up two in 2 1-3 innings and Giusti came out of the bullpen in the ninth to nail down the final two batters by striking out Dave Kingman and Bobby Bonds.

"Give them credit," said Giants Manager Charlie Fox. "Those three guys (Walker, Rooker and Giusti) pitched great baseball. They let us look at their high pitches and handled us with their low serves."

Willie Stargell walked and eventually scored Pittsburgh's first run in the second on a single by Milt May. Goodson booted Dave Cash's smash to third to start the third and Cash made his way around to score the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver.

Walker left in the seventh after walks to Goodson and pinch-hitter Chris Arnold, sandwiched around an error by Oliver in center, filled the bases with none out. Rooker escaped with only a run on Kingman's sacrifice fly. When the Giants put two runners on in the ninth with one out, Giusti replaced Rooker and wrapped it up.

A'S STAR

Pressure Isn't Hurting Tenace

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Reggie Jackson said teammate Gene Tenace would be under tremendous pressure this year because of his World Series heroics in 1972.

Jackson was wrong as Tenace remains loose as the Oakland Athletics strive to break even in the 1973 season. Tenace drilled a three-run homer in the 10th inning Wednesday night to lift the Oakland A's to a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

It was the seventh homer of the season for last year's World Series hero and improved Oakland's record to 10-12, good only for fourth place in the American League West.

Jackson drove in the winning run on a fielder's choice in the 10th inning. Bill North opened the 10th with a single and moved to third on Joe Rudi's single.

Ray Newman replaced Frank Linzy for the Brewers and North scored when first baseman George Scott's throw to the plate on Jackson's grounder was too late. Rich McKinney was safe on a fielder's choice before Tenace blasted his three-run homer.

The A's are off today.

Ken Holtzman held the Brewers to just six hits in improving his record to 4-2. Linzy (1-0) took the loss.

Oakland took a 1-0 lead in the first when Bert Campaneris bunted for a single, went to second on an infield out and scored on Jackson's two-out single.

The A's made it 2-0 in the second. Sal Bando singled, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on Tenace's single and scored on an error by second baseman Pedro Garcia.

It was a good day for the A's, and it was also a good day for the A's newest acquisition Deron Johnson. He was obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday.

Johnson, 33, went to the world champions Wednesday in exchange for Jack Bastbale, a minor league outfielder-third baseman.

(See A's box score on inside page.)

13-Horse Field Set For Derby

LOUISVILLE, KY. (UPI) — A field of 13 was entered today for Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby with Secretariat and Sham heading the list.

Two horses turned up with injuries Thursday morning. Impecunious immediately was withdrawn from the race, but Royal and Regal was entered in the hopes that his troubles will completely disappear in the next two days.

Completing the field were Angle Light, who will run coupled with Secretriat, the entry of My Gallant and Shecky Greene, Our Native, Forego, Restless Jet, Warbucks, Navajo, Twice A Prince and Gold Bag.

The scratching of Impecunious left jockey Braulio Baeza free and trainer Lou Goldfine immediately attempted to get the Panamanian jockey for Shecky Greene.

Goldfine earlier had released Baeza when it appeared Shecky Greene would not start. The trainer had another jockey problem for Angel Cordero scheduled to ride My Gallant,

Quickness Is Key To U.S. Cage Win

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — U.S. Coach Bob Cousy has been saying all week he needs more muscle to beat the Soviet Union national team. He found out Wednesday a little quickness can do the job just as well.

Cousy started three forwards against the tough Russians in the third game of the current six-game series and the Americans responded with an 83-67 runaway win.

"We decided go to with the three smaller forwards instead of a big center to try to get more finesse," said Cousy. "I don't know if that's what did it, but we're going to try it again Saturday in Indianapolis."

Cousy's decision to bench UCLA muscleman Swen Nater and start forwards Ron Behagen, Fred Saunders and Bobby Jones, enabled the American team to fast-break the Russians into submission.

"We had to make an adjustment after our loss Monday and Behagen, Jones and Saunders gave us more offense inside," Cousy said.

The victory was the second by the Americans, both of them by convincing margins. The Soviet Union win came at San Diego Monday, 78-76.

Behagan, the slick forward from Minnesota, got all 18 of his points in the first half when the United States broke the game open with a 14-2 tear midway through the half.

The Russians managed to cut the Americans' 44-31 halftime lead to 50-41 with 17 minutes left in the game before he United States pumped in 14 straight points to win going away. Jones and Digregorio got 10 of those 14 points.

"We're starting to know each other better and we're going to get tougher as the series goes along," Digregorio said.

The Providence guard credited the inside play of Behagen, Jones and Saunders for the victory.

"We got a chance to freelance more and Behagen and Jones really took it to the basket," he said.

The Russians, forced to play without star center Alexander Belov, who was injured in the San Diego game, got a 31-point effort from guard Alexander Salnikov, but he was the only Russian starter to score in double figures.

The two teams will meet in game four of the series Saturday in Indianapolis.

Prep Grid Game Add Approved

Marin County Athletic League's Board of Managers, composed of principals of the league high schools, voted yesterday to allow schools to increase their football schedules by one game.

Meeting in Terra Linda, the managers agreed to allow the prep football season to run 10 games instead of nine. The extra game will allow teams to play four non-league games in addition to the six MCAL games.

The board also voted to make junior varsity football an official league sport, so the winning J.V. team will now be eligible for a league pennant.

The principals discussed the issue of girls sports for about 15 minutes, but made no decisions on any league policies concerning the California Interscholastic Federation's recent ruling to allow girls to compete along with boys in sports, effective July 1.

The board will appoint a committee to study the question on girls participating on boys' teams later, ccording to San Marin High School Principal Henry J. Moroski, president of the board of managers.

"We don't believe we'll have problems because we have such a fine girls athletic program in the league," Moroski said. He said the board did not plan to change the existing program in girls' sports where league competition is already held in swimming, basketball, volleyball, badminton and track and field.

The board also elected Redwood Principal Donald Kreps as president for the next school year and Marin Catholic Principal Rev. Francis Lacey as vice president.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

'Butterflies' Of Wood's Are Collector's Items

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilbur Wood's "butterflies" are becoming collector's items.

The 31-year-old knuckleball specialist of the Chicago White Sox is fast gaining a reputation as the toughest pitcher to hit in the American League, and judging from his performances in his last three outings, there is little basis for argument.

"When you get a hit off Wood, they should stop the game and give you the ball," says one batter who has found Wilbur's knucklers next to impossible to decipher.

Wood, a paunchy southpaw who throws the knuckleball 85 per cent of the time, posted his third successive shutout Wednesday night and lowered his earned run average to 1.13 when he blanked the Baltimore Orioles 4-0 on six hits to boost his record to 6-2. Wood's triumph once again came with only two days rest, marking the third time this season he has worked on that schedule.

Wood, a 24-game winner last season, developed the two-day rest rotation at the suggestion of pitching coach Johnny Sain last year and logged 377 innings, more than any other pitcher since Ed Walsh in 1912.

"He's got a fantastic temperament," says Sain. "You've got to have control of yourself before you can control that pitch. You have to have a delicate release for the knuckleball and the natural thing to do when you get into trouble is to throw harder. But you've got to master that delicate release so you can still throw it that way under pressure. He's so even tempered that when he walks into the clubhouse after a game, you can't tell whether he's won or lost."

Pat Kelly, the league's leading hitter, gave Wood all the offense he needed in the first inning when he tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Carlos May. Kelly also delivered a sacrifice fly in the seventh. The victory was the White Sox' sixth in a row and 10th in 11 games.

In other AL action, Boston beat Texas 6-2, California edged Detroit 5-3 in 12 innings, Kansas City nipped New York 4-3, Oakland downed Milwaukee 7-3 in 10 innings and Cleveland topped Minnesota 8-4 in 10 innings.

Houston beat Philadelphia 9-4, Cincinnati topped New York 6-1, Montreal nipped Atlanta 3-2, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco 2-1, St. Louis defeated San Diego 5-4 and Los Angeles whipped Chicago 4-1 in National League games.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda hit his ninth career grand slam to cap a five-run third inning and spark the Red Sox over Texas. Cepeda's sixth homer of the season came off Pete Broberg and helped Luis Tiant to his third victory in five decisions. Mike Epstein and Ken Suarez homered for the Rangers.

Art Kusnyer doubled home the tie-breaking run in the 12th inning then scored on a sacrifice fly to give the Angels and Nolan Ryan a victory over the Tigers. Ryan went the distance for California to register his fourth win in five decisions. He struck out seven and stranded 15 runners. Mickey Lolich worked the first 11 innings for the Tigers.

Ed Kirkpatrick's disputed two-run double in a three-run sixth inning enabled the Royals to snap the Yankees' four-game winning streak. Kirkpatrick's hit was a sharp grounder down the first base line which was ruled fair by first base umpire Ron Luciano but which the Yankees argued was foul. Paul Splittorff worked eight innings to gain his fourth victory.

Leo Cardenas' two-run single snapped a 4-4 tie and started a four-run 10th inning which enabled the Indians to beat the Twins. Ray Lamb worked five innings of relief to get the win while Ken Sanders took the loss. George Mitterwald had a homer for Minnesota.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Putt-er There, Pard

By LEE TREVINO

When it comes to putters, a golfer is as fickle as a fraternity sweetheart. He'll keep ditching 'em until he finds one that feels good.

The putter you use should be determined by the kind of greens you play on the most. Some of those babies are so slick the ball sounds like it's rolling on sandpaper. On fast greens, stay away from a putter with a stiff shaft. It'll keep you tapped out.

The weight of the blade isn't all that important. The shaft is everything. On fast greens, use a light, almost whippy, shaft. You're not making a big motion with the club, so you need a shaft light enough that you can feel the putter move.

On heavy, or grainy, greens use a firmer shaft because you have to hit the ball harder. A lot of guys don't realize how much the putter shaft flexes as they stop the back stroke and start the club forward. It can throw a putt off line quicker than a blonde in hotpants.

Japanese Driver Wins Grand Prix Auto Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

GOTEMBA, Japan — Motoharu Kurosawa of Japan, driving a 1,991 CC March 722 BMW, today won the 135-mile Formula 2 Japanese Grand Prix auto race.

Kurosawa, 32, a winner of Japanese Grand Prix in 1969, led all 50 laps in the 2.7 mile course of the Fuji International Speedway on the slopes of Mount Fuji under overcast skies.

Kurosawa clocked one hour, eight minutes, 55.15 seconds for an average apeed of 187.18 kilometers an hour. He defeated a field of four foreign and nine Japanese drivers and won first prize money of $7,547.

Second was Brian Robertson, 32, of Canada in one hour, eight minutes, 57.89 seconds in a 2,000 CC Hart-Ford. He won $3,000. Graeme Lawrence, 32, of New Zealand, driving a 1,991 CC Surtees TS, was third with one hour, nine minutes, 2.56 seconds. He won $1,500.

Crew

SANTA CLARA — Santa Clara crew coach Jim Farwell says girls likely will be coxwains in the school's shells by next season.

Four freshman coeds are practicing with the school's crews this week and Farwell notes that "It's tough to find a guy who is light enough." He also feels "The girls add something special, they're more tactful with the oarsmen than a guy usually is."

One of the girls said "If anything happens to my $4,000 boat, I don't know what I would do."

Horse Racing

ALBANY — The second largest exacta of the season resulted in a $2,257 payoff for 43 $5 ticket holders and twice that for two $10 winners yesterday at Golden Gate Fields.

Money Well, which paid $27.80 to win, was followed under the wire by Dressy Jane, a 27-1 shot which placed for $19.40.

Hockey

TORONTO — The Ottawa Nationals of the World Hockey Association were under new management today and the new owners said they plan to rename the club and relocate it here sometime next month.

A group of Toronto businessmen announced yesterday they had formed a new company, Can Sports Inc., and purchased controlling interest in the Nationals from Buffalo financier Nick Trbovich.

John F. Basset Jr., who headed the group, declined to reveal what the purchase price was but he said a reported $1.8 million was "not far off."

QUEBEC CITY — Jacques Plante signed a 10-year contract as coach and general manager with the Quebec Nordiques of the World Hockey Association yesterday, ending a 17-year goaltending career in the National Hockey league.

Salary terms were not disclosed but reports said the 44-year-old Plante would receive over $1 million.

Football

Running back Clem Turner, a 6-foot-2, 235-pounder, and wide receiver Jack Gehrke, a 6-1, 180-pounder, were traded to the Bills yesterday for the draft pick coach Lou Saban said was "not very high."

Boxing

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Yancey Durham, manager of former world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, added Bob Foster to his boxing stable yesterday by purchasing the contract of the light heavyweight titlist.

ABA PLAYOFFS

Ailing Kentucky To Visit Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Indiana, with the homecourt advantage, and Kentucky, with a run of injuries, renew their deadlocked American Basketball Association championship playoff series here tonight.

The Pacers, defending ABA champions, won the opener at Louisville in overtime 111-107 while Kentucky rebounded to take game No. 2 Monday night 114-102. The best-of-seven series shifts to Indianapolis for game No. 3 tonight and game No. 4 Saturday afternoon.

"If we don't win at least one up there, we'll be in real trouble," said Colonel guard Jimmy O'Brien.

Both 7-foot-2 center Artis Gilmore and 6-9 forward Dan Issel, the sparks in Kentucky's Monday night win, sustained injuries—Gilmore a sore back and Issel a sore elbow—but both are expected to play most of the way tonight.

Kentucky guard Rick Mount, who had an ankle sprain Monday, was listed as a doubtful starter. Guard Mike Gale, injured earlier, has returned to practice sessions but won't play tonight.

Indiana, on the other hand, was healthy with the possible exception of center Mel Daniels, who played Monday night with a sore back. He has been pronounced able to play.

Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney says he hopes to get an early lead "because we play defense better when we don't have to chase the ball. We'll make them come to us."

"I could make some changes," Leonard said. "With their injuries in the backcourt, I could probably force them to use whatever players I want. I could move Roger Brown to backcourt, forcing Walt Simon to guard."

Leonard is toying with the idea of using the 6-5 Brown at guard instead of forward in an effort to loosen up Kentucky's defense and bring Gilmore further away from the basket.

WHA Jets To Try A Comeback

WINNIPEG (UPI) — The Winnipeg Jets will be trying to pick up the pieces tonight when they face the New England Whalers in the third game of the World Hockey Association championship series.

But not even Player-Coach Bobby Hull is too optimistic after the Whalers crushed Winnipeg 7-4 Wednesday night to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven final.

"They have too much offensive power," Hull said. "They blitzed us and they have the people who can put the puck in the net."

Hull probably was alluding to the third period Wednesday when the Whalers scored five unanswered goals, two by John French, including one into an open net with 61 seconds left. New England only had six shots in that third period!

Goals by Jim Dorey and Brit Selby came within less than a minute and set the stage for further Whaler fireworks. Helping set up both goals was Tom Williams.

Better Weather For Indy Racing

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Prospects of better weather late in the week should mean the tempo at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will pick up and bring about a serious charge at the 200-miles per hour barrier.

Rain and wind in the first days of 500-mile race practice have prevented any driver and car from coming close to the 200 m.p.h. lap, something the experts say will be a reality here for the first time this year.

So far, just five drivers have eclipsed the 190 m.p.h. plateau this spring, two achieving the feat Tuesday and three more Wednesday.

After a five-hour rain delay Wednesday, Johnny Rutherford, Fort Worth, Tex., became the fastest driver in practice so far, turning a lap at 192.348. Swede Savage, Santa Ana, Calif., and Mike Mosley, Clermont, Ind., also rose above the 190 mark, Savage with a 191.815 and Mosely with a lap of 190.435.

It was Savage's first time on the 2 ½-mile oval this spring. He and six other drivers were out for their first runs, but none of the other newcomers could approach his swiftness.

Also out for the first time were Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif., Peter Revson, Redondo Beach, Calif., Jerry Karl, Manchester, Pa., Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio, Rick Muther, LaGuna Beach, Calif., and Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind.

So far, 42 cars are at the track, and 30 have passed USAC's technical inspection.

The car assigned to Larcy Cannon, Danville, Ill., was rejected by USAC for being underweight. It was believed Cannon's crew could add sufficient weight—just a few pounds—to bring the machine in line with regulations.

Canadiens Are Tabbed Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Montreal's Canadiens, bidding for a 16th Stanley Cup, are favored to take another step toward hockey's most prized trophy tonight with another victory over the weakened Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, victors over St. Louis and New York in five-game series leading up to the final round, trailed the East Division champions of the National Hockey League 2-0 in the best-of-seven series heading into the first of two games on Chicago ice.

The home ice was expected to favor Chicago since it is a smaller rink than the Forum in Montreal, and thus should take away some skating room from the Canadiens and give the Hawks a better chance to slow up their rivals with body contact.

But Chicago's coach, Billy Reay, was uncertain whether either center Stan Mikita or defenseman Doug Jarrett would be able to play, and there seemed no chance that defenseman Keith Magnuson would be ready. Magnuson has missed six games since suffering a broken jaw against New York, while Mikita and Jarrett both missed the second game against the Canadiens, Mikita with a split finger and Jarrett because of cracked rib ends around the rib cage.

Both Mikita and Jarrett were on "a day to day basis," Reay said, and he will be forced to juggle his lineups if neither can play.

Montreal could wind up the series if it wins the games scheduled in Chicago tonight and Sunday afternoon, while a single victory for the Hawks would force a fifth game Tuesday night at Montreal.

HOME COURT

Lakers Try To Keep Advantage

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Ahead 1-0 after surviving a torrid New York finish in the opener, the defending National Basketball Association champion Los Angeles Lakers try to maintain their home court playoff mastery tonight in the second game of their championship series with the underdog Knicks.

The Lakers are now 8-0 in home playoff games in their bid to repeat as the NBA titlists after their 115-112 victory over New York here Tuesday night.

"The only reason we wanted New York to beat Boston was because we wanted the home court advantage," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman.

Because the Lakers won 60 regular season games to 57 for the Knicks, Sharman's club will host the extra game in the bestof-seven finals if it goes the limit.

Wilt Chamberlain, pro basketball's secretary of defense, was happy with the results of the opener with New York although Los Angeles nearly blew a 20- point lead it had built up late in the third period.

"I'd rather be a little scared than beat them by 25," the 7-1, 275-pound Lakers center said.

"I like to see the other team extend itself like that, almost win and then lose. It may be a little psychological burden for them."

Sharman, the NBA coach-ofthe-year in 1972 who has led Los Angeles to 129 regular season triumphs in the past two seasons, also was talking about psychology but for a different reason.

"If we win two," he said, "that would give us a tremendous psychological boost."

Walt Frazier, the Knicks' No. 1 offensive weapon who was held to only 12 points Tuesday night, disagreed with Chamberlain about the effect of New York's fourth quarter comeback.

The Lakers, who needed only five games to beat New York in the finals a year ago, and the Knicks play at Madison Square Garden Sunday and again Monday night. If a fifth contest is necessary, it will be played here next Thursday night.

Tonight's game, which will be nationally televised (ABC), begins at 7:30 p.m. PST. It will be shown on Channel 7.

Ali, Norton Rematch Set Sept. 10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali and Ken Norton today announced they had signed for a return bout at the Los Angeles Forum Sept. 10.

Norton rocketed from obscurity when he gained a 12- round decision over the Ali in San Diego and has now been placed No. 1 as contender for George Foreman's title in the latest rankings issued by the World Boxing Association and the World Boxing Council.

Ali suffered a broken jaw in the March 31 fight, but will be fit to resume training shortly. He is on a guarantee of $275,000 or 35 per cent of the gate, while Norton will pick up $200,000 or 30 per cent.

Secretariat, whose third place finish in the Wood Memorial was a disappointment, drew post position No. 10. Sham, his arch rival, was more fortunate and landed No. 4.

The order of post positions was Restless Jet in No. 1, Angle Light in No. 2, Warbucks in No. 3, followed by Sham, Navajo, Twice A Prince, Our Native, Royal and Regal, Forego, Secretariat, Shecky Greene, My Gallant and Gold Bag on the outside.

6 Marin Drivers In Vallejo Races

Marin County will be represented by six drivers in tomorrow night's open competition races at Vallejo Speedway.

Among the more than 50 drivers due for the 7 p.m. time trials are Jack Dempsey and Bob Padgett, San Rafael; Tom and Scott Florke and Kirk Edison, Novato, and Jose Nunez, Mill Valley.

Wally Baker of Sacramento captured the 30-lap main event in last Friday night's opening point program. Feature winners in the earlier non-point programs were Jimmy Boyd of Happy Valley in the first two, Mike Andreetta of Carmichael in the third and San Jose sprint car star Lem Tolliver in the fourth.

Badminton Title Tie Clinched By Redwood Girls

Redwood High School's girls badminton team blanked Tamalpais High's team, 5-0, yesterday to clinch at least a tie in the Marin County Athletic League.

Redwood's record is 5-0 with only one match remaining, and that's against Marin Catholic which is winless in five games. That final match is Wednesday.

Singles winners for Redwood were undefeated Sue Stoehr and Chris Broderick and Julie Sullivan. Doubles winners were the undefeated team of Linda May and Leslie Anixter and the Powell sisters, Beth and Pam.

In other girls badminton games yesterday, Novato defeated San Marin, 5-0, and Drake edged San Rafael, 3-2.

STANDINGS

Redwood 5-0, Novato 4-1, Tamalpais 3-2, Drake 3-3, San Rafael 2-3, San Marin 1-4, Marin Catholic 0-5.

San Marin's Hoberg Leads Prep Batters

On the strength of a torrid week in which he went five for seven and drove in four runs, George Hoberg of San Marin High School has taken over the leadership in batting average and runs batted in for the Marin County Athletic League.

The slugging first baseman lifted his average to an even .500 on 11 hits in 22 times up, and watched all his rivals slide below .400, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal. Marin Catholic's Rich Lopez, last week's leader at .524, went zero for seven and dropped to .393 for second place.

Tom Cronin of Marin Catholic hurled a shutout Saturday night to reduce his earned run average to 0.66 and take over the lead. Former leader Gene Frey of Redwood gave up three earned runs and is at 0.75, while perfect-game pitcher Ray Stratford of Novato is third at 0.80 and Redwood's Mark Ruggles fourth at 0.90 in a close battle.

San Marin's hard-working Tom Bowen assumed the leadership in starts (seven), innings pitched (37) and decisions (six) and tied for the lead in appearances (seven), complete games (four) and shutouts (two). Mike Farris of San Rafael has a 5-0 record and nobody else has won as many as four games.

Three Members Added To Bowling Hall Of Fame

By RON LENT

The Three Musketeers of Marin County bowling are the newest members of Marin's bowling Hall of Fame.

Laurie Migliore, Bill Rhodes and Chico Valsecchi, three friends who joined forces in putting Marin County bowling on the state map, were inducted into the Hall at the silver anniversary of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association March 31 at San Geronimo National Golf Club.

FIVE OTHERS

They join Walter Carter, Paul Gottlieb, Dick Treadway, Zeno Gelatti, and the late Clay Anderson in the five-year-old institution honoring individuals contributing to the development of bowling in Marin County.

Rhodes was the only Marinite ever elected to the state board, and Migliore and Valsecchi were key figures in his election.

The latest additions banded together in helping elect a Marinite to the California State Bowling Association board of directors. Because Rhodes was completing his second two-year term as president of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association in 1965, it was decided that the 44-year-old San Rafael man should try for a state seat.

With help from Migliore and Valsecchi, Rhodes was elected to the board and has remained on it since. "We (the board) run the state tournament, which has become the largest in the nation."

Rhodes, a foreman at Marin Wheel Alignment and Brake Service in San Rafael, admitted it was a thrill to be elected to the board, but it doesn't compare with the joy of his recent honor. "I was surprised to say the least. The (Marin County) Men's Bowling Association asked me to their meeting to install their new officers when they sprung this on me. Walt Carter told me that my ears perked up when they announced my name" as an inductee.

'AN HONOR'

"It's quite an honor," he added, which pretty much summarized the views of Migliore and Valsecchi.

Migliore, 50, said "I was stunned" after learning of his selection. "I didn't expect it at all. After the shock wore off, I was very pleased."

The part owner of the Country Club Bowl in San Rafael was instrumental in Rhodes' election. "We went down to a state convention to see if we could get Marin on the bowling map. That was in 1965."

They succeeded. "We wanted representation with the state, so we went down there and did it through promotion," said Migliore, who is in partnership with Ferd Masberg and Leon Smith. Migliore, the senior director on the MCBA, is often called "The Chief" because of his take-charge approach in Rhodes' elections.

Migliore was also instrumental in aiding the revival of the junior program at Country Club Bowl when he became an owner in 1962.

"I was shocked. They (Hall of Fame Committee of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association) announced my name at the San Geronimo dinner, and I sure was surprised," said Valsecchi, a 50-year-old plumber.

SET PINS

Valsecchi and Migliore used to set pins at Marin Bowl in 1940, according to Valsecchi.

The trio, which bowled in Marin leagues from 1956 to 1970, also joined forces in bolstering the MCBA and increasing the membership from seven in 1956 to 22 today.

For such accomplishments, they were inducted into the Marin Hall.

Golf, Tennis Races Fall Into Expected Patterns

By LEW CODDINGTON

It looks like the Marin County Athletic League championship races in tennis and golf are beginning to fall into the expected patterns — namely, a two-team race in golf and a one-team race in tennis.

Redwood High School's tennis team drubbed Terra Linda Tuesday, 6-1, to complete the first round-robin with a perfect 7-0 record to the Trojans' 6-1. The Giants had not lost a single, solitary individual match before Tuesday, and may not lose another.

It's an annual affair. The Giant team now has won 72 straight matches in the league, and has not had to draw a deep breath in any of them.

Because of the way the schedule was written, Terra Linda probably will go into the season's 14th and final match against Redwood with a theoretical chance to tie for the title, but there is no reason to doubt the Giants' superiority.

Golf turns out to be more complex, though the title probably will be decided Tuesday when Terra Linda plays Novato on the Hornets' course at Indian Valley Golf Club.

A fired-up Terra Linda defeated Novato April 5 at Marin Country Club, 196-206, but the Trojans were flat after Easter vacation and suffered a 201-208 loss to San Rafael at Marin. So Novato and Terra Linda each have 6-1 records at the halfway mark, and probably will be 7-1 when they meet.

The at-home advantage probably is greater in golf than in any other sport. In four matches at Indian Valley, Novato has averaged just a hair over 188 strokes for five men playing nine holes.

Once the Hornets shot a phenomenal 175, easily the course record. In fact, Novato has set records in three of its seven matches this league season, two at Indian Valley and one at San Geronimo National (194).

None of this bothers Terra Linda coach Bill O'Bayley, who said, "Fine, let them get it out of their system," after Novato's first Indian Valley record April 3, and then beat the Hornets April 5.

Both teams are exceptionally deep and balanced. Each of Novato's top six players — Jim Vaughan, Rick Anderson, Tom Lamore, Doug Henderson, Mike Leach and Terry Leach — has been a medalist at some time this year. Four Trojans — Greg Cudworth, Rich Purtle, Jim Mullowney and Doug Talley — have been medalists. In other words, anybody can beat you.

Twice-beaten Redwood and San Rafael have been reduced to the role of spoilers. Redwood's two remaining matches with the contenders are on the road, but San Rafael gets Novato at home at Peacock Gap in the season's last match.

PLAY OF THE DAY — A pair of photographers spread across six columns in last Wednesday's I-J showed Terra Linda's Steve Withers being tagged out at home plate against San Rafael and writhing on the ground.

It was a sad play in the life of Withers, who separated his shoulder on it and will be out for the year, taking his .368 batting average and his all-league aspirations on the sidelines with him.

PRETTY EASY — Efficient in every possible way, Novato's Ray Stratford required only an hour and 12 minutes to pitch his perfect game against Terra Linda Tuesday. The game was perfect in another manner, too, for neither team made an error — the first errorless contest in the MCAL this season.

High Marks Reached In Track-Field

The best Marin County Athletic League track and field dual meet marks of the year were set in six events last Friday as the runners and jumpers began to reach their peaks for 1973.

Brian Tracy of Redwood High School led the way with a 4:22.1 mile, defeating San Marin's Gary Lathrop (4:22.7) and teammate Dave Brainerd (4:27.0), all three runners beating Lathrops's previous best of 4:28.6.

In the same meet, Redwood's Ed Phelps ran the 440-yard dash in 51.2 and Redwood's Mark Kilmer long-jumped 21-8¼. Elsewhere that day, San Rafael's Gary Patterson pole-vaulted 12-0, Terra Linda's Steve Johnson did 22.6 in the 220, and San Rafael's Greg Campbell tied the 120 high hurdles mark of 15.6.

The best times and distances, not including today's performances:

120 HH — Campbell (SR) twice and Adams (T), tie, 15.6; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 44.1; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Johnson (TL), 10.1; Mile — Tracy (R), 4:22.1; 440 — Phelps (R), 51.2; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Johnson (TL), 22.6; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:40.6; Mile Relay — San Marin (Zechlin, Kenville, Guth, Metteer), 3:33.8; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 162-4; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Kilmer (R), 21-8¼; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 12-0; Triple Jump — Butti (SM), 41-5½.

Petaluma '9' Drops Montgomery Game

SANTA ROSA — Petaluma High School blew a golden opportunity to tie for first place in the North Bay League yesterday by droppoing an 8-2 baseball game to host Montgomery.

With league-leader Vallejo idle, a win would have moved Petaluma into a tie for the top spot, but, with the loss, the Trojans fell one-game behind and into a second-place tie with Napa at 6-3. Petaluma travels to Vallejo tomorrow. A win over the front-running Apaches would give Petaluma a tie for first.

Trojan pitcher Rick Mossi allowed just five hits. However, he uncorked two wild pitches that proved costly. With a runner on and one out in the first inning, Mossi struck out the Viking batter, but the pitch eluded catcher Gordon Ross, putting runners on first and second. Mossi fanned the next man for what should have been the third out, but the following two Montgomery batters singled to score three run.

Agency Bonds Facts Asked

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to know more about agency bonds. — G.C.

A. Federal agencies are becoming increasingly more important both in the credit markets and in the government debt structure. In 1972, these agencies offered $10 billion in bonds and notes while the Treasury financed $11.8 billion. Since the bulk of these offerings were intermediate and long term, interest costs on public debt tended to rise. In recent weeks, interest on 10-and 20-year maturities has averaged 7 per cent and 7.25 per cent on agency paper compared with 6.6 per cent and 6.8 per cent for long Treasury securities.

There are 11 government agencies and federally sponsored corporations which operate in the areas of banking, international finance, underwriting mortgages, postal service and electric power. Agency debt offerings are considered second only to Treasury obligations in terms of security. Interest on many agency bonds is exempt from state and local taxation and in a few instances from federal income tax. This, however, should be clarified for each issue prior to purchase. New issues, in certain cases, may be bought directly through Federal Reserve Banks. In general, new offerings are in $5,000 minimum denominations, and the bonds are for the most part in bearer rather than registered form.

The Federal National Mortgage Association, a privately owned, government sponsored corporation, is the most active in the credit markets with $17.7 billion in long- and short-term issues outstanding. The Government National Mortgage Association is wholly owned by the government under the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Two types of securities are guaranteed by GNMA — mortgage-backed bonds issued by FNMA and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., and pass-through securities. In each case the minimum denomination is $25,000. Other agencies which are active in the credit market are: Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks and Federal Land Banks.

HANDHELD CALCULATOR A four-function, handheld calculator called Checkmate has been introduced by San Diego Electronics Manufacturing Co. It is sold through office supply and retail outlets. The Checkmate adds, subtracts, multiplies and divides and does chain calculations. The answer is flashed on an eight-digit light emitting diode display. The suggested retail price is under $69.

Market Makes Recovery From Early Sell-Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange, hit by an early burst of selling, recovered some of their losses but remained lower through noon today. Trading was slow.

Wall Street observers said investors were disappointed with President Nixon's statement on the economy Wednesday, which reinstituted a Phase II requirement that the nation's biggest firms must notify the Cost of Living Council 30 days in advance before boosting prices above 1.5 per cent of the Jan. 10 level.

The government also reported wholesale prices rose at a 12 per cent annual rate in April compered to 27.6 per cent in March.

First National City Corp. was the most active issue, falling 1 ⅝ to 36 ⅜ on 126,800 shares, including a block trade of 112,100 shares at 36.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in light trading. Teleprompter was the most active issue, off 1 at 18 ½ on 65,500 shares.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues moved lower. Texas Instruments fell 1 ¾, Burroughs and IBM 1 ⅝ each and Honeywell 1.

Glamor issues slipped lower. Corning Glass lost 3 ¾, ARA Services 1 ½ and Xerox 1.

Dupont dipped 2 ¼ in the lower chemicals.

Mid-Eastern Food A Specialty In New Mill Valley Restaurant

Davood's, a new restaurant serving mid-Eastern dishes, will open at 5 p.m. tomorrow at 22 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, the former site of Mayer's Men's Store.

Owner is Davood Kohanzadeh, who has operated Cheese Unlimited at 89 East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley since October of 1971. He is a Persian who studied cooking in France and managed a restaurant in Berkeley for a couple of years before opening Cheese Unlimited.

Davood's, with a seating capacity of 100, has a sliding roof that opens and closes over the main dining area. It has a large espresso bar and features mid-Eastern dishes like shish-kabab and Dolma (grape leaves enclosing rice and lamb). Davood's will be open seven days a week, from 6 a.m. to midnight on weekdays and 8 a.m. to midnight on weekends.

MAGIC KEY Realtors with 11 offices in Marin County is the newest real estate corporation to be established in the county.

"The group was formed to give a wider coverage with more experienced personnel in convenient locations," said James Wells of San Rafael, president of the new corporation, which is completely local and not affiliated with any outside organization.

In Mill Valley — GLADYS MEKISICH of County-Wide Properties; MILDRED VAIL of Vail & Associates; and BRUCE WRISLEY and JAMES McGINNIS of Wrisley-McGinnis, Associates.

Larkspur — SUE SCHAEFFER of Sue Schaefer Realty. Corte Madera — RENN and JUNE LaMASTER of LaMaster Realty. San Anselmo — VERA RIVERS and COLE JACKMAN of Rivers and Jackman.

San Rafael — ROSE PAUL of Rose Paul Realty; JAMES and MARILYN WELLS of Wells and Wells. Terra Linda — JOE ASIANO of J. Asiano, Realtor. Marinwood — JOSEPH MONTELEONE and WILLIAM THAYER of Marinwood Hills Realty. Novato — WAYNE WOMACK of Womack Realty.

ENG'S CENTER, the new Oriental art shop, opened this week at 1233 Fourth Street in San Rafael, next to Cottage Book Shop.

Mildred Eng, owner of the art shop, announced that her daughter, Gwen Louie of Santa Venetia, will be manager of the new store. Mrs. Louie, a 1962 graduate of San Rafael High School, helped her parents at Eng's Restaurant on B Street, then went to work for Pacific Gas & Electric Co. three years ago. She will continue working at PG&E, and will manage Eng's Center after hours and weekends.

Eng's Center carries a variety of Oriental art objects including paintings, jade, jewelry, pictures, panels, vases, china, and furniture such as teak tables and portable bars.

The official grand opening of Eng's Center is set for next Thursday, May 10, when special gifts will be presented to customers. The new store is open Monday through Saturday.

Louie Hansen

ROBERT W. HANSEN Jr. of Mill Valley has been named credit officer at Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office, Senior Vice President Ronald E. Eadie of the West Bay Division announced.

Hansen joined Wells Fargo in 1969 and was banking services officer at the bank's Fillmore-California office in San Francisco before the new appointment.

A NEW KENTUCKY Fried Chicken outlet, the fourth in Marin County, will open about the end of July at 580 Red Hill Avenue, near the Hub in San Anselmo.

The property, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sharrow of San Anselmo, was the old San Anselmo car wash, closed for about two years. Next to it is Hal Sharrow's auto-marine shop, where an office building is planned.

Harman Management Inc. of Los Altos, Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise holder for Northern California, leased the two properties from the Sharrows. Lex Overzet, vice president of Harman Management, said construction of the new building will begin in about a week, and the take-out restaurant should be open in late July.

Kentucky Fried Chicken already has outlets in San Rafael, Mill Valley and Novato.

SHERRY FORD of Glenwood, a clay sculptor and designer of swinging necklaces, will appear in person and present a display of her work at Red Hill Imports in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, this Saturday afternoon.

Her display and demonstrations will be from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Mrs. Ford's clay objects, swinging necklaces, and Raggedy Annes and Raggedy Andys made of enamel have been gobbled up by major department stores.

LILLIAN RUPNOW of San Anselmo, a licensed real estate salesman for 35 years, has joined Say & Company Realtors in San Anselmo.

In Marin since 1941, she worked for Pat Tarrant, then earned her broker's license about 1952 and opened her own office in San Rafael. She then went back to selling and was associated with Don Geddes, Pierce Realty, and John Mountz before joining Say & Co.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund, headquartered in Novato, announced the purchase of Pacific Western Mobile Estates on Glen Cove Road in Vallejo. The total amount of the transaction was in excess of $2,193,000.

The mobile home park, due for completion by the end of this year, contains 295 spaces on 74 acres of land. National Real Estate Fund acquired 50 per cent interest in the property. The Fund's parent company is Capital Planning Associates Inc. of 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

BERNARD M. REED of Mill Valley has been named a registered representative by Bache & Co. Inc. at the worldwide investment firm's San Francisco office, 44 Montgomery Street. He has a degree in economics from the University of Pennsylvania.

INTERACTION — Mime Robert Shields in a whirlwind visit to Marin Catholic High School moves his audience from awe to laughter as he demonstrates the art he calls "the most expressive in the world." His visit to the high school campus yesterday was the highlight of the students' May Week festivities. Presenting part of his vast repertoire, mimicking without mockery, he demonstrated his faith that he is a born mime, born "to look magical and be a mirror of the world."

ENTHRALLS STUDENTS

Young Mime Mirrors The Crowd

By PAUL LIBERATORE

He hustled from the car into the courtyard of the school in Greenbrae, where he was to entertain as part of May Week, three days devoted to contests, booths, far-out costumes and "much craziness."

Without ceremony, he began his silent act. Blank-faced and stiff-legged he was a mechanical man, Robbie the Robot, the character that launched his career in pantomime.

Instantly he erected an imaginary glass wall between himself and the several hundred students who stood outside its barrier. They laughed and applauded as he worked his way around the glass box, his hands pressing against its ethereal plane, his eyes examining its surface.

He imitated students and teachers alike, without mockery, and for an instant they saw themselves in what Shields calls "the mirror" that is pantomime.

He was a nursemaid walking a baby in a pram, an intrepid ladderclimber, a frog prince courting a frog princess. And in an instant he was gone, as quickly as he came, leaving the students buzzing over what they had seen on the schoolyard asphalt that moments before had been his stage.

The asphalt, the street, is no stranger, the 21-year-old mime said afterwards in the quiet of an administrator's office.

Much of his reputation is as the mime of San Francisco Union Square, where he said he refined his craft and, more importantly, learned about the people whose lives he must capture in a few speechless moments.

"Mime is the most expressive art in the world," he said. "I can say more without saying anything."

Arrested three times when huge crowds blocked traffic in Union Square, Shields said with each arrest his reputation grew and his fame spread.

"One of the times the cops were new to the beat and didn't know who I was. They told me, 'You can't do this,' and all the time they were telling me, I was imitating them," he recalled, replaying the officious patrolmen there on the office rug. "Finally they said, 'If you don't leave now we're going to arrest you.'

"It was during the Union Square days that I learned that people take themselves too seriously. They are always putting on a mask. Many times, after I imitated someone, they asked, 'Is that really me? Boy, I'm in a rut. I've got to change.' "

During a pantomime ceremony in Union Square in October 1972, Shields married Lorene Yarnell, a dancer and actress who appears with him in his stage act and is now an accomplished mime herself.

Shields studied for a time in Paris with Marcel Marceau (who is to perform in Marin May 17).

"I was doing Robbie the Robot at a love-in at Griffith Park in L.A. when I was 17," Shields recalled. "This guy came up to me afterwards and told me he thought I was great. When he told me later he was Marceau's son I couldn't believe it."

They became close friends, and Shields eventually met the great French mime who offered him a scholarship to his school of pantomime.

Shields said he learned more living at the Marceau home, getting to know the man himself, than he did in school. He gave it up after a few weeks, finding it "stifling to my creativity" and "turning me into a carbon copy of everyone else in the class.

"I'm glad I'm not a copy of him," the boyish Shields said of Marceau. "He is more poetic, a classic mime of his generation. I am a different style. I try to do things that kids my age can relate to."

Although he and his wife do contemporary skits like "The Biker," in which they play tough motorcycle gang types, sketches must be "profound but simple, that everyone can relate to, black, white, young, old. . ."

Shields, who lives in San Francisco but is looking for a house in Marin, believes he is a born mime, put on the earth with a mission and a function as important to society as the physician or the statesman.

To mime is "to look magical, like a puppet," a talent that is more than technique but must have roots in the soul, he said.

"In order to make it real you must really believe in what you are doing," he said, standing to pantomime a man climbing a ladder, going through all the motions but with something lacking. "Every move must be felt," he went on, as his face strained and the veins in his neck popped and the man on

Haldeman, Ehrlichman Undergo Questioning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman submitted to extensive questioning today by both federal prosecutors and a grand jury investigating the Watergate scandal.

The two top aides to President Nixon met first for two hours with three federal attorneys prior to separate appearances before the grand jury in the federal courthouse. Deposed White House legal counsel John W. Dean III is alleged to have implicated both in the Watergate affair.

At the same time, Dean and Jeb S. Magruder, deputy director of Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign, were reported attempting to bargain with the government for immunity from prosecution in exchange for telling all they know about the burglary of Democratic national headquarters and subsequent efforts to cover up the scope of the conspiracy.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman were accompanied during the meetings with prosecutors by their attorney, John J. Wilson, who told reporters "I'll be around to help them out" in connection with the grand jury as well.

Did they intend to testify fully or was there any chance they might invoke the constitutional right against self-incrimination?

"I can't anticipate that," replied Wilson.

The Washington Star-News said Dean still was dickering through a lawyer for an immunity grant before agreeing to testify before the grand jury, while the Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. said similar efforts were being made by Magruder.

Magruder testified Wednesday and said afterward that he did not plead the 5th Amendment. It was reported that he was believed to have repeated statements he gave to the prosecutors acknowledging he had a role in the planning of the Watergate, and also implicating Dean and John N. Mitchell, who was attorney general at the time the plot allegedly was hatched.

The Star-News said Dean's lawyer had been negotiating secretly with government investigators for two weeks. West-

Madera Del Presidio Future Is Pondered

By LARRY MOWELL

Neither the Town of Corte Madera nor a developer trying to build the giant Madera Del Presidio housing project in the town was sure today what to do in the wake of a court decision wiping out approval of the development.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court on Monday ordered the town to rescind its approval of a planned unit development of 528 bitterly opposed townhouses on 75 hilly acres near the Koch luggage plant. He also voided final approval of the first units.

He gave the town until May 16 to show what it has done to comply with the peremptory writ of mandate. What the town will do won't begin to be clear until the town council considers the ruling Monday, Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels said today.

Councilman Robert J. Flahive, a foe of the construction, said Town Atty. Albert Bianchi recommended no action in a memo circulated to the council because he expects the developer to appeal.

However, Werner Odenthal, a partner in the development firm of Harder and Odenthal of Orinda, said an appeal has not been discussed yet. "At this time we are not prepared to make a statement," he said.

The Wilson ruling came as no surprise, since the judge indicated in January he would almost certainly rule against the development.

Approval of the planned unit development, the judge said, amounted to rezoning the low density multiple residential property without rezoning hearings. That failing negated the development scheme and the tentative map of the first phase, which did not conform to the R-2 zoning, the judge said.

Furthermore, the project should not have been approved without an environmental impact report, Wilson said.

The ruling pleased Flahive. "I never thought very favorably about the end product," he said. The developer "got away with an awful lot under the PUD and it is not supposed to work that way. It is supposed to work to the town's advantage."

Not only will the developer have to start over again in seeking town approval, but he may also be stymied by two roadblocks erected since the project was approved, Flahive said.

It may now fall under the town's moratorium and that of the Marin Municipal Water District, which Monday voted to end water hookups, at least to large projects, because of a water shortage.

The problems of the development created by the judge's ruling appeared remote last June when Wilson said in a notice of intended decision that the planned unit development process was illegal, but that the development could proceed because it conformed to the R-2

Bids Call Is Delayed For Colleges

By PATRICIA PERRY

Indian Valley Colleges, intended to be Marin Community College District's second campus, suffered a setback last night, its future in question, as the district board postponed advertising for bids on site development supposed to start in June. (Another college district story, page 15.)

The delay came after trustees received a petition questioning the need for another campus. It was signed by 67 per cent of College of Marin's full-time teaching staff and 75 others.

An adjourned meeting was set for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 101 of the science building to discuss the matter.

The petition claimed state and county predictions show school enrollments persistently dropping after 1977, while the College of Marin's maximum enrollment of 5,000 full-time day students hasn't yet been reached.

The petitioners asked the board to consider evolving attitudes to controlling family size to two children, the no-growth

A Sales Tax Hike Delay In Assembly

Measure Also Tables Reagan Surplus Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly passed a Democratic-sponsored bill today to delay imposition of the scheduled June 1 sales tax increase for 13 months — until July 1, 1974.

The bill won approval on a 48-25 vote after the Assembly defeated Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to dispose of the state's estimated $800 million budget surplus through a combination of an income tax rebate and a seven-month delay in the sales tax hike.

The votes split along party lines: Republicans voting for the Reagan plan and Democrats opposing it. Democrats control the Assembly by a 9-27 margin.

The sales tax is scheduled to increase from 5 cents on the dollar, statewide, to 6 cents on June 1 as part of the $1 billion tax relief and school finance program passed by the legislature last December.

The Democratic plan, sponosored by Assemblyman Ken Cory, D-Garden Grove, now goes to the Senate where its future is uncertain. The Senate currently is split between 20 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

Reagan's plan was proposed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in the form of amendments to the Cory bill.

After he lost that fight, Bagley attacked the Cory bill as "a sham."

"You are ripping off the income taxpayers of California, and there are a lot of them," Bagley said.

Cory, he said, "pats the income taxpayers on the head but you don't give them any money."

Bagley said he is certain Reagan will vote the bill if it reaches his desk.

It wasn't until after the big tax bill passed last year that it became evident the state would have such a massive budget surplus this year. The surplus has been estimated as high as $852 million although that estimate has been scaled down in recent weeks.

The Reagan plan would have given Californians a 20 per cent income tax rebate next year, totaling $368 million, and would have delayed the sales tax increase by seven months, at a cost of $355 million.

Bagley said it was "politically right" and "morally correct" to give part of the surplus back through the income tax since that is where much of it was collected.

And, he said, "It would make the bill one which the governor would sign."

But Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, said the Reagan plan would give 17 per cent of the surplus back to one per cent of the people —those who make more than $50,000 a year.

"Mr. Bagley is eliminating the minimum income tax which he authored in the 1971 tax program," Moretti said.

Cory also attacked the Reagan plan as favoring the more wealthy.

The Cory bill would also appropriate $77 million for park acquisition and Capitol repairs or reconstruction. In addition, it would provide a scheduled income tax rebate for taxpayers if the state surplus is over $760,000.

Bagley called the Cory income tax provision a "sop," charging the money won't be in the surplus coffers to provide the rebate. Cory's bill is AB 7.

Strawberry Placed In Tiburon's Sphere

The unincorporated community of Strawberry, for years the object of a tug-of-war between Mill Valley and Tiburon, was placed last night in the Tiburon "sphere of influence" by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The commission, on a 4-to-1 vote, approved the recommendation of executive officer John F. Barrows, who has long supported Tiburon's efforts to annex the Strawberry area with its tax-rich shopping center.

Barrows's aide, Tracy Friedman, said today the commission's action does not bar Mill Valley from annexing all or a portion of Strawberry but does make that more difficult.

A state law enacted last year requires the county commission to decide "spheres of influence" for every city in Marin.

The commission previously had tentatively adopted such spheres for all areas of Eastern Marin except Strawberry.

"Under the law," Friedman said, "the spheres of influence study is to be used as a factor in considering annexations but not as a basis for annexations."

About 40 persons attended last night's special session which ended with Arnold M. Baptiste casting the lone vote against the motion.

Baptiste argued that placing Strawberry — and its prized shopping center —in the Tiburon sphere of influence would hamper future studies of consolidation.

Friedman said Mill Valley City Councilman Robert E. Burton told the commission his city is interested in studying possible consolidation.

Commissioner Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who made the motion to approve placing Strawberry with Tiburon, said he doubted annexation to either city would occur in his lifetime.

He said he agrees with Barrows's recommendation that Strawberry is more economically and socially dependent on Tiburon.

Joining Arrigoni in approving the motion were Lawrence F. Mulryan, Hugh G. Marchant and Roy Farrington Jones.

Cronkite Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Walter Cronkite said yesterday the Watergate scandal could have been avoided if the Nixon administration had taken the press into its confidence.

"If Mr. Nixon had been forced to face the question then, perhaps the White House would not be tainted with the additional scandal of a cover-up of Watergate," the news broadcaster told an audience of the Chicago Television Academy.

"The Nixon administration's success in casting doubt on the credibility of the press allowed the President to dodge the Watergate issue during the campaign," Cronkite said.

"Republican leaders told the public not to believe the press, so consequently they didn't," Cronkite said.

Cronkite said even though the press was vindicated in the Watergate scandal, he felt "that the First Amendment freedoms are still in danger."

Cadet Guilty

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Another cadet was found guilty of violating the U.S. Military Academy's honor code Wednesday, bringing to 16 the number involved so far in a cheating incident, an academy spokesman said.

As in 15 earlier cases, a Cadet Honor Committee made up of 12 seniors has recommended unanimously that the cadet be dismissed. None of the 16 has been identified, and none has resigned.

Army Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has nominated former Georgia Congressman Howard H. (Bo) Callaway to be secretary of the Army.

Callaway, 45, of Pine Mountain, Ga., represented Georgia's 3rd Congressional District in the House from 1965 to 1967.

He ran for governor in 1966 and got the most votes, but lost in the Georgia legislature to Democrat Lester Maddox.

Truck Recall

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has recalled 50,717 of its 1971 model Dodge compact trucks for replacement of a defective steering assembly part that could cause a loss of vehicle control.

A company spokesman said although there were several complaints there was only one reported accident connected with the truck. The spokesman said there were no injuries and no other vehicles involved in the accident.

Archbishop Dies

DENVER (UPI) — Archbishop Edward Heston, head of the Vatican department that deals with the mass media, died last night as he stepped from an airplane at Stapleton International Airport.

Doctors said Heston, 67, died of a heart attack.

He was born in Ravenna, Ohio, but called South Bend, Ind., home.

Heston, appointed by Pope Paul VI as president of the Pontifical Commission on Social communications in 1971, briefed newsmen during the Ecumenical Council in the mid-1960s. He was one of the first Roman Catholic churchmen to do so at the Vatican.

Crash Kills 39

Another 17 persons were injured, two of them critically, police and medical officials said.

The bus, en route from the northeast coast to Sao Paulo, apparently went out of control after running into a donkey loaded with fresh meat for the markets of Salvador. Police said it collided head-on with the truck.

Both drivers died in the crash.

Energy Crisis

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Wednesday night urged a return to "participatory democracy," at both the national and international levels, to deal with the energy crisis and other problems.

Douglas told some 3,000 persons at the University of Toledo that industrial nations "need all sorts of energy and it is an international problem." He said "nations through a participatory could reach agreement on the development of energy."

U.N. Ambassador

LONDON (UPI) — Donald J. Maitland, 50, Chief Press Secretary to Prime Minister Edward Heath since 1970, has been named Britain's Ambassador to the United Nations, Heath's No. 10 Downing St. office said Wednesday.

He will succeed Sir Colin Crowe, who retires in September.

Maitland will be succeeded by Robin Haydon, 52, British High Commissioner in Malawi and former Head of the Foreign Office news department.

Queen Invited To Pot Festival

LONDON (UPI) — The organizers said they would drop the naked sports, but not the marijuana, and invited Queen Elizabeth II to join them at the second annual Pop and Pot Festival.

Organizer Bill Dwyer, 43, said Wednesday that an appearance by the queen would bring "great rejoicing" to everyone present.

Dwyer said the festival would include, for those who do not favor legalization of marijuana, a rally opposing it.

Last year, the festival ran into trouble because of nudity and naked sports, "just like the ancient Olympic Games."

Relief Is Seen In Flood Areas

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The National Weather Service says there is at least one bright spot in the flood picture, that little rain is expected through the weekend.

However, reports of flood damage continued to filter in from the soggy Mississippi Valley Wednesday and estimates of damage over a seven-state area soared well above the half-billion mark.

In Louisiana alone, damage was placed at $200 million as agriculture experts reviewedd comprehensive reports showing damage to crops. Jon A. Cox, director of the Louisiana State University Extension Service, said the loss could go higher if lands remain flooded after June.

The Mississippi River, which reached a record crest last week, will produce another crest 9 to 10 feet above flood stages in the Quincy, Ill., and Hannibal, Mo., areas, the weather service said.

The second crest is the result of heavy rains which drenched Iowa and Illinois and the lower Mississippi Valley Wednesday.

In northern Illinois Wednesday, the rising Rock River forced 157 persons to evacuate their homes for the second time in 10 days. The river rose to 12.6 feet by late Wednesday. Flood stage is 10 feet. The Rock River was expected to crest at 13.5 feet by Saturday.

The Corps of Engineers said the Mississippi, out of its banks for 53 straight days at St. Louis, probably would not be open to navigation for at least another week.

In Maine, flood officials continued efforts to assess the damage caused by flooding of the St. John and Penobscot rivers. Emilien Levesque, state Civil Defense director, estimated the rivers had caused $2-3 million damages when the swollen rivers inundated many communities.

In Illinois, a tenth flood relief center was scheduled to be opened in Chester this weekend, the office of emergency preparedness said Wednesday. The office will help area residents, including those on Kaskaskia Island, get disaster help. The 10 Illinois flood centers will be open seven days a week until further notice, Gov. Daniel Walker said.

Nixon And Pompidou To Meet At Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and President Georges Pompidou of France will hold a summit meeting May 31-June 1 in Iceland, administration officials said today.

Officials said that the Icelandic government had invited both presidents and was prepared to be the host country.

They said that the meeting was being held outside of the United States for reasons of protocol. But it is known that Pompidou refused to come back to the United States because of abuse he and his wife received at the hands of pro-Israel demonstrators in Chicago in 1970. They were protesting sale of French Mirage jets to Libya.

Nixon and Pompidou met in the Azores in December, 1971, during which the devaluation of the dollar was agreed on.

Pompidou will be the fourth head of government to meet with Nixon this year. He has already played host in Washington to Italy's President Giulio Andreotti, Britain's Prime Minister Edward Heath, and West German chancellor Willy Brandt.

Kent State Rite On Anniversary Of Four Deaths

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — A candlelight march and an all-night vigil will be held on the Kent State University campus tonight in memory of four Kent students killed by guardsmen May 4, 1970 during an anti-war demonstration.

Wednesday night, some 500 persons set fire to a small wood building they erected on the Commons to symbolize the ROTC building that was burned down in 1970. Those at the rally threw into the fire their draft cards.

Reds Kill 20 With Gas Shells

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces firing a barrage of toxic gas shells overran two battalions of Cambodian government troops 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, killing 20 and capturing 580 others, military sources said today.

The sources said the attack occurred Monday north of Neak Luong, an important ferry town on the Mekong River. The main government unit operating in the region is the 2nd Paratroop Brigade.

Disclosure of the attack and its heavy casualties came as the Cambodian command said Communist troops, striking in a driving thunderstorm that prohibited U.S. air raids, launched new attacks south and northeast of Phnom Penh early today. The command said the Communist thrust occurred 16 to 18 miles from the capital and that fighting was intense.

Military sources said details of Monday's attack were sketchy but that 580 prisoners were simply "led away" by the Communists. As of today, the sources said, only one had returned.

The heavy losses placed in further jeopardy future fuel convoys up the Mekong River to Phnom Penh from South Vietnam. The last river convoy to reach the Cambodian capital arrived April 23. The eight-ship convoy came under a heavy Communist attack from the riverbanks near Neak Luong that killed one seaman and wounded three others.

Sources in Phnom Penh said another convoy would try to make the perilous journey up the Mekong to Phnom Penh at the beginning of next week.

The attack near Neak Luong was not reported by the Cambodian command but was confirmed today by both American and Cambodian military sources with access to secret reports from the front.

Command spokesmen have, however, reported a number of toxic gas shellings against Cambodian forces in the area recently.

Neak Luong is situated on Highway 1, Phnom Penh's only land link with Saigon. Rebel troops have severed the highway 19 miles southeast of Phnom Penh but Neak Luong itself remains in Cambodian government hands.

The Communist thrust accompanied thunderstorms that struck Phnom Penh about 4:30 a.m. and continued until dawn. There was no immediate report of air activity to counter the attacks, but the American air campaign in Cambodia rounded out its 56th consecutive day Wednesday and more raids were expected later today.

Cambodian command spokesmen said Communist soldiers attacked the town of Siem Reap, 16 miles south of Phnom Penh, and mounted another drive around Preak Prasap, 18 miles northeast of the capital. There was no report of casualties but spokesmen said fighting was heavy in both areas.

More fighting also was reported around the provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2 near the South Vietnamese border. Communists surrounded Takeo nearly five weeks ago and fighting there has been fierce and bloody ever since.

Spokesmen said another convoy of 196 trucks and 65 trailers made a successful run Wednesday into Phnom Penh from the deepwater port of Kompong Som, 134 miles southwest of the capital on Highway 4. Travel along Highway 4 and the capital's five other major supply routes has been hazardous for weeks because of heavy Communist pressure along them.

The U.S. raids Wednesday along the Mekong river attracted hundreds of civilian onlookers who lined one bank of the river to watch F4 Phantom jets dump napalm and 500-pound bombs on Communist positions.

Reliable sources said today that the government plans to release 10 persons, including five newspapermen, who were arrested following the March 17 bombing of the presidential paiace in Phnom Penh.

No reason was given for the release of the 10.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard
WHAT CAMERA IS FOR YOU?

Cameras come in many sizes, shapes and prices. The most popular today are the Single Lens Reflex models (SLR's) in either the 35 mm or 120/220 formats.

A single lens reflex uses the camera's lens for a viewfinder, and when you take your picture it swings a mirror out of the way while the shutter does its job. This sequence takes only a fraction of the time it takes to tell about it.

Another popular camera is a Rangefinder Camera. It uses a separate finder, usually on top of the camera, to focus by bringing two images together. This system usually combines the viewfinder with the rangefinder and utilizes different frame lines for other lenses.

A third type that has many fans is the Twin Lens Reflex. It works like the SLR but has a separate lens for viewing and taking the picture. This eliminates the moving mirror and the "blackout" at the moment of exposure. Most twin lens reflex cameras use 120/220 film. With a few exceptions most do not allow using interchangeable lenses — a drawback to some.

There are good reasons for choosing any one of these cameras, and we'll gladly advise you on the pros and cons for your particular hobby needs. Come in and talk it over. Putting the right equipment in your hands for better pictures is our job.

Murder By Strangers Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chances are increasing that the man who murders you will be a stranger.

At least that's what New York police psychology professor Morton Bard says, based on a study of statistics from four big-city police departments, which he plans to publish soon.

In the past, national crime statistics have shown that 80 per cent of all homicides involved persons either related or known to each other. Between 35 and 40 per cent were relatives.

Bard says his figures show that an increasing number of murders are committed by persons unknown to the victim.

He told a group of science writers at an American Psychological Association meeting Wednesday that murders involving people who know each other have declined 23 to 30 per cent in the four cities since 1966.

He blamed the change on handguns, which people carry and use in unexpected arguments with strangers.

Bard is a psychology professor at the City University of New York and the creator of a family intervention plan for New York City police that he says has sharply reduced the rate of deaths and injury while dealing with family fights. Some 50 cities now have family crisis intervention plans for police, he added.

Bard declined to name the four cities reporting higher rates of murder by strangers.

In one of the four cities, he said, 72.9 per cent of all homocides in 1965 involved persons known to each other. Last year, it was 49.9 per cent. The city's overall homocide rate has doubled in the last five years, Bard added.

The statistics were gathered as part of government financed research project.

"I don't think the police can deal with this phenomenon" Bard said.

"It is my impression we are totally irresponsible about our gun policy.

"I suggest we enter into agreement with the producers of handguns to pay them for not producing handguns, like we give subsidies to farmers not to produce certain crops. It would certainly be more economical in the long run."

Government May Aid Small Gas Stations

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Independent gasoline dealers may have federal and state help this summer to keep from going under if the gas shortage becomes critical.

In Washington, Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress Wednesday that the government may have to set up priorities for allocating fuel this summer, which would be aimed at giving the independents a share of the existing supply.

Thursday the Labor Department announced the sharp increase in industrial commodity prices was led by higher fuel prices, especially for gasoline.

Simon said the country is using 47 million barrels of gasoline a week and producing only 43 million barrels.

New York State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz said he will introduce legislation to compel major oil companies to share their gasoline supplies with independent companies.

Lefkowitz said that his bill would assure independents who have regular contracts that their contracts will not be canceled or terminated at least until April 30, 1974, as well as assure some source of supply to those who no longer have regular contracts, but who buy gasoline in bulk on the market.

The extent of the gas shortage was underlined Wednesday when an official of Phillips Petroleum Co. told a federal court in Philadelphia that his company will not be able to meet its gasoline demands this year. Other major firms earlier have announced their gasoline supplies were short because of the fuel oil demand from last winter's record cold.

Post To Brisson

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lance Brisson, one of the authors of a magazine article about San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto that led to a libel suit against Look Magazine, Wednesday was appointed press deputy to County Supervisor Baxter Ward.

Airlines Ordered To Phase Out Bargain Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered the airlines to phase out of existence by the middle of next year two of their longtime travel bargains, youth fares and family fares.

The board refused Wednesday to reconsider an earlier decision that the fares discriminate against airline passengers who do not qualify for the discounts.

Unless the airlines win a court appeal or Congress acts in their behalf, they are under order to start the phaseout this coming June 1 by raising youth standby fares —presently set at 66 per cent of the full fare —to 78 per cent.

Youth reservation fares — now 75 per cent of normal fares —will be raised to 83 per cent while family fares will rise from 75 to 83 per cent of the full fare.

On Dec 1, youth standby fares will be raised to 89 per cent of the full fare and youth reservation and family fares will be placed at 92 per cent of the full fares.

Wedding Plans

Obscenity Trial Gets Under Way

By LARRY MOWELL

Testimony finally began yesterday in the trial of a 41-year-old Petaluma man charged with warehousing obscene magazines in San Rafael. More than 100 prospective jurors were interviewed to find 12, who felt they could judge the literature impartially.

Nine women and three men were seated to weigh the evidence against Donald Calvin Warnecke and the San Oaks Distributing Co. after two full days of jury selection in the municipal courtroom of Judge David R. Baty.

Jury selection was hampered by attitudes on obscenity that most prospective jurors felt would prevent them from applying contemporary standards to the explicit sexual material in five publications Warnecke had in his warehouse.

Some shared the sentiments of one woman, who said, "I don't really believe in censorship of written material although in my 56 years I have never been forced to look at anything like that."

Others simply announced they are against any pornography and others were leery of one book entitled, "Sex Between Humans and Animals, Volume II."

"If I have to look at pictures of animals and human beings, that would do it," one prospective juror said yesterday. "Human beings is one thing, but animals is another," she said.

Warnecke was charged with 29 counts after San Rafael police raided his business Dec. 22, 1971, and seized 216 books. However, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith reduced the number of allegations to five Monday before jury selection began.

The officers who made the raid testified yesterday, then Smith called in a law student from the University of San Francisco to read the five books as the jury leafed through extra copies.

Read first was "The Effects of Danish Pornography," an allegedly factual study of the loosening of obscenity laws in Denmark liberally illustrated with photographs the text said are now legal there.

Before testimony began yesterday, Judge Baty told the jury the three-pronged standard it must apply to determine obscenity.

To be obscene, a work must go beyond contemporary standards, appeal to "shameful or morbid interest" and be without redeeming social characteristics.

Baty told the jurors to consider the standards of an average adult in California.

Smith then told the jury that after the publications are read, he will call an expert to testify that the books seized in Warnecke's warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street failed each of the three tests of obscenity.

The trial is scheduled to last three weeks.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman Undergo Questioning

inghouse said Magruder believed he would be indicted unless he received immunity.

Westinghouse said Magruder indicated cated he doubted immunity would be granted but apparently believes he can negotiate with prosecutors for a short prison sentence.

He was quoted as saying after a five-hour conference between him, his lawyer and Watergate prosecutors that he felt he would go to jail. And when asked how long he thought he would have to serve, he replied, "nine months."

The Star-News said the negotiations for Dean were being conducted by Charles H. Shaffer, a former federal prosecutor in the U.S. attorney's office in New York who also formerly worked in the Justice Department's criminal division.

The newspaper said the government was "seriously considering" the immunity request but that the prosecutors wanted proof first that the information, and documentation, he has is sufficient to exempt him from prosecution. Shaffer was described as unwilling to disclose such details in advance of a pledge.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman, chief of staff and chief domestic adviser for Nixon respectively, are expected to talk secretly Friday with counsel for the Senate's special Watergate committee.

A federal attorney said at midmorning he was not sure whether Haldeman and Ehrlichman would testify today before the grand jury, saying only "you never can tell." Other sources had said earlier they would go before the grand jury. Haldeman and Ehrlichman, longtime Nixon associates and advisers, showed up at the federal courthouse about 8:30 a.m. EDT, avoiding an army of newsmen who later swarmed in and around the building. They were seen sitting in side-by-side chairs in an office near the prosecutors' suite, still waiting for their initial conference, just before their 10 o'clock appointment.

—The New York Times quoted federal investigators as saying they had uncovered evidence of intensive efforts by Nixon campaign workers aimed at damaging Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's image when he was considered a prime Democratic presidential candidate in 1971 and early 1972. The scheme, the Times quoted investigators, was intended to get the Democrats to nominate Sen. George S. McGovern, considered by the Nixon camp to be the weakest foe for the incumbent President.

—Sen. Lloyd Weicker, R-Conn., a member of the Senate Watergate committee, suggested that the White House sought to delay announcement of L. Patrick Gray's resignation as acting FBI director to include it with those of four other top officials announced on Monday. Gray announced his resignation last Friday.

—Columnist Jack Anderson said Haldeman "pulled strings" in the administration to gain a presidential pardon for imprisoned former Teamster President James R. Hoffa in late 1971. Anderson also said a letter written by Hoffa's son to then-Attorney General John N. Mitchell said young Hoffa had been told that Mitchell was working in behalf of the elder Hoffa's release.

—The Boston Globe said Elliot L. Richardson's brother said the defense secretary "had some reluctance" about accepting Nixon's assignment to take command of the Watergate investigation because "he thought someone outside should do it." The Philadelphia Inquirer suggested that Richardson might select William T. Coleman Jr., a lawyer friend from Philadelphia, as special supervising prosecutor.

—Republican National Chairman George Bush called the Watergate affair ugly and grubby but said he did not think the party would suffer lasting damage from the scandal.

—Former GOP Chairman Robert Dole said the Republican National Committee which he headed at the time of the June 17, 1972, bugging of Democratic committee headquarters had no inkling of the plot. He also said he rejected as "too rough" some suggested campaign material about the several senators vying for the Democratic nomination.

—The Washington Post reported that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy tapped the telephones of two New York Times reporters early last year in an administration attempt to track down the leaks of the Pentagon Papers to the press. Citing two highly placed sources in the executive branch, the newspaper said the wiretapping was authorized by then-Attorney General John N. Mitchell. The Post said the electronic eavesdropping was part of a larger surveillance operation related to the leakage of inside government information to newsmen. The two Times reporters were not identified.

Mitchell's wife, Martha, was subpoenaed to give sworn testimony in New York today about the Watergate affair. She often has said that her story would shock the public if it were made known.

In related developments:

—The Justice Department charged the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President with failure to make required reports and maintain records of a $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

the ladder began climbing in earnest.

Shields once earned his living playing fairs as Robbie the Robot, mastering the feat of standing for four hours without blinking his eyes. He once was hired by a determined suitor as a birthday present for his girlfriend, appearing at her door in white face with a ribbon around his middle and announcing, after roboting in the door, "O.K., I'm yours for an hour and a half. What are you going to do with me?"

Now his career is taking off. He said he is excited about an engagement in the Veterans Auditorium at the San Francisco Civic Center May 10 through 12, when he and his wife will perform four shows.

He did a part in a new movie, "The Conversation," and has television appearances scheduled and college tours planned, including a pantomime commencement address at the Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco.

Even though he is now "always busy, always working," Shields said he remains mindful of his most important goal: "to turn people on to silence."

Pleas Heard For Slices Of Revenue

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard a long series of pleas for slices of the federal revenue sharing pie, pleas which at the end of the day totaled about twice the money available.

Included in the requests was a pitch for $1.25 million to update several city libraries, including Petaluma, on a matching fund basis.

By the end of June 1974, county officials have estimated that between $7.2 and $8 million will be available to the county from the federal sharing plan, including accrued interest. Yesterday's requests from county departments and private agencies totaled more than $14 million.

"It's going to be real tough to make decisions — there are some real needs," Supervisor Charles Hinkle said today. Many private agencies have lost expected federal backing, he said, leaving them in financial difficulty.

The supervisors took no action on the requests for funds, and Hinkle estimated it will be at least a month before further board discussion takes place.

Among the requests for county projects was a $2-million proposal for remodeling the county hall of justice in Santa Rosa.

But from subsequent hearings, Wilson decided the development was not consistent with the zoning after all and so he said in January he would rule against the project and in favor of the Environmental Law Fund Inc.

Law Fund attorneys Joseph A. Forest and Paul D. Kayfetz filed the suit last May for Larry P. Weingarth and Marilyn L. Hallin, both of Corte Madera.

The judge actually made his ruling March 23, but it became obsolete because Forest failed to serve the writ of mandate on the town. Therefore, Wilson reruled Monday.

PG&E Will Give Service Pins Wednesday

Some 39 Marin residents employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for five years to 45 years will be honored at an awards dinner at Dominic's restaurant in San Rafael next Wednesday.

Receiving service emblems for 25 years or more service with the company will be San Rafael residents Paul E. Ford, 45 years; Richard Kessell, 35 years; Larry J. Asay, Glen E. Loewen, Carl E. Sandahl, T. Richard Fleming, Stanley O. Erich, Jr., and Edward W. Templeman, 25 years.

Mark C. Robinson of Corte Madera will receive a 35-year service emblem. Others receiving emblems for 25 years of service are William F. O'Callaghan of Mill Valley; Reginald C. Nedbal of Forest Knolls; Harry A. Thomas Jr. of Corte Madera, and San Anselmo residents Frank M. Wilson, L. F. Hiatt, Frank De Gennaro, Allan V. Graves and J. G. Bell.

A Change Of Venue For Magee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Black San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee today was granted a change of venue for his kidnap trial, over the objections of his attorney.

Superior Judge John Ertola granted the hand-written petition from Magee to move the case out of San Francisco, where a lengthy trial on charges of murder and kidnap ended in a hung jury.

Magee faces a new trial on the kidnap charges.

In today's brief court action, Superior Judge Morton Colvin, who handled the first trial, denied a motion by defense attorney Robert Carrow of Novato to dismiss the charges.

Presiding Jude John Ertola then entered the courtroom. He announce he had written motions from Magee to dismiss Carrow as the defense attorney and to move the trial out of San Francisco.

Ertola denied the motion to dismiss Carrow. He granted the motion for a change of venue.

Carrow, at that point, objected, saying the court had "consistently prohibited" Magee from defending himself and yet had been granted a motion "filed without my knowledge."

policies evident in Marin county, and the University of California's interest in attracting more undergraduates.

Trustees gave no indication that they're ready to scrap Indian Valley Colleges, slated for the Novato area. Indeed, trustee Gene Turtle said he was "of a mind to continue the project, but had the responsibility to listen."

And trustee Donald K. Felt complained that the board couldn't allow the matter to "drag out or it will turn into a total fiasco."

The board was supposed to approve going to bid for $1,787,841 worth of site development work at Indian Valley Colleges, with the contract to be awarded on June 6 and construction to start June 13. The project includes roads, parking lots, drains and sewers, utilities, bridges and landscaping.

Dale A. Fleming, director of planning, advised trustees that a 10.4 per cent "cost index rise" had raised the estimated cost of the work to $2,168,000, or $149,000 more than the district had budgeted. The state might contribute $50,000, he said, leaving roughly another $100,000 to be found.

William J. Filante suggested it would be unethical for the board to advertise for bids while the second campus policy is being reviewed, and Francis Compton said the board "can't overlook the faculty petition."

The bid authorization was delayed until after Wednesday's meeting — at which time, said the petition organizer Robert W. Essig, more facts and figures on the wisdom of a second campus will be presented by faculty.

President Wins Bombing Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today defeated, 31 to 14, a bid to deny the administration funds for the bombing of Cambodia. It was the first legislative test of President Nixon's cease-fire policies in Indochina.

The committee turned back an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-Conn., to kill a $430 million request to continue military operations. The action faces stiff opposition on the floor.

The policy-making Democratic steering committee voted earlier in the day, 18 to 3, to urge Democrats to delete the funding authority when it comes to the floor.

One Of Quints Seriously Sick

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The last of the Anderson quintuplets has been removed from a respirator but remains seriously ill, a spokesman for Bess Kaiser Hospital said today.

Diane Anderson was placed in an isolette today, one week after she and her sister and three brothers were born to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson, Brush Prairie, Wash.

The spokesman said Diane's condition continues to improve and she is breathing about 30 per cent oxygen.

All five of the quintuplets are now in isolettes. They are expected to remain in the hospital 55-75 days longer. Their mother, Karen, who was 28 the day the babies were born, was to be released from the hospital today.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, May 3, the 123rd day of 1973 with 242 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Danish - American journalist Jacob Riss was born May 3, 1849.

On this day in history: In 1919, U.S. airplane passenger service started when Robert Hewitt flew Mrs. J.A. Hoagland and Miss Ethel Hodges from New York City to Atlantic City.

In 1933, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross was sworn in as the first woman to become director of the U.S. Mint.

In 1940, Congress proclaimed the third Sunday in May as "I am an American Day."

In 1968, the United States and North Vietnam agreed to start the Paris peace talks.

A thought for the day: British novelist Edward Lytton said, "The easiest person to deceive is one's own self."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Homosexuality Lecture Slated

Del Martin and Phyllis Lyon, founders of the first lesbian organization in the country, the Daughters of Bilitis, will lecture on the "Socio-Sexual Experience of Homosexuality" on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin's Olney Hall.

They are co-authors of the book "Lesbian/Woman" and promote gay and women's liberation.

Their lecture will be the fifth in the college's "Intimacy: Then and Now" series.

OBITUARIES

May Dawn Jope, Ross, Dies At 82

Funeral for May Dawn Jope of Ross, active in Marin County volunteer groups, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Jope died Tuesday in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Maxine and Robert L. Shearn of Ross, following a lengthy illness. She was 82.

She was born in Sydney, Australia, and moved to California 71 years ago. She moved to Ross 16 years ago, following the death of her husband, the late Max Jope. She was a member of the Mental Health Society of Marin County, the Ross Hospital Volunteer Service, the Marin Art and Garden Center Decorators Guild and of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Shearn and Vera Heath of Rocky Mount, N.C.; a son, R. W. Jope of San Leandro; seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call until 9 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial gifts to Holy Innocents Parish, Corte Madera.

ROGER COLE

A 27-year-old Mill Valley Vietnam veteran died early today at Marin General hospital after suffering what appeared to be a brain hemorrhage, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

Roger H. Cole, collapsed at his home at 81 Hilarita Avenue, and was taken to the hospital about 7 p.m. yesterday by his uncle and anunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stiveson, with whom he lived, the coroner's office said. He died in the intensive care unit at the hospital at 12:31 a.m. today.

Cole was born in Youngstown, Ohio, and came to California about seven years ago. He had lived in Mill Valley three years. He was a sergeant in the army in Vietnam for about two years, specializing in communication.

He had been studying pre-law at the California State University at San Francisco and also had been working as a salesman for the Capitol Credit Corp. of San Francisco.

His body was taken to Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley, where an autopsy was scheduled.

He is survived by his mother and two brothers, Michael and Robert, all of Youngstown, where he will be buried.

LEO SHANNON

Shannon died Tuesday at a local rest home after a brief illness. He was a native of Pennsylvania and had been a resident of Marin for 40 years.

He left no immediate family.

Property Financing Explained.

A mortgage, or note and deed of trust, is a contract which makes property the security for payment of a loan. The property is said to be "hypothecated," which means to give something as security while retaining the right of use.

There are several types of mortgage loans, any of which may be negotiated under certain conditions. Interest rates are of course subject to the pressures of the general money market. FHA, VA, and Cal Vet are guaranteed by government agencies.

The sale of a home can be complicated for the seller as well as the buyer. For instance, when selling a home, what pitfalls do you look for in negotiating a "second"? In order to protect your own interest when buying or selling property, always deal with a member office of the Marin County Board of Realtors.

In selling a home, use the Multiple Listing Service. You'll save time, trouble, and may well realize a higher price for your property than if you tried to sell it yourself. Remember the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Your Real Estate Professionals.

New Rule May Force Smog Law Changes

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Proposed federal Environmental Protection Agency rules may compel the Bay Area Air pollution Control District to look into the smog produced by future shopping centers, major highways and sports stadiums with their associated parking lots.

The federal agency last week published the proposed rules in the Federal Register, under court orders to enact new regulations no later than June 11. California will have to revise its clean air implementation plans by Aug. 15 to comply with new federal standards.

Milton Feldstein, deputy chief of the Bay Area district, told the district directors they must consider whether their review and enforcement procedures are adequate to meet the new federal regulations.

Feldstein said computer models could be used to predict probable smog impact of developments such as the Corte Madera and Larkspur regional shopping centers, which would be sites of much auto traffic. Another likely candidate for permit review will be San Francisco's Yerba Buena sports complex.

Airport construction and amusement centers also will be affected by the new rules, Feldstein explained.

Changes in state regulations also are being made, D. J. Callaghan, the district's chief executive, told the district board. He said the state Air Resources Board will hold a hearing at 10 a.m. May 21 in the State Office Building in San Francisco.

The state plans to tighten rules by Jan. 1, 1974, on dry cleaning plant emissions, and to prohibit use of trichlorethylene, a much-used cleaning fluid. The state also will consider requiring installation of catalytic smog prevention on resold autos, and will write the smog impact portions of regional transport studies into the state law, Callaghan predicted.

"We're not ready to make a recommendation" on suggestions that the Bay Area control smog by limiting vehicle use mileage, Callaghan added. He said the district staff will present its recommendations to the board for review before the state hearing, at the district's regular meeting, 1:30 p.m. May 17.

Spokesmen for the Bay Area Roofing Contractors' Association yesterday won a 90-day delay in a proposed change to the district's Regulation No. 2. The district staff had asked that the regulation exempt vehicles' propulsion plants from district control, but would impose control on such accessory pollution sources on roofer's tar pots and other non-propulsive emitters on vehicles.

Attempt To Cut Art Subsidies Is Beaten

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says no, and he tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to convert the Senate to his view.

Proxmire fought a bill which would double—from this year's $80 million to $160 million in the next fiscal year—the amount the federal government spends to subsidize the arts and humanities. The figure would rise to $280 million in fiscal 1975 and $400 million by fiscal 1976— an increase of nearly ten-fold since 1969.

Proxmire said he favored an increase but not one that sharp.

Through the ages, art subsidized by the state, he argued, has tended to be "middle class, mundane, establishment art."

Great artists have always fought the establishment, he said.

"Think merely of the struggles of the French Impressionists against the establishment, the ostracism of a Michaelangelo at various times in his life and the criticism and jeers that were aimed at Picasso when he revolutionized the art world at the turn of the century."

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said apprehension that senators would end up censoring plays and condemning authors was unfounded. The money, through an endowment for the arts and one for the humanities, is mostly funneled through state art councils, he noted.

Proxmire was defeated, 76-14, in his attempt to reduce the increase in funding.

The money provides subsidies for museums, orchestras, opera companies, resident theater groups and dance companies.

It will help fund a "Courses by Newspaper" project this fall under which college-level courses in American studies will be serialized in about 125 newspapers. Through the cooperation of local colleges, readers will be able to earn college credits.

'WHERE'S THE NEEDLE HOLE?'

Stern Warning In Pentagon Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne warned the prosecutor at the Pentagon Papers trial today that "the burden is on the government" to remove any question that its evidence in the trial has been tainted.

Byrne expressed sternly his dissatisfaction w i t h the inadequacy of the Justice Department response to his orders for an investigation of the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The judge's statement reemphasized that he may have no option but to declare a mistrial or dismiss all charges if the court does not receive information as to whether the burglary produced information made available to the prosecution.

A statement by Earl Silbert, an assistant U.S. attorney general and prosecutor in the Watergate grand jury hearing in Washington, was turned over by Byrne to the defense at the morning session.

A one-paragraph memorandum by Silbert last week revealed that the Justice Department had been informed of the burglary by Watergate co-conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy.

In his new statement, Silbert said he had promised his source that he would not reveal his identity and that he "had not been relieved of my commitment."

Silbert said it was a "confidential communication." "

Byrne said the reply was "completely negative."

"My concern at this time is for the rights of these defendants," he said. "The burden is on the government to find out what occurred."

Prosecutor Nissen disclosed that an inventory of the material found in the White House office of Hunt had been prepared and would be turned over to the court and that photostatic copies of any material dealing with Ellsberg and codefendant Anthony Russo and their families was being sent here from Washington.

Agrees To Talks

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President-elect Hector J. Campora returned to Argentina late Wednesday and agreed to hold talks today with the ruling military junta, which proclaimed martial law in response to a wave of guerrilla violence.

Food Prices Declined Last Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices for meat and most other foods fell in April after increasing sharply for five straight months, the government reported today.

But these food price declines, signaling possibly lower retail prices in the near future, were more than offset by the largest monthly advance for industrial commodity prices in 22 years.

The result was a 0.8 per cent increase last month in the overall Wholesale Price Index, a big improvement over the 2.2 per cent rise in March.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said the index for farm products and processed foods and feeds went down 0.7 per cent in April. For example, livestock prices dropped 5.3 per cent, egg prices went down 5 per cent and processed meat prices declined 2.9 per cent.

One component of this index, consumer finished foods —those ready for retail sales —went 0.4 per cent higher (up 1.4 per cent after adjustment for seasonal factors).

The report was the first to show the effects of a ceiling on meat prices imposed by President Nixon in March and a nationwide meat boycott by many consumers during the first week of April.

The statistics, issued less than 24 hours after Nixon's latest move to slow the worst inflation in a generation, prompted AFL-CIO President George Meany and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to call for tougher presidential action immediately.

Meany, claiming in a statement that "prices are completely out of control," predicted "the usual crop of optimistic forecasts from administration spokesmen" and said, "What the nation needs is effective across-the-board price controls, not more rhetoric."

San Franciscan Faces Trial On Burglary Count

A 27-year-old San Francisco man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of burglarizing two Sausalito homes.

After hearing evidence against Paul Julian Bolton, Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him Tuesday to appear in superior court next Wednesday.

Bolton, also known as Joseph Charles Kauth, and his roommate, Donald Edward Burns, also 27, were said by Sausalito police, who stopped their car March 5, to be wearing clothing and jewelry resembling items taken in two burglaries Feb. 22.

Burns was arrested March 25 and is awaiting trial in superior court. Bolton's appearance was delayed by probation hearings in Contra Costa County.

Missing Child Reward Offered

The parents of 6-year-old Tracy Lynn Davenport of San Rafael, who vanished on her way to kindergarten Friday and has been the objective of an exhaustive search, are offering a $500 reward for information leading to her safe recovery, police said today.

The child left the home of her grandmother at 737 Francisco Boulevard at 11 a.m. Friday for Bahia Vista School and hasn't been seen since.

She is described as black, about four feet, six inches tall and wearing short pigtails and a black and blue Hawaiian ankle-length dress.

Officers were to continue searching for the child today, said Sgt. David Jones of the San Rafael Police Department.

Suspected Murderer Identified

CHICO (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies today sought a rapist with gonorrhea who strangled a teen-age mother and left her partially nude body in an orchard next to a fraternity house.

The Butte County Sheriff issued an all points bulletin late Wednesday for a suspect in the sex slaying. He was identified as Aden Rohrbaugh Miller, 23, who moved to the Chico area three months ago from Maryland.

Authorities said Miller, who also went by the name of Trey, had been working as a farm laborer in the area and was not a student at Chico State University, although he attended the fraternity party.

Deputies were meanwhile questioning all 40 members of the fraternity, Tau Gamma Theta, which held a huge, all night beer party before the body of Patricia Catherine Farish, 18, was found Tuesday morning.

The victim, recently separated from her husband and the mother of a 6-month-old girl, was identified by her parents after she failed to return home from the party, which an estimated 2,000 persons attended.

An autopsy disclosed Mrs. Farish had been strangled. Deputies said there were large bruise marks on her neck when her body was found.

The autopsy also revealed that the young brunette's attacker had gonorrhea.

Mrs. Farish was wearing a blue blouse and brown sandals when found. Her skirt was missing and deputies said her blouse had been pushed up around her neck.

Authorities also said they found two small tattoos on her body. One was a heart on her right hip and the other was the letter "W" on her left thigh.

The fraternity party was one of several held around Chico State University as part of the annual Pioneer Days festivities.

Lebanese Planes Hit Guerrilla Positions

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese fighter planes swept into action against Palestinian guerrillas battling the Lebanese army for the second day today and fired rockets at their strongpoints on Beirut's southern outskirts, witnesses said.

Two Mirage planes took part in the attack shortly before 7:00 p.m. (noon EDT), toward the end of a day that saw more long range shooting between the army and guerrillas holed up in refugee camps.

With reports of heavy casualties on both sides field reports said the fighting was spreading to other parts of Lebanon, and Damascus Radio reported 12,000 Palestinians in Syria had been alerted for action in Lebanon.

UPI correspondent John F. Sims, who watched the attack from high up on an apartment house near the scene of the army-guerrilla clashes said:

"The two planes made 12 passes each over the Shatilla camp area where most of today's fighting took place. On each pass they fired one or two rockets."

Sims was not able to see where the rockets hit or what damage they caused.

Other newsmen in the area reported seeing the Mirage jets firing rockets.

Reports from witnesses closer to the scene of the strafing said the target of the strafing was the Bourj Barajneh camp, between the main scene of fighting and Beirut airport.

This camp is a large one, but was not mentioned earlier as a scene of clashes between guerrillas and troops. All of the camps are jammed with thousands of Palestinian refugees, including women and children.

The attack lasted only a few minutes and witnesses said that in addition to firing rockets, the planes strafed the camp with machineguns.

When the planes flew away troops in the area resumed shooting at guerrilla strong points with tank guns.

Tournament Court Use Is Approved

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved use of the Memorial Park tennis courts for a Marin Heart Association fundraising tennis tournament June 9 and 10.

Gary Howell, parks and recreation director, told commissioners that 3,252 persons participated in recreation programs during April and that two new classes have been added, chess and folkdancing.

The commission appointed Commissioner Thomas Peacock to the citizens' advisory committee studying the planned creekside park and parking lot in downtown San Anselmo.

Keith Mastin, youth representative to the commission, announced he would not reapply when his term expires at the end of the month, Howell said.

Ferry Terminal Attack Repulsed

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge directors yesterday quickly rebuffed a board member's bid to scrap plans for a ferry terminal in Sausalito.

Despite arguments by director Robert E. Gonzales that patronage doesn't warrant the $1.5 million terminal, the building and operating committee tabled his request to halt the planning.

The proposal, aired by Gonzales in an eloquent appeal to the committee, was tabled by the group without discussion in a matter of seconds.

Gonzales, a San Francisco supervisor who frequently has criticized the district's ferry plans, called the planned terminal construction "folly" and a "monument of diluted thought."

Saying that the district ferry Golden Gate now is operating at only 37 per cent capacity even on sunny days, Gonzales told newsmen that bridge officials "have decided they want to play admiral. What we need is an accountant and not an admiral."

Gonzales had held out little hope for approval of his move, but said last week he hoped it would result in a scaled-down terminal.

Supporters of the terminal have said present patronage is expected to be triple the present figure of 500 riders a day by 1975. In addition to Sausalito, the district also plans a terminal in Larkspur, with all facilities to be served by three new ferries under construction in San Diego.

The committee recommended that the Foster City firm of Wilsey and Ham be hired by the full board on May 25 to make an environmental impact report on the Sausalito terminal. The firm is to submit a detailed work proposal to the board.

In other business, the committee proposed to extend until April 8, 1974, the time under which the Allied Co. may complete replacement of suspender ropes on the bridge. Dist. Secty. Peter D. Clainos said engineering staff endorsed the extension because of Allied's thorough workmanship.

Council To Consider Jane Fonda Censure

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council planned to debate a motion today to censure Jane Fonda for her POW remarks. The actress planned to be there to censure the councilmen.

She appeared Wednesday on the steps of the federal courthouse after learning that Councilman Arthur K. Snyder planned to introduce a resolution today censuring her for her Vietnam stand.

She accused the Pentagon of staging a propaganda campaign to make Americans think the North Vietnamese had tortured U.S. prisoners and the news media of lack of objectivity for reporting torture stories.

"Let us listen to all the POWs —not just a hand picked few," she said.

"We are becoming victims and preys of an orchestrated propaganda effort on the part of the Pentagon to make us hate the Vietnamese."

U.S. officials planned the homecoming of the former prisoners for years, she said, and had already selected 29 senior officers to appear at news conferences to portray the North Vietnamese as "bloodthirsty." The purpose is to continue the war in Indochina and prevent U.S. economic aid to North Vietnam, she said.

News coverage of the returnees concentrated unfairly on the stories of torture and atrocities, she said, rather than presenting a "balanced view."

Appearing with her was Gary Daves, 30, of Mescalero, N.M., a former civilian POW. Daves was a teacher in Vietnam when he was captured. He spent 5 years as a prisoner.

"I was not tortured," he said. Of Ms. Fonda, he said "I think she has made some mistakes, but President Nixon has made some horrendous mistakes. The city council hasn't called him for censure, as far as I know."

Ms. Fonda and the former POWs have been engaged in a running debate over their treatment in Communist prisons and her role in the antiwar movement.

Returned prisoners have said that they or their companions were tortured because of her visit to North Vietnam, to force them to appear at propaganda gatherings during her stay. Many of the returnees blamed her and others in the antiwar movement for prolonging the war and their captivity by reinforcing the North Vietnamese belief that internal U.S. political pressures would force American withdrawal.

In turn, she has called the returnees liars, hypocrites and killers. She has dared the former prisoners to present proof of torture before an objective tribunal, saying that if they could back up their stories she would "eat her words."

Plan Action Set In Rohnert Park

The Rohnert Park City Council has scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers a public hearing on the final sections of the city's general plan required by state law.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said such elements as open space and parks, conservation, seismic effects, land use, traffic, noise and bikeways will be considered.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on an ordinance which would permit participation by city council members in the city employees' retirement system.

Massage Parlor Control Tightened

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — The North Carolina Senate gave final approval Wednesday to a bill that enlarges the definition of prostitution to include certain conduct in massage parlors.

The bill's aim is to close down numerous massage parlors which have been opened around the state.

Cong Claim War Like Watergate

PARIS (UPI) — The Viet Cong said today the Nixon administration used Watergate-type tactics to wage war in Indochina.

Viet Cong ambassador Dinh Ba Thai was asked at a news conference about "internal difficulties" confronting President Nixon. He said he did not want to discuss these in public.

But, without mentioning Watergate by name, he added : "I want nevertheless to stress the following point —for many years the reality of the situation in Vietnam has proved that the Nixon administration as well as previous administrations have often used misleading maneuvers to launch the criminal war in Indochina.

"At present the policy of the Nixon administration concerning Vietnam and Indochina consists in using many maneuvers with a view to covering up violations of the Paris accord."

Thai spoke at a Press briefing following the ninth meeting between Saigon and Viet Cong negotiators aimed at plotting their political future.

Each side rejected the other's plans for elections and Saigon accused the Viet Cong of massing troops to conquer South Vietnam by force of arms.

Thai reiterated Communist Vietnamese statements that the time was not right for a meeting between Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's National Security Adviser, and Le Duc Tho of Hanoi to discuss cease-fire violations.

Asked about a statement by North Vietnamese Vice Minister for Foreign Affairs Nguyen Co Thach that the atmosphere for talks was not favorable, Thai said "This statement reflects the reality."

Thai rejected South Vietnamese and American accusations that the Communists are massing for a possible new offensive.

"These accusations are the typical maneuvers of a thief who cries thief", he said. "Since the (Jan.27) Paris agreement, the United States and Saigon have systematically violated the accord and its protocols."

At the negotiating meeting, South Vietnamese Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien said the Communists were trying to seize the country by force.

Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu said he knew nothing of a meeting reportedly scheduled between Presidenial adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho to discuss treaty violations.

"We have no information about any such meeting," Hieu said.

At their eighth meeting last week at suburban La-CelleSaint Cloud, South Vietnam proposed a 10-point program leading to elections Aug. 26 and complete withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops. In return, Saigon offered to demobilize an equal number of its soldiers.

At today's meeting, the ninth between the two sides aimed at organizing South Vietnam's political future, Vien told the Viet Cong:

"In examining your proposals, we...regret that your side is trying to increase its military forces in order to impose a Communist regime on the South Vietnamese people....

"We are led to believe that since you cannot achieve political conditions that would allow you to seize power in the near future, your side continues fighting in order to conquer South Vietnam by force of arms."

Vien said the Viet Cong plan was unacceptable because it stated pre-conditions for the holding of elections. "The offer amounts to laying down preconditions before allowing the population to go to the polls," he said.

Hieu accused the United States of continued involvement in Vietnam, described the Saigon regime as a tool of the Americans and said the South Vietnamese timetable for August elections "is of an artificial and fallacious character."

He told Vien the Saigon government "seeks deliberately to block the work of this conference while hiding the fact that the United States continues its military engagement in South Vietnam and maintains more than 10,000 military men disguised as civilians.

Pope Seeks Way To 'Liberate' Catholic Women

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI set up today an international commission to investigate ways to "liberate" women in the Roman Catholic Church and in society at large.

The pontiff instructed the 26-member commission to extend research to such controversial questions as whether the Church should open the way for women deacons and women priests. But he reserved to himself all final decisions.

'Cause To Wonder'

CAREY, Ohio (UPI) — Vicki Lynne Cole, 18, the girl who gave President Nixon his "Bring Us Together" inaugural theme in 1969, said today the Watergate bugging case has "given me cause to wonder" about the President.

Action Group Seeking County Agency Delay

Community Action Marin directors agreed last night to ask county supervisors to postpone action on a proposed consolidation of the health, probation and welfare departments.

Executive director Alfred R. Conklin III said today the local antipoverty agency board will urge Tuesday that further study be made on the proposal, suggested last month by county Admin. John F. Barrows.

Supervisors are scheduled to act Tuesday on the consolidation which would place the three departments under the authority of welfare director Betty L. Presley, who would then make a year-long study of how they should be consolidated.

Conklin said his board is concerned that the privacy and confidentiality of those using county services may not be adequately protected under the proposed consolidation.

The board also agreed it was not appropriate to include the probation department in the reorganization since it is more closely related to the criminal-justice field than to social services, Conklin said.

He added his board questioned whether any saving would result from Barrows's proposal and whether such savings would justify the departmental shake-up.

In other matters, the board was told it is still unclear when and if the agency will be forced to close its doors.

A threatened cut-off of federal antipoverty funds has been temporarily blocked by a federal court. The agency, formerly the Economic Opportunity Council, was scheduled to be phased out by May 31.

Graduation Set Before Finals

It has been moved up to June 2, before final exams even start.

Asked today if perhaps the early graduation might interfere with attendance at final exams, a campus worker explained the tests must still be taken and passed with students in the meantime "just given an empty diploma case."

Traffic Pattern

Work in progress on Highway 101 which will alter the traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow was announced today by the State Division of Highways, which said northbound traffic will be routed into two lanes at the Richardson Bay Bridge between 8:30 and 2 p.m. during paving.

Industrial Dumping Of Effluent Voted

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night agreed to allow industrial firms to dispose of effluent from septic tanks at the district's main treatment plant on Irene Street.

Although the ruling goes into effect immediately, district staff was instructed to develop a pretreatment process for septic tank waste entering the system, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator.

Board members outlawed dumping of wastes from chemical toilets at the plant because of adverse bacterial reaction from chemicals, Rawles said.

The board also approved final payment to MGM Construction Co. for a sewer project in the Moncada Sewer Assessment District. Total project cost is $47,662, Rawles said.

Labor Votes Support For Teachers

Marin County Labor Council members last night voted to support two Novato Unified School District teacher groups if they vote to strike against the district, according to Charles B. Weers, labor council secretary.

Weers said the council earlier gave the teachers a strike sanction. The Novato Federation of Teachers and the Novato Teachers Association were to meet jointly this afternoon for a strike vote.

Weers said if the teachers strike, the county labor council will help man the picket lines, and its members will refuse to cross any picket lines established.

The labor council last night also declared its approval of the board of supervisors' rejection of County Adm. John F. Barrows's plan for consolidating the public works, planning and parks and recreation departments.

The council supported Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste's proposal that the three departments consult each other on possible consolidation, Weers said.

Decision Due?

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Federal negotiators were expected to return to Wounded Knee today amid predictions by American Indian Movement (AIM) chapters around the nation that Friday could be the day of decision.

'Rush' On Shopping Center Rapped

Two members of the Larkspur Redevelopment Agency objected last night to what was described as a "rush-rush" schedule aimed at attracting a large shopping center to the Greenbrae area.

And one of the protestors, Robert H. Lee, served notice he held "some reservations" over using the redevelopment process as a device to attract the multimillion-dollar center.

The views were expressed as the city council, sitting as the redevelopment agency, weighed a staff request for more funds to pay consultant expenses. The money, $4,500 above the original maximum of $1,500, ultimately was approved, but not before Lee and Councilman Joan Sestak questioned staff at length about a time schedule setting adoption of a redevelopment plan by June 30.

Despite the impatiently uttered assurances of City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst that "you covered all this entirely" at the agency's last session, Lee noted the city also is in the midst of general plan revision and on the brink of budget discussions and called the redevelopment schedule too hasty.

He was especially wary of a timetable under which Environmental Science Associates of Burlingame is to have an environmental impact report on a preliminary redevelopment plan completed in up to three weeks.

And he said, "I still have some reservations about the whole concept of redevelopment as applied to this project." Lee said it may have been true at one time that Larkspur was racing Corte Madera to place a regional shopping center in the area, but "circumstances have changed somewhat" in view of Corte Madera's difficulties with other governmental agencies.

"If we have a rush-rush schedule," Mrs. Sestak said, "we're not being responsible to the public."

Mayor Alfred J. Malvino indicated any stall would be unfair to the developers, Ted Connolly, head of an Oakland development firm, and the Rouse Co., a major shopping center operator.

Bathurst said the schedule is a loose one, and acknowledged the need for thorough review of the environmental impact report.

Barry insisted Brixon had been given earlier material. "Don't call be a liar," snapped Brixon, raising a sheaf of papers. "This is the first one I've seen, Mr. Barry."

Brixon earlier had sharply criticized city staff for laxity in cracking down on city planning violations, along with indicating his belief that city administrators were costing taxpayers too much.

Utah Man Killed In Glider Crash

CENTERVILLE, Utah (UPI) — A 27-year-old father of three was killed Wednesday when his lightweight para-glider plunged 200 feet to the ground.

A witness said Verl H. Gleed, 27, Bountiful, Utah, was "flying good and all of a sudden he just came straight down into the ground."

Authorities said Gleed had only been flying about three months and had little high-altitude experience with the glider, which resembles a kite.

Congress To Kill Airports' Head Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to ban airport head taxes — fees charged airline passengers by local governments —was approved by a 286-16 vote in the House Wednesday. The Senate has passed a slightly different bill and a compromise measure will be negotiated.

The taxes range from 50 cents to $3 per passenger. Affected by the legislation are 44 airports or airport authorities.

Hearing Set On Burglary

A preliminary hearing has been set May 11 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for a private security guard and his legless companion who are accused of burglarizing a Petaluma laundromat.

Pleading innocent to the felony charge were Donald Ray Harvey, 25, captain of the K and S Security Service, and L. D. Lee Snow Jr., 23, a Vietnam veteran double amputee. Both who are accused of being armed with revolvers at the time of their arrest, live in Petaluma.

Snow has been released on his own recognizance but Harvey is being held in jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

They were arrested early Sunday morning after police staked out the Hagstrom Laundromat at 200 Douglas Street where several burglaries had taken place. Officers said they saw Harvey prying open coin boxes inside the closed business

Bed Sales Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Innerspace, a firm that makes and sells waterbeds, reported Wednesday that its gross revenues for 1973 are estimated at $1.5 million, compared with $100,000 in 1971.

Planned Building Ban On Hilly Lands Killed

The lone vote of Larkspur City Councilman Neil R. Brixon last night killed — at least temporarily — a plan to impose a building ban on hilly lands west of Magnolia Avenue.

Three of Brixon's colleagues — Robert H. Lee, Mayor Alfred J. Malvino and Joan Sestak — voted in favor of the planning staff proposal. But as an emergency ordinance, the measure needed four "yes" votes, and Councilman William G. Fleckles was absent.

The ordinance, affecting 89 parcels zoned for multiple development stretching from Murray Avenue to King Street, is expected to be considered again at the council's May 16 meeting.

Brixon, joining opposition by two property owners or their representatives, said: "I am not now and have never been in favor of such emergency ordinances." He described them as unfair to land owners.

John O. Roberto, director of city planning and community development, said the ban, intended to halt building on slopes exceeding 10 per cent for four months, would enable orderly completion of city general plan and slope policy revisions. He also noted the affected lands are contiguous to property included in the community's interim open space plan.

Attorney Hugh J. Cadden, representing developers of the Skylark and Woodlark apartments, who intend to build on a nearby five-acre parcel, called the ordinance unjustified, biased and unduly broad.

He said there was no urgent need for a moratorium, adding that the city was remiss in not moving in a like manner against lands zoned similarly in other hilly portions of the city.

Brixon also made an issue of the fact that Cadden's clients had filed development plans with the city last month.

"Taxes go on, but I never get any building permits," objected another property owner, real estate man Robert Busse. He said his development plans thrice have been rejected by city officials.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

FRUIT — Deleted fruit and vegetable stands as permitted uses in certain commercial zones after hearing Brixon score city staff for issuance of a permit to a fruit and vegetable truck vendor. While the permit was approved by the planning commission, city ordinance says the operator also needed council approval, Brixon said. He also criticized city staff for failure to enforce city sign laws and failure to act quickly against a merchant operating without a business license on upper Magnolia Avenue.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to consider firing a lower echelon employee, but took no action.

CELEBRATION — Gave permission to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July Committee to stage its traditional celebration on Independence Day.

DESIGN — Adopted an ordinance providing operating machinery for the city's new design review board.

UNDERGROUND — Established an underground utility district on Bon Air Road near the city limits. It also introduced an ordinance requiring undergrounding at new commercial and multiple-dwelling developments, noting it wanted to be informed of any exceptions permitted under the measure.

LIAISON — Named Lee as liaison to the city planning commission.

CONTAINERS — Supported AB 1594, which would attach a nickel deposit on beer and soft drink containers and prohibit pull-top openers on cans.

SOROPTOMIST — Was told by Barry of the planned sale of the Soroptomist property in the Mary Frazier redwood grove, with provision that the land, once under consideration for city acquisition, be maintained in its current state.

MEETINGS — Set the following meeting schedule: May 16, regular session; May 22, budget discussion; May 23, as redevelopment agency and budget discussion; June 5, joint session with planning commission on general plan; June 6, regular session, and June 7, budget meeting.

Four Men Killed By Power Line

JENKINJONES, W.Va. (UPI) — Four men stringing telephone cable through a remote area of McDowell County were electrocuted Wednesday when they brushed against a high voltage power line on a mountain ridge near the Virginia border.

The dead were identified as Larry W. Cornett, Douglas Parker, Paul D. Cohenour, and Harold T. Vaughn, all of small towns in southern West Virginia.

Three other men suffered minor burns. They were hospitalized at Stevens Clinic Hospital at Welch in good condition.

State police said the men were pulling cable up a hillside from a highway when they came in contact with the power line.

Transit District Under Attack

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Southern California Rapid Transit District would provide only bus service and lose its rapid transit duties under a bill proposed Wednesday by the chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee.

Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, charged the district is "working outside the limitations of the law" in using gasoline tax revenue for expansion of bus service.

He said in a statement that under the law the revenues should be "used for development of a rapid transit system." He also declared the district has "squandered" its funds but has not developed a rapid transit facility.

Marin Aviation Unit Supports Commute Airline

The Marin County Aviation Commission has thrown its support behind the request of a small commuter airline for commercial use privileges at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

Francis E. Torr, airport manager, said yesterday Stol Air has petitioned the state Public Utilities Commission for authorization to use the airfield in its Santa Rosa to San Francisco run.

Marin County supervisors on Tuesday urged the PUC to approve the application which would lead to negotiations between the airline and county on leading fees.

Torr said the airline also has commuter runs from San Francisco to Napa and Concord. Fares from Marin to San Francisco International would be about $14 per person, the commission was told Tuesday.

East-West Trade Called Peace Key

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Samuel Pisar, an American expert on East-West trade, told Communist and capitalist businessmen today world peace is in the hands of Washington and Moscow and depends on trade and industry rather than diplomacy.

Pisar, speaking at the opening of a three-day conference on ways of bringing the world's products to both Communist and capitalist consumers, referred to the impending Washington visit to Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and said:

"The fate of East-West detente is now suddenly in the hands of the White House and the Kremlin. And the engine of this detente is trade, industry and technology, rather than old-fashioned diplomacy."

Pisar, speaking to 300 delegates at Budapest's International Hotel, is considered by economics officials here as the leading expert on East-West trade matters.

The conference was the sixth in as many years organized by Management Center Europe (MCE), a Brussels-based consultant organization.

"This year's conference comes at a propitious moment in history, marking the true breakthrough in trade and industrial cooperation between East and West," one organizer told several hundred delegates.

The object of the conference, officials said, was to integrate the Communist and capitalist markets.

Among subjects under discussion were cooperation in international marketing, new trade laws and ways to settle disputes.

Four Satan Cultists Arrested In Sacrifice Murder Of Youth

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Four young members of a "satan cult" were arraigned Wednesday on first degree murder charges in the "sacrifice" slaying of a 17-year-old amusement park worker.

Two others were to be arraigned today.

The badly-mangled body of Ross Michael Cochran, originally from Fresno, Calif., was found trussed up Tuesday night with ropes, in a wooded area off state road 415 south of Daytona Beach.

Police had begun their investigation into the bizarre weekend murder after being led to the body by a boy who, when arrested for breaking into a car, told police he had a "story to tell."

According to chief of detectives Capt. Fred Perrin, Cochran was murdered because he led the members of the "satan cult" to believe he was an undercover narcotics agent, and they wanted to "teach him a lesson."

Perrin said the youths lured Cochran into their communal pad sometime Saturday, where he was tied to a bed and severely beaten. He was later moved into an "altar room," and tied to a long black table, hit with chains and cut with pieces of broken glass.

"They must have really hated the kid like hell because they really tortured him," Police Chief Robert Palmer said at a Wednesday news conference.

Police say he was then taken to the wooded area where his body was later found, his head crushed with a knotted pine tree branch.

Arrested shortly after police learned of the story were Kenneth M. Francis, 17, of Pope Air Force Base, N.C.; Charles M. Page, 21, of Daytona Beach; Deborah Ann Shook, 22, Washington, N.J., and John Colbert, 18, described as a drifter.

Two more persons arrested Wednesday were identified as Howard Evert Waellus, 19, Detroit, and Cindy Lis Black, 17, of Rexdale, Ont.

Cal Band Bends, Now It's Coed

BERKELEY (AP) — Bowing to the threat of a funding cutoff, the University of California marching band has become the last Pacific Eight Conference band to go coed.

The 120-member band voted yesterday to strike the words "all male" from its constitution after the student government threatened to stop its $40,000 annual support, band spokesman Dave Pearson said. He also said the university was worried it could lose all federal funding if the band persisted in sex discrimination.

"The university said it had problems enough with women and quotas," Pearson said, "and they didn't need us as one more problem tacked on."

Pearson said some band members were worried that admitting women would damage the "male camaraderie and spirit," but most felt it would "be better for the spirit of the thing."

Pearson stressed that women will have to meet the band's high standards during next fall's auditions.

Wrong-House Drug Raid Probe Starts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — A federal grand jury today was to begin an investigation into "wrong house" drug raids on two Collinsville homes in which federal narcotics agents were accused of using "stormtrooper tactics."

Donald B. McKay, U.S. attorney in Springfield, said, "I'm prepared to pursue this inquiry in the most vigorous and forthright fashion and let the chips fall where they may."

The Madison County grand jury also was to begin an investigation today at Edwardsville.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., "appalled by the storm-trooper tactics" said a Senate subcommittee on government reorganization would look into the incident later this month in Chicago.

Myles J. Ambrose, chief of federal drug law enforcement, suspended the agents and ordered the federal grand jury investigation. He said the raid "would appear to be stupid—they clearly were not following instruction."

One of the victims of the raids, Herbert Giglotto, said about 15 armed men in hippie garb broke into his apartment April 23, pulled him and his wife from their bed and ransacked their home. He said one raider held a cocked gun at is head and threatened to kill him.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Askew said a shotgun-carrying agent kicked down their back door and several men dressed like hippies, stormed into the house. The Askews have filed a $100,000 damage suit against the federal government. Both couples said the agents apologized and offered to pay for damages after realizing their mistake.

The raids were conducted on the basis of a tip that proved to be false. No drugs were found at either home.

Sadat Told War Plans Are Unwise

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir marked her 75th birthday today by advising Egyptian President Anwar Sadat against making good his threats to reopen the Middle East War.

Mrs. Meir's staff toasted her with wine and gave her orchids and a birthday cake at the beginning of a busy Tel Aviv work day which, a spokesman said, would not end until 10 p.m.

Telegrams of congratulations and best wishes arrived by the hundreds for the Russian-born grandmother who came to Palestine 52 years ago with Zionistic ideals that have carried over to this day.

Nrs. Meir will have a private birthday party Friday with her children and grandchildren. She is in the midst of preparations for Israel's 25th anniversary party, to be highlighted by a military parade.

Sausalito Planners Balk At Waterfront Vote Plea

By REBECCA LARSEN

A developer's attorney begged the Sausalito Planning Commission to say "yes" or "no" last night to a proposed $35 million waterfront project, but the commission decided it first needs a report from the city planning director.

"At some point we're entitled to a decision, whether it be for or against," said Howard N. Ellman, representing O'Meara-Chandler Corp. of Sherman Oaks, Los Angeles County.

But the commission continued until May 16 the proposal for the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property in the Marinship area. Planning Director Herb Case is to report then on an environmental impact report for the project and on a rezoning application from the developer.

The proposal for the 39-acre site would include 100 condominiums, a hotel, restaurant, two yacht clubs, shops, houseboats and a boat marina.

The commission has already had several hearings on the environmental impact report for the project.

Early in discussion, Case told the commission that any decision on the project should be delayed under terms of an existing development moratorium which lasts until June 30. The moratorium covers all projects which might conflict with the city's open space plans and was designed to give time to prepare a state required open space element for the city's general plan.

Case said that a recent report from a citizens open space committee made suggestions for saving some open land on the Schoonmaker property, which should be considered.

Commissioner Violeta Autumn added that perhaps the developer would agree voluntarily to a 30-day continuance of the project.

But Ellman objected: "We've already been here on three separate occasions for three or four hours at a time. . .You've received sufficient evidence, and it's fresh and ready for a vote now."

He suggested that the commission culd set conditions for the development which would satisfy any recommendations from the open space committee.

City Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who was in the audience, echoed Ellman. "I'm getting quite concerned at what's getting to be an abuse of the review process in which the applicant is supposed to get a just and prompt hearing," he said.

He called the hearings "a charade in which those who oppose a project delay it as long as possible."

Chairman Robert L. Nissen suggested that perhaps the commission could vote immediately on the developer's application for rezoning while delaying on another joint application for a planned unit development.

"I feel the commission should at least come to one decision," he said.

But most other commissioners disagreed. "I think it would be a wise move to wait to allow the staff to put the environmental impact report into some kind of order," said Commissioner Frank M. Bowen.

Commissioner Autumn insisted that the environmental impact report needs more work on its traffic statistics which she called vague and inadequate.

The traffic report from Wilbur Smith and Associates of San Francisco estimates that the project will generate a peak of about 800 cars entering and leaving it at the most busy hour, 5 to 6 p.m. on weekdays.

The report contends that most traffic problems would be on Bridgeway from Napa Street north to Highway 101. The firm also says that cars turning into the project could "occasionally" back up traffic on Bridgeway depending on how much development is planned on other nearby properties.

Commissioner Autumn said she wants to know the number of cars on Bridgeway at various intersections at different times of the day.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

RESTAURANT — Approved a request from Mark Thompson for Charlie Noble's restaurant, lifting a requirement for four new parking spaces needed when the restaurant completes a proposed expansion of 15 seats. A condition of approval was that Thompson agree not to oppose a proposed Bridgeway parking assessment district.

CYPRESS RIDGE — Continued until July 18 an application for a planned unit development in the Cypress Ridge area to be developed by Dan Coleman Associates. The commission is awaiting an environmental impact report on the project.

WHISKEY SPRINGS — Continued until June 6 an application for a commercial planned unit development for the Whiskey Springs area to be built by Duffel Financial & Construction Co.

USE PERMIT — Denied a request for a use permit from Henry Arana who asked to build a duplex and single family home on a single family lot on Arana Circle.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until a meeting next Monday at 8 p.m., when commissioners will discuss open space on the waterfront and other agenda items not covered last night.

Engineering Chairman Promoted In Berkeley

Kuh, chairman of the department of electrical engineering and computer sciences, Wednesday succeeded Dr. George J Maslach, who was named the university's first provost last year.

Food Price Protest Is Due On Saturday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phase II of the meat boycott—a national day of protest against food prices—is due Saturday. But so far it does not appear to have the widespread public support won by last month's meatless week.

The protest is being backed by the National Consumers Congress, a loose coalition of local groups and individuals active in the meat boycott.

The group was formed with the help of several congressmen, notably Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., who at the time were pushing legislation to force a rollback of all prices and interest rates.

That legislation was soundly defeated in the House. Since then there has been little congressional interest in—or rallying point for—the May 5 protest planned by the boycotters.

The coalition left it up to its local members to decide what form the protest should take. Some said they planned picketing; others, a grocery boycott.

The decentralized nature of the new organization and the lack of continuing national publicity has left the impact of the protest doubtful.

At least two consumer groups —the New York Consumer Assembly and the Citizens Action Program of Chicago— said they detected a move away from the protest approach, toward a more longrange attempt to question and monitor the government on the food price issue.

The Consumers Congress itself has already moved in that direction. It asked the Cost of Living Council and cabinet members for a meeting to discuss the food price situation. The Council said it was coordinating such a session, but no date was set.

A spokesman for the Chicago organization said he hoped the Cost of Living Council would eventually agree to hold meetings around the country at which consumers could confront officials directly.

There are some organized efforts under way for the Saturday protest, however, especially in New York City.

A group calling itself Women United For Action said it would picket the headquarters of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A&P), the country's largest supermarket chain, on Saturday. It also said some of its members in Brooklyn would form "community inspection teams" which will enter stores to determine how clean they are.

Smog-Free Car Said Necessity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said today the United States can no longer afford its big gas-guzzling, smokebelching automobiles.

Tunney, in opening hearings on his bill calling for development of a smog-free engine, said an alternative to the conventional internal combustion engine was "a national necessity."

"The automobile offers the individual unparalleled freedom of movement," Tunney said, "but we cannot afford its benefits at the cost of polluted air, wasted energy resources, and outrageously high prices for the average driver."

ACT's 'Godspell' To Welcome New Cast Member On Tuesday

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Godspell", the rock musical which will soon enter its 11th month as a production of the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco, will welcome a new cast member Tuesday night — Stephen Nathan of the original New York company. He will assume the role of Jesus in the highly-polished Bay Area ensemble.

The musical, which opened to critical as well as popular acclaim at the Geary Theater, is currently at home at ACT's Marines' Memorial Theater.

Nathan's role as Jesus brought the young actor a Varicty Critics Poll Award. He has also appeared in productions of Macbird," "Summertree," and "As You Like It."

Also ACT announced this week that Jason Miller's "The Championship Season," which recently received the Tony Award as the best play of the year will be extended for two weeks after the company's regular season closes May 12. The play will have a total of 14 performances — May 14 through May 26.

The drama of a retired basketball coach who hosts a reunion with four of his former star athletes, joined ACT's repertory in February.

$6.8 Million Paid For Simon Paintings

NEW YORK (UPI) — An art auction which brought $6.8 million for 47 paintings from the collections of Los Angeles industrialist Norton Simon set records last night for four top French Impressionists.

Frantic bidding at the sale of Simon art at Sotheby Parke Bernet Galleries Inc. propelled works by Cezanne, Degas, Manet and Redon to new price heights. Cezanne and Manet still lifes received initial bids of $500,000 and were knocked down within minutes for $1.4 million each.

The sale topped the previous world auction record of $6.6 million set in London in 1970. Experts attending the sale attributed the highly competitive buying to collectors' distrust of the world monetary system and their sustained confidence in art as a blue chip investment.

Best evidence of the art world's enthusiasm was $160,000 paid for a small, sensuous Gericault drawing "The Kiss," executed in 1822. Even though the works by this French master are rare on the market, its sale estimate was only $50,000—$30,000 more than it last sold for in London in 1963.

Cezanne's "Vase of Tulips" (1891) went to an unidentified telephone bidder and Manet's "Still Life with Fish" (1864) was knocked down to Wildenstein and Co., New York dealers. Another Cezanne, "Still Life with Blue Cream Pitcher," brought $620,000 and set a world auction record for a watercolor.

The two other auction records were $780,000 for one of Degas' most popular ballet paintings, "Ballet Rehearsal," (1875), sold to Marlborough Galleries of New York, and $225,000 for Redon"s "Vase of Flowers" (1915), sold to London dealers Reed and Lefebre. Another top, but not record price, was $290,000 for Renoir's "Couple Reading" (1877), purchased by an unidentified American collector.

Simon explained his sale of the paintings—one of a series in recent years—as an "editing" of his three personal and foundation collections. He said it allowed him to make further purchases which will upgrade quality and strengthen certain historic areas in shows he loans to museums throughout the nation.

The Wednesday sale was the first of four days of auctions which will dispose of 345 19th and 20th century art works at Sotheby Parke Bernet. They are expected to bring a total of more than $10 million.

Sausalito Art Center Seeks Home

The Sausalito Art Center, told Monday it must vacate its quarters by July 15, is determined to stay alive.

Director Francis R. Coehlo said the center's board Tuesday night decided to begin seeking new quarters in Southern Marin, preferably Sausalito.

Because of a money shortage, the center needs inexpensive or rent-free quarters or use of land where a donated building could be placed, he said.

"The very survival of the art center is jeopardized" by the nearness of the deadline, said Coehlo. "It will be a miracle if we get moved in that short a time."

The center was told Monday by the state department of Health, Education and Wefare that it must vacate its quarters in Bayside School because the land must be used exclusively for educational purposes under a deed restriction.

Coehlo appealed to the community for assistance in the forced move.

Gable Paintings Up

Paintings by Fairfax artist Nina E. Gable will be exhibited this month at Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association in San Anselmo.

Famed Kenya Springs Will Be Topic Of Film

"Mzima Springs," a film on the springs in Kenya which form an oasis in the desert, will be shown at the May meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Ross School auditorium.

The society also has announced several field trips during the month which are open to the public.

Spring wildflowers and tidepools will be the subject of a field trip at 6:30 a.m., Saturday, starting at the Bear Valley headquarters of the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Tiburon Peninsula geology will be explored in a trip at 9:30 a.m. on May 20. Those interested should meet at Paradise and Westward drives.

The newly organized Marin Chapter of the California Native Plant Society will hold its first field trip May 12, beginning either at the Safeway parking lot in Mill Valley at 9 a.m. or at Rock Springs on Mount Tamalpais at 10 a.m.

Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley will conduct field trips under the society's auspices each Monday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Salvation Army Seeks Members

This year's Salvation Army Association membership drive will begin on May 14, the first day of national Salvation Army Week, according to Marion R. Kelley, head of the group's San Rafael service extension committee.

Subscription contributions to the Salvation Army — an organization dedicated to spirtual guidance and practical aid — may be mailed to P.O. Box 3465, San Francisco, she said.

Child Molesting Charge Dismissed

A charge of child molesting against Douglas Dwight Evans, 43, of Petaluma, has been dismissed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court after Evans' mentally retarded son was not available to testify.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon dismissed the case when he was told the district attorney's office had not been able to serve Mrs. Evans with a subpoena ordering her to bring the chid to court.

Evans had been accused of molesting the child.

Beer Guzzling Effort Barely Turns A Profit

BARROW-in-FURNESS, England (UPI) — Stan Heywood, 27, gulped down 40 pints of beer in 40 minutes to win a $25 bet at a local pub.

The bar charged him $15 for the beer.

And he learned that despite his tremendous capacity, the drinking bout failed to top the world's record for beer drinking.

The honor is held by a British construction worker who downed 65 pints of beer in 59 minutes, 31 seconds in 1971.

Contract Approved By REA Express

NEW YORK (UPI) — REA Express officials early today said tentative agreement had been reached on a new contract with the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC) and union representatives had canceled all strike orders.

The union representing 12,000 REA employes has been working without a contract for the past 20 months.

A QUEEN GETS REVENGE

The Delta Queen, piloted by Capt. Ernest Wagner, finally had its revenge yesterday after losing four straight times to the Belle of Louisville in their annual steamship race. The Delta Queen won this year's match easily as she crossed the finish line at Louisville, Ky., ahead of the Belle (in background). The two paddlewheelers are tied 5 and 5 in the competition. Caution Due On Septic Tank Law

Directors of Bolinas Community Public Utilities District decided last night to tread warily in the new legal field opened by their proposed ordinance regulating septic tanks and drainage projects within the district's boundaries.

On recommendation of Director Orville Schell, the board agreed unanimously to postpone action until it receives an opinion from the state attorney general's office on whether the ordinance will hold up in court, if adopted by the district alone.

George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy county counsel warned the board at last week's meeting that its legal right to regulate drainage affecting privately owned septic tanks, is not clearly stated in law. As an alternative approach, Silvestri had suggested a joint powers agreement with the county which he said would meet court tests, although it was possible county supervisors might not accept all provisions of the ordinance.

Shell reported he had discussed the district's problems with Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini. Giacomini, he said, favors the joint powers agreement until legal aspects are clarified, and believes the county would not overrule the district when receiving appeals of decisions on construction projects affecting drainage.

In order to meet a May 1 deadline imposed by the State Water Quality Control Board, board members agreed to send a copy of the ordinance to the state board with the information that they are awaiting the state attorney general's opinion before deciding on the joint powers agreement or the go-it-alone policy.

Schell said he had not been told that an opinion from the state attorney general's office was a "speedy procedure."

On another matter, directors heard a preliminary report on the results of a septic tank survey conducted by the consulting firm of Warshall and Farnsworth.

Of the 370 in the district, Peter Warshall reported 36 were initially found to be in failing condition. Of these, 24 were repaired by the owners so that 12 tanks, or 3.3 per cent of the total are now listed as failing.

Warshall said he defined failure as "anything where the effluent surfaced on the ground or returned to the toilet."

Included with the 358 septic tanks listed as "working well" he also showed 37 "marginal" tanks.

Among these, he said, were a tank covered by a porch which thus could not be inspected. Other examples cited were potential drainage problems, such as a driveway paved over leach field or a shed roof next to a leach field.

Warshall also said soil surveys on Bolinas mesa had revealed a geological ancient beach, proving an "excellent" sandy substructure, and another area with heavy clay which would be "very poor for septic tanks."

After some peppery complaints by Director Mark Ireland, on alleged ambiguities in the report, Chairman William E. Nyman appointed Schell, Ireland and himself, to "simplify" it before sending it to the regional quality control board.

A final report will be presented to the local district next Wednesday and will be forwarded to regional board.

The Bolinas Public Utilities Board Also:

ARROYO HONDA — Heard that grants for money to repair flood damage to Arroyo Honda Dam's access road and piping have been declared because bid specifications were not written to meet federal requirement. Ireland was authorized by unanimous vote to hire an engineer to rewrite the bid forms, a process which may require calling for new bids.

SEWERS — Authorized Kirker, Chapman and Associates, civil engineers who are designing new sewage facilities for the downtown area, to conduct eight additional borings for soil information at a cost of up to $4,350. Edward L. Spira said both his firm and William J. Oswald, sanitary engineer collaborating on the design needed to know the origin of seepage waters and whether there was a possibility of an "artesian" situation" in the stabilization ponds.

DRAINAGE — Agreed that district personnel and equipment could be used to make road cuts needed to solve drainage problems affecting private property. Materials and all other work beyond the cuts would be born by the private property owners.

RESTAURANT — By a 3-to-2 vote with Ireland and Marguerite Harris dissenting authorized Schell to "pursue" the legality of a proposed 40-seat restaurant with the regional water control board. "The regional had approved adding the restaurant to Smiley's bar, on condition that an existing laundromat and small apartment be dropped. Schell argued the regional board had previously prohibited additional sewage in Bolinas lagoon.

Loch Lomond Owners Elect

Lee H. Markrack of San Rafael was elected president of the Loch Lomond Homeowners Association last night for 1973-74.

Markrack, 31, a certified public accountant and controller for a San Francisco stock brokerage firm has been a member of the group for 18 months.

He and his wife, Penny, live at 76 Manderly Road with their three children, ages 4 through 6.

Reelected vice president was Richard W. Martin and reelected secretary was Norma Gudmundson. Stanley Hellman was voted the association's secretary.

Student Paid On Trustee Job

FAIRFAX, VA. (UPI) — The youngest member of the Fairfax County school board is 16 years old and he gets an annual salary of $3,000 and traveling expenses.

Brad Shipp, 16, of Reston, Va., was elected to the Board Wednesday at a convention of students. He was nominated by 100 high school student leaders.

He is the third student to serve on the board since the program began three years ago.

Petaluma Site Prezoned For Light Industry Use

The Petaluma Planning Commission has prezoned a 10-acre site north of the city for light industrial use, the first step toward annexation of the property to the city.

A spokesman for the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce said that negotiations are underway for a firm new in the area to build on the site, which will be known as Petaluma Industrial Park No. 2.

The property is located along the Northwestern Pacific Railroad extending northwesterly from Corona Road to the existing city limits at McDowell Road.

In other action Tuesday night, the planning commission turned down a request by William McCoy for rezoning three blocks along B Street between Webster and Spring Streets to allow duplexes. The area is zoned for single-family residential use, and the planning commission said the requested increase in density was not in keeping with the city's environmental design plan.

The commission also turned down a request by Lieb and Quaresema to rezone the block bounded by East D, Erwin, Jerrson and Lakeville streets from light industrial to heavy commercial use.

IT SHOULDN'T TAKE AN ACT OF CONGRESS TO MAKE CARS SAFE.

Volvo was committed to safety long before it became mandatory.

In 1956, for example, we installed padded dashboards: 12 years before the government insisted on them.

In 1959, Volvo became the first mass-produced car in the world with safety belts as standard equipment. Nine years later all cars had safety belts, inspired by Federal regulations.

The law says all cars must have two brake circuits. Volvos have two triangular circuits, each controlling three wheels. So if one circuit fails, you still have about 80% of your braking power.

Volvos also have many safety features not required by law:

Like front and rear ends which absorb the impact of collisions. Four-wheel disc brakes with a pressure-proportioning valve to reduce the chances of rear-wheel lock-up. Child-proof rear doors. Rear window defrosters.

Now who would you rather buy a car from?

A company that builds a safe car because someone else made them do it?

Or a company that builds a safe car because their conscience made them do it?

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Mission impossible! Do you know how each of today's birthday celebrities achieved their fame? Answer "yes" or "no."

2. Pete Seeger, folk singer, will be strumming "happy birthday" on his banjo today. He is 54. A Harvard University dropout, he assisted the Library of Congress in collecting songs sung by the common people and soon became an expert on old American ballads. Now a radio, TV and recording star, he is constantly on tour to keep the memories of these tunes alive. Was he accused of being a communist for writing, "If I Had a Hammer"? Yes or no.

3. William Inge, playwright, reaches 60 today. Born in Independent, Kans., he studied to become a teacher at the colleges there, instructing English and serving as newspaper drama critic for ten years. Then his plays were accepted by Broadway, turning into such hits that some became movies. Did he win both a Pulitzer Price (for "Picnic") and an Academy Award (for "Splendor in the Grass"): yes or no?

4. Golda Meir, Israel premier, is 75 today. The daughter of Russian immigrants, she was educated in Milwaukee public schools, going to Palestine 50 years ago to work for an independent Jewish state. Active with the labor party, she held various government posts before being named prime minister in 1969. Was her name originally Golda Myerson: yes or no?

ANSWERS: 1. Yes; 2. No; 3. Yes; 4. Yes.

May 3, 1973

Len Kristensen

COUNTS TRICKS

West led the jack of diamonds and South counted his tricks. He could see eight tricks in top cards. If each opponent had exactly three diamonds, South could take the first trick and run the first 10 tricks.

South knew, however, that the odds are against an exactly even break in any suit. The chances were that the diamonds would break 4-2 rather than 3-3.

If he took the first trick and tested the suit with two more top diamonds, the cat would be out of the bag. If the suit failed to break favorably, the player with the fourth diamond would surely shift7to spades; and then South would surely be defeated.

STRATAGEM

Instead of relying blindly on a favorable break, South tried a bold and deceptive stratagem. He played the low diamond from the dummy and the seven of diamonds from his own hand.

West saw that his jack of diamonds had held the first trick and noted his partner's five of diamonds. Since the three and deuce of diamonds were missing, West thought that his partner had begun an encouraging signal with the five.

ROMPS HOME

West therefore led another diamond and South romped home with the game. It's quite true that West could have shifted to spades at the second trick, but players don't like to lead away from kings when they have every reason to believe that they have already struck oil.

ANSWER: Pass.

You have 11 points in high cards and two points for the doubletons, enough for an optional opening bid. In this case you choose not to bid because your are overvaluing those major suit queens. Avoid opening on a borderline hand when you are counting full value for a doubleton queen.

Discotheques Sued By Youth

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Brad Sanders, 19, sued four discotheques Tuesday, charging sex discrimination because they admit women over age 18 but require men to be 21.

Sanders, a political science major at California State University Northridge, asked $15,000 punitive damages from each discotheque and $1 each actual damages. The $1 is to reimburse him for the cost of gasoline used up by driving to another place after being turned away from the defendants' doors, he said.

Students Get Say In Faculty Hiring

The policy — termed "a compromise" by trustee Francis Compton — was a much watered-down version of what students originally demanded, and what the faculty had vigorously opposed.

Unanimously endorsed by the five trustees present, the new policy permits two students on a six-member committee which will select new teachers after they've been screened by a professional committee.

However, if a majority of the full-time instructors in the department concerned so vote, the students won't be allowed to vote on the actual selection, they'll just serve on "an advisory basis only."

Originally the Academic Senate had opposed the inclusion of students in faculty selection committees. Originally, Associated Students at College of Marin had pressed for full voting rights.

"There's a marked difference between what the students wanted and this policy," said Mrs. Compton. "But all of the departments will in time realize the value of having students on the committee, if at the moment they don't ... to me that's a compromise. It's very difficult to change things. There should be an out for the faculty."

Donald K. Felt said it had been "a bad thing to have the faculty deeply depressed — they've spent most of their life here. I don't see where the students' position is significantly changed, they've got substantially what they were after."

Marin Community College District Board Also:

ETHNIC STUDIES — Approved creation of an ethnic studies department, at no extra cost to the district since courses will be relinquished from other departments, and directed a report on the department's progress be prepared by Jan. 1, 1975, to see if it's worth continuing; approved four new courses for the fall semester: Native American Current Affairs; Introduction to La Raza Myth and Folklore; La Raza Women; and Perspectives of Black Womanhood. Board president Theodore C. Wellman said the department should attract "more than ethnic groups or they'll simply be talking to themselves."

LEAVE — Approved a one year unpaid leave of absence for typist clerk Joan McClure from Aug. 1973 to Aug. 1974 so she can attend Sonoma State College full time.

FUNDING — Approved applying for federal, state or private funds for the campus children's center, college equipment and the Marin City adult basic education project, but indicated it didn't necessarily mean matching funds would be guaranteed in the district budget. The board did not act on a suggestion that it levy a 3 cent "Children Center Permissive Tax" in the 1973-74 budget to finance the $42,000 needed to keep the children's center going.

CERAMICS — Deferred until May 16 action on a petition from 107 art students seeking to stop laying off Dale Rousch, part-time ceramics instructor, on the return from sabbatical leave of full-time instructor Allan Widenhofer.

SALARIES — Approved a change in the teachers' salary schedule so that anyone already under contract by 1973 can advance on the step schedule without a master's degree.

VACATION — Approved administrators being allowed to accumulate up to 15 days vacation time and transfer it to the next year, adding it to their regular month's vacation.

BIDS — Approved going to bid for outdoor physical education facilities at College of Marin, with contracts to be awarded June 6 for a turfed field behind Kent School, basketball and volleyball courts, drainage work and improvements to the walk from the Stadium Way bridge to Kent School.

CONTRACTS — Awarded the bid for electrical and fire alarm work at College of Marin to the low bidder, Enterprise Electric Co., of San Francisco for $75,900; and for an automatic paper collator for the duplicating center to Collator Products Co., for $8,400.

ILLEGAL — Canceled a closed session to discuss Supt. John A. Grasham's contract, originally scheduled for Monday, on the advice of County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who had advised the board such a private meeting is illegal under the Brown Act.

MEETINGS — Adjourned to Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 101 of the science building to discuss the faculty petition on the need for Indian Valley Colleges; set a meeting for Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the same place, to study the certificated personnel salary proposal, followed by budget review at 8:30 p.m.; set a closed session for 7 p.m., May 16, in the same place, to discuss litigation over redevelopment projects by San Rafael and Corte Madera, followed by the regular board meeting at 8 p.m.

Last Ground Test Passed By Skylab

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Skylab space station has passed its last ground test and engineers today put the ship that will launch its first crew through the final hours of another countdown rehearsal.

The big orbiting laboratory is scheduled to be launched unmanned May 14. Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz will fly up to it the next day in a modified Apollo command craft.

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz were not taking part in today's test because of the hazards involved with a rocket loaded with 193,000 gallons of kerosene, liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen. They will rehearse their role in the countdown Friday after the fuel has been drained from their Saturn 1B rocket.

The three astronauts, to spend a record 28 days in orbit, passed preliminary physical examinations in Houston Wednesday and Dr. Lawrence Dietlein said they were "in high spirits in anticipation of their launch."

The pilots will fly to the Cape this evening after spending the morning in a Skylab trainer at the Johnson Space Center in Houston and undergoing medical and solar observatory briefings.

American Plane Is Fired Upon For Crossing Cong-Held Ground

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong said Wednesday night that Communist forces fired on an American reconnaissance plane because it flew over territory the Viet Cong controls near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

A Viet Cong statement broadcast by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency did not say if the gunfire hit the plane, only that Communist forces opened fire and "timely punished the marauding plane."

The broadcast heard in Saigon said the reconnaissance plane was flying about 3,000 feet high from Quang Tri city along Highway 1 to Gio Linh, along the DMZ.

"Worth noting," the statement said, "is the fact that the spotter plane was flying along the very air corridor reserved for International Commission of Control and Supervision planes by the Provisional Revolutionary Government."

Quoting a Hanoi-based Viet Cong spokesman, the statement added: "The above mentioned U.S. move constitutes an encroachment upon the air space of the areas controlled by the PRG."

It demanded a halt to such flights.

Earlier Wednesday, two ICCS helicopters were fired on after leaving Quang Tri city on a flight to Gio Linh.

The two choppers were en route to Gio Linh to pick up four ICCS investigators, four mechanics and four survivors of an April 7 incident near Khe Sanh in which one ICCS helicopter crashed, killing nine persons, and a second was damaged by ground fire.

In war action, Saigon command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said Communist troops attacked government positions along Highway 1 near the Binh Dinh border along the central coast.

In a four-hour battle there, he said, the Communists were driven off, leaving behind 20 dead. Two government soldiers died and five were wounded.

He also said cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today went up to 122, the highest total since April 15.

In political developments, a Saigon spokesman said a May Day peace proposal by Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh was neither new, concrete nor reasonable.

Government spokesman Bui Bao Truc said Minh's proposal "was not reasonable since it did not touch on the withdrawal of non-South Vietnamese—that is, North Vietnamese—troops from South Vietnam."

Minh, a leader of the coup that deposed the late president Ngo Dinh Diem, has been seeking the leadership of a new political force in South Vietnam.

Nader Calls For Nixon To Resign

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — President Nixon should resign because he will not be able to govern effectively because of the Watergate affair, Ralph Nader said Wednesday.

"President Nixon has not told the truth," Nader said. "I don't think he is going to be able to continue this kind of coverup and remain President."

Calling Watergate "the most serious political corruption in the history of the United States," Nader said, "I don't see anything more serious than the knowing, careful sabotage of the presidential election process that would call for a President's resignation."

WATERGATE NO MATCH

Grant's Scandals Topped All

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's problems with the Watergate case are very serious but so far do not match the scale of scandal and immorality that surrounded President Ulysses S. Grant 100 years ago.

In the Civil War hero's eight-year presidency, corruption charges tarred both of Grant's vice presidents, his personal White House secretary, his brother in law, a Cabinet member and his wife, the U.S. ambassador to England, the speaker of the House, a future President and government officials by the hundreds.

To top it off, Grant's Republican successor in the White House, Rutherford B. Hayes, won the presidency by a cynical political deal that took key electoral votes from his Democratic opponent, Samuel B. Tilden.

Credit Mobilier, the Whiskey Ring and Belknap were the names of scandals that brought out evidence of the theft of millions of dollars and naked bribery in the "gilded age" of a century ago.

Grant was a military genius and was a fine judge of horses and cigars, but not of people, and he refused to believe corruption surrounded him. He turned coldly hostile to the few reformers who brought devastating evidence against the corrupters.

Chief among them was Orville E. Babcock, a Civil War colonel of a West Point family, an intimate of the Grant family, whose finger was found by historians on almost every threat of wrong-doing during Grant's two terms.

The first major public scandal was the Credit Mobilier affair.

ULYSSES S. GRANT
No judge of people

Near the close of Grant's first term, the New York Sun published charges that Credit Mobilier, a construction firm set up to benefit builders of the Union Pacific, had authorized the secret sale of lucrative stock at cut-rate prices to members of Congress who "would produce most good for us."

On the list of those alleged on the take from Rep. Oates Ames, a Massachusetts shovel manufacturer and a Credit Mobilier director, were outgoing Vice President Schuyler Colfax, his second-term successor Henry Wilson, Speaker James G. Blaine, Congressman James A. Garfield who later became a President, and George S. Boutwell, later made treasury secretary by Grant.

On Feb. 27, 1873, five days before Grant was inaugurated for a second term, Ames and a New York Republican congressman, James Brooks, were censured by the House, 182 to 36, for their complicity. They escaped outright expulsion only because of parliamentary ploys by Blaine in the speaker's chair.

Even prior to this, Grant's brother-in-law, James F. Casey, had become nose-deep in corruption in the troop-enforced Reconstruction era operations of Louisiana after the President had named him collector of customs —a post that had produced charges of misdeeds in New York and other cities.

A House committee reported that in the 1872 election the administration had illegally used $32,000 of Secret Service funds to hire detectives to find evidence of false Democratic registrations in Grant's reelection campaign which he sat out at his cottage at Long Beach, N. J., without making a speech.

In London, Robert C. Schwenk, a onetime fellow general of Grant's, was the U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James. He taught his British hosts how to play draw poker. He also touted them on stock in the Emma gold mine which turned out worthless — but only after Schwenk had unloaded his shares at a good Yankee profit.

Yet these malfeasances paled to the innocence of a church bingo game when the story of the Whiskey Ring broke. At the center of this multimillion dollar scandal was the handsome, charming, unscrupulous Babcock, the President's personal secretary.

Basically the scheme involved false reporting of the number of barrels of whiskey produced by distillers and rectifiers in the Midwest, with the ring pocketing what should have been paid in federal taxes.

The swindle netted $1,200,000 in St. Louis alone in 1874 and similar rake-offs were going on in Milwaukee, Peoria, Chicago, Indianapolis and other cities. Cigar boxes filled with $1,000 bills and letters containing $500 payments were delivered to Washington.

John McDonald, a former Army general crony of Grant's, headed the ring in St. Louis as an internal revenue supervisor. Exposure came through the effort of Grant's second-term Treasury secretary, Benjamin H. Bristown, a Kentuckian with political ambitions but oldfashioned ideas of honesty.

Bristow set up a secret investigation. On May 10, 1874, seizures at 32 whiskey plants in the Midwest resulted in indictment of 360 distillers and government officials and the conviction of 110 of them.

Babcock first sought to use his Army commission to undergo court martial by friendly fellow officers

Grant remained unconvinced of his secretary's dishonesty and said he would go to St. Louis to testify personally as a character witness on Babcock's behalf. He was dissuaded from this but nevertheless went before the Chief Justice and swore out a deposition saying he never saw anything in his secretary's conduct that indicated involvement in the ring and he would have known had Babcock been guilty.

Babcock was acquitted. The government prosecutor in St. Louis was dismissed at Grant's bidding.

Grant's secretary of war, W. W. Belknap, and his wife played for smaller stakes but the conduct was possibly more sordid.

When he first came to Washington, his wife found his $8,000-a-year salary too meager to support her social climbing hopes and suggested to a New York contractor, Caleb P. Marsh, that he apply for the lucrative Indian trading post commission at Fort Sill.

When both Marsh and the incumbent, John S. Evans, sought the post, a deal was worked out. Evans would keep Fort Sill but would pay $12,000 a year to Marsh who in turn would give half to Mrs. Belknap.

Mrs. Belknap died shortly after receiving the first installment but her husband collected $20,000 during his stay in office.

A congressional investigating committee under the Democrats was on the verge of exposing the kickback racket but Belknap raced to the White House and submitted his resignation to Grant before the scandal broke.

At an impeachment trial in 1876, Belknap laid the blame on his dead wife and argued that since he had submitted his resignation, he was not subject to impeachment. He was acquitted by a Senate vote.

Near the close of his presidency, Grant was buoyed by a string of GOP election victories at the state level and told his supporters: "I think we have assurance the Republicans will control the government for four more years."

Art, Doll Exhibits

Acrylic paintings by Kentfield artist Barbara Pierce are on exhibit this month at the Corte Madera Regional Library. Also on exhibit is a case of dolls collected by Mrs. Benjamin Petrini of San Rafael.

Scout Show Scheduled For May 12

With the theme "Scouting on Display," more than 2,000 Scouts, Cubs and their leaders will present the annual Scout-O-Rama May 12 at Forest Meadows on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

Opening ceremonies will be at 12:30 p.m., led by the Marine Band from Washington, D.C.

More displays, projects and exhibits will be on view than at previous Scout-O-Ramas, according to William H. Sherwood, executive director of Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Games, Scout-made rides, model campsites, campfires and cooking will be featured.

Totem poles carved and decorated by Cub dens and patrol flags designed and made by various Scout patrols will be judged for awards.

Federal Grant Given To Gays

STANFORD (UPI) — The Gay People's Union at Stanford University Wednesday received a $3,713 grant from the U.S. Office of Education that will permit members of the homosexual group to attend drug counselor training program.

David Goldman, treasurer of the campus organization, said he believes it is the first direct government grant to a homosexual group.

He said the Gay People's Union, a voluntary campus group, applied directly to the Office of Education for the grant and bypassed the university.

Homosexual organizations have benefitted indirectly from government grants in the past.

Trial Is Ordered In Dog Dispute

A Marin Municipal Court judge has ruled there is enough evidence to try a 56-year-old Oregon man on a felony count of firing at a Corte Madera home during a dispute over a dog.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered Edgar Jack Storey of Gresham, Ore., to appear Wednesday in superior court.

Corte Madera police arrested Storey April 7 after he allegedly fired three shots through the front door of the 11 Birch Court home of Alexis Sill. He went to the home to retrieve a doberman pinscher dog, police said.

DATSUN GETS BEST MILEAGE IN U.S. TEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Environmental Protection Agency tests conducted on cars designed to meet the 1973 air pollution standards showed Tuesday that the Datsun gave the best mileage—nearly 29 miles to a gallon.

The Datsun 1200 used a 71-cubic-inch engine, weighed 2,000 pounds, and was equipped with a manual, four-speed transmission. Its mileage total per gallon was 28.7, EPA said.

The highest fuel consumption was turned in by the 4,000-pound Ferrari-Daytona. Its 268-cubic-inch engine produced 6.3 miles to the gallon, EPA said.

Among other low fuel consumers, General Motors' Chevrolet Vega got 21.5 miles to a gallon using a 140-cubic-inch engine in a 2,750-pound car and a manual, four-speed transmission. Ford's Pinto got 21.4 miles to the gallon using a 98-cubic-inch engine and a manual, four-speed transmission in a car weighing 2,500 pounds.

The gas mileage tests were part of the 1973 auto pollution tests conducted on all cars sold in the United States.

According to the EPA, the cars were operated on a device that simulated urban driving conditions.

GRACIE SALT fried fish 12 hours a day for 20 years, helping her husband, Haddon N. Salt of San Rafael, build a fish and chips business. She now uses that business sense as chairman of Assistance Guild of Marin's new thrift shop in San Rafael. As a volunteer she is aiding Marin County drug abuse programs. (Independent-Journal photo)

Business Is Now A Pleasure

"I fried fish for 20 years until I was rescued by Colonel Sanders," Gracie Salt said.

The wife of Haddon N. Salt, better known as H. Salt Exquire of fish and chips fame, is referring to the sale in 1969 of the fish and chips chain to Kentucky Fried Chicken.

The sale transformed the English-born Gracie Salt from a 12-hour-a-day, hard-working person into a lady of leaisure.

"I served 20 years behind the pans, and now my life is absolutely super," she said. "Money has not made a difference in my life, although I am no longer tied down by hours."

With time on her hands Grace Salt decided to join the Assistance Guild of Marin.

"I HAD NEVER belonged to a woman's club before. As soon as I joined, the group decided to open a thrift shop, and I said I would help," she said.

The help became nearly a full time endeavor and an opportunity for Mrs. Salt to use the years of business experience in a charitable venture, since the guild supports Marin County drug abuse programs. She chose a location for the shop near the San Rafael Canal. The area is heavily populated, parking is good and browsers are enticed from a coin laundry next door, she said.

She spends at least one day a week working at the shop, which is open Thursdays through Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

When not at the shop, where "there is always a job to do", Mrs. Salt is either traveling or learning something new.

When she was young, Mrs. Salt said, she made a promise to herself to learn something new every year.

It began in Skegness, England, where she met the bosses' son at the hotel where she worked as a receptionist during the summer. She married the son, Haddon Salt, and they continued to live in Skegness.

"There was nothing to do in Skegness, so I decided to take a course. The only thing available was a building and construction course, so I took it," she said.

OTHER YEARS she has learned to fly an airplane, ski, oil paint and currently she is learning Spanish. The Spanish will come in handy because the Salts plan to spend time in Mazatlan, where they are building a resort of five hotels and many condominiums along a three-and-a-half-mile beach front. Carefully planned in Mexican colonial, the resort will take 10 years to complete.

Mrs. Salt was born 43 years ago in Leicester, England. She was married in 1949, and in 1953 emigrated to Canada with her husband. On a return trip to England they met Mr. and Mrs. Lee Menges of San Rafael aboard the Queen Elizabeth. The couples corresponded in the intervening years and in 1964 the Salts decided to settle in San Rafael.

The rest of the story is legend, with the Salts opening up the first of many fish and chips shops in Sausalito in July of 1965. While Salt was opening new shops his wife was teaching franchisees how to fry fish and chips and operate a successful business. She has passed the advice on to members of the Assistance Guild.

"It takes self discipline to run a successful business. Some days you may not want to go to work, but you know customers are waiting and the hours are on the door." — J.L.

Author Wrote Book To Help Men Understand Feminists

By JOAN LISETOR

When Gene Marine wrote his book, "A Male Guide To Women's Liberation," it was with the hope that it would be read by male reporters and editors.

"They are not evil," Marine said. "They just don't understand the women's movement, and they want to trivialize it."

Marine, who lives in Berkeley but has an aversion to being called "a Berkeley writer," was in Marin to speak at a meeting of the Divorce Advisory Group, men and women who have had divorce adjustment counseling at the Marin Family Service Agency. In an interview prior to the talk Marine discussed the benefits men derive from the feminist movement.

In his 40s, Marine has been married three times, "if you count a brief youthful fling." His current wife is an instructor and doctoral candidate at the University of California at Berkeley and collaborated with him on his third book, which is on the subject of food additives. The guide is his fourth book. He has also written on ecology and the Black Panthers, all social issues, so not so different from the women's movement, he said.

GENE MARINE
Guide for men

MANY PERSONS going through divorce, especially those over 30, are facing real relationships between the sexes for the first time and have to think about stereotyped impressions, he said.

"In the book I have used male examples and deal with the male reader, not in terms of his sex life, but talking about his real or potential daughter rather than his lover," he said.

The book could be deeper, he admitted, and contains little original material.

"It is what women have said for years, but they have only said it to other women. I have presented it to men in an unthreatening way," he said.

His purpose is to get men over fears and out of stereotype images of themselves.

"We have to give up a lot of our self image in order to be free from being in a trapped role," he said. "Who wants to play the role of being macho all the time and sexually perfect whenever in the presence of a woman?"

NEW AND different kinds of friendships are happening as a result of the movement, he said, and he is seeing women in a different way.

"I used to be introduced to a man, 'This is Joe Blow,' and someone would nod toward his wife, 'm-m-m.' Now I talk to her, and find women have interesting things to say.

"The movement makes friendships between men different by taking the overriding fear of homosexuality away," he said.

Prior to the movement men's relationships and conversations centered around the so-called masculine culture — who's your favorite second baseman —and are now more open, he said.

The movement's major message is, "There is not something wrong with me, but something wrong has been done to me," Marine said, and it applies to both men and women.

While he believes the results of the women's movement have not even begun to be seen, he said he is surprised how much consciousness raising has already taken place.

THROUGHOUT THE country women of all ages have sophisticated insights into the movement, he said, and the movement has penetrated the culture to such a degree that the white male defense syndrome has emerged. He thinks the syndrome is false.

"There is no backlash. They said it's impossible for a white male to get a job, but white males already have all of the jobs. Every book written about the backlash has fallen on its face," he said.

Reactionary political groups and fundamentalist religions are fighting the movement because they are frightened by the rate of change, he said.

"They identify the movement with promiscuity and perhaps not wrongly — by their terms. They see (Hugh) Heffner's thing and the liberation of the sexes and equate them with the same moral content. They think women in the movement don't want to wear bras, so that's like the topless dancers," he said.

His own marriage he described as "about as liberated as you can get." Traditional marriage was failing before the movement, except with very traditional people, he said, but the movement has called everything into question.

"The housework thing is a 'male red herring,' and resisting at that level is easy. Or a man can do the housework once and say, 'Look at me I'm a feminist.' That's not it. What the book is saying is we must not only change the roles but look at why we have roles at all," he said.

Learning Theory Is Lecture Topic

A lecture on Jean Piaget's theories of learning by Libby Byers, will be the final program in the College of Marin's "Child Development" lectures on May 22 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

Mrs. Byers, an instructor in early childhood education at California State University, Sonoma, will show a film to accompany her lecture.

Parents-Teens Communication Course Is Set

A family communication course for parents and teenagers will open Monday, sponsored by the Family Service Agency of Marin.

The six session course will be held Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Family Service Agency office, 1005 A Street, San Rafael.

The course is designed to teach communication skills, not therapy, and to clarify relationships by communication.

Registration or information is available from the Family Service Agency, San Rafael.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Desperate Letters Horrifying When You Don't Know Outcome

RAP:

What letters worry you the most —I mean the ones that really drive you up the wall? — AVID READER

READER:

Our most chilling letters are what we call the time bombs: from people so hopelessly depressed or in such deep trouble that they might choose suicide if they don't get immediate close-in aid. These writers almost never give their names and addresses and we seldom know whether our "Personals" (including addresses of local counseling agencies) have helped or not.

Here's an example of a letter that continues to worry us. It was sent July 6, 1971, from San Antonio, Texas. We never heard from this girl again, though Heaven knows we tried! Perhaps, if she's better now, she'll recognize her 16-year-old self and let us know how things worked out for her.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 16-year-old girl who grew up too fast, who never had a chance to be a "carefree little girl," and who's got problems so big I tried to take my own life, but I couldn't even succeed at that.

Then came a series of psychiatric sessions that were also failures, because the tests told me what I already knew: I think too much and too seriously; I pay no attention to my needs, my wants and my welfare, and I hate to let my feelings show; I keep all of my emotions inside because "I'm not important."

Having my feelings of worthlessness confirmed has made me withdraw farther from myself and others. I'm completely alone! And I'm scared.

How do I learn to accept help? How do I stop feeling so dead? Someone, anyone — help me help myself. it's taken so long to extend my hands. . .don't fail me: I've been failed by others too much already.

I don't want to become a statistic: "16-year-old dead of suicide." I want to live, but it's so hard.

Please, I'm reaching: someone touch me. . .WITHDRAWN AND DYING

Please, "Withdrawn and Dying," (and other then-desperate, nameless people we've tried so hard to reach):

If life has righted itself —as life has a habit of doing —don't leave us hanging. Did you read our messages in your newspaper? Did you find close-in therapy? Tell us how it happened for you. Perhaps your story might help others who are reaching, but fear to make real contact. — HELEN AND SUE

TO READERS: Depressions are universal. There's scarcely a person in the world who hasn't thought, however fleetingly, "Wouldn't it be easier just not to wake up?"

But humans have amazing resilience. We emerge from even the most devastating depressions often on our own. We heal, and we can't quite understand how or why, anymore than we can fully understand what caused this inordinate despair in the first place.

If you remember that when you're down, the climb back will be a little easier. — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

Is it bad to use both sides of the paper in writing a personal letter? — TOLD OFF

DEAR T.O.:

Not unless the paper is "onion skin." — SUE

DEAR T.O.:

I like the P.S. on a recent letter: "Sorry I used both sides. . .but I like to save trees!" — HELEN

PARENT AND CHILD

Watching Plays Key Factor In Dialogue

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

It is not easy to listen to what children have to say. But it is extremely important that we adults learn how to do it.

Of course, children have to use many of the same words to mean different things. Their vocabularies are limited. But often what they want to say is just as complex as any message between cultured adults.

This means that listening to children requires watching as well as hearing. Children are masters at the art of what is called "body language." They often say more with their eyes and facial expressions than they do with their words. And if adults are not sensitive to the signals, they may miss vital messages.

It is important to help little children develop good vocabularies and speech patterns. This comes from practice and loving attention from teachers, parents, friends and relatives. Therefore, adults want to keep stretching children's vocabularies by using new words in a meaningful context.

BUT ONE-WAY communication isn't enough. Adults, especially parents and live-in relatives, need to become acute listeners. They need to offer young children the opportunity to tell stories, to think out solutions to problems, to try out new expressions and words, to share ideas and to give directions.

Relatives and friends who are frequent visitors, especially grandparents, can provide an extra amount of listening. This may make up for the "too busyness" of parents.

Children often parrot what it is they think adults want them to hear. This is a dangerous practice — especially rampant in formal classrooms and Sunday schools. It is dangerous because the nonlistening adult may assume that what the child is saying is what he believes or understands. And this is frequently not the case at all.

The child who repeats back what an adult has told him isn't usually thinking about what he is saying at all. Unfortunately many school exercises reinforce rather than expose this bad habit.

But the adult who is really listening and watching eye and expression signals, will be able to tell whether he is hearing something genuine. If he is sure he is getting "talk-talk" and not "thought-talk" he can ask carefully probing questions which help the young child to speak his own thoughts.

This intergeneration communication is a vital part of learning. It refreshes adults, and it broadens the good experiences of children.

BUT BEYOND the need to help children express their own and not another's thoughts is the special need to help them develop clear ways of expressing themselves. Children left to talk only with other children have little opportunity to build better vocabularies or to use complete sentences. Many resort to baby talk when addressing adults.

Stuttering and other faulty speech habits are often a result of children's having had no adult with whom to talk; no one to listen to them; no one to appreciate their message. Correction can come easily, when this condition is detected early, just by giving children ample opportunity to talk and share thoughts.

Opening Day Of Yachting Will Feature Annual Ferryboat Ride

Raccoon Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers will present its 10th annual ferryboat ride Sunday as part of the opening day of yachting season festivities.

Passengers will ride in and around the opening day boat parade.

Proceeds will benefit the hospital.

The ferryboat boarding is at 10 a.m. at the Windjammer Restaurant dock in Tiburon and departure is 10:30 a.m. sharp. Snacks and no-host cocktails will be served aboard. Return is at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained from chairmen Mmes. K. L. Rice Jr. and Donald McCune, both of Tiburon.

Assisting them are Mmes. James Hickey, food; Donald Furlong and Thomas Corn, name tags; John Hoffmire and Burton Stitt, decorations, and James Shepard, publicity.

"BUTTONS AND Bows" is the theme for the gala box luncheon and fashion show to be presented Saturday by the students and parents of Kent Junior High School at the school in Kentfield.

The seventh and eighth grade home economics students, directed by Mrs. Corinne Doty, will model clothes they have made.

Mrs. Richard Miller of Greenbrae is reservations chairman.

The Alto-Edna Maguire Parent-Teacher Association will give a Fair Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. on the school grounds at 80 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

Robert Shields, the mime from San Francisco's Union Square, will perform. Other entertainers will be the Tamalpais High School Pep Band, Lynn Allen, a tap dancer, and the Rag Doll Dancers, fourth grade girls Sandra Bodovitz, Laurie Jamieson, Dawn Kaneko and Allison Mark.

There will be an international food booth, a bake sale, and sales of snack foods, games of skill, and booths where balloons, toys, plants, and arts and crafts will be displayed.

A Mothers Day Booth will be stocked with gift items for mothers and grandmothers.

Mrs. William Jamieson and Mrs. J. W. Hopkins are chairmen.

BETHEL 183, International Order of Job's Daughters, Novato Parents Club is having a public art exhibit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Lakos in Novato Sunday, from noon until 5 p.m. Artist Irma Wallem of Sonoma will show her work.

The proceeds will go towards a bus fund for the Bethel girls' convention trip to Long Beach in June.

MARIN MEMBERS of Zonta International will attend the spring seminar Sunday of Zonta at the San Ramon Country Club in San Ramon.

They will join members of clubs from Berkeley, Monterey, Palo Alto, Redwood City, Santa Rosa, San Francisco and Mt. Diablo area for the program. Among the featured speakers will be Marian Ash of Sacramento, women's right legislative advocate and editor of Skirting the Capitol, a women's rights legislation newsletter.

THE SIR Francis Drake High School International Association will hold its annual international dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday at the Drake student center in San Anselmo.

Foods from various parts of the world will be featured and student musicians and belly dancers will entertain.

Proceeds from the event will help send Drake students to foreign countries. Tickets for the dinner will be available at the door.

MARIN CHAPTER of Gold Star Mothers will be honored at a brunch Sunday by San Anselmo Unit 179, American Legion Auxiliary. The brunch will be held at Peacock Gap Country Club at 11 a.m.

The annual event is headed by Mrs. Jean Lestanguet, who is also reservations chairman for the public brunch.

A MODERN dance workshop will be held at Fairfax Pavilion tonight, tomorrow and Saturday morning, taught by Patti Newton Walsh. Hours for the evening classes are 5:30 to 7 p.m., and Saturday the class will begin at 10:30 a.m. The classes are sponsred by the Fairfaax 3 Recreation Department.

TWO SAN Rafael sisters are competing in the homecoming queen contest at Armstrong College in Berkeley. Sandra and Yvonne Klang are looking forward to the judging May 8.

They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klang of San Rafael. Sandra is sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council, and Yvonne is the nominee of the Minor Clubs.

A GRADUATION hoedown will be held by the Rustlers Square Dance Club of Santa Rosa Saturday at the Monroe Clubhouse in Santa Rosa. Vern Churchill will be the caller for the 8:30 p.m. dance.

Tattoo Artist To Be Guest On Radio Show

Tattoo artist Lyle Tuttle says tattooing has touched the establishment and will discuss it with Jorie Parr on "Jorie Talks" Tuesday at 9 a.m. on KTIM.

Also on the show will be Linda O'Neil, who teaches school in Bolinas, and has been tattooed by Tuttle.

Following "Jorie Talks" at 9:30 a.m. Diane MacMillan will discuss aphrodisiac cookery on "Kitchen Time In Marin."

Carol Neumeier Is Named As Distinguished Alumnus

Carol Oldham Neumeier of San Anselmo will receive the 1973 Distinguished Alumnus Award in education from Wake Forest University at ceremonies Saturday night in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Mrs. Neumeier is a guidance counselor at Redwood High School, and completing her 20th year as an educator. She has taught on elementary, secondary and college levels and taught English on a Fulbright grant in Bangkok, Thailand.

She coached championship debate teams at San Bernardino High School and has taught at Wake Forest and George Washington High School in San Francisco.

Mrs. Neumeier came to Marin as an eighth grade teacher at Ross Grammar School and became an English teacher at Redwood in 1960. She also taught journalism the first few years, and her students produced four all American Redwood Bark student newspapers. In 1965 she became a fulltime counselor, and in 1971 she co-founded Women on the Move, which Gloria Steinem has called "the most effective organization of its kind in the nation." The group of students, faculty and community members seek to counsel girls for their lifespan and acquaint them with a variety of careers.

Mrs. Neumeier is also president of the Redwood Child Development Center, Inc., which is seeking funding from the state to place a model child care center for infants at Redwood as a part of an integrated curriculum. She also was instrumental in organizing the Tamalpais District Women's Task Force.

Mrs. Neumeier was graduated from Wake Forest summa cum laude in 1951 and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortarboard.

She received the master's degree from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., and studied counseling at the University of California and California State University, San Francisco.

Mrs. Neumeier will fly to North Carolina to participate in the three-day awards event, at which five men graduates will also receive alumnus awards.

CAROL OLDHAM NEUMEIER
Distinguished alumna

Accompanying her at the ceremonies will be her sister, Angelette O. Yarborough, a Sanford, N.C., teacher; and her brother, Jerald K. Oldham of Greensboro, N.C.

Mrs. Neumeier has three children, Lisa, 22, a stepdaughter; Edward, 15, a sophomore at Sir Francis Drake High School; and Shelley, 7, who attends Brookside School.

AUDREA RANDALL
Engagement news

Engagement Of Andrea Randall Told

C/Msgt. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Randall are announcing the engagement of their daughter Audrea Ruth Randall to Robert Wayne Graham, all of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Audrea is the sister of Kenneth Randall and Hamilton and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Randall of Mountain Home, Ark., Mrs. John Brunsell and Lenard Rea of Odessa, Tex. She is attending Novato High School.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Graham of Las Vegas, Nev., and the brother of Ron and John Graham and Mrs. David Coleman. He was graduated from high school in Las Vegas and is serving with the Air Force at Hamilton.

The couple plan to be married on Aug. 4.

Noted Speakers Arranged For A.M. Lecture Series

The Volunteer Bureau of Sonoma County will sponsor the next season of the A.M. lecture series in Marin.

The series, six Friday morning lectures scheduled next October through April, 1974, will be held at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael.

Among the prominent speakers already scheduled are Celeste Holm, actress and comedienne; Vincent Price, actor and authority on art collecting; and Neil Sheehan, journalist.

Chairman of the event for the Sonoma volunteer bureau is Mrs. George Firestone. Committee members are Mmes. Alex Thiele, Eugene La Cornu, Melvin Stephens and Edward Dermott.

The first years of A.M were sponsored by the Family Service League of Marin and the past year was unsponsored. Wilma Lewis of Sacramento is coordinator of the A.M. series.

Mayor Vows Mother's Care

So a majority of the village's 110 registered voters made Mrs. Denison their mayor.

She is committed to creating more interest in local government and says she thinks a woman "is better able to get people involved in community programs. I'm a citizen concerned with good government."

Mayor Denison didn't get into politics for monetary gain, she says. She sure didn't. The job pays $200 a year.

Marin History Books Discussed

By BETTY FROST

"A lot of things happened in Marin County between 1880 and 1965," Mrs. Virginia Keating told the 45 women attending a luncheon given by the Mill Valley Community Church Club yesterday in the church social hall.

A volume, long out of print, published in 1880, was for many years the only source of Marin County history, the former Marin County librarian explained. A benefactor financed the reprinting of this rare book so it is now more widely available. In 1965 the Marin County Historical Society adopted a resolution to encourage historians to produce books about local subjects.

Mrs. Keating discussed some of the books on Marin county history and the people who wrote them for the church women.

Mrs. Richard Keating, a resident of Marinwood, was Marin County librarian for 38 years, retiring in December, 1968. Not quite a native of Marin, she was born in San Francisco, but moved to San Anselmo when she was two years old. She is the incoming president of the Marin County Humane Society Auxiliary and a director of the Marin County Historical Society.

During her years as county librarian, Mrs. Keating introduced the bookmobile system to serve the scattered communities of Marin. She also started the California Historical room at the county library.

"For years I had felt such a lack of information about Marin County history," she said. "I felt so sorry for the students who have such limited resources from which to do research. I started collecting things in folders and scrapbooks.

"When someone was doing a local history study, I would beg for an extra copy for the Marin history shelf," she said.

Now she notes with pleasure that there is a junior historical society formed by students at Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake High Schools, with well-prepared original papers, a prerequisite for admission.

She noted a breakthrough in 1961 with the publication by the Independent-Journal of "A Century of Service" by the late Florence Donnelly, I-J women's editor and historian.

The first book published under the auspices of the Marin County Historical Society was "Marin Poeple", contributed by Dr. Leo Stanley. The collection of biographies will soon be followed by a second volume now at the printers.

"Early Marin," written by Jack Mason and Helen Van Cleave Park shed more light on the development of the county, and followed Jack Mason's first book on Marin's past, "Point Reyes, the Solemn Land."

The plight of the Indians after the secularization of the missions was a sad chapter, Mrs. Keating said. The Indians at Mission San Rafael were sent to Nicasio, where the kindly administrator, pioneer Don Timoteo Murphy, was soon replaced by a harsher man. Ravished by disease and brutality and deprived of their own social structure, the Indians were almost all gone by 1880.

Others the retired librarian credited with recent works contributing to knowledge of the past are Jean Montgomery of Mill Valley, Louise Teather of Tiburon, the late A. Bray Dickson and the Junior League of San Francisco for including a Marin chapter in their collection about Bay Area landmarks, "Here Today."

Scout Cookie Champs Named

The troop's 17 members averaged 71 boxes sold by each girl. Their record made them the highest sales achievers for a junior troop in the Richardson Bay Girl Scout Association. Their salesmanship won the troop the weekend use of a scout campsite and a cash award of $120.70 for the troop's own projects.

Vows Said By Couple On Saturday

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Wilson of Mill Valley.

Harry S. North Jr. of Corte Madera was best man for his son. The ushers were Patrick Connolly and Michael Connolly of San Rafael, Harry S. North III and Mason M. North, both of Corte Madera and brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride, now employed by J. C. Penney Co. in Corte Madera, is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, attended the College of Marin and will enroll at California State University, San Francisco.

She is the sister of Mrs. J. Barclay Brown of Casper, Wyo., and Mrs. Michael H. Hull of Long Beach.

Marc is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. North Jr. of Corte Madera. A graduate of Redwood High School and College of Marin he is attending CSU. San Francisco and is employed by Montgomery Ward in Corte Madera.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Mason of Susanville are his grandparents.

Rare Paintings To Be Displayed

Mrs. Philip McCoy of Kentfield is vice chairman of a special committee for the opening of a new exhibition at the Center of Asian Art and Culture. The exhibit will open July 10 and will feature 86 rare Indian paintings.

The center is located at the M. H. DeYoung Museum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Mrs. Allen E. Vickers Heads Alumnae Group

Deanna Zane Vickers has been a member of the alumnae group for two years and has held the office of treasurer.

The purpose of the local alumnae is to foster friendships among the members, to assist Northern California collegiate chapters and to participate in the scholarship programs for women at the national and Marin County level, as well as aid to university libraries throughout the country.

The annual fund-raising event, a wine tasting party, benefits a scholarship fund for a Marin County girl graduating from a local high school. The scholarship rotates among the high schools in Marin County. Meetings and programs with speakers, luncheons, monthly bridge and special events are planned.

Any alumna member of Delta Delta Delta, a national Panhellenic fraternity, is eligible for membership.

"Dee" Vickers is also a member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

MRS. ALLEN E. VICKERS
Heads alumnae chapter

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Vickers attended the University of California at Santa Barbara and was graduated from the University of Oregon with a bachelor of arts degree in art history.

She has lived in Marin County for nine years. Her husband is the manager of the internal audit department for Citizens Savings and Loan Co. They have three sons, Michael, 4, Neil, 2, and Brian, 1.

The new president's hobbies are furniture refinishing and sewing.

The new slate of officers will be installed at a luncheon at the Pathfinders Tea Room at the Marin Art and Garden Center on May 22. Other incoming officers are Mmes Richard E. Ogle, Tiburon, vice president; Ronald K. Lamson, San Rafael, secretary; and Jay Shinohara, Novato, treasurer.

Guests Listed For Radio Show

Guests tomorrow at 9 a.m. on "What's New In Marin" on KTIM will be Orrin Moon of Electronics Security Products and Leona Norman, director of the Marin Civic Ballet, according to the show' host, Jean Fitzgerald.

Moon will discuss the current interest and trends toward electronic security systems in businesses and homes. Miss Norman will talk about the Pacific Regional Ballet Associ dance festival to be held May 10 through 13 in San Rafael.

NCO Wives Pick New President

Other officers elected are Mmes. Robert Rhorer, vice president; Walter Wade, recording secretary; Edwin Dorminey, corresponding secretary; Gerald Cameron, treasurer; John Engs, assistant treasurer, John Ward, parliamentarian.

Committee chairmen are Mmes. Mendel Rea, commissary, px and youth; George Parker, games; Robert Hennessey, entertainment; Charles Withrop, hospitality and welcome; Carlos Luna, hostess; Robert Van Der Schaaf, nursery; Frank Herrerra, hospitality and welfare; Joseph Curmen, thrift shop; Bruce Bobbitt, telephone; and Elwood Jackson, ways and means.

Nixon Economics Aids Auto Firms

DETROIT (UPI) — Nixon economics will add 600,000 cars to Detroit's sales record this year—$1.38 billion that would have gone to foreign car makers.

The Nixon administration economic program has seemed almost tailored to the U.S. auto industry. It eliminated the 7 per cent excise tax on new cars and forced import prices high enough to push Americans to U.S.-built subcompacts.

Before Phase I began in August of 1971, automotive analysts were predicting that imports—with an "unnatural price advantage"—would hold 20 per cent of the U.S. market by the end of 1973. Current indications are that they will be lucky to match last year's 14.6 per cent of industry sales.

A 5 per cent difference, says a "Big Three" analyst, means 600,000 cars a year at an average retail price of $2,300. That amounts to $1,380,000,000 to Detroit.

Nine years ago, Japanese automakers sent 17,000 autos into the United States. By mid1971, Japanese cars were selling at 400,000 a year — a five-year increase of 1,800 per cent. Detroit claims this occurred because of inequities in currency exchange rates.

"The Japanese took a look at the price advantage imports held in the 1960s and said to themselves, we have to get into the U.S. market. And they landed with full force," said John B. Naughton, vice president of the sales group at Ford.

"In past years, a great part of the mystique of foreign cars in America was directly related to their low price," he said. "Price has always been an important part of any marketing equation.

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford, was even more explicit in his 1972 year-end statement. A new monetary system designed to keep exchange rates in better balance "will prevent the kind of problem that developed in recent years when Japan and Germany gained an unreasonable competitive advantage over American industry because of the substantial underevaluation of their currencies relative to the dollar," Ford said. He has fought against the protectionist Hartke-Burke bill which would establish mandatory quotas on imports.

When Ford introduced its import-fighting Pinto in late 1970 and General Motors the Chevrolet Vega, both still carried higher price tags than the popular imports—the Volkswagen Beetle and Toyota 1.2 liter two-door sedan. Those differences have since been erased by the mid-1971 import surcharge and two subsequent dollar devaluations.

At the beginning of the 1971 model year, Pinto sold for $1,919 and Vega at $2,069. VW was delivering its Beetle at $1,780, Toyota was coming in at $1,798 and Datsun at $1,736.

The price comparisons do not include charges for preparation and conditioning which vary with each manufacturer.

Pinto has increased $102 since then while Vega has actually dropped $2 for its basic model. On the other hand, VW has gone up $419—a 23.5 per cent increase—while Toyota has increased its prices by $350 and Datsun $459.

Considering the following factors, according to the automotive analyst, imports held an unnatural price advantage:

—There existed a general product standoff since domestic cars had more power and interior room while the small imports had additional features as standard equipment.

—The importers faced the obvious costs of intercontinental shipment and U.S. entry charges—about $100 per vehicle from Europe and $200 from Japan.

—There were no completely overriding advantages in plant and equipment efficiencies favoring one company or country.

—Lower overseas labor costs benefited the imports, but exchange rates in the 1960s and early 1970s magnified these cost differentials.

—Domestics should have an advantage because of established distribution systems and lower per-unit advertising costs.

With relatively equal product content and overall efficiencies, it would be reasonable to expect imports to be priced somewhat higher than comparable domestics if only the shipment and entry costs were considered. However, the analyst said, even after the first devaluation, exchange inequities still existed, allowing comparable imports to be priced no higher than domestic makes.

What's the outlook then for the imports? Can their share of the market grow as rapidly?

The Japanese don't think so. Because of the currency changes and diplomatic pressures, both Toyota and Nissan, maker of the Datsun, have scaled down their export targets for this year from about 800,000 units each to 700,000.

Much of the production that was scheduled for overseas markets will be absorbed at home by the Japanese who bought 4.4 million cars last year and are expected to purchase 5.5 million cars this year. Total new car sales in the United States this year should approach 12 million, including 1.6 million imports.

"We expect the domestic makes to be even more competitive as the effects of the recent dollar devaluation come into greater play," explained Naughton. "When small imports occupied a unique price position, they dominated the market. As soon as we were able to meet them in a price market, we outsold them."

Another factor which will help keep import sales up is the sheer growth of the U.S. new car market. There are 7.5 million cars scrapped each year and that should increase to 8.5 million by 1975, leaving room for both domestic and foreign makes.

Another is the imports' heavy involvement in the small-car market which, in all probability, will continue to grow. The imports will benefit from the cushioning effect of this segment growth.

However, imports, once the dominant factor in the smallcar market with about 60 per cent of all small car sales in the late 1960's, now account for about 40 per cent of that market.

Despite their protestations of a profit squeeze caused by inflation and price controls, Detroit's auto executives have benefited from Nixon economics. Their sales reports have shown that.

SAN ANSELMO CLEAN UP IS PLANNED

Dozens of debris boxes will be stationed at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Red Hill Avenue, offering residents a chance to dispose of tree limbs, rusty bicycles, yard trimmings or other garbage.

The event — billed as the "San Anselmo Clean Up" — is sponsored by the city, the San Anselmo Lions Club, the San Anselmo Ecology Committee, the Boy Scouts and Survival Inc. Trash will be welcomed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

"Anything citizens can get to the Hub, we'll haul away," said Ranny Cockburn, Lion's Club secretary.

PUC Refuses Rehearing On Airline Purchase

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Public Utilities Commission today denied requests to reconsider its decision approving Pacific Southwest Airlines' acquisition of Air California.

The vote was 3-2 in turning down the petitions filed by Hughes Air West, Western Air Lines and the Port of Oakland.

The PUC had approved PSA's acquisition of 81 per cent of the controlling interest of Air California on Feb. 23. A Justice Department antitrust suit against the merger is pending in Los Angeles Federal Court.

President Vernon Sturgeon and commissioners William Symons Jr. and Thomas Moran said they believed "a good cause for rehearing has not been shown." Commissioners J. P. Vukasin and David Holmes dissented.

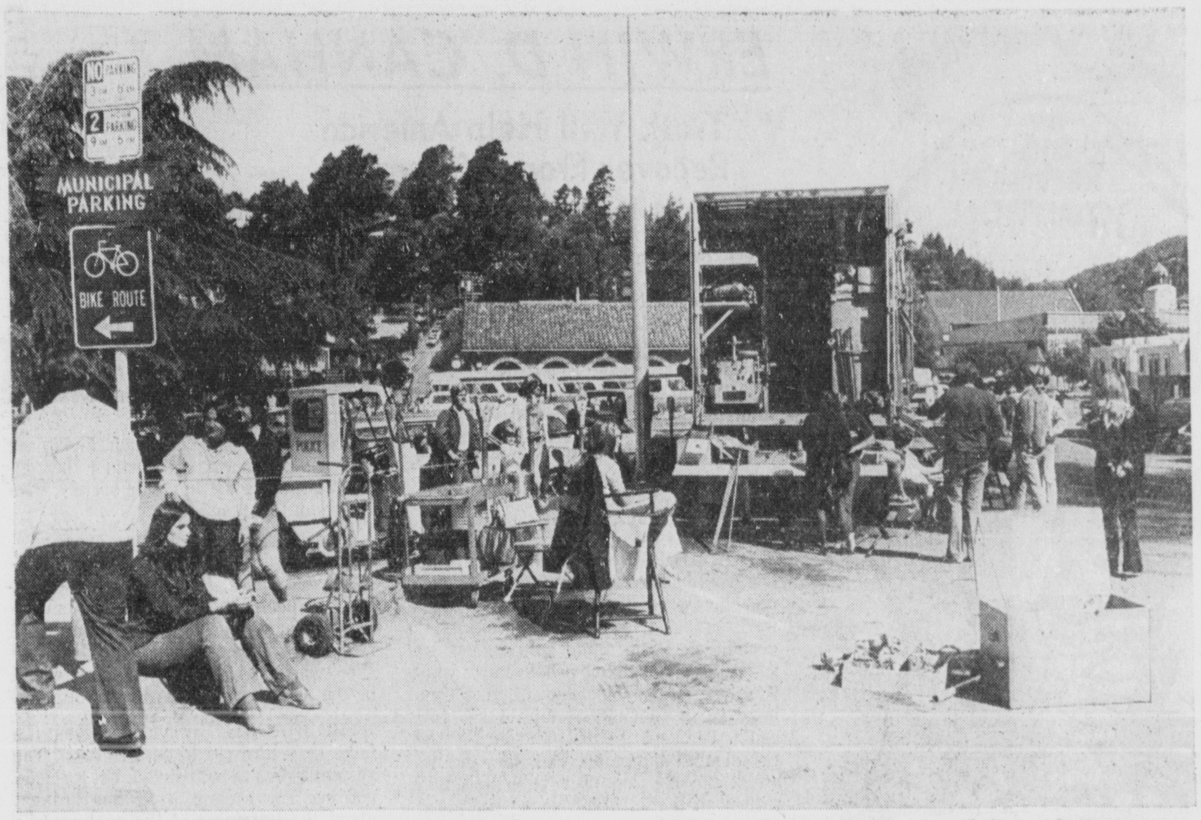
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1973 21



CAMERA CLUTTER — A van that's a studio, paraphernalia and people are strewn about the vicinity of Mill Valley's bus depot, where part of a television film is being taken. At this moment yesterday, the lesser actors and standins were doing what occupies much movie-making time: waiting for the star to complete one segment so the next can be shot.

TV FILM CREW IN MARIN

Name Of The Game: Patience

By GEORGE NEVIN

As passersby gawked and policemen shivered, the cast and crew of "Lisa, Bright and Dark" waited yesterday.

There's a lot of waiting while a film is being made. Extras and production men wait. Script girls and technicians kill time. Even the stars sometimes stand around and do nothing.

Drinking coffee to ward off the early morning chill, they waited yesterday while Kay Lenz and Larry Casey shot a scene in a car somewhere on the streets of Mill Valley for the 90-minute film slated for broadcast Nov. 29 on the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" on NBC.

It was the 13th day of shooting in Marin for the crew. They were doing on-location work in Mill Valley after filming interiors at homes in Kentfield and Tiburon and other scenes in Ross and at the College of Marin.

"Everybody has a job to do but they can't all do it at once," said John Neufeld, who wrote the book on which the film is based.

With the air of someone who has done it many times, Neufeld summarized the story: "A teen-age girl is having a mental breakdown and has difficulty finding help. Her parents are unable or unwilling to recognize the problem, although her friends do."

Elsewhere on the location in the parking lot near the Mill Valley bus depot, two policemen kept traffic moving, extras and stand-ins huddled around a coffee urn and assistants of all kinds milled about without apparent purpose. Only one man was busy; he swept cigarette butts from the pavement.

"And that guy makes $65 a day," said a man dressed in a loud shirt and competing tie. He wore sunglasses.

Adair Lara of Fairfax said she was in charge of recruiting the extras for the film, including 70 at the College of Marin Tuesday for a scene that was supposed to be at a high school.

"Some of the guys had to cut their moustaches because Hallmark likes them slightly more clean-cut than the norm. Word just hasn't filtered down to the sponsors yet."

Nearby, Valerie Shore, 18, of San Anselmo, stood on a curb. She is the stand-in for Kay Lenz, which means she replaces Miss Lenz while scenes are set up, cameras focused and lights positioned.

"Of all the people I've ever worked with in movie trips, Kay is the sweetest," she said. "We've become great friends. She's not like an actress at all. She's just a great person."

More waiting, "I'm gonna get varicose veins from all this," said Miss Shore to a friend.

Finally, a late-model car laden with cameras and sound and light equipment pulled into the lot. In the front seat were Miss Lenz and Casey. In the back, Director Jeannot Szwarc crouched down, out of sight of the cameras.

"Needs some air in the tires," someone said, and the car pulled up to a huge semi-trailer truck which is a mobile studio. An air hose snaked out of the truck and someone filled the tires. then the car pulled out again for more shooting.

Soon the car returned, Miss Lenz stepped out and Miss Shore sat in the front seat while the cameras were removed from side brackets and placed on the hood.

Everybody had been saying Miss Lenz is easy to work with, unlike some young actresses. "I try to be nice to people and then I find they're nice to me. It makes working conditions so much better when people get along," said the brown-haired, brown-eyed actress.

It's easy, she agreed, for an actress to get a swelled head "with people always dabbing your forehead and making a fuss, but I try not to let it affect me."

As though confirming what others had been saying, Miss Lenz took a final puff of her cigarette, stepped on the butt and placed it in her purse. No thoughtless litterbug, she.

Today is the last day of shooting, she said, "and I'm sad. But it seems like I've been away from home (Los Angeles) for a long time and I can't wait to get back to my dogs and horses."

KAY LENZ
"I try to be nice to people and then I find they're nice to me. It makes working conditions so much better."

Miss Lenz's idea of a good time is going for a ride through Griffith Park, trailed by Sadie, her favorite dog.

"Lisa" is her fifth big role. She appeared in an "Ironsides" episode and impressed critics in "The Weekend Nun," also directed by Szwarc.

"Movies are so much more fun than television because many of the people you meet remain your friends," she said. "With TV, things are on such a tight schedule that there's no time for making friends."

She made a face as a photographer stepped up to take her picture. "I don't like to have my picture taken with a still camera," she explained. "Movie cameras are different. I'm usually not conscious of them because I'm concentrating on my part."

She admitted to being nervous during interviews for parts but said, "I can make it work to my advantage." Apparently that was the case with her selection for "Lisa." She was chosen over 150 other actresses.

Appearing as Lisa's parents in the film are John Forsythe and Ann Baxter, although neither was on location yesterday morning. The big-name stars, someone explained, are spared as much waiting as possible.

Teachers Eye Strike In Novato

Novato school teachers were to assemble en masse at Sinaloa High School this afternoon on the heels of a salary negotiating session, perhaps to agree on a strike if dissatisfied with progress in the negotiations.

Loren Gammon, field representative of the California Teachers Association, in announcing the gathering to take place at 4 p.m., said the teachers "are very upset" as a result of a proposal by Ronald D. Schenck, president of the Novato Unified School District board that any wage increase be contingent on additional money coming to the district.

The teachers, who have not had a raise in three years, want a 21.2 per cent raise and have picketed schools and district board meetings in recent weeks.

The board previously made a counter-proposal of a 4.2 per cent raise.

Jack Musio, president of the Novato Teachers Association said the progress in negotiations will be a factor in determining whether teachers take a strike vote.

The nonteaching employees who are members of the California School Employees Association won't strike or sanction a strike even if teachers do, according to Beverly Alberigi, president of the Novato chapter. She estimated the chapter has 150 members, which she said is the majority of nonteaching employees.

"The reason for this policy of our association is that the education code forbids strikes and if we expect the school district to follow the law to the letter, so should the employees."

Gammon said teachers have been frustrated because until recently it appeared that money would be available for raises and then with the cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base "the money disappeared."

The district which serves pupils in the base faces a budget deficit of $1,300,000 for the next school year, according to Schenck.

Three Bills Introduced By Bagley

Three bills were introduced in the Assembly yesterday to facilitate sale of Marin flood control bonds, to shift to convicted persons the cost of proving them under the influence of drugs or liquor and to foster development of low and moderate cost housing.

The bills were introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, at the request of the county counsel's office and Marin officials.

SB 2142 increases from 5 to 7 per cent the maximum interest the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District may offer on bonds issued by it.

SB 2140 requires that in order to receive probation after being convicted of acting under the influence of drugs, narcotics or liquor, a person must pay the cost of tests and expert testimony involved in the case.

SB 2144 allows city and county governments to adopt regulations to encourage inclusion of low and moderate cost housing in projects whose developers agree to do so through binding agreements restricting sale, resale and rental of such housing. Allowing more intense coverage of land or additional units in developments which include such housing has been an increasing practice of Marin planning commissions and city councils.

College Of Marin Schedules Film

The film "Ship of Fools" will be shown at the College of Marin on May 10 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

The film adaptation of Katherine Anne Porter's novel presents a study of the world in microcosm as a ship traveling from Mexico to Germany carries passengers representing many classes and points of view.

One Third Of County Land In Open Space

Nearly one third of Marin County's entire land area has been dedicated to use for recreation, parks, or open space, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

A report issued by the bureau this week to its members shows that of the county's 332,928 acres, 103,289, or 32.2 per cent are owned by governmental agencies and so used.

The federal government has, or is acquiring, 78,546 acres; the State of California, 3,687; Marin County, 1,933; Marin Municipal Water District, 18,100, and the cities in Marin, a total of 1,023.

The breakdown of ownership is:

Park Bond Issue Asked In Petaluma

Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commissioners last night agreed they want a $1.5-million bond election next fall to pay for development of Luchesi Park.

The commission gave development of the park as a major community center top priority among park projects after a hearing aimed at gaining public sentiment, according to recreation director James R. Raymond.

He said many of the persons at the meeting were especially interested in seeing tennis courts and lighted softball fields for adult leagues included in the project.

Planned for the park, which now has only playing fields, are tennis courts, lighted fields, a lagoon, picnic areas, play areas, a senior citizens' center and a major community center.

The commission plans to ask the city council to appropriate money for the bond election, said Raymond, as the first step toward the park development. In the meantime, Raymond said commissioners want to hear views of residents in letters.

In other action, the commission agreed to ask the city council to begin negotiations with the Petaluma School District for joint use of the property behind Kenilworth Junior High School.

The site is sought for a little league field, Raymond said, because the present field will be lost when Washington Street is widened. Raymond said the Little League Association plans to donate materials and labor toward the new field.

$250,000 Recreational Plans Are Under Study

A proposal to build a swimming pool, tennis courts and a ball field at Eastwood Park in Tamalpais Valley at a cost of up to $250,000 will be studied by the Tamalpais Parks and Recreation Commission.

Member Mary E. Fesler said the commission will look at the suggestion by an ad hoc committee and make a recommendation to the Tamalpais Community Services District before that group's June 12 meeting.

The citizens committee estimated the pool would cost $100,000, three tennis courts $30,000 and the ball field between $30,000 and $50,000. Architect fees, site preparation and a utility building would increase the cost to between $200,000 and $250,000, Mrs. Fesler said the committee estimated.

"We're strapped for funds because of SB 90," which limits taxing agencies to levying a property tax equal to this year's or last year's levy, whichever is greater, and that factor will be considered by the parks commission meeting as a committee of the whole, said Mrs. Fesler.

Eastwood Park is at Eastwood Way and Glenwood Avenue.

Novato Captain Ends Career In Coast Guard

Capt. Joseph E. Gould of Novato has retired from the Coast Guard after nearly 30 years of service.

Gould of 25 Corona Court, had been chief of the Marine Safety Division of the staff of the Commander of 12th Coast Guard District for the past four years.

He was born and reared in Massachusetts. He entered the Coast Guard in 1943. He received his commission as ensign a year later after completing officer candidate school in New London, Conn.

He served tours with two Coast Guard cutters on the east coast.

County Rejects Damage Claim

Marin County supervisors have rejected a $3.3 million claim filed by 39 Novato residents for flood damage to their homes sustained during January's heavy rain.

Also named in the claim are the city of Novato, North Marin County Water District and the state Division of Highways.

Actual damages total $295,000 plus general damages of $3 million, residents claim.

The claim charges the county and its flood control district "failed to maintain and dredge the creeks and channels in the flood plan as it was their duty to do."

There's Still No Place For Marin's Events

Over the years, despite spiraling costs, changing plans, and jurisdictional disputes, one thing kept the Marin Veterans Memorial Building project alive: the agreed-upon need for a public facility big enough to accommodate Marin's own entertainments and public gatherings.

Over and over, the remark was heard, "When we get the veterans building, we won't have to take our event to San Francisco anymore."

Marin County finally got the veterans building —renamed the Marin Memorial Building. It is big enough. It has successfully accommodated major stage and musical productions in its 1,400-seat auditorium. It is possible to seat 900 in the flat floor area of the exhibit hall by moving the wall that holds portable auditorium seats on risers.

ON SATURDAY, June 9, one of the county's most beloved longtime teachers will be given a retirmeent party which is expected to draw several hundred friends and admirers. It will be held in the grand ballroom of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

The reason? According to Mary Lou Jacobson of the Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association, sponsors of the party to honor Edwina Codoni on her retirement, the reason is that the Marin Memorial Building exhibit hall is too expensive. And there is no other facility in Marin with sufficient seating.

At the St. Francis, Coleman PTA will get use of the grand ballroom along with bar service and a gourmet dinner for $9 per person. Tickets are being sold at $10 to provide enough extra to hire an orchestra for dancing after dinner.

IT HAPPENS that June 9 is an open date at the Marin Memorial Building, according to Leon G. Kalimos, its manager.

The exhibit hall cannot be rented on weekends when there is an event in the auditorium. When there is not, it can be engaged for $600 for an evening —payable 30 days in advance.

This, of course, does not include dinner. That would have to be catered by a commercial catering firm. Mrs. Jacobson estimated the price for a catered dinner comparable to that offered by the St. Francis Hotel at $8 per person.

The $600 also does not include any tables and chairs for the diners. Those would have to be rented. "We have no seats for the exhibit hall," said Kalimos.

It does not include bar service for the pre-dinner cocktail hour —though it does include portable bars. Sponsors would have to buy their own liquor stock and hire their own bartenders.

There are extra fees also for a ticket taker and coat checker.

All told, the tab comes to considerably more than the cost for the St. Francis Hotel's grand ballroom, complete with bar and dinner.

MARIN GOT its veterans memorial building, at great cost. It is getting a schedule of first-rate commercial entertainment in that building.

But apparently it didn't get what the building was intended for in the first place: a facility available at low cost to Marin's own taxpayers for Marin's own events.

History In Dove's Name

The scientific name for the mourning Dove is Zendaidura macroura. Most Marinites are familiar with the bird and will recognize the aptness of "macroura," which is Greek for long-tailed. But where did Zendaidura come from? European history buffs will recognize Zendaidura as coming from the name of Princess Zenaide Charlotte Jule Bonaparte, daughter of Joseph Bonaparte, king of Spain from 1808 to 1813. She married her cousin, Charles Lucien Bonaparte, a nephew of the Emperor Napoleon. Charles became one of Europe's and America's greatest ornithologists and named the mourning dove for his wife.

New Insurance Boss Out To Help Consumer

By EARL G. WATERS

Exactly how long he will maintain his efforts is questionable, but it will be interesting to watch State Insurance Commissioner Gleeson L. Payne in his attempts to enforce some consumer protection on the insurance industry.

Only recently appointed to the job by Governor Reagan, he has come out of the chute with his spurs dug in to do just that. It is a remarkable contrast to some of his predecessors. Many of them seemed content to use their position as the state's regulator of insurance practices more for the benefit of the industry than the public. Payne is putting the public's interest out in front.

That it has not always been that way is understandable. The law requires that the insurance commissioner be appointed from the ranks of the insurance industry. It may be that it does take someone like that to have the knowledge to regulate insurance, but it has always smacked of putting the fox to guard the henhouse.

OF COURSE, since the law provides he must be, Payne also comes from the insurance business. He was head of a large company. But his attacks on the industry would seem to confirm the idea that it does take someone with that background to do a good job, if you have the right guy.

One of the things which has incensed the commissioner is the exaggerated advertising practiced by some companies selling hospital insurance.

Noting that Californians have been flooded with glowing offers of hospital insurance through newspaper ads and direct mail circulars, Payne has taken aim at curbing the practice.

He said many of the ads which offer high, long-term benefits at low premiums "misdirect the reader's attention in much the same manner as a good magician focuses all eyes on his left hand while the right hand stuffs a big rabbit into a small hat."

PAYNE WAS PARTICULARLY critical of ads which promise long-term hospital benefits. "After all," he stated, "the average length ~~of time~~ a patient spends in a hospital is just seven days. It would be far more objective to identify the sum paid daily than to identify the larger amounts that few people collect."

He stressed buyers should beware of such phrases as "tax free", "extra income," "extra pay," and "monthly income".

"Some of the ads omit facts, fail to explain that policies are limited to certain specific types of disease or accidents, and fail to disclose that celebrity endorsements are made by those who have an interest in the company or are paid for the use of their names," he continued.

Payne isn't content to just warn the public of the deceptive advertising. He is drafting new regulations to stop it. He said the regulations are part of a program of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to limit advertising to "nothing but the truth".

"Keep going! That's a myth. There's no such thing."

Why Isn't There Room For Motorcycles Too?

As a reply to the letter, "Motorbikes Destroy Beauty and Ecology" from Louise A. Gulick of San Rafael, I'd like to say that she is being very one-sided.

I have been a member of the Marin County Motorcycle Association for almost two years now. As you may or may not know, the M.C.M.A. leases a working cattle ranch from Alvin Gambonini in West Marin on a yearly basis. I would say the members have done an excellent job of maintaining the property from the start, for a matter of fact, you couldn't tell it was there if it wasn't for the parking lot, and a few trails that could just as well be horse trails or hiking trails.

Once a month the club has an organized work party to "spruce up" the ranch so that the property won't be unsightly.

And as to her comment, "One of the main criteria for 'fun' on a motorbike is to make noise." I must disagree. The MCMA enforces a d.b. reading of 90 decibels (which by the way is below the American Motorcycle Association 1973 standard of 92 decibels) for all motorcycles that ride on the property.

I would say that there are just as many motorcyclists in Marin County as there are horseback riders.

Why isn't there room enough for us in Marin too?

Crime Rate Rises Without Group Home

I was appalled and dismayed to read on the I-J's front page tonight (April 26) that some of the residents in a Strawberry neighborhood were protesting a group home for disturbed children in their midst. Their reason was a rise in the crime rate since the establishment of the group home. There is no group home in my neighborhood, but the crime rate has risen. Almost every neighborhood in Marin will show a similar increase.

The group home for disturbed children can be successful — much more so than an institution. My family and I spent a week end at the Ahern ranch for disturbed boys in San Diego County. The six resident boys ranged in age from 8 to 15. They acted like typical, normal children and I commented that they didn't seem disturbed or delinquent. The house parents answered, "They're not disturbed, but their parents were."

Objects To Patrol Against Nude Bathers

Concerning nude bathing on Muir Beach and the spending of $2,341.50 for patroling to discourage them leaves me angry and frustrated. I resent having my tax money used this way; surely, our supervisors can find better ways of spending it.

Further, why not set aside an area on a public beach for nude bathing so that those who would be offended by it can avoid that area?

I am not a nude bather, but I see nothing wrong if others wish to do so. I do, however, see a great deal of wrong in the 30 to 40 burglaries we have each week and the packs of dogs running loose in the county.

It may not be a function of county government to find a place for nude sunbathers but is it not their function to use our tax money wisely?

Egyptians To Blame For Palestinian Refugees

In response to John Wooley, in response to R. W. Shand's letter, a little investigation would apprise Mr. Wooley of the fact that the Palestinians, whom he likens to our American Indians in their displacement, were not driven from their homeland, but fled at the instigation and urging of their Arab neighbors, the Egyptians, although the Israelis called upon them to remain.

Mr. Wooley seems to be unaware of the fact that the Palestinians were herded into "refugee camps" by their Arab hosts and refused admittance into the various Arab countries, so as to have a constant reminder of so-called Israeli "perfidy".

The thousands of Palestinians that elected to stay in Israel are not, we note, fighting to get out.

Photographs Stir Up Memories Of Chadron

Relative to the pictures of Indians in your paper of April 28, I think I must have known the photographer. (Some of the photos were by Northwestern Photographic Co., Chadron, Neb. — Editor) I was born in June, 1888, in Chadron, Neb., and lived there until June, 1899, when we moved to Omaha . . .

Pine Ridge is about 27 miles northeast of Chadron and 25 miles north of Rushville, Neb., to which town the U.S. sent its periodic fortune in silver dollars which a large contingent of Indian police came to take it to Pine Ridge.

I was in Rushville one day in 1898 when about 200 Sioux who had been with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, in Europe for a year or more, returned. There was a large crowd of Indians there to meet them and old Chief Red Cloud gave them quite a long speech, to which I listened but only occasionally heard an Indian word I knew . . . In summertime there usually were several teepees pitched on a small hill east of Chadron . . .

About 1894, I saw about a dozen cowboys lined up across Chadron's Second Street, with an extra horse or two tied behind the one they rode, and when a shot was fired they started in a leisurely manner on the longest cowboy race on record, 1,000 miles to Chicago. As I remember it, first prize was $1,000 and second was a $500 fancy saddle. First prize was won by notorious Doc Middleton, and second prize by Emmet Albright, a friend of ours . . .

About 1895 Chadron put on a three-day Fourth of July celebration and hired 250 bucks from Pine Ridge to come over and put on war dances. Their families came too. One old lady in Chadron, who had not heard of the arrangement, nearly died of fright when she heard the Indians yelling.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

A self-made man is a fellow who started from scratch and ended up with it.

Building a career is a do-it-yourself project in which most of us have to make do with inferior material.

To make something of yourself, it helps if you can marry the boss's daughter — or the shop steward's sister.

It's the American way to take credit for our triumphs and blame the other guy for our failures.

Everybody's a self-made man, but only the successful ones are willing to admit it.

ERWIN D. CANHAM

Truth Will Help America Recover From Watergate

It is not yet clear how the United States will extricate itself from the Watergate mess. But emerge it will; and the wounds will be healed. The responsibilities of the presidency will continue to be fulfilled.

But the healing can only come through an uncovering of the truth. And through the good sense of the American people.

It is and always has been inevitable that the facts would emerge. We do not yet know what they are. Rumors still abound, and some of them are reckless, but as Vice President Agnew has wryly said, some of them may turn out to be true.

THE COURSE of events in this affair has been inexorable. Ever since the June morning when the Watergate burglars were arrested, it has been absolutely certain that the thing would blow up some day. Too many people knew what was going on. Because of the time involved in court proceedings, the facts could be kept bottled up during the presidential campaign. Thus they did not affect the election. The public seemed rather apathetic. The volcano continued to smoulder just as hotly underneath its crust.

Finally, it burst into the open. Still we do not know all the vital facts. We do not really know just to what degree the President was involved, or the precise relationship of his former attorney/general, or the various members of his staff.

The awful tragedy is not only that the event took place, which was deplorably stupid, but that such an effort was made to cover it up. And there are the other campaign misdeeds. The concealment attempts plainly amount to obstruction of justice, which may be even more serious than the initial crime.

The mistake hardest to repair is the effort to conceal. If President Nixon had obtained full knowledge of events at the outset, had put the investigation into independent and irreproachable hands, and then, to the extent that blame fell on his associates, had frankly accepted responsibility, the American people would have understood and accepted and forgotten.

THE FACTS NOW are beginning to emerge through good and bad motives. The good motives relate to such sturdy characters as Sen. Sam Ervin and Judge John Sirica, and to the news media which with all their faults and mistakes have continued to dig until the facts can be assembled. The bad motives are those which are now causing the involved individuals to fall over themselves in an effort to blame others.

There are people who would like to see the whole business swept under the rug. That is impossible in a free society, with events of this magnitude.

If only President Nixon, even now, would put the investigation into unimpeachable hands, that would be the first step to healing. The piecemeal emergence of knowledge intensifies and sensationalizes the whole business. Full disclosure, which the public could trust, would be the longest step toward rehabilitation.

THE WOUNDS, however clarifying the facts may turn out to be, are deep. The system seems to be indicted, but it should not be. The system itself has brought about the beginning of the healing. The system has helped bring some of the facts to light. The courts, the Congress, the press are all parts of the system. They are just as authentic and inherent as the White House. And they are bringing about a clean-up.

All across the land, Americans are emerging from a corrosive cynicism. They are not saying "politics as usual" any longer. They are demanding uncovering, and purification. It is happening.

Just how it all will come out we do not know. But we do know that the office of the presidency is greater than any of the individuals who have occupied it, and that the office must be respected. Its occupant must make awesome decisions, must be well served, must bear heavy burdens. Americans are tolerant to the point of apathy even toward the presidency, but in the end they demand certain standards and they are demanding them now. They will get them, for this is how the system works in its complete fulfillment.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Democrats Start Running Early, Scenting Victory In California

SAN FRANCISCO — As the Nixon-Republican stock drops precipitously on the Gallup exchange, Democratic hopefuls are popping up like the first flowers of spring. Nowhere is this more evident than in California, where politics is a highly commercialized operation.

There are already six Democratic candidates for governor in the race that is still nearly a year and a half away. Foremost among them is San Francisco's ebullient, litigious Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. The mayor has come smiling through more lawsuits than the escapes of that master escape artist, Houdini, at the height of his fame.

If the polls that Alioto cites are anywhere near accurate, he is well ahead of the field. His best-known rival is Speaker Robert Morretti of the California Assembly. Another contender is Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr., secretary of state and son of the former two-term Gov. Pat Brown.

A still-unannounced candidate — William Matson Roth — is testing the water to determine the degree of support for a Democrat whose credentials are outside the conventional office-seeking politics. Roth, President Kennedy's chief trade negotiator and long a civic leader in Northern California, has never held elective office. He appeals to independents and Republicans who believe in high-minded leadership above the squalid struggle.

ON THE REPUBLICAN side it is taken for granted that Gov. Ronald Reagan will not run for a third term. He feels that he has accomplished his objectives and now must look to larger horizons. This leaves Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, a flat-out, old-line politician rather to the right of Reagan, and Robert Finch, who would like to retrieve his Washington fiasco as secretary of health, education and welfare through elective office in his home state. Still another possible starter is Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, a stern law-and-order type.

But there is a dark horse, a very dark horse, who can if he makes the race change the whole outlook. He is David Packard, who resigned as deputy secretary of defense after a prolonged struggle with the military spenders. Packard was the Nixon fund raiser in northern California and since the 1972 campaign has been speaking widely around the state.

Like Roth he is a nonpolitical type. A big, solid man, as a founding partner in the fantastically successful Hewlett-Packard firm, his net worth is said to be not less than $400 million. Alioto is frank in saying that Packard would be the most formidable Republican to run against. Like so many other Republicans, he is undoubtedly reading the returns on Watergate before making any noises as a candidate.

IN ONE OF the several Alioto lawsuits in Seattle involving his fees in utility suits, a White House principal, whose name moves in and out of the Watergate, was sideswiped. Cross-examination developed that the civil attorney general of the state of Washington, Slade Gorton, pressing the suits, had conferred in the White House with John D. Ehrlichman. They had discussed the Alioto cases.

This was confirmation to the mayor that the prosecution, both in Seattle and in the series of trials growing out of the Look magazine attack, was orchestrated at a very high level. Why, the mayor asks, should Ehrlichman inject himself into a civil suit involving the mayor of San Francisco? Ehrlichman at one time practiced law in Seattle, and it has been rumored that he would run next year against the veteran Democrat, Sen. Warren Magnuson.

In the political barometer optimism is rising rapidly. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey predicts that in the congressional elections next year the Republicans will take one of the worst beatings in their history. The President's drop of 14 points between Gallup polls —and this prior to the latest revelations in the Watergate scandal — was one of the most swift and disastrous declines in polling history. He can recover. As his record for the past decade shows, he has been a phoenix unrivalled in coming up from the pit of defeat.

But, even if the Republicans should gain 25 to 30 seats in the House and three or four Senate seats, does it mean the prospect of government by congressional fiat? Hardly, since the likelihood is merely of more stalemate and more distractions in continuing episodes of the Watergate scandal. As the past has so often shown, a divided government is no government at all, and particularly is this evident when vital issues cry out for action.

ART BUCHWALD

Writer Finds Life Easy At Martha's Vineyard

By INGA RUNDVOLD
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON — When columnist Art Buchwald gets tired of his "Capitol Punishment" in Washington, he retreats to Martha's Vineyard.

As Mr. Buchwald put it the other day, "Martha's Vineyard is hard to get to and it is one of the few places in the United States not overpopulated with automobiles . . . that is what saves it! As soon as they figure how to destroy that, I'll have to look for another place."

Visitors can reach the island by flights from New York and Boston or by ferryboat from Woods Hole, Falmouth, and Hyannis on Cape Cod. Automobiles are ferried over only from Woods Hole at the price of $10 per auto each way with space for cars reserved only by prepayment of charges. Some dates are sold out months in advance. So most visitors do not take their cars to Martha's Vineyard.

As we chatted about vacation time, he actually became so relaxed he started yawning and hoisted his feet up on his big impressive desk in his Pennsylvania Avenue office and then continued: "I find I'm not considering a trip to Europe as a vacation any more. It's too much like work. It is not restful. And as I grow older, I don't want to move around that much."

Now Buchwald was really in the vacation mood and began to ramble: "It's a combination of the air, sea, and the quiet that I like about the island — no Hilton, no Holiday Inn, no Shakey's, no McDonald's — really, Martha's Vineyard is what my childhood vacations were like."

For a man who is expected to say something funny because his readers find him so amusing in print, he was serious about getting away from the stress and problems of foreign policy, arguments on the Hill, high cost of living, strikes, demonstrations, presidential quotes, and press conferences.

ART BUCHWALD
A place to relax

Buchwald's first trip to Martha's Vineyard was about five years ago when his friend, writer Bill Styron, casually mentioned he liked the island and suggested the Buchwalds try it, too. So the next season with reservations at the country club Art, Ann, Joel, Connie and Jennifer drove up to New England, parked the car and flew to their newly discovered paradise island.

After that, Buchwald got in touch with a local real estate agency and was immediately told about Dr. Alvin Strock, the island dentist, who rents out his big white clapboard house near the ferry slip during the summer months. The family fell in love with the house, the setting, and easy life around it. They have returned every summer for the month of August. Buchwald said: "I just love to sit on the porch . . . look out on the water . . . and watch all those people leaving on the ferry."

Many have just come over for the day. Reliving the past, they spread over the island from Dukes County Historical Society Museum at Edgartown in the east to Gay Head Indian Museum on the western tip.

For a man who gets around to about all the Washington parties and banquets, Mr. Buchwald stressed he wants "none of that stuff" when he vacations. "While some of the locals and summer people form committees to save this and that," he explained, "I'm sympathetic for the cause, but I refuse to get involved."

Not getting involved takes some doing, since most of the residents are quite vocal about any threat to their island, including too many visitors. But to get any islander into a discussion. just mention something about oil slicks or shore erosion.

It seems the teen-age children and Mrs. Buchwald have their friends and go their separate ways, but he hangs on to his stack of books and tennis racket. He plays three games a day with anyone who shows up at the courts . . . and when it rains and gets noisy around the house he leaves to find a chess game or to go milling around the shops in town.

"What about friends"? I asked.

He lifted his eyebrows and continued. "There's an interesting bunch who go to Martha's Vineyard every summer . . . John Hersey, John Markland, Arthur Miller and professors from Harvard and Yale. We have our own little group.

"I don't like to go somewhere and make new friends all the time. That's a drag! There are a lot of celebrities around but no one is impressed. Everyone is relaxed and appears most of the time in shorts and tennis shoes. We sit around, talk, look out at the water . . . then everything gets quiet about 8:30 in the evening."

I never saw anyone get so carried away just talking about a restful place. I was beginning to think he was going to fall asleep, so I jolted him with: "What if something important happened in Washington . . . what about the office?" He just drawled, "I sort of stay in touch. If something really happened . . . I could handle it from up there."

In summing up his feeling, and with that broad boyish smile he always wears, Mr. Buchwald said, "A real vacation is when you don't do anything but relax and take it easy. For me Martha's Vineyard is first."

Agnew Asks For Peace With Press

WOODLAWN, Md. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, once the White House's leading news media critic, called Wednesday for an end to the "unfortunate hostility" between the press and the government, a good deal of which he said is the fault of the administration.

Agnew, whose role in developing administration policy was expanded this week by President Nixon, freely admitted his part in causing the hostility but did not apologize for his criticism.

"It could have been stated less abrasively," he said. But in speeches this year, he said, he had "intentionally adopted a different tone and one that has been much better received by those who do not agree with my conclusions."

Agnew called on the government and the media "to put aside their visceral reactions and engage in a productive, intelligent discussion of their differences." He said the Nixon administration was ready to participate in such a discussion.

"It is of immense importance to the American public that information flow creditably and freely to them," he said.

"In candor, I cannot gloss over the unfortunate hostility that has existed for too long between the media and the Nixon administration. To say that there is fault on the part of the administration would probably be described by many in this room as the understatement of the week," he told the Maryland Press Club here, where he was honored as "Man of the Year."

"When I say unfortunate hostility I mean deep feelings that run beyond the traditional adversary relationship between government office holders and members of the press," he said.

"There is unquestionably wrong and right on both sides of this controversy," he said.

"But there is also some blame properly assessable to some individuals in the media," he said, singling out CBS newsman Walter Cronkite for an article he has written for an upcoming issue of Payboy magazine. Agnew said Cronkite had written that the White House was conducting an active conspiracy against the press.

"I want to assure you that nothing could be further from the truth," he said.

Bruce Is Leaving Sunday For Peking

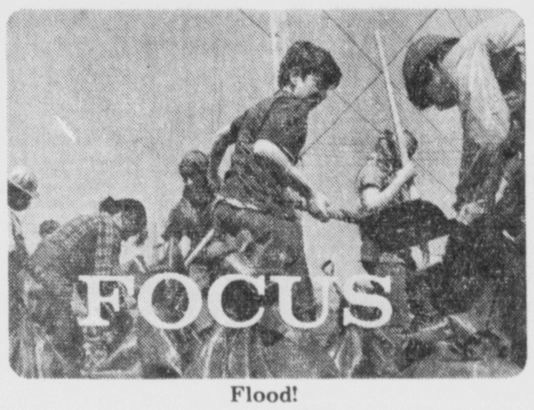
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ambassador David K.E. Bruce plans to leave Sunday for Peking to head the U.S. Liaison Mission launching formal U.S.-Chinese relations.

The office is expected to be open for business around May 14, U.S. sources said. A Chinese mission has been in Washington for two weeks to set up a similar mission.

Former Agnew Aide Hits Scandal Writing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A former speech writer for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has charged that the news media was "using innuendo" in its reporting on the Watergate affair.

Melvin J. Grayson said in an interview Wednesday that the media have been "emulating the worst of Joe McCarthy, sling mud on everybody in sight and know that somebody will be found guilty."



Flood!

The spring floods have been unusually heavy this year, but the damage and suffering they have caused pale when compared to some of the great flood disasters of history. Many of the most terrible floods have occurred in China. In 1887, for example, the Yellow River overflowed and as many as 900,000 people lost their lives. Perhaps the most famous U.S. flood was the Johnstown, Pennsylvania, disaster in 1889, when a dam burst and drowned more than 2,000.

DO YOU KNOW — In 1970, where did storms and floods create this century's greatest natural disaster?

READ OUR GUARANTEE IT MAKES SENSE!

Tread Lifetime Guarantee — Guaranteed against all failures of the tire resulting from defects in material or workmanship for the life of the original tread. WHAT TRIPLE S WILL DO: In exchange for the tire, replace it, charging only the proportion of the current price that represents tread used.

Tread Wear Out and Road Hazard Guarantee — In case of road hazard or tread wear out claims at TRIPLE S option, in exchange for the tire, replace it or give you a refund, charging in either case only that factor (listed in chart for size and tread of tire, multiplied by number of 1000 miles or portion thereof) for each 1000 miles driven.

We've Sold Over 10 Million Dollars Worth Of Tires . . . There Must Be A Good Reason! We Think It's This . . .
In the long run, it's what you get for the lowest price that really counts! From us, it's Quality and Value!

CONGRATULATIONS — You are reading about one of the loveliest properties we have seen in ages. Both beauty & value. It is located in a superb area of beautiful homes on a dead-end street with privacy, convenience & lots of class. The view alone is fantastic & you don't have to be a billy goat, either, because it is close-in. You get the feeling & beauty of Switzerland! The home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof, formal dining room, fireplace, large patio off kitchen, weatherstripped, insulated, etc., etc. Plus a gigantic, separate carriage house that would be ideal for a guest cottage, cabana, play room, workshop, what-have-you. The grounds (⅓ acre) are all professionally landscaped with ease of maintenance & maximum beauty, including rock walls & terraces. There is a fantastic sun-drenched pool site. Truly a unique property that you won't find very often to say the least! We are proud to offer this rare find on an exclusive basis only with

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL READOPTING THE GENERAL PLAN CONFLICT COMBINED DISTRICT AS AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1075 AND ORDINANCE NO. 1093 WHICH AMENDED TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING CHAPTER 14.62.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Readopts Ordinance No. 1075 and Ordinance No. 1093 which amended Title 14, Zoning, of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael, by adding thereto Chapter 14.62, which reads as follows:

Chapter 14.62
GENERAL PLAN CONFLICT COMBINED DISTRICT
Sections:
14.62.00 Definition
14.62.01 Purpose
14.62.02 Restriction on Use
14.62.03 When Regulations Apply
14.62.04 Uses Permitted

14.62.00 DEFINITION. Undeveloped lands are lots, parcels and acreage which under the present zoning and subdivision ordinances of the City of San Rafael are capable of, and have the potential for further development.

14.62.01 PURPOSE. To protect the public safety, health, and welfare by prohibiting on an interim basis uses which may be in conflict with contemplated zoning proposals and General Plan revisions which the City Council, Planning Commission, and Planning Department are considering or studying, or intend to consider and study within a reasonable time, wherein the purpose of such contemplated zoning and proposals and General Plan revisions are to make the zoning ordinance consistent with the General Plan as is required by Section 65860 of the Government Code of the State of California.

14.62.02 RESTRICTION ON USE. No use (including, but not limited to grading, excavation, filling, pilings, construction or the commitment of the use of the land beyond a period of one year) shall be permitted in any district with which GPC zone is combined except as provided in Sections 14.62.03 and 14.62.04.

14.62.03 WHEN REGULATIONS APPLY. Wherever a parcel, lot or area contains two acres or more of undeveloped land; or wherever five or more adjoining parcels, lots or areas, regardless of acreage are undeveloped, the GPC shall be combined with the existing district or districts on the entirety of said parcels, lots, or areas and shall supersede the respective regulations of the existing district or districts, to the extent set forth in this Chapter and shall apply in lieu of the regulations hereinbefore specified for said districts; provided, however, that the lands listed below are excepted from the provisions of this Ordinance:

1. Where a detailed development plan has been approved by the Planning Commission within the 18th months immediately preceding the enactment of this Ordinance.

2. Wherein a grading, excavating, fill or building permit has already been approved and has not expired.

The zoning map shall be changed to show all districts so established with the designation GPC-, followed by the district designation as it now is (to be read as: GPC-R1, GPC-R2, GPC-C1, etc.) Such notations shall be utilized on all applications pertaining thereto, notices, ordinances, and zoning map.

The provisions of this Section shall apply to any of the aforesaid categories of land as set forth in the first paragraph of this Section, irrespective of whether or not the title to said property is vested in one or more owners.

14.62.04 USES PERMITTED. All use of the land which would in any way permanently change the conformity of the land (such as by grading, excavation, fill, pilings, construction, or the commitment of the use of the land beyond a period of one year), shall require a use permit; with the exception therefrom of any work that the City Engineering Department or Building Inspection Department may authorize as an emergency action for the purpose of preventing or correcting dangerous soil or drainage conditions. Prerequisite to the issuance of any use permit hereunder shall be a finding by the Planning Commission with reasons set forth that there is substantial probability that the use proposed will be consistent with the contemplated zoning proposals being prepared and that there is little probability of any substantial detriment to the public should any inconsistency ultimately exist.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect at 12:01 A.M. on the 6th day of June, 1973, and shall continue in full force and effect for twelve months.

Mayor

ATTEST:
/s/ MARION A. GRADY,
City Clerk

The above and foregoing Ordinance No. 1098 was read and introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, held on Monday, April 16, 1973, and ordered passed to print by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN: Jensen, Miskimen, Mulryan and Mayor Bettini
NOES: COUNCILMEN: None
ABSENT: COUNCILMEN: None

and will come up for adoption as an Ordinance of the City of San Rafael at an adjourned regular meeting of the Council to be held on Monday, the 7th day of May, 1973.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS TAMALPAIS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT SEWER LINE REPAIR AND STREAM EROSION REPAIR AND PROTECTION NORTHERN AVENUE CANYON

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Tamalpais Community Services District of Marin County, California, will receive up to but not later than 8:00 p.m., on the 8th day of May, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment and all other services required to construct, install and replace broken sewer line, concrete protection and rubble rock for stream bed erosion replacement and protection as required by and in accordance with the plan entitled "Northern Avenue Canyon Sewer Repair" prepared by the District Engineer, Job 73-16, dated April 21, 1973, and on file in the office of the Secretary of the District.

A bid bond will not be required for this project. Within Fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded, the successful bidder shall execute a contract with the District and shall furnish a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid; said bond shall comply with all the provisions of Chapter 3 comprising Sections 4200-4208 inclusive of the Government Code of the State of California except that the amount is 100% as stipulated rather than the 50% provided by statute.

Notice is hereby given that on January 9, 1973, the Community Services Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done, for each craft or type of workmen required to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto and incorporated herein and made a part of the specifications for said work.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for boundary fencing, including installation of posts, wire, gate, site clean-up, and the necessary appurtenant work at Indian Valley Colleges site, Marin County, Novato, California.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the specifications and drawings now on file at the Business Office, Office Center, Room 190, College of Marin, Kentfield, California where same may be examined and copies obtained at $15 per set deposit. Deposits will be refunded for all sets returned in good condition.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form attached to said specifications, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten per cent of the amount bid made payable to the School District, and shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 21st day of May, 1973 at 2:00 P.M. of that day in the Business Office, Office Center, Room 190, College of Marin, Kentfield, California.

4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50 per cent of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100 per cent of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Marin Community College District.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that, pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, Marin Community College District has ascertained the general prevailing rates of hourly wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality where this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder. The prevailing rates so determined by the District Board are on file with the District.

7. Bidders must be contractors properly licensed to perform said work.

8. The Governing Board of the Marin Community College District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Bank Signs Equality Hiring Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bank of California signed a court-approved agreement Wednesday calling for equal employment and promotional opportunities for minorities and women.

The affirmative action plan, approved by U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham, also provides a $225,000 educational training fund.

The agreement could mean $41 million more in income for minorities over its nine-year period, said Robert Gnaizda, attorney for Public Advocates which filed the suit on behalf of the National Organization for Women, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, American G.I. Forum and several individuals.

Gnaizda said at a news conference that the consent decree sets a basis for negotiations with five other major banks in the state.

He stressed that the agreement will not displace white males or affect their rights, but said it might toughen competition for top jobs.

Bank Board Chairman Charles de Bretteville called the goals "ambitious, as indeed they should be, but we believe they are attainable."

"We have been continually upgrading our training and development programs which are designed to accelerate the advancement of participants, including minorities and women, and these programs will be expanded further, he said.

The plan calls for overall employment of 10 per cent blacks and 15 per cent Spanish-surnamed by 1978, increasing by 1980 to parity with minority population, projected at 33 per cent.

The bank said it will consider qualified minority and women candidates for board of directors' vacancies. The goals for upper management specify if there are more openings than the plan anticipates, the bank must try to fill 60 per cent of the vacancies with women and minorities.

Gnaizda said Bank of California currently has 420 black and Spanish-surnamed among its 3,500 employes.

School Bid

The Old Adobe School District is expected to accept a low bid of $96,400 by Francis Construction Co. for a new administration building at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. today. The new building is to be placed on a lot at the corner of Albin Way and Crinella Drive.

Moretti Will Trail Reagan Around State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti announced today he will trail Gov. Ronald Reagan around the state as a one-man "truth squad" to counter the governor's claims about his tax limitation proposal.

Moretti also said the governor's plan "should be called 'The Property Tax Increase Act of 1973.'" He reasoned state aid available for local government would be reduced, forcing a rise in homeowner taxes to pay for such things as schools.

"It would inevitably increase the property tax," he said.

"I'm going to follow everywhere the governor goes throughout California," Moretti told a news conference. "I think this is the most important thing going on right now in California."

Moretti, a contender for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was a key figure in helping Reagan push through property tax relief and welfare reform programs in recent years. But he has been the most outspoken opponent of the governor's tax limitation plan.

Under the proposal, a declining limit on state taxes would be placed in the California constitution. Reagan estimates the tax burden would be reduced by 20 per cent over a 15 year period. He is attempting to collect 520,000 signatures by June 7 to qualify the measure for a special ballot in November.

Moretti said he will attempt "to get to the same people the governor has been exposed to, the same media markets." The speaker said he will ask for equal time on television and attempt to set up meetings with newspaper editorial boards.

The Van Nuys Democrat termed particularly "outrageous" a feature of the governor's plan to eliminate income taxes for married couples with adjusted gross incomes of less than $8,000, of $4,000 for single persons.

Although on the surface it appears this is designed to help poor people, Moretti said, it actually would repeal the minimum income tax the 1971 legislature enacted to make sure wealthy people do not escape paying their fair share.

Moretti said it is not unusual for the rich, after figuring capital gains, business losses, preference income and other "loopholes," to wind up with adjusted gross incomes of less than $8,000.

The speaker, citing a report issued Monday by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, also disputed Reagan's contention that citizens pay 44 cents out of every dollar to taxes. He said the governor was including such items as university basketball tickets, postage stamps and employe retirement contributions, and the actual figure is 32 cents.

Woodcock Urges Labor To Unite

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers says it's time for the labor movement to reunite and regain its political clout.
Woodcock told the biannual convention of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Wednesday that it has been a long time since the labor movement has made notable economic and social progress.
"We've got to reverse that," he said. "None of us can go it alone. I suggest now is an ideal time to recreate a coalition of all the labor movement.
"Labor can stop the downward trend by sticking together," said Woodcock, who received a standing ovation from 400 delegates.

Butcher Defeats Boycott On Beef

John Boehner, owner of Farmer John's market, hung a sign in his window advertising "organic beef" and found his meat counter sold out in four days.
Organic beef, Boehner said, comes from a herd of Pennsylvania cattle which eats grain free from pesticides and chemical fertilizer.

A Prize Olympic Judges Cannot Take Back

There is a beautiful wood sculpture piece in the Dr. Willard DeMont home in Terra Linda, a "little something" DeMont's son, Rick, brought back with him from the Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Swimming Championships last month in Cincinnati.

It measures about two feet wide and two feet high and weighs perhaps 15 pounds and is made from walnut. It is an abstract model of a swimmer with arm raised in midstroke, carved waves in front to symbolize water.

The sculpture work was given to Rick by Al Price of Tulsa, Okla., who wanted to give the young swimmer a prize which couldn't be yanked away by the International Olympic Committee. Price had felt badly about the IOC's decision to take away Rick's gold medal at the Munich Olympics. DeMont had won the 400-meter free-style but the medal was stripped from him when traces of a banned drug were found in his system after a routine check following the race. The drug was part of Rick's medication he had been taking for years of asthma. (Since it was never officially called back, Rick still has the gold medal in his possession.)

"I WAS really surprised," said the 17-year-old DeMont about receiving the carving. "I was told it was a sculpture piece but I had no idea it would be like this," he said, looking at the largeness of the work.

Price has sculptured wooden footballs as gifts to former Oklahoma coach Chuck Fairbanks and President Nixon; he's carved out wooden basketballs for Oral Roberts and Hank Iba, and a baseball was sculptured from wood as a gift to Mrs. Roberto Clemente. He is quickly turning a hobby into a business and plans to start selling some of his sculpture works.

ALTHOUGH RICK was happy with the gift of wood, he was not overjoyed with his performance at the nationals, April 4-7. He wasn't expecting to win because short course swimming (in a 25-yard pool) is not his strong point. He does much better in long course swimming (in a 50-meter pool) and the next major events on his schedule are all long course events. Next month will be the Santa Clara International meet, followed by the Los Angeles Invitational in July and the AAU national long course meet in August, at Louisville, Ky.

Short course swimming favors the taller athletes, because of more turns in a smaller pool. A good example is provided by Jack Tingley of USC, who at 6-foot-7 gained more than a foot on most of his rivals at each turn when he won the 1,650-yard freestyle.

DeMont is confident he will be able to beat Tingley when they are rematched in the long course meets coming up. DeMont also is confident of beating Marin Aquatic Club teammate Robin Backhaus in the distance freestyle events of long course meets. DeMont, who is close friends with Backhaus out of the pool, said, "I can't look at him any differently than I look at anyone else in a meet." Backhaus was second in the 1,650 at Cincinnati, swimming nearly 12 seconds faster than DeMont, who was fifth.

RICK SAID the missed practices because of a bout with the flue took its toll on him in Cincinnati. "I just wasn't in good condition," he said.

Because of increased pollen in the air this spring, DeMont's allergies have been bothering him, but it hasn't stopped his hours of training daily in the pool.

He's determined to do well in the long course meets coming up. And when this young man is determined to do something, watch out!

GIFT OF WOOD — Star swimmer Rick DeMont of Terra Linda peers through a wood sculpture of a swimmer in action. The piece was given to Rick as a gift by Al Price of Tulsa, Okla., at last month's Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Swimming Championships in Cincinnati.

BIG RED BUBBLE MACHINE

Luck's Role For Pirates

Goodson's Boot Kills Giants, 2-1

"Sometimes," said the Pittsburgh Pirates manager, "you have to be lucky."

"If (Ed) Goodson doesn't boot the ball, we might still be playing," said Virdon, pointing to a third inning error by the Giants' third baseman that set up the winning run.

"We hit a ton the night before but it wasn't enough. Now we get only eight hits but it takes an error for us to win. But I'll take it, the way we have been going."

Wednesday's victory snapped a six-game Pittsburgh losing streak that was beginning to take its toll on Virdon.

The loss was only the seventh of the year for the Giants compared to 19 victories and still left the club in pretty good shape. The Pirates are a more modest 9-7.

Walker gave up two hits in the six plus innings he worked. Rooker gave up two in 2 1-3 innings and Giusti came out of the bullpen in the ninth to nail down the final two batters by striking out Dave Kingman and Bobby Bonds.

"Give them credit," said Giants Manager Charlie Fox. "Those three guys (Walker, Rooker and Giusti) pitched great baseball. They let us look at their high pitches and handled us with their low serves."

Willie Stargell walked and eventually scored Pittsburgh's first run in the second on a single by Milt May. Goodson booted Dave Cash's smash to third to start the third and Cash made his way around to score the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver.

Walker left in the seventh after walks to Goodson and pinch-hitter Chris Arnold, sandwiched around an error by Oliver in center, filled the bases with none out. Rooker escaped with only a run on Kingman's sacrifice fly. When the Giants put two runners on in the ninth with one out, Giusti replaced Rooker and wrapped it up.

A'S STAR

Pressure Isn't Hurting Tenace

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Reggie Jackson said teammate Gene Tenace would be under tremendous pressure this year because of his World Series heroics in 1972.

Jackson was wrong as Tenace remains loose as the Oakland Athletics strive to break even in the 1973 season. Tenace drilled a three-run homer in the 10th inning Wednesday night to lift the Oakland A's to a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

It was the seventh homer of the season for last year's World Series hero and improved Oakland's record to 10-12, good only for fourth place in the American League West.

Jackson drove in the winning run on a fielder's choice in the 10th inning. Bill North opened the 10th with a single and moved to third on Joe Rudi's single.

Ray Newman replaced Frank Linzy for the Brewers and North scored when first baseman George Scott's throw to the plate on Jackson's grounder was too late. Rich McKinney was safe on a fielder's choice before Tenace blasted his three-run homer.

The A's are off today.

Ken Holtzman held the Brewers to just six hits in improving his record to 4-2. Linzy (1-0) took the loss.

Oakland took a 1-0 lead in the first when Bert Campaneris bunted for a single, went to second on an infield out and scored on Jackson's two-out single.

The A's made it 2-0 in the second. Sal Bando singled, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on Tenace's single and scored on an error by second baseman Pedro Garcia.

It was a good day for the A's, and it was also a good day for the A's newest acquisition Deron Johnson. He was obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday.

Johnson, 33, went to the world champions Wednesday in exchange for Jack Bastbale, a minor league outfielder-third baseman.

(See A's box score on inside page.)

13-Horse Field Set For Derby

LOUISVILLE, KY. (UPI) — A field of 13 was entered today for Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby with Secretariat and Sham heading the list.

Two horses turned up with injuries Thursday morning. Impecunious immediately was withdrawn from the race, but Royal and Regal was entered in the hopes that his troubles will completely disappear in the next two days.

Completing the field were Angle Light, who will run coupled with Secretriat, the entry of My Gallant and Shecky Greene, Our Native, Forego, Restless Jet, Warbucks, Navajo, Twice A Prince and Gold Bag.

The scratching of Impecunious left jockey Braulio Baeza free and trainer Lou Goldfine immediately attempted to get the Panamanian jockey for Shecky Greene.

Goldfine earlier had released Baeza when it appeared Shecky Greene would not start. The trainer had another jockey problem for Angel Cordero scheduled to ride My Gallant,

Quickness Is Key To U.S. Cage Win

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — U.S. Coach Bob Cousy has been saying all week he needs more muscle to beat the Soviet Union national team. He found out Wednesday a little quickness can do the job just as well.

Cousy started three forwards against the tough Russians in the third game of the current six-game series and the Americans responded with an 83-67 runaway win.

"We decided go to with the three smaller forwards instead of a big center to try to get more finesse," said Cousy. "I don't know if that's what did it, but we're going to try it again Saturday in Indianapolis."

Cousy's decision to bench UCLA muscleman Swen Nater and start forwards Ron Behagen, Fred Saunders and Bobby Jones, enabled the American team to fast-break the Russians into submission.

"We had to make an adjustment after our loss Monday and Behagen, Jones and Saunders gave us more offense inside," Cousy said.

The victory was the second by the Americans, both of them by convincing margins. The Soviet Union win came at San Diego Monday, 78-76.

Behagan, the slick forward from Minnesota, got all 18 of his points in the first half when the United States broke the game open with a 14-2 tear midway through the half.

The Russians managed to cut the Americans' 44-31 halftime lead to 50-41 with 17 minutes left in the game before he United States pumped in 14 straight points to win going away. Jones and Digregorio got 10 of those 14 points.

"We're starting to know each other better and we're going to get tougher as the series goes along," Digregorio said.

The Providence guard credited the inside play of Behagen, Jones and Saunders for the victory.

"We got a chance to freelance more and Behagen and Jones really took it to the basket," he said.

The Russians, forced to play without star center Alexander Belov, who was injured in the San Diego game, got a 31-point effort from guard Alexander Salnikov, but he was the only Russian starter to score in double figures.

The two teams will meet in game four of the series Saturday in Indianapolis.

Sharon Walsh Wins In Tennis Doubles

BAD HOMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Sharon Walsh of San Rafael and Patti Hogan of La Jolla defeated Mi-Ok Lee and Soon-Oh Lee, 6-1, 6-0, yesterday in the Women's Federation Tennis Cup matches when the U.S. team defeated South Korea, 2-1.

Linda Tuero of Metrie, La., defeated Duk-Hee Lee, 6-3, 7-5, and Miss Hogan lost to Jun Soon Yang, 6-3, 6-4, in other matches involving the U. S. team.

Three-Way Tie In Bicycle Race

It was a three-way tie for first when Tim Anderson and Tom Gartner of Tamalpais High and Tom Knutson of Novato each clocked an even 50 minutes in an eight-lap, 16-mile criterium bicycle race yesterday put on by the Marin Cyclists in Strawberry.

Class A — Tim Anderson, Tamalpais; Tom Knutson, Novato; Tom Gartner, Tamalpais; 50:0. Class B (10 miles) — Eric Moller, Redwood, 35:15. Class C (10 miles) — Dick Hornet, San Rafael, 35:15.

Prep Grid Game Add Approved

Marin County Athletic League's Board of Managers, composed of principals of the league high schools, voted yesterday to allow schools to increase their football schedules by one game.

Meeting in Terra Linda, the managers agreed to allow the prep football season to run 10 games instead of nine. The extra game will allow teams to play four non-league games in addition to the six MCAL games.

The board also voted to make junior varsity football an official league sport, so the winning J.V. team will now be eligible for a league pennant.

The principals discussed the issue of girls sports for about 15 minutes, but made no decisions on any league policies concerning the California Interscholastic Federation's recent ruling to allow girls to compete along with boys in sports, effective July 1.

The board will appoint a committee to study the question on girls participating on boys' teams later, ccording to San Marin High School Principal Henry J. Moroski, president of the board of managers.

"We don't believe we'll have problems because we have such a fine girls athletic program in the league," Moroski said. He said the board did not plan to change the existing program in girls' sports where league competition is already held in swimming, basketball, volleyball, badminton and track and field.

The board also elected Redwood Principal Donald Kreps as president for the next school year and Marin Catholic Principal Rev. Francis Lacey as vice president.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

'Butterflies' Of Wood's Are Collector's Items

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilbur Wood's "butterflies" are becoming collector's items.

The 31-year-old knuckleball specialist of the Chicago White Sox is fast gaining a reputation as the toughest pitcher to hit in the American League, and judging from his performances in his last three outings, there is little basis for argument.

"When you get a hit off Wood, they should stop the game and give you the ball," says one batter who has found Wilbur's knucklers next to impossible to decipher.

Wood, a paunchy southpaw who throws the knuckleball 85 per cent of the time, posted his third successive shutout Wednesday night and lowered his earned run average to 1.13 when he blanked the Baltimore Orioles 4-0 on six hits to boost his record to 6-2. Wood's triumph once again came with only two days rest, marking the third time this season he has worked on that schedule.

Wood, a 24-game winner last season, developed the two-day rest rotation at the suggestion of pitching coach Johnny Sain last year and logged 377 innings, more than any other pitcher since Ed Walsh in 1912.

"He's got a fantastic temperament," says Sain. "You've got to have control of yourself before you can control that pitch. You have to have a delicate release for the knuckleball and the natural thing to do when you get into trouble is to throw harder. But you've got to master that delicate release so you can still throw it that way under pressure. He's so even tempered that when he walks into the clubhouse after a game, you can't tell whether he's won or lost."

Pat Kelly, the league's leading hitter, gave Wood all the offense he needed in the first inning when he tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Carlos May. Kelly also delivered a sacrifice fly in the seventh. The victory was the White Sox' sixth in a row and 10th in 11 games.

In other AL action, Boston beat Texas 6-2, California edged Detroit 5-3 in 12 innings, Kansas City nipped New York 4-3, Oakland downed Milwaukee 7-3 in 10 innings and Cleveland topped Minnesota 8-4 in 10 innings.

Houston beat Philadelphia 9-4, Cincinnati topped New York 6-1, Montreal nipped Atlanta 3-2, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco 2-1, St. Louis defeated San Diego 5-4 and Los Angeles whipped Chicago 4-1 in National League games.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda hit his ninth career grand slam to cap a five-run third inning and spark the Red Sox over Texas. Cepeda's sixth homer of the season came off Pete Broberg and helped Luis Tiant to his third victory in five decisions. Mike Epstein and Ken Suarez homered for the Rangers.

Art Kusnyer doubled home the tie-breaking run in the 12th inning then scored on a sacrifice fly to give the Angels and Nolan Ryan a victory over the Tigers. Ryan went the distance for California to register his fourth win in five decisions. He struck out seven and stranded 15 runners. Mickey Lolich worked the first 11 innings for the Tigers.

Ed Kirkpatrick's disputed two-run double in a three-run sixth inning enabled the Royals to snap the Yankees' four-game winning streak. Kirkpatrick's hit was a sharp grounder down the first base line which was ruled fair by first base umpire Ron Luciano but which the Yankees argued was foul. Paul Splittorff worked eight innings to gain his fourth victory.

Leo Cardenas' two-run single snapped a 4-4 tie and started a four-run 10th inning which enabled the Indians to beat the Twins. Ray Lamb worked five innings of relief to get the win while Ken Sanders took the loss. George Mitterwald had a homer for Minnesota.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Putt-er There, Pard

By LEE TREVINO

When it comes to putters, a golfer is as fickle as a fraternity sweetheart. He'll keep ditching 'em until he finds one that feels good.

The putter you use should be determined by the kind of greens you play on the most. Some of those babies are so slick the ball sounds like it's rolling on sandpaper. On fast greens, stay away from a putter with a stiff shaft. It'll keep you tapped out.

The weight of the blade isn't all that important. The shaft is everything. On fast greens, use a light, almost whippy, shaft. You're not making a big motion with the club, so you need a shaft light enough that you can feel the putter move.

On heavy, or grainy, greens use a firmer shaft because you have to hit the ball harder. A lot of guys don't realize how much the putter shaft flexes as they stop the back stroke and start the club forward. It can throw a putt off line quicker than a blonde in hotpants.

Japanese Driver Wins Grand Prix Auto Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

GOTEMBA, Japan — Motoharu Kurosawa of Japan, driving a 1,991 CC March 722 BMW, today won the 135-mile Formula 2 Japanese Grand Prix auto race.

Kurosawa, 32, a winner of Japanese Grand Prix in 1969, led all 50 laps in the 2.7 mile course of the Fuji International Speedway on the slopes of Mount Fuji under overcast skies.

Kurosawa clocked one hour, eight minutes, 55.15 seconds for an average apeed of 187.18 kilometers an hour. He defeated a field of four foreign and nine Japanese drivers and won first prize money of $7,547.

Second was Brian Robertson, 32, of Canada in one hour, eight minutes, 57.89 seconds in a 2,000 CC Hart-Ford. He won $3,000. Graeme Lawrence, 32, of New Zealand, driving a 1,991 CC Surtees TS, was third with one hour, nine minutes, 2.56 seconds. He won $1,500.

Crew

SANTA CLARA — Santa Clara crew coach Jim Farwell says girls likely will be coxwains in the school's shells by next season.

Four freshman coeds are practicing with the school's crews this week and Farwell notes that "It's tough to find a guy who is light enough." He also feels "The girls add something special, they're more tactful with the oarsmen than a guy usually is."

One of the girls said "If anything happens to my $4,000 boat, I don't know what I would do."

Horse Racing

ALBANY — The second largest exacta of the season resulted in a $2,257 payoff for 43 $5 ticket holders and twice that for two $10 winners yesterday at Golden Gate Fields.

Money Well, which paid $27.80 to win, was followed under the wire by Dressy Jane, a 27-1 shot which placed for $19.40.

Hockey

TORONTO — The Ottawa Nationals of the World Hockey Association were under new management today and the new owners said they plan to rename the club and relocate it here sometime next month.

A group of Toronto businessmen announced yesterday they had formed a new company, Can Sports Inc., and purchased controlling interest in the Nationals from Buffalo financier Nick Trbovich.

John F. Basset Jr., who headed the group, declined to reveal what the purchase price was but he said a reported $1.8 million was "not far off."

QUEBEC CITY — Jacques Plante signed a 10-year contract as coach and general manager with the Quebec Nordiques of the World Hockey Association yesterday, ending a 17-year goaltending career in the National Hockey league.

Salary terms were not disclosed but reports said the 44-year-old Plante would receive over $1 million.

Football

Running back Clem Turner, a 6-foot-2, 235-pounder, and wide receiver Jack Gehrke, a 6-1, 180-pounder, were traded to the Bills yesterday for the draft pick coach Lou Saban said was "not very high."

Boxing

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Yancey Durham, manager of former world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, added Bob Foster to his boxing stable yesterday by purchasing the contract of the light heavyweight titlist.

ABA PLAYOFFS

Ailing Kentucky To Visit Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Indiana, with the homecourt advantage, and Kentucky, with a run of injuries, renew their deadlocked American Basketball Association championship playoff series here tonight.

The Pacers, defending ABA champions, won the opener at Louisville in overtime 111-107 while Kentucky rebounded to take game No. 2 Monday night 114-102. The best-of-seven series shifts to Indianapolis for game No. 3 tonight and game No. 4 Saturday afternoon.

"If we don't win at least one up there, we'll be in real trouble," said Colonel guard Jimmy O'Brien.

Both 7-foot-2 center Artis Gilmore and 6-9 forward Dan Issel, the sparks in Kentucky's Monday night win, sustained injuries—Gilmore a sore back and Issel a sore elbow—but both are expected to play most of the way tonight.

Kentucky guard Rick Mount, who had an ankle sprain Monday, was listed as a doubtful starter. Guard Mike Gale, injured earlier, has returned to practice sessions but won't play tonight.

Indiana, on the other hand, was healthy with the possible exception of center Mel Daniels, who played Monday night with a sore back. He has been pronounced able to play.

Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney says he hopes to get an early lead "because we play defense better when we don't have to chase the ball. We'll make them come to us."

"I could make some changes," Leonard said. "With their injuries in the backcourt, I could probably force them to use whatever players I want. I could move Roger Brown to backcourt, forcing Walt Simon to guard."

Leonard is toying with the idea of using the 6-5 Brown at guard instead of forward in an effort to loosen up Kentucky's defense and bring Gilmore further away from the basket.

WHA Jets To Try A Comeback

WINNIPEG (UPI) — The Winnipeg Jets will be trying to pick up the pieces tonight when they face the New England Whalers in the third game of the World Hockey Association championship series.

But not even Player-Coach Bobby Hull is too optimistic after the Whalers crushed Winnipeg 7-4 Wednesday night to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven final.

"They have too much offensive power," Hull said. "They blitzed us and they have the people who can put the puck in the net."

Hull probably was alluding to the third period Wednesday when the Whalers scored five unanswered goals, two by John French, including one into an open net with 61 seconds left. New England only had six shots in that third period!

Goals by Jim Dorey and Brit Selby came within less than a minute and set the stage for further Whaler fireworks. Helping set up both goals was Tom Williams.

Better Weather For Indy Racing

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Prospects of better weather late in the week should mean the tempo at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will pick up and bring about a serious charge at the 200-miles per hour barrier.

Rain and wind in the first days of 500-mile race practice have prevented any driver and car from coming close to the 200 m.p.h. lap, something the experts say will be a reality here for the first time this year.

So far, just five drivers have eclipsed the 190 m.p.h. plateau this spring, two achieving the feat Tuesday and three more Wednesday.

After a five-hour rain delay Wednesday, Johnny Rutherford, Fort Worth, Tex., became the fastest driver in practice so far, turning a lap at 192.348. Swede Savage, Santa Ana, Calif., and Mike Mosley, Clermont, Ind., also rose above the 190 mark, Savage with a 191.815 and Mosely with a lap of 190.435.

It was Savage's first time on the 2 ½-mile oval this spring. He and six other drivers were out for their first runs, but none of the other newcomers could approach his swiftness.

Also out for the first time were Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif., Peter Revson, Redondo Beach, Calif., Jerry Karl, Manchester, Pa., Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio, Rick Muther, LaGuna Beach, Calif., and Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind.

So far, 42 cars are at the track, and 30 have passed USAC's technical inspection.

The car assigned to Larcy Cannon, Danville, Ill., was rejected by USAC for being underweight. It was believed Cannon's crew could add sufficient weight—just a few pounds—to bring the machine in line with regulations.

Canadiens Are Tabbed Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Montreal's Canadiens, bidding for a 16th Stanley Cup, are favored to take another step toward hockey's most prized trophy tonight with another victory over the weakened Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, victors over St. Louis and New York in five-game series leading up to the final round, trailed the East Division champions of the National Hockey League 2-0 in the best-of-seven series heading into the first of two games on Chicago ice.

The home ice was expected to favor Chicago since it is a smaller rink than the Forum in Montreal, and thus should take away some skating room from the Canadiens and give the Hawks a better chance to slow up their rivals with body contact.

But Chicago's coach, Billy Reay, was uncertain whether either center Stan Mikita or defenseman Doug Jarrett would be able to play, and there seemed no chance that defenseman Keith Magnuson would be ready. Magnuson has missed six games since suffering a broken jaw against New York, while Mikita and Jarrett both missed the second game against the Canadiens, Mikita with a split finger and Jarrett because of cracked rib ends around the rib cage.

Both Mikita and Jarrett were on "a day to day basis," Reay said, and he will be forced to juggle his lineups if neither can play.

Montreal could wind up the series if it wins the games scheduled in Chicago tonight and Sunday afternoon, while a single victory for the Hawks would force a fifth game Tuesday night at Montreal.

HOME COURT

Lakers Try To Keep Advantage

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Ahead 1-0 after surviving a torrid New York finish in the opener, the defending National Basketball Association champion Los Angeles Lakers try to maintain their home court playoff mastery tonight in the second game of their championship series with the underdog Knicks.

The Lakers are now 8-0 in home playoff games in their bid to repeat as the NBA titlists after their 115-112 victory over New York here Tuesday night.

"The only reason we wanted New York to beat Boston was because we wanted the home court advantage," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman.

Because the Lakers won 60 regular season games to 57 for the Knicks, Sharman's club will host the extra game in the bestof-seven finals if it goes the limit.

Wilt Chamberlain, pro basketball's secretary of defense, was happy with the results of the opener with New York although Los Angeles nearly blew a 20- point lead it had built up late in the third period.

"I'd rather be a little scared than beat them by 25," the 7-1, 275-pound Lakers center said.

"I like to see the other team extend itself like that, almost win and then lose. It may be a little psychological burden for them."

Sharman, the NBA coach-ofthe-year in 1972 who has led Los Angeles to 129 regular season triumphs in the past two seasons, also was talking about psychology but for a different reason.

"If we win two," he said, "that would give us a tremendous psychological boost."

Walt Frazier, the Knicks' No. 1 offensive weapon who was held to only 12 points Tuesday night, disagreed with Chamberlain about the effect of New York's fourth quarter comeback.

The Lakers, who needed only five games to beat New York in the finals a year ago, and the Knicks play at Madison Square Garden Sunday and again Monday night. If a fifth contest is necessary, it will be played here next Thursday night.

Tonight's game, which will be nationally televised (ABC), begins at 7:30 p.m. PST. It will be shown on Channel 7.

was disqualified in a race at Aqueduct Wednesday. If he is suspended by the stewards there today, he will not be able to ride in the Kentucky Derby.

Secretariat, whose third place finish in the Wood Memorial was a disappointment, drew post position No. 10. Sham, his arch rival, was more fortunate and landed No. 4.

The order of post positions was Restless Jet in No. 1, Angle Light in No. 2, Warbucks in No. 3, followed by Sham, Navajo, Twice A Prince, Our Native, Royal and Regal, Forego, Secretariat, Shecky Greene, My Gallant and Gold Bag on the outside.

Impecunious hurt a foot at Keeneland and it had responded well to treatment, but when the horse came off the track Wednesday after a workout, trainer George Handy noticed the colt take a few bad steps.

After consulting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fineberg this morning, they gave him permission to withdraw the horse.

With 13 starters, the 99th running of the Kentucky Derby will be worth $198,800. The winner will get $156,300. Originally it cost $100 to nominate a horse for the race. Today, owners pays $2,500 to enter each thoroughbred. They will pay $1,500 if the horse starts on Saturday.

Post time is 5:30 p.m. EDT.

Veteran Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The 1972-73 Michigan State hockey season was the 22nd for Amo Bessone as the Spartan head coach.

Ali, Norton Rematch Set Sept. 10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali and Ken Norton today announced they had signed for a return bout at the Los Angeles Forum Sept. 10.

Norton rocketed from obscurity when he gained a 12- round decision over the Ali in San Diego and has now been placed No. 1 as contender for George Foreman's title in the latest rankings issued by the World Boxing Association and the World Boxing Council.

Ali suffered a broken jaw in the March 31 fight, but will be fit to resume training shortly. He is on a guarantee of $275,000 or 35 per cent of the gate, while Norton will pick up $200,000 or 30 per cent.

6 Marin Drivers In Vallejo Races

Marin County will be represented by six drivers in tomorrow night's open competition races at Vallejo Speedway.

Among the more than 50 drivers due for the 7 p.m. time trials are Jack Dempsey and Bob Padgett, San Rafael; Tom and Scott Florke and Kirk Edison, Novato, and Jose Nunez, Mill Valley.

Wally Baker of Sacramento captured the 30-lap main event in last Friday night's opening point program. Feature winners in the earlier non-point programs were Jimmy Boyd of Happy Valley in the first two, Mike Andreetta of Carmichael in the third and San Jose sprint car star Lem Tolliver in the fourth.

Badminton Title Tie Clinched By Redwood Girls

Redwood High School's girls badminton team blanked Tamalpais High's team, 5-0, yesterday to clinch at least a tie in the Marin County Athletic League.

Redwood's record is 5-0 with only one match remaining, and that's against Marin Catholic which is winless in five games. That final match is Wednesday.

Singles winners for Redwood were undefeated Sue Stoehr and Chris Broderick and Julie Sullivan. Doubles winners were the undefeated team of Linda May and Leslie Anixter and the Powell sisters, Beth and Pam.

In other girls badminton games yesterday, Novato defeated San Marin, 5-0, and Drake edged San Rafael, 3-2.

STANDINGS

Redwood 5-0, Novato 4-1, Tamalpais 3-2, Drake 3-3, San Rafael 2-3, San Marin 1-4, Marin Catholic 0-5.

San Marin's Hoberg Leads Prep Batters

On the strength of a torrid week in which he went five for seven and drove in four runs, George Hoberg of San Marin High School has taken over the leadership in batting average and runs batted in for the Marin County Athletic League.

The slugging first baseman lifted his average to an even .500 on 11 hits in 22 times up, and watched all his rivals slide below .400, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal. Marin Catholic's Rich Lopez, last week's leader at .524, went zero for seven and dropped to .393 for second place.

Tom Cronin of Marin Catholic hurled a shutout Saturday night to reduce his earned run average to 0.66 and take over the lead. Former leader Gene Frey of Redwood gave up three earned runs and is at 0.75, while perfect-game pitcher Ray Stratford of Novato is third at 0.80 and Redwood's Mark Ruggles fourth at 0.90 in a close battle.

San Marin's hard-working Tom Bowen assumed the leadership in starts (seven), innings pitched (37) and decisions (six) and tied for the lead in appearances (seven), complete games (four) and shutouts (two). Mike Farris of San Rafael has a 5-0 record and nobody else has won as many as four games.

Three Members Added To Bowling Hall Of Fame

By RON LENT

The Three Musketeers of Marin County bowling are the newest members of Marin's bowling Hall of Fame.

Laurie Migliore, Bill Rhodes and Chico Valsecchi, three friends who joined forces in putting Marin County bowling on the state map, were inducted into the Hall at the silver anniversary of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association March 31 at San Geronimo National Golf Club.

FIVE OTHERS

They join Walter Carter, Paul Gottlieb, Dick Treadway, Zeno Gelatti, and the late Clay Anderson in the five-year-old institution honoring individuals contributing to the development of bowling in Marin County.

Rhodes was the only Marinite ever elected to the state board, and Migliore and Valsecchi were key figures in his election.

The latest additions banded together in helping elect a Marinite to the California State Bowling Association board of directors. Because Rhodes was completing his second two-year term as president of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association in 1965, it was decided that the 44-year-old San Rafael man should try for a state seat.

With help from Migliore and Valsecchi, Rhodes was elected to the board and has remained on it since. "We (the board) run the state tournament, which has become the largest in the nation."

Rhodes, a foreman at Marin Wheel Alignment and Brake Service in San Rafael, admitted it was a thrill to be elected to the board, but it doesn't compare with the joy of his recent honor. "I was surprised to say the least. The (Marin County) Men's Bowling Association asked me to their meeting to install their new officers when they sprung this on me. Walt Carter told me that my ears perked up when they announced my name" as an inductee.

'AN HONOR'

"It's quite an honor," he added, which pretty much summarized the views of Migliore and Valsecchi.

Migliore, 50, said "I was stunned" after learning of his selection. "I didn't expect it at all. After the shock wore off, I was very pleased."

The part owner of the Country Club Bowl in San Rafael was instrumental in Rhodes' election. "We went down to a state convention to see if we could get Marin on the bowling map. That was in 1965."

They succeeded. "We wanted representation with the state, so we went down there and did it through promotion," said Migliore, who is in partnership with Ferd Masberg and Leon Smith. Migliore, the senior director on the MCBA, is often called "The Chief" because of his take-charge approach in Rhodes' elections.

Migliore was also instrumental in aiding the revival of the junior program at Country Club Bowl when he became an owner in 1962.

"I was shocked. They (Hall of Fame Committee of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association) announced my name at the San Geronimo dinner, and I sure was surprised," said Valsecchi, a 50-year-old plumber.

SET PINS

Valsecchi and Migliore used to set pins at Marin Bowl in 1940, according to Valsecchi.

The trio, which bowled in Marin leagues from 1956 to 1970, also joined forces in bolstering the MCBA and increasing the membership from seven in 1956 to 22 today.

For such accomplishments, they were inducted into the Marin Hall.

Golf, Tennis Races Fall Into Expected Patterns

By LEW CODDINGTON

It looks like the Marin County Athletic League championship races in tennis and golf are beginning to fall into the expected patterns — namely, a two-team race in golf and a one-team race in tennis.

Redwood High School's tennis team drubbed Terra Linda Tuesday, 6-1, to complete the first round-robin with a perfect 7-0 record to the Trojans' 6-1. The Giants had not lost a single, solitary individual match before Tuesday, and may not lose another.

It's an annual affair. The Giant team now has won 72 straight matches in the league, and has not had to draw a deep breath in any of them.

Because of the way the schedule was written, Terra Linda probably will go into the season's 14th and final match against Redwood with a theoretical chance to tie for the title, but there is no reason to doubt the Giants' superiority.

Golf turns out to be more complex, though the title probably will be decided Tuesday when Terra Linda plays Novato on the Hornets' course at Indian Valley Golf Club.

A fired-up Terra Linda defeated Novato April 5 at Marin Country Club, 196-206, but the Trojans were flat after Easter vacation and suffered a 201-208 loss to San Rafael at Marin. So Novato and Terra Linda each have 6-1 records at the halfway mark, and probably will be 7-1 when they meet.

The at-home advantage probably is greater in golf than in any other sport. In four matches at Indian Valley, Novato has averaged just a hair over 188 strokes for five men playing nine holes.

Once the Hornets shot a phenomenal 175, easily the course record. In fact, Novato has set records in three of its seven matches this league season, two at Indian Valley and one at San Geronimo National (194).

None of this bothers Terra Linda coach Bill O'Bayley, who said, "Fine, let them get it out of their system," after Novato's first Indian Valley record April 3, and then beat the Hornets April 5.

Both teams are exceptionally deep and balanced. Each of Novato's top six players — Jim Vaughan, Rick Anderson, Tom Lamore, Doug Henderson, Mike Leach and Terry Leach — has been a medalist at some time this year. Four Trojans — Greg Cudworth, Rich Purtle, Jim Mullowney and Doug Talley — have been medalists. In other words, anybody can beat you.

Twice-beaten Redwood and San Rafael have been reduced to the role of spoilers. Redwood's two remaining matches with the contenders are on the road, but San Rafael gets Novato at home at Peacock Gap in the season's last match.

PLAY OF THE DAY — A pair of photographers spread across six columns in last Wednesday's I-J showed Terra Linda's Steve Withers being tagged out at home plate against San Rafael and writhing on the ground.

It was a sad play in the life of Withers, who separated his shoulder on it and will be out for the year, taking his .368 batting average and his all-league aspirations on the sidelines with him.

PRETTY EASY — Efficient in every possible way, Novato's Ray Stratford required only an hour and 12 minutes to pitch his perfect game against Terra Linda Tuesday. The game was perfect in another manner, too, for neither team made an error — the first errorless contest in the MCAL this season.

High Marks Reached In Track-Field

The best Marin County Athletic League track and field dual meet marks of the year were set in six events last Friday as the runners and jumpers began to reach their peaks for 1973.

Brian Tracy of Redwood High School led the way with a 4:22.1 mile, defeating San Marin's Gary Lathrop (4:22.7) and teammate Dave Brainerd (4:27.0), all three runners beating Lathrops's previous best of 4:28.6.

In the same meet, Redwood's Ed Phelps ran the 440-yard dash in 51.2 and Redwood's Mark Kilmer long-jumped 21-8¼. Elsewhere that day, San Rafael's Gary Patterson pole-vaulted 12-0, Terra Linda's Steve Johnson did 22.6 in the 220, and San Rafael's Greg Campbell tied the 120 high hurdles mark of 15.6.

The best times and distances, not including today's performances:

120 HH — Campbell (SR) twice and Adams (T), tie, 15.6; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 44.1; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Johnson (TL), 10.1; Mile — Tracy (R), 4:22.1; 440 — Phelps (R), 51.2; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Johnson (TL), 22.6; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:40.6; Mile Relay — San Marin (Zechlin, Kenville, Guth, Metteer), 3:33.8; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 162-4; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Kilmer (R), 21-8¼; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 12-0; Triple Jump — Butti (SM), 41-5½.

Petaluma '9' Drops Montgomery Game

SANTA ROSA — Petaluma High School blew a golden opportunity to tie for first place in the North Bay League yesterday by droppoing an 8-2 baseball game to host Montgomery.

With league-leader Vallejo idle, a win would have moved Petaluma into a tie for the top spot, but, with the loss, the Trojans fell one-game behind and into a second-place tie with Napa at 6-3. Petaluma travels to Vallejo tomorrow. A win over the front-running Apaches would give Petaluma a tie for first.

Trojan pitcher Rick Mossi allowed just five hits. However, he uncorked two wild pitches that proved costly. With a runner on and one out in the first inning, Mossi struck out the Viking batter, but the pitch eluded catcher Gordon Ross, putting runners on first and second. Mossi fanned the next man for what should have been the third out, but the following two Montgomery batters singled to score three run.

Agency Bonds Facts Asked

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to know more about agency bonds. — G.C.

A. Federal agencies are becoming increasingly more important both in the credit markets and in the government debt structure. In 1972, these agencies offered $10 billion in bonds and notes while the Treasury financed $11.8 billion. Since the bulk of these offerings were intermediate and long term, interest costs on public debt tended to rise. In recent weeks, interest on 10-and 20-year maturities has averaged 7 per cent and 7.25 per cent on agency paper compared with 6.6 per cent and 6.8 per cent for long Treasury securities.

There are 11 government agencies and federally sponsored corporations which operate in the areas of banking, international finance, underwriting mortgages, postal service and electric power. Agency debt offerings are considered second only to Treasury obligations in terms of security. Interest on many agency bonds is exempt from state and local taxation and in a few instances from federal income tax. This, however, should be clarified for each issue prior to purchase. New issues, in certain cases, may be bought directly through Federal Reserve Banks. In general, new offerings are in $5,000 minimum denominations, and the bonds are for the most part in bearer rather than registered form.

The Federal National Mortgage Association, a privately owned, government sponsored corporation, is the most active in the credit markets with $17.7 billion in long- and short-term issues outstanding. The Government National Mortgage Association is wholly owned by the government under the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Two types of securities are guaranteed by GNMA — mortgage-backed bonds issued by FNMA and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., and pass-through securities. In each case the minimum denomination is $25,000. Other agencies which are active in the credit market are: Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks and Federal Land Banks.

HANDHELD CALCULATOR A four-function, handheld calculator called Checkmate has been introduced by San Diego Electronics Manufacturing Co. It is sold through office supply and retail outlets. The Checkmate adds, subtracts, multiplies and divides and does chain calculations. The answer is flashed on an eight-digit light emitting diode display. The suggested retail price is under $69.

Market Makes Recovery From Early Sell-Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange, hit by an early burst of selling, recovered some of their losses but remained lower through noon today. Trading was slow.

Wall Street observers said investors were disappointed with President Nixon's statement on the economy Wednesday, which reinstituted a Phase II requirement that the nation's biggest firms must notify the Cost of Living Council 30 days in advance before boosting prices above 1.5 per cent of the Jan. 10 level.

The government also reported wholesale prices rose at a 12 per cent annual rate in April compered to 27.6 per cent in March.

First National City Corp. was the most active issue, falling 1 ⅝ to 36 ⅜ on 126,800 shares, including a block trade of 112,100 shares at 36.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in light trading. Teleprompter was the most active issue, off 1 at 18 ½ on 65,500 shares.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues moved lower. Texas Instruments fell 1 ¾, Burroughs and IBM 1 ⅝ each and Honeywell 1.

Glamor issues slipped lower. Corning Glass lost 3 ¾, ARA Services 1 ½ and Xerox 1.

Dupont dipped 2 ¼ in the lower chemicals.

Mid-Eastern Food A Specialty In New Mill Valley Restaurant

Davood's, a new restaurant serving mid-Eastern dishes, will open at 5 p.m. tomorrow at 22 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, the former site of Mayer's Men's Store.

Owner is Davood Kohanzadeh, who has operated Cheese Unlimited at 89 East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley since October of 1971. He is a Persian who studied cooking in France and managed a restaurant in Berkeley for a couple of years before opening Cheese Unlimited.

Davood's, with a seating capacity of 100, has a sliding roof that opens and closes over the main dining area. It has a large espresso bar and features mid-Eastern dishes like shish-kabab and Dolma (grape leaves enclosing rice and lamb). Davood's will be open seven days a week, from 6 a.m. to midnight on weekdays and 8 a.m. to midnight on weekends.

MAGIC KEY Realtors with 11 offices in Marin County is the newest real estate corporation to be established in the county.

"The group was formed to give a wider coverage with more experienced personnel in convenient locations," said James Wells of San Rafael, president of the new corporation, which is completely local and not affiliated with any outside organization.

In Mill Valley — GLADYS MEKISICH of County-Wide Properties; MILDRED VAIL of Vail & Associates; and BRUCE WRISLEY and JAMES McGINNIS of Wrisley-McGinnis, Associates.

Larkspur — SUE SCHAEFER of Sue Schaefer Realty. Corte Madera — RENN and JUNE LaMASTER of LaMaster Realty. San Anselmo — VERA RIVERS and COLE JACKMAN of Rivers and Jackman.

San Rafael — ROSE PAUL of Rose Paul Realty; JAMES and MARILYN WELLS of Wells and Wells. Terra Linda — JOE ASIANO of J. Asiano, Realtor. Marinwood — JOSEPH MONTELEONE and WILLIAM THAYER of Marinwood Hills Realty. Novato — WAYNE WOMACK of Womack Realty.

ENG'S CENTER, the new Oriental art shop, opened this week at 1233 Fourth Street in San Rafael, next to Cottage Book Shop.

Mildred Eng, owner of the art shop, announced that her daughter, Gwen Louie of Santa Venetia, will be manager of the new store. Mrs. Louie, a 1962 graduate of San Rafael High School, helped her parents at Eng's Restaurant on B Street, then went to work for Pacific Gas & Electric Co. three years ago. She will continue working at PG&E, and will manage Eng's Center after hours and weekends.

Eng's Center carries a variety of Oriental art objects including paintings, jade, jewelry, pictures, panels, vases, china, and furniture such as teak tables and portable bars.

The official grand opening of Eng's Center is set for next Thursday, May 10, when special gifts will be presented to customers. The new store is open Monday through Saturday.

Hansen

ROBERT W. HANSEN Jr. of Mill Valley has been named credit officer at Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office. Senior Vice President Ronald E. Eadie of the West Bay Division announced.

Hansen joined Wells Fargo in 1969 and was banking services officer at the bank's Fillmore-California office in San Francisco before the new appointment.

A NEW KENTUCKY Fried Chicken outlet, the fourth in Marin County, will open about the end of July at 580 Red Hill Avenue, near the Hub in San Anselmo.

The property, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sharrow of San Anselmo, was the old San Anselmo car wash, closed for about two years. Next to it is Hal Sharrow's auto-marine shop, where an office building is planned.

Harman Management Inc. of Los Altos, Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise holder for Northern California, leased the two properties from the Sharrows. Lex Overzet, vice president of Harman Management, said construction of the new building will begin in about a week, and the take-out restaurant should be open in late July.

Kentucky Fried Chicken already has outlets in San Rafael, Mill Valley and Novato.

SHERRY FORD of Glenwood, a clay sculptor and designer of swinging necklaces, will appear in person and present a display of her work at Red Hill Imports in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo, this Saturday afternoon.

Her display and demonstrations will be from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Mrs. Ford's clay objects, swinging necklaces, and Raggedy Annes and Raggedy Andys made of enamel have been gobbled up by major department stores.

LILLIAN RUPNOW of San Anselmo, a licensed real estate salesman for 35 years, has joined Say & Company Realtors in San Anselmo.

In Marin since 1941, she worked for Pat Tarrant, then earned her broker's license about 1952 and opened her own office in San Rafael. She then went back to selling and was associated with Don Geddes, Pierce Realty, and John Mountz before joining Say & Co.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund, headquartered in Novato, announced the purchase of Pacific Western Mobile Estates on Glen Cove Road in Vallejo. The total amount of the transaction was in excess of $2,193,000.

The mobile home park, due for completion by the end of this year, contains 295 spaces on 74 acres of land. National Real Estate Fund acquired 50 per cent interest in the property. The Fund's parent company is Capital Planning Associates Inc. of 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

BERNARD M. REED of Mill Valley has been named a registered representative by Bache & Co. Inc. at the worldwide investment firm's San Francisco office, 44 Montgomery Street. He has a degree in economics from the University of Pennsylvania.
